came suddenly into the limelight; or maybe, you twisted your big round curls over the tip of a little suede skull-cap. There were plenty of eye-catching accessories in 1939. Big, wide, shiny, black belts, mustard-colored chiffon neckerchiefs, fancy combs, and novelty clips for the hair shared the honors. Angora sweaters and gloves were terrific, but the most unusual garb was the lumber jack dress with great big patch pockets. Beige dresses were tops, too.

In the spring of '39 you watched South Side's speech champs start for California; you wore down-grey print dresses with fur jackets to see them off. Your hair was shorter and neater. New spring hats were either decorated with ostrich feathers or patent leather bands. White accessories, stripes and saddle shoes were coming; boleros were tops. Snoods were also in for a stay.

In the spring of '40 you decorated for the Junior Prom. You had long red fingernails, lots of little lapel gadgets, and loads of jingle jewelry. In general the fashions were quite a bit like this year's. Remember?

We Can't Be Faddy And Not Be Daffy!

The time elapsing between the tail end of winter and the beginning of summer is the time that the thoughts of boys and girls turn to clothes. This year one can't tell which sex has the craziest ideas. (If they are trying to outdo each other, they are making a fine mess of it!)

Contrary to the usual run of things, the boys are becoming more conservative this year (although this isn't saying very much). Of course the crew cuts are still sharing the prime of life with the violent color combinations and the shrieking tropical plaid shirts. These, so far, have been the extent of their ravings.

Now to expose the fads of the girls! Since the list is too long for decent punctuation, we present a numbered column:

1. White nail polish;
2. Black nail polish;
3. Jackets covered with clothing labels;
4. Notebooks covered with hotel trunk labels;
5. Anklets held in place with tiny ribbons;
6. The use of junk jewelry made of anything from door keys to thumb tacks;
7. A new lunch composed of potato salad, orange juice, two hamburgers, and a hot fudge contraption.

There is also a combination of fads made popular by both boys and girls, some of which are:

1. Eating, digesting and sleeping with nothing but "How I would win the War";
2. Yelling "Yehudi" at every one in the halls and on the streets;
3. Talking continuously about the little man that wasn't there at all;
4. Trying to pull a belated April Fool joke in the middle of April;

A Comedy Of Errors

Action! To get to the point, it's about curtains for those dramatic kids who have just discovered each other's talent, much to their mutual satisfaction—Dave Rea and Connie Clark. Incidentally, Connie has that most capable Pat Sanford as a stand-in. Could not we call John Bonisbi the villain in this farcical tragedy for breaking up that double feature team of Dick Galmeyer and LaVerne Greiner?

Camera! Tobacco Road was on the road (pardon the puny pun) for seven years, so they say. While that combination of Hines and Leas hasn't been showing on our stage quite that long, one never knows—especially this one—how things will work out! Over the footlights catching all those bouquets—can it be Joan Smith? Could be, if you would call Bud Lindeman, Bob Worman and Druhob posies. We have it that Bud Lindeman is stealing most of the scenes, however.

You could hardly call Rich Sebald's appearance a flop to LaVon Cartwright. She's been collecting autographs from that celebrity for some time! Looking for curtain calls, we see Joan Cox and Violet Reiter prominently the attentions of Bob Gregg (when Joan's trying to get Kansas off her mind.)

Maybe we could call Faye Gumpfer and Ralph Sebald the stage crew—they're certainly dependable enough! I mean, by dependable, we never have to worry about them. Another stage crew is the Snoko-Baumgartner team. For people who grasp their lines quickly and easily, we give you Gloria Staley and Chuck Close, who are on that road to fame. What kind? I'll bite!

The Hoosier State Can Really Educate

One of the most beautiful and outstanding state institutions that we have in our country is Indiana University, located in Bloomington, Indiana. This school offers all courses connected with liberal arts. Therefore, its training covers a wide variety of professions. Indiana University is composed of nearly twenty-five buildings. They are not built in any special formation, but instead are spread over the wide area of the campus. The main building, or Union Building, is the scene of many activities for the students.

Among some of the organizations at Indiana are: The Theater Group, or Alpha Theta Phi; a daily publication, Indiana Daily Student; the annual, Arbutus; and many department clubs. The Union Board is composed of members from the sophomore, junior and senior classes. This group is considered the student managing body. A large gymnasium on the campus offers many enjoyable sports. Several new additions have recently been added to Indiana University. Among these new buildings is a new auditorium, The Music Hall. This building is a great asset to the students taking dramatics.

Since September, 1933, Indiana University has offered a two-year elective course to the students. This course is a special opportunity for those who expect to devote only one or two years to study in college. The chief feature of this course is greater freedom in the selection of studies.

Does Track Meet At-track You? Then Catch Bill's Cinders

While watching the members of the track team emerge from the dressing room after a recent track meet, I was struck by the beauty of the lettered sweaters. Said I to myself, "What have they got that I haven't got? Why can't I get a letter and impress my Waisie Mae?" On that account I made a momentous decision—I was going out for track!

On the first night that I went out, the coach camly surveyed my five feet of unadulterated manliness.

"So you're coming out for track," he leered with what I thought a most inhuman glare. "What can you do?"
"Well, I thought I might try running the mile."
"The mile, eh! What's your time?" he queried, paying little attention to me as he watched the squad.

Peering at my dollar Ingersoll, I replied, "Four, exactly."

"What was that?" he turned in wonder. "If you run the mile in that time, you're on the squad now! Start trotting around!"

After I had trotted one round of the track, I puffingly sat down.

"Well, what are you waiting for?" roared the coach upon seeing me restfully reposing on the grass.

"You told me to trot a round, so I trotted one. What else do you want me to do?"

"Well, run the mile for time right now. See if you can do it as well as you claim you can," he exclaimed, emerging from his slight anger.

When I finally staggered in, the coach announced my time to be eighteen minutes.

"I thought you ran the mile in four minutes," remarked the coach in a rather restrained manner, turning beautiful shades of crimson and purple.

"When did I say that?"

"When I asked you your time!" he exploded.

"Oh that! I—ah—heh—heh—I thought you meant the time of day. It was four o'clock when I said that. Heh—heh! Funny, isn't it?"

Fifth On Monthly Hit Parade Stands Merry Month O' May

With Easter gone but not forgotten, the Fourth of July not coming till July (which is only logical), and Christmas so far off that they haven't even put up early shopping posters yet, one might probably think that there won't be another holiday in sight for a long while. But this supposition is wrong; right around the corner are three interesting holidays: May Day, Mother's Day and Memorial Day.

May Day, the first day of May, is one of the oldest festivals of which there is record. Although we in the United States have only the children's May parties in the parks to remind us of it, it was at one time a prominent and popular holiday, observed with great festivity. There is some doubt as to where it originated—perhaps it began with the ancient Druids or with the Romans. It is unquestionably a form of nature worship.

The dance around the Maypoles, which were originally masses of green branches decorated with May flowers, the joyous feasting, the choosing of a King and Queen of the May—all suggest a people in a gay mood at the passing of winter and the promise of spring. In England the May feast was one of the greatest events of the year. There were sports, games and gay peasant dances in evidence at this time. Even the royal family observed the day.

It was then fitting to stage a mock battle between two people, one representing winter, the other summer. Summer always won and was crowned King of the May. Huge poles were planted in the ground and decorated gaily with greens and flowers. Long streamers were attached to the top,

Marks On A Wall Make Cross Stall And Janitors Bawl

By Barbara Cross

Thousands of years from now, when Fort Wayne has long been gone and forgotten (and covered with dirt accumulated throughout the years), perhaps some excavators will again reveal the portals of South Side. If such a thing were to happen, they would undoubtedly be attracted by the fine mural paintings on our walls. You may ask, "What paintings?" Well, whenever you happen to be walking along the halls, you see a lot of faint marks along the walls which you would probably classify as scribbling. You can recognize this as scribbling, but how can those people who are going to uncover South Side be able to know this? Egads, what do you want our descendants to think of us? Surely we wouldn't want them to characterize us as morons?

Let's not peer too far into the future, but instead pretend that we are those archeologists, trying to detect these strange marks and signs. Directly to the right of The Times room, under the fire alarm box, is an isosceles triangle. This was probably constructed by one of our geometric wizards. Looking a little closer, we would draw the conclusion that that is was a geometric wizard that constructed this! (But a wizard who did not know a triangle from a trapezoid, because this particular triangle lacks the two equal angles that it should have.)

Now far from this triangle are the initials, D. R. Whatever these are supposed to designate no one could be able to guess. They might be the initials of a boy or a girl. They might even stand for Daughters of the Revolution, Distinguished Rats, or any one of a thousand and one more meanings. But how could a poor historian ever decipher such a thing?

The line of lockers numbering from 3181 to 3191 seem to have been distinguished from the other lockers in the school because they have an exclusive Park Avenue sign written above them. Some one is trying to "put on the dog."

Inevitably appearing along the walls are initials joined together by pluses, which indicate that these persons who belong to the initials are in love. So, if the archeologists are smart, they will be able to detect a love angle in our mural writings. The most prominent initials at school are: I.H. and B.B.; P.W. and E.R.; and N.Klotz plus A.B.

Charm, Character, Constancy, Career, Champion-Coppock!

1—Some girls have a list of Romeo's a mile long, but this girl has a list with only one name on it. (All it says is "Johnny!")

2—Some people are burdened with three or four names; but, with luck, she's got only two!

3—This Miss has three very interesting hobbies—collecting dolls, gathering wooden toys and reading.

4—Wouldn't it be fun to be gifted with Black curls and a perpetual smile like this celeb?

5—Clubs? There are five on her program! GAA, Camenean, Math-Science, Wranglers and Meterites keep her mighty busy.

6—She has six pairs of shoes, but says, "I never wear them all at the same time!"

7—Believe it or not, she has only seven cousins; four are boys and the other three are girls.

8—She has done much traveling and has honored eight states by her visits.

9—There are nine little charms (hearts, mind you), dangling from her charm bracelet. (We are sure one is for a certain "Burt.")

10—Sweaters are the spice of any girl's life, and this gal is no exception—she has ten in her wardrobe!

With all of the foregoing clues, any one should be able to guess who this little girl is! We now take great pleasure in introducing a senior with just about everything, Reba Coppock.

Roaming Reporter Finds That Airport Has Business Value

Your Times roving reporter has covered many of the outstanding places located in Fort Wayne; but this week let us take an imaginary trip to one of the most outstanding places we have visited while on our tours about the city. The place referred to is the Fort Wayne Municipal Airport.

One of the best ways of determining the size of a city is by its airport. To any person arriving at Fort Wayne via aircraft, the first impression he will receive is that our city is at the very top as far as fairly big cities go, for our airport is one of the finest, if not the finest, airfield in the Middle West.

The airport is located about three miles north of the city, and is very accessible by automobile. At the present time the field is approximately one mile square, and has about two miles of concrete runways, thirty feet wide. The buildings include one storage hangar, housing thirty-five light planes at one time; one repair hangar and shop, and one building housing radio station, weather bureau, and offices for airline and flying schools. A very complete set of illuminating and search lights, and guide beams are at the field to help the pilots at night.

Several outstanding flying schools are located at the airport, and the TWA airline (and soon the American Airline) is also based at the field. If you haven't already done so it would be worth your time to ride out some day and look it over. Maybe you will muster up enough courage to take a ride in one of the many planes operating from the field. And if you do, I am sure you will be a fan of this rapidly growing industry (as well it can be called). Yes sir, no doubt about it, every Fort Wayne citizen should be proud of our very efficient, handsome airport.

These Clubs For Actors, Math Sharks, Puppeteers, Librarians

"To be or not to be, that is the question." No, ladies and gentlemen that is not the phrase uttered by a puzzled student taking an examination, but is just a member of the Student Players Club rehearsing his lines. In order to become a member of this popular organization one must have had at least one semester of work in dramatics.

The club meets once a month in the Greeley Room. Other branches of the Student Players are located in Central and North Side High Schools. The program for each monthly meeting consists of a play or group of plays presented by the club members.

EACH SPRING A NUMBER OF ONE-ACT PLAYS ARE PRESENTED BY THE JUNIOR MEMBERS FOR THE WHOLE SCHOOL.

If you are lucky enough you probably got to see them several weeks ago. The faculty adviser is Miss Margery Suter, instructor of dramatics in the Fort Wayne public high schools.

For future Tony Sarges, there is the Marionette Club. Anyone who is interested in pulling wires (not political) may join this organization. Under the sponsorship of Miss Blanche Hutto, the club presents annually one big show, to which the entire student body may come. During the year the members construct and operate puppets, hear outside authorities on puppets, and enjoy potlucks and picnics at the meetings.

Freshmen and 10B's have a club all to themselves in the form of the Junior Math Club. The

South Side Pupils Express Opinions Of April Fools' Issue

Recently seen floating around the portals of South Side were many bright-colored papers. These bright-colored papers were the April Fool issues of The Times. Walking among the students we found they replied as follows as to how they liked the papers.

Orlida Braun: I thought it was pretty clever.

LeAnnah Tassler: I thought it was swell.

Marilyn Rose: I'm not finished reading it, but so far, it's been cute.

Clara Long: It was swell what I read of it.

Gladys Hanke: Really pretty clever.

Margaret Jensen: I thought it was very silly. Some of the stuff seems to be the same as other years.

Maxine Volz: I've read better ones.

Joan Squires: What's wrong with the teachers?

Betty Mischo: When's April Fool? So they've changed that too?

Elaine Wiebke: I enjoyed reading the paper.

Crystal Valentine: They were a little slow in printing the jokes that have been used for years, but to the freshmen it was very funny.

Arthur Wedler: I didn't like it because it was too crazy. I think the teachers should have been it, too.

Gerald Wulliman: I thought it was pretty good, but some parts were mighty crazy.

Bob Safer: Same as other years, only a little bit worse—better ask Joe Loos.

Alice Sweet: I missed the teacher's part, but it was still very funny.

Jean Peterson: I thought it was right cute.

Patricia Sanford: I think it is a good way in which to get it back on someone if you are mad at them; but on the whole I thought it was cute.

Archer Musicians May Gain Future Honors From SS Training

One of the most active departments in South Side High School is the music department. The music department is one of the chief assets of the school.

Under the leadership of Mr. Jack Wainwright and Mr. Lester Hostettler, the music department has been very successful. Mr. Wainwright is head of the band and orchestra, and Mr. Hostettler is head of the glee club, vesper choir, and the chorus.

The band is composed of fifty-five or sixty members, and there are twenty-five members in the orchestra. The music for the band and orchestra is supplied mostly by Mr. Wainwright. The band meets every day, the fifth period, except Monday; and the orchestra meets every day, the fourth period, with the exception of Monday.

The steps taken for entering the band or orchestra are merely being able to play a musical instrument, talking to Mr. Wainwright, and taking a test. If the student cannot play exceptionally well, he is placed in the beginners' band, which will give him more experience.

A half credit a semester is what a student receives for taking band. A quarter credit a semester for the orchestra is received. No student is allowed to receive more than a half a credit a semester. Besides receiving credit for these two organizations, the student receives valuable training and experience under the guidance of these two men.

SOME OF THE FORMER STUDENTS OF SOUTH SIDE THAT PLAYED IN THE BAND AND ORCHESTRA NOW PLAY IN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRAS, AND OTHER

Did You Ever Hear About Train Fiends? Maybe You're One

You have probably all heard of train fiends, but have you ever heard of train fiends? Well, we have them right here at South Side. We are sure you are quite surprised at this statement, but we assure you that it is absolutely true. Here's the story on how this certain group of distinguished South Siders earned the title of fiend:

Several weeks ago a party of train enthusiasts, led by Roy Heavener, went out into the country and waited by the railroad tracks in a certain blonde young lady's convertible for a train to pass by, which was to have been pulled by the largest freight locomotive in the world.

Well, that group waited and waited patiently for the train to whizz by (it was due at 2 p. m.), and at 4 p. m. one of the members of the party, who was not so pepped up about trains as were the others, exclaimed that he was tired and wanted to go home. The slaughter was terrible, for all the members of the train party jumped on the poor fellow who had made the rash remark and nearly killed him.

Well, any way, along about 6 o'clock, every one started to get tired of waiting; but as all were afraid of the consequences if he or she spoke out of turn, they waited quietly. At 7 o'clock Roy pulled out his train schedule for the eleventh time to look it over, and suddenly leaped two feet in the air and shouted to the assembled party that he had made a dreadful mistake: The train wasn't due until April 19, ONE WHOLE MONTH later. Every one just collapsed.

For The Light That Never Fails, See City Light, Power Works

Do we ever stop to think of the miracles that are daily brought to us by our own City Light and Power Works, and of how helpless we would be if deprived, even for a little while of this magnificent service, which turns night into day, and eliminates drudgeries, thus affording us leisure time for enjoyment?

To the late William J. Hosey, the greatest credit must inevitably go, for it was he who, thirty years ago, gave this city the municipal-plant that is responsible for all the new possibilities for public service. Also a large amount of credit is due John Trier, David Ervin, Harvey Crane, and C. A. Ramsey.

THE FIRST ELECTRIC LIGHTS IN FORT WAYNE WERE INSTALLED IN 1881.

At that time James A. Jenny, an inventor of electric arc lamps, brought to this city a small dynamo and arc lighting outfit. It was put on display, and two thousand Fort Wayne people looked for the first time upon an electric arc light.

The first private plant was installed in the Library Hall, at the corner of Calhoun and Lewis streets. This plant consisted of four lights driven by a traction engine.

The agitation for a municipal plant started in the nineties; at that time public lighting for the city consisted of 30 arc lights, furnished by the Jenny Lighting Company at a cost of $135 per light per year. A tax levy for the municipal plant was in effect from 1898 to 1907, then construction was started and public lighting for the city was taken over, reducing the cost of

Mlle. Olive Perkins Tutors Kelly Studes In French Classes

Parlez-vous Francais?? If you have a desire to speak French, then you belong down in Room 90 where you can soon learn how. The fundamentals, the advanced stages, and the arts of the French language are all taught by our amiable Mademoiselle Olive Perkins.

The course provides a very interesting program for all four semesters. For the first semester, a text entitled "Unified French Course" by Lecoupte and Sundeen is used. In this text, the students usually cover the first thirty or more lessons during the semester.

The memory work, which comes up frequently in this first semester, is interesting and enjoyable for all. The students memorize simple little stories and poems in French. They also have pictures of important French places and things shown and described to them. The purpose of first semester is to acquaint the students with facts about France and to give them a basis for the French language.

During the second semester, the students use the same text as they used for the first semester. Again, memory work is stressed. Each student is given a list of French proverbs to learn and remember. Along with these, at least one poem must be memorized.

In the third semester, the text which has been used for the last two semesters, is completed. Information concerning French poets, writers, artists, and musicians is studied. The class also memorizes two poems; a poem of spring dating from the fifteenth century, and a fable of LaFontaine. A study is made of French words and phrases which are commonly used in the English language. Then an interesting detective story "Le Carafe D'Eau" is read. The study and conjugation of French verbs is nearly completed for all three semesters at the end of the third semester.

The fourth semester work is divided differently in the two French classes. One class studies three novelettes and a book of short stories; while the other class reads a novel, a synopsis of "The Count of Monte Cristo", a part of "Les Miserables", and a very amusing play entitled "Le Voyage De Monsieur Perrichon".

Archer Speakers Take I.U. By Storm Or Was It Vice Versa?

We all met in the South Side Grill at 7 o'clock on the morning of Good Friday to start on our journey to Bloomington for the state speech meet. After getting Fred Collins calmed and tied down in Mrs. Rieke's car, we got started.

We were dashing down the highway toward Huntington when suddenly we heard a loud blast on a horn; and, looking back, rather I should say, ahead we saw Buster Robinson, Bob Young and Sam Bacon zip by.

The trip down to Indianapolis was rather uneventful. I was right in the middle of telling what I thought to be a very good story, but when I looked around and found that Mary Ellen Barrett and Helen Ninde, the other two occupants of the back seat, were sound asleep, I also took a nap.

We reached Indianapolis about 10:30 o'clock; and, having weaved ourselves down into the middle of the town, found a place to park. While the girls went shopping, Jimmy McClure and I looked over the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument.

The girls said that they would meet us in forty-five minutes; so, at the appointed place and at the designated time, Jimmy and I were there, but no girls. We waited for ten minutes and still no girls, so we walked over to Ayers Store and rode up and down the escalators. While engaged in this pleasant enterprise, Toddy Kixmiller, now of Indianapolis, but formerly of South Side, descended on the escalator, opposite to the one we were going up on. Toddy immediately wanted to know where her long lost Sam was, and I had to tell her I didn't have the slightest idea.

We returned to the place of meeting only to find that the girls were still absent. Jim and I went on and ate our lunch without them. Jim then returned to the car, which had now been parked for an hour and a half in a half-hour parking zone, while I again tried to find the girls. As I soon found them eating in Thompsons restaurant, I returned to the car and told Jimmy. Since the girls said they would like to stay there and shop around some more, Jim and I had no recourse but to wait some more!

After two hours and a half of shopping, Pat Sanford still had not bought her hat, so she asked Jim to drive around the block once more while she tried another store. I stood on the corner and waited, and, of course, without my guidance, Jimmy turned the wrong way and got lost. Pat couldn't find a hat, but she did manage to buy a dress.

I had now been standing on the

Swaggers, Shuffles Interest Observer In School Corridor

One of the most interesting subjects to observe around school is—of all things—walking. Walking is like fingerprints; no two people have the same style. A school like South Side is a fine place for such observations. Our school is full of varied and colorful personalities; consequently it is full of unlike styles of walking.

For example, we might first take up the swagger. This is undoubtedly one of the most outstanding types. In the majority of cases it is the property of the masculine sex, but occasionally one will see a girl striding down the hall, arms swinging, shoulders bobbing, feet falling heavily, and looking for all the world like she had just cornered the market in Siamese safety pins.

On the other extreme there is the little mincing type of step—the kind that makes one think that the owner must believe that he is walking barefoot over the coals of the Chicago fire. As a general rule, girls only belong to this category. However, sometimes, especially after just having had a history test, boys will be seen adopting this peculiar style.

Another person seen strolling down the hall might be exhibiting the "shuffle-slouch". This particular type is quite the rage when grades come out. It consists chiefly of putting a most artistically drooping curve in the spine and shoulders and at the same time shuffling the feet like a downhearted chimpanzee. Of all the types, this is the most detrimental—not only is it injurious to health, but it also wears out shoe leather.

South Is First In Track Meet Last Saturday

Green Thinly Clads Down Auburn, Central, Garrett; Chuck Close Sets Record

South Side's tracksters won another meet last week-end, finishing ahead of Garrett, Central, and Auburn in a quadrangular meeting in the southern stadium. Coach Collyer's harriers finished with 56 points; Garrett placed second with 31 markers, Central third with 26 1/2 points, and Auburn was last by virtue of counting only 4 1/2 points.

CHUCK CLOSE, HUSKY SOUTH SIDE SHOTPUT ACE, ESTABLISHED A NEW SCHOOL RECORD IN THAT EVENT WHEN HE TOSSED THE WEIGHT 50 FEET 2 1/2 INCHES.

The only other stand-out athlete was Roger Neibergall, who entered the 100-yard dash, the 440, and 220; and he won with comparative ease in each of his tries. The Garrett speedster should prove to be a strong contender for sectional and state honors, and only Bob Cowan of North Side appears to have a chance against the Railroad ace.

South Side's first places were garnered by Close in the shotput, Gus Feistkorn in the 880-yard run, Dwight Davis in the mile run, Les Oppenlander in the low hurdles, and Dick Kilpatrick in the high jump.

Both of the Collyer-coached relay quartets finished in first place. The speedy mile crew was made up of Bill Miller, Jim Morrison, Gus Feistkorn, and Jim Worman. Members of the half-mile unit were Chick Shimer, Bill Bond, Rudy Wuttke, and Art Parry.

A summary of the meet follows:
100-Yard Dash—Neibergall (G), first; Sisko (C), second; Shimer (S), third. Time—10.5.
220-Yard Dash—Neibergall (G), first; Shimer (S), second; Parry (S), third. Time—23.6.
440-Yard Dash—Neibergall (G), first; Worman (S), second; Sisko (C), third. Time—51.4.
880-Yard Dash—Feistkorn (S), first; Hefty (A), second; Davis (S), third. Time—2:07.8.
1 Mile Run—Davis (S), first; Deal (S), second; Fee (G), third. Time—4:57.0.
High Hurdles—Kuehler (C), first; Smurr (G), second; Hollman (C), third. Time—17.2.
Low Hurdles—Oppenlander (S), first; Symon (G), second; Sebald (S), third. Time—25.0.
Broad Jump—Grey (C), first; Wuttke (S), second; Washington (C), third. Distance—20 feet 1 1/2 inch.
High Jump—Kilpatrick (S), first; Washington (C), second; Grey (C) and Stebing (A), tied for third. Height—5 feet 9 inches.
Shotput—Close (S), first; Davis (S), second; Smurr (G), third. Distance—50 feet 2 1/2 inches.
Pole Vault—Hall (G), first; Lew (C), second; Zuber (S), third. Height—10 feet 9 inches.
1 Mile Relay—South Side (Miller, Morrison, Feistkorn, Worman), first; Garrett, second; Central, third; Auburn, fourth. Time—3:38.9.
Half-Mile Relay—South Side (Shimer, Bond, Wuttke, Parry), first; Central, second; Auburn, third. Time—1:36.0.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol
Finally the boys' intramural ping-pong tournament has been announced as past history. The champions of the three divisions—heavy, middle, and light weights are Jerry Mansbach, James Stiener and Roy Geiser.

Mr. Briner wishes to remind those who are interested in intramural softball that the deadline for all entries is tomorrow. The boys' annual Gym Class Carnival is rapidly nearing a finish; and, according to Mr. Briner, the final results will be announced next week.

Despite the fact that there were 22 entrants in the double elimination ping-pong tournament, it was completed in less than a week. In the heavy-weight division, nine boys participated, with Jerry Mansbach winning the last game over W. Selby with a score of 21 to 13 and 21 to 16.

Although the final game was between Selby and Mansbach, Ray Fish was the most serious threat to the champion. In the first game, Fish conquered Bill Schlose by a score of 21 to 18. Next, he conquered Bill Greer, who proved to be a worthy opponent; the score was 21 to 15 and 21 to 17.

Fish finally lost to his third opponent, Mansbach, 21 to 15, 18 to 21 and 21 to 13. Mansbach had already defeated John Gumpfer and Don Strobel with lopsided scores.

Out of the seven entrants signed up in the middle weight division, James Stiener was conceded the championship after conquering Harry Seiler 19 to 21, 21 to 18 and 21 to 19.

This was the closest and most exciting game in the tournament, and Harry Seiler proved himself to be a worthy opponent by defeating Warren Lotz 21 to 15 and 21 to 14, and then defeating Max Chandler 21 to 18 and 21 to 19.

Other participants were Bob Hansel, who was eliminated by James Stiener in the first frame 21 to 16 and 21 to 12; Jack Shirk, who eliminated Harold Miller, 21 to 19 and 21 to 19, was defeated by Stiener in the second frame 21 to 12 and 21 to 18.

Only six entrants were in the light-weight division. The final game between Roy Geiser and Don Moore proved to be very one-sided as the final score was 21 to 6 and 21 to 9. Geiser won his first game over Vern Mitchell 21 to 16 and 21 to 16. In the second frame, Harold Moyer proved to be Geiser's most formidable foe as they played three games before deciding that Geiser was the better. The scores were 21 to 17, 12 to 21 and 21 to 18. Moyer had defeated Edgar Brackman 21 to 12 and 21 to 12 to be able to play Geiser. Don Stone defeated Sam Gross 21 to 12 and 21 to 16, but forfeited his next game to Don Moore, who had drawn the bye. Therefore, Moore got to the finals without playing a game.

So far only about fifteen teams have been entered in the softball tournament. By tomorrow, Mr. Briner expects to have at least thirty teams entered.

Mr. Benjamin Null's Boyhood Life Is Very Similar To Shakespeare's

Editors note: The Times is very happy to print the following autobiography by Mr. Benjamin Null, English department head. We know that his English students will enjoy it particularly.

Several years after the Civil War, I was born on a farm in the southwestern part of Indiana. My infancy, as I remember it, was quite uneventful. My early boyhood gave great promise; for I grew up under very much the same conditions as did Shakespeare, only I had more conditions than he had. Our books, you know, tell us that Shakespeare's greatness was evidently the product of his country environment at Avon, where he heard the birds sing, smelled the fragrance of the fields, and prowled around at night on old Sir Lucy's deer farm.

WE HAD NO DEER FARM IN OUR NEIGHBORHOOD, BUT WE DID HAVE APPLE AND PEACH ORCHARDS AND WATERMELON PATCHES.

I heard the birds sing and smelled the fragrance of the fields; and I also heard the pigs squeal, the cows bawl, the chickens cackle, the dogs bark, and the cats yowl and spit, all of which beautiful noises should have inspired the youthful mind to high and noble things.

But in spite of all these advantages, my mental development seems to have been retarded. You boys and girls are green enough, goodness knows; but you should have seen me! I was merely green; I was luxuriantly verdant. I knew that cows have no upper front teeth and that chickens gobble their food without chewing it, but I didn't know until I was a senior in

Archers Think That Redskins Are Really Swell Bunch Of Kids

There has always been a friendly rivalry between North Side and South Side in sports and other competition. After a poll had been taken among the students, we found that outside of sports that there is a friendly relationship between the students of both schools. In fact there are several romances between South Side and North Side students. After encountering several intelligent looking people, your roving reporter has the following opinions concerning what the South Side students think of the North Side students.

Martha May Scheele: They're tops! Leslie Baumgartner: Can't say it. Sam Johnson: I like their outstanding school spirit.

Lorraine Lord: Swell bunch of kids. Bob Brooks: Just fine. Dick McIntosh: Swell girls, but the boys are funny.

Rosa Lee Hall: North Side is all right, but Central Catholic is on top of my list. Ralph Shimer: Pretty nice bunch of boys and girls.

Pat Towns: South Side has better looking boys. Bob Worman: I'd like to know some of the North Side girls better, but the fellows are stuck up.

Peb Kettler: I think they're wonderful, especially a certain blond senior.

that tinkered with electricity and invented the lightning rod.

This early period of mental retardation caused me many moments of embarrassment until I became a high school senior, when all knowledge became mine and all mysteries of life and of the universe cleared away and left me a superior being.

My physical development, however, was highly satisfactory. At the age of sixteen, I was six feet tall and weighed a hundred and ten pounds. I didn't do well at football, but I could surely run. My sprinting speed was never timed, but it must have been terrific,

South Side Students Use Spring Vacation To Increase Funds

During spring vacation many of our prominent Archer students were employed by department stores and floral shops.

Bob Hines, Bob Robinson, and Pat Sanford worked in the shoe department at Groth's. Betty Ann Bohn did her bit at Franks, while Alene Loeser did the same for the Paris. Marjorie MacMahon worked for Nobbison's. Olive Swanson and Dorothy Burke worked at Murphy's.

Jim Gerig worked at Golden's and Mike Beall was at the Grand Leader. Don Parkinson not only worked at Wolf and Dessauer during spring vacation, but also toils there every afternoon.

The floral shops seemed to need a lot of help for their Easter demands, as Margaret Heine and Mary Anne Florence did their bits to spread Easter cheer by working at Lanternier and Doswell floral shops. The Siebold twins worked at Baude's Flower Shop.

Not all our students were able to work in stores as some earned money by improving lawns and doing odd jobs around the neighborhood.

especially when I had been into meanness and my Dad started for a hickory limb.

My education has been somewhat intermittent. Sowing wheat in the fall, planting corn in the spring, sawing wood in the winter, listening to all the beautiful sounds and smelling such delicate and inspiring odors as only the farm can produce cut heavily into my early schooling.

I did manage, however, to get through the eight grades and to graduate from high school twice. After the second graduation from high school, I taught a six-months country school and then entered DePauw University, where I made passing grades for a year and a quarter. From DePauw I went to Indiana University and there received my degree several years later.

SINCE LEAVING THE UNIVERSITY, I HAVE ACQUIRED MOST OF MY ADVANCED LEARNING FROM HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS.

At the time of this writing, I have taught school thirty-six and a half years, two months and three days.

I like dogs, tolerate cats, and hate snakes. I am fond of all sorts of vitamins; but I don't like spinach, and I don't like the person who invented the hot dog. I like South Side High School and the whole faculty, even down to Jack Wainwright and Miss Magley. I like all the kids of South Side so much that if all of them for some reason left the school, I should leave too.

This brings me up to date. If in forty years from now you should want another installment, just hunt me up.

Bob Hope, Fibber McGee Rate High As Radio Favorites

Every evening practically every Archer demands quiet in his home so he or she can hear the favorite radio personalities. Whether it be the coyote that howls on Death Valley Days or the man who sings the Planters Peanuts advertisements, they all have that certain voice that does something to us. During the last few weeks a poll has been taken to find out as nearly as possible just what radio personalities appeal to our students.

Jeanne Junk: Tony Martin, I've liked him for three years, why give up now?

Celeste Freistrotter: Fibber McGee, good jokes.

LaVerne Holloway: Bob Hope, I think he's just darling.

Roberta Steck: Bob Hope, more fun.

Mary Sites: Bob Hope, he's so inspirational.

Elaine Ferguson: Baby Snooks, she can get into more devilmint.

Marilyn Gregg: The dog that barks for Master Mix.

Pat Underhill: Ken Peters of Moon River. He's so soothing. Sometimes I just drop off to sleep.

Eileen Eidner: Oscar Levant of Lower Basin Street. It's really swell.

Mary Smith: Fibber McGee, he's so witty.

Dale Schouweiler: Fibber McGee, I like him because he's nuts—like me.

Art Garrison: Bob Hope, I like him 'cause he's really got a way with the women.

Cliff Springer: Kate Smith. She's a really good gal.

Kent Lentz: Aunt Liddy. That gal's got class.

Betty Hargan: Frank Morgan. Ah, for a man like that!

Mary Cleland: Henry Aldrich. I'd love to have a boy friend like him.

Dean McKean: Betty Barber of One Man's Family. Well, she's got the right first name anyway.

Girls' Sportsettes

By Joan Dodge
Some of our GAA'ers surely are ambitious. Taking advantage of the grand weather we had during spring vacation, "Ducky" Spore and Norma Russell led hikes to Waynedale. "Duck's" hike was taken April 5 and Norma's April 9. Come on, girls, let's have more hikes this spring. You girls who say the weather is not nice won't have any excuses now!

Kathryn Zaegel started the GAA upperclassmen baseball season outright by batting a ball high in the bleachers and making a home run.

We wish to congratulate Evelyn Arnold for finally becoming a member of upperclassmen GAA. Here's hoping you get your 1500 points soon, Evy.

Have you girls noticed the new gym suits some of the girls have been wearing in GAA and in gym classes? They are really cute. White, blue, and green are the predominating colors in which they appear.

We surely are lucky. Last week was the first time that freshman and upperclassmen GAA and girls' gym classes were able to go out of doors and play baseball. It certainly felt swell. Here's hoping we get to go out much more in the near future.

Because spotlights and settings for the senior play last Friday were on the stage, girls' gym classes were not able to play baseball. Handball, similar to baseball, was played.

Freshman student leaders! Umpires and scorekeepers are needed for GAA upperclass baseball. Sign up now. Get more service points by scoring and umpiring.

Now that the weather is getting nicer, one likes to get exercise. Some of the girls are playing tennis, and some are taking hikes. Yes, even bicycle hikes. That's what we call spring fever.

Speaking of spring fever, three of our lassies have changed the fever to summer fever (or is there such a thing?) These gals, Maurine Brackman, Joan Dodge, and Betty Speckman, went for a dip at the Catholic Community Center last Thursday and got ALL WET!

3 GAA Teams Are Victorious In Ball Games

Geneva Martin, Julia Kaser, Betty Hargan Lead The Winners In Second Series

Geneva Martin's Senior 1's, Betty Hargan's Junior 1's and Julia Kaser's Sophomore 3's were winners in second round of upperclassmen basketball. This was held last Friday in GAA's outdoor basketball field.

The Senior 1's won by a wide margin of 35 to 6 over the Sophomore 4's. Outstanding players on the winning team were Geneva Martin, Jeanne Smith, Frances Nash, Maxine Sterling and Mary Alice Dunten.

On the north field, Betty Hargan's Junior 1's defeated Margaret Dale's Junior 2's by the score of 29 to 5. Rosemary Spore, Betty Hargan, Sylvia Sholtz, Lenora Moyer and Etheldrea Behling made at least five runs each for the winning team.

The Sophomore 3's, of whom Julia Kaser is captain, defeated the Sophomore 2's by the score of 19 to 11. Phyllis Grove, Betty McKay, Nelda Kunge, Joan Spore and Donna Peel made home runs for the winning team.

Triangular Meet Is Planned For Collyermen Saturday

Archer Squad Plans Victory In Next Meet

Mishawaka, Gary Froebel Will Be Two Other Challengers With Good Teams

Coach Collyer's trackmen will travel to Mishawaka on Saturday to engage in a triangular meet with Gary Froebel and Mishawaka. Both of the foreign cinder outfits have several fine performers on their rosters, but the Archers are nevertheless confident of another victory.

Froebel's chief contender in the meet will be Davage Minor, big high jumping star. Dick Kilpatrick will carry the local colors into competition against the colored artist.

South Side's chief threats will again be Chuck Close, Gus Feistkorn, and the two relay units. The eight South Siders who compose the relay teams are Gus Feistkorn, Jim Workman, Bill Miller, Jim Morrison, Chick Shimer, Bill Bond, Rudy Wuttke, and Art Parry.

Other Archers certain to compete are Les Oppenlander and Ralph Sebold in the hurdle events, Dwight Davis and Tom Deal in the mile and Dal Zuber and Sam Johnson in the pole vault.

All of the South Side trackmen are looking ahead to the sectional and state meets, for several of the Archer barriers appear to have a good chance of coping first places. The mile relay quartet, composed of four seniors, is also hoping for further laurels.

CHUCK CLOSE IS GROOMING FOR THE SHOTPUT TITLE AND GUS FEISTKORN IS AIMING AT THE 880-YARD RUN CROWN.

Mural Markers

By Bud Gardner
Since the ping-pong tournament has come to a close and because the weather is so beautiful, Mr. Louis Briner has decided to start the intramural softball tournament. By last Friday night, the gym office had received eight teams entered.

The lightweight division had two teams entered, the Swans and the Hot-dogs. Harry Kast, the leader of the Swans, entered 19 boys' names, ten being team members, the others being subs. Their names were G. Labraman, B. Williams, V. Ehlerindring, R. Long, H. Kast, C. Lebanon, P. McNeal, A. Kranz, B. Nahrwald, R. Imier, G. Mullers, R. Hovey, W. Miller and D. Mustum. Mitchell, the captain of the Hot-dogs, recorded the names of the following boys: W. Konow, B. Vandeford, R. Armstrong, D. Stone, B. Shannon, Vick Zollers, J. Braun, E. Zollinger, V. Mitchell, Al Carlo, D. Stamets and Jack Girdom.

Two tough middleweight teams were entered. They are the Easy Aces and the Cats. The captain of the Easy Aces, Herman Turner, submitted a team of boys whose names follow: Turner, Voight, Yant, Clifton, Wissler, Werling, Majorki, Minser, Harter and Hambrook. Of course, no intramural activity would be complete without some Cats. As usual there are some Cats, the captain of which is Dick Kilpatrick. The team members are Dick Kilpatrick, Lloyd Doerman, Paul Wuttke, Ralph Meyers, Tom Deal, Al Boese, Leroy Burns, Dick Hirschey, Harry Seilers and Bill White.

There were four entrants accepted in the heavyweight division. The Archers, captained by one of the "Dromios" (I don't know which) have twelve team members. They are Bill Siebold, Max Stobaught, Frank Thomson, "Dromio," "Dromio" (inseparable), Jim Gerig, Les Baumgardner, Dave Stolte, Fred Schweier, Gerry Mansbach, Tom Elliott and Rudy Wuttke.

Bill Thomson, captain of the Buc's entered the following boys: Thomson, Stine, Zehrung, VandeBunt, Hartzell, DuWaldt, George, Perry and Schwartz. The T.O.P., a tough aggregation, captained by Marvin Reynolds, includes the following boys: Reynolds, Zuber, McClain, Rietdorf, Wolf, Meyers, Werkman, Giese, Gingham, Brower, Hall and Underwood.

Alexander Swoose's, a bunch of freshmen, are expected to give the upperclassmen a pretty good fight even if they are the underdogs. The members of this team are Bud Gardner, Bill Fishering, Jug Most, Bob Smith, Phil Lichtenberg, Tom Reher, Jack Drummond, Dick Sellers, Stan Trier and Bob Sheldon.

And so, mix up the teams, have a good fight over it, and may the best team win.

Ernie Vogel, South Side's ace representative on the YMCA swim team, made a fine showing in the National Aquatic meet held here last week end. Vogel set a new record in taking first place in the 60-yard free style. He also placed second in the 100-yard free style and was a member of the local quartet which annexed the 440-yard free style relay. The Fort Wayne team placed second with 224 points, of which 12½ markers were registered by Archer Vogel.

YMCA Sponsors Events In Which Archers Earn Plaque; Lieut. Colonel Scans Speaks

Hi-Y was the recipient of a plaque signifying that it won the tournament among city Hi-Y clubs in snooker, checkers, pool, and ping-pong, in connection with the re-dedication of the YMCA, April 17.

Bill and Dick Dreyer took first place in pool. Dave Azar took first place in checkers, and Art Longworth took first place in ping-pong singles. Bob Kite and Ed Rehling took second place in ping-pong doubles.

Lieut. Colonel Peter Scans, assistant commander at the new army airport, spoke on the organization of the U. S. Army Air Corps and of our new airport at 7:30 o'clock last Thursday during a mass meeting of Hi-Y clubs of the city. He discussed reconnaissance, bomber, and pursuit planes. He also enumerated the qualifications for an army pilot.

A safety film and a film depicting the future in 1960 were shown.

Mark Hall, '39, Fires With Princeton Club

Mark Hall, '39, has been shooting this year as a member of the Princeton University Skeet Club. Last week end the ex-Archer competed in the third annual intercollegiate skeet championship at the Remington Gun Club. Hall shot in the meet as a member of the defending champion Princeton skeet team, and he broke 92 out of 100 targets for a fine tournament showing.

While at South Side, Mark was active in the Rifle Club; he established several good marks while in the local group.

Students Believe Tracksters Should Get More Recognition

By Bob Young, Times Sports Editor
During the past years, track has been greatly neglected at South Side. The forgetfulness has not occurred on the part of the athletes, for they have turned out in full force to do their part; but the neglect has come from the student body itself.

Every athlete likes to feel that the school is behind him in whatever event he takes part. The football and basketball boys receive their just attention, and there is no excuse for our lack of appreciation dealt the track boys.

Never have the students of South Side really displayed a true enthusiasm for track. Perhaps the sport is the proverbial Greek to many Archers. If so, something must be done. Last year the South Side boys won the sectional track championship, yet no one seemed too elated over the win or too optimistic about the state meet.

Such lack of enthusiasm could hardly be taken lightly by the track boys. Last week-end the South Side track squad won a well-deserved victory over Garrett, Central, and Auburn. Only a small crowd was on hand, and many of those were of grade-school age.

When the grade schools of the city hold their relay races and their annual Field Day, the students turn out 100 per cent strong to cheer their school representatives. Indeed, we can all absorb a good lesson from the grade schools. For a fellow to have the "go-out-and-win-for-my-school attitude", he must have something to kindle his spirit. Running

Baseball Continued By GAA Freshmen

Teams 6, 4, 1 Are Winners In Third Round Of Tournament Battles Played Last Friday

GAA freshmen played their third round of tournament baseball Monday in the gymnasium, with teams 6, 4, and 1 the victors.

Phyllis Jackson's freshman Team 6, Nancy Griffith's Team 4, and Marilyn Dornier's Team 1 were winners.

At 3:30 o'clock Team 3 was defeated by Team 6 by the score of 2 to 1. Jessica Jones and Joyce Dent were the outstanding players on the winning team.

Team 4 defeated Team 2 by the score of 2 to 1. Phyllis Moore and Phyllis Crabb made the two runs for the winning team.

At 4:30 o'clock Team 1 defeated Team 5, the final score being 2 to 1.

Torch Takes Seconds In Contest At YMCA

Torch Club took second places in checkers, ping-pong, snooker and pool contests at a meeting of city YMCA boys' clubs at the YMCA Thursday afternoon. Tom Wilson and Jack MacMillan represented the club. The meeting was held in connection with re-dedication activities there, held this week.

Ken Iba, Tom Wilson and Ward Gilbert will have charge of the Torch meeting to be held today in Room 174 at 3:30 o'clock. They will give explanations of the history and activities of Torch Club.

Is Track Hope

Chuck Close

Pictured above is South Side's chief hope for a first place in the state track meet. Big Chuck Close definitely established himself as a threat last week end by tossing the shot 50 feet 2¾ inches. This heave set a new school record, and it was only two feet under the state mark set by Don Elser in 1931. Close is steadily improving with each meet, and by sectional and state time, the husky Green shot star should mark up several fine records for South Side.

Ping-Pong, Badminton Tournaments Will Begin

All girls interested in entering ping pong and badminton tournaments are to sign up in the gym office today for the annual tournaments.

The badminton tournament will be conducted fifth period all week except Wednesday, and after school every evening, except Thursday, in the handball court. On Friday and Monday, matches will be played on the gym floor at 3:30 o'clock.

The ping-pong tournament will begin today and tomorrow. The drawings will be posted on the bulletin board. All ping-pong matches will be singles.

Archer Pupils Give Ideas On Spectators' Viewpoint Of Track

"I like the shot put"; "Nothing is any good but the pole vault"; "The hurdles are the most fun to watch"—so go the exclamations made when asked, "What is your opinion of track from the spectators' viewpoint?"

Stan Trier: Too many things going on at one time.

Joe Brutton: I like the hurdles.

Marcella Bazzinett: It's OK.

Bob Zimmer: It's not very interesting.

Earl Cheevers: It develops a competitive spirit.

Don Schrimp: It's OK.

Jack Worthman: I like to watch the hurdles.

Kate Scholer: It's all right if you like to sit in the sun and watch people whizzing by.

Gary Dial: It's a good sport.

Verne Fitchell: You can't tell who is winning.

Fred Collins: It develops boys for basketball and football.

Jim Pugh: It's corny.

Alma Smith: I've never been to a track meet so I don't know.

Carl Schurenberg: Too many things going on at once.

Helen Welbaum: It's interesting, exciting, thrilling, etc.

Phyllis Buckmaster: I like the 100-yard dash.

Bill Schlose: Next to basketball, football, baseball, and checkers, I like track best.

Joyce Bricker: I like to watch the hurdles.

Carolyn Fackler: It's all right.

Warren Cook: Not enough spectators.

Light Colors Dominant In Men's Wear

Downtown Stores Are Selling Pastel Coats, Vests Of Yellow, Teal, And White

Simplicity Is Motto For Prom Apparel

Western Studded Boots, Six-Inch Belts, Ten-Gallon Hats In Men's Parade

They say that in this day and age a man is a man only if he looks like a man. All of which means nothing unless one realizes that the statement refers to clothes. Yes, this spring all you energetic young males can look masculine and at the same time appear well dressed and comfortable.

Featured at all of the downtown men's stores are campus vest sweaters for the balmy spring days. These are given collegiate titles such as "Washington and Lee" but you may easily recognize them as your old winter standbys in new colors. Yellow, tan, teal, or simply white are the featured colors.

For a junior and anyone else planning to go to the prom, the emphasis should be placed on simplicity. You can wear a tuxedo or tails if you wish, but any decent, subdued model of a new sport suit will serve you well. Latest color is military brown; latest styles are the single-double and the crash-cut outfits.

This year, simplicity becomes an important factor in boys' styles. While bright, crazy-patterned jackets or orange slacks are not entirely outlawed, they have been taken out of the division marked simply, "good taste."

BEST BETS ARE PASTEL JACKETS AND NEUTRAL-TINTED SLACKS.

"Keep abreast with a vest!" seems to be an increasingly popular slogan with the young American men. Yes, vests (odd or worn with a coat) are definitely in for a stay. They come in any color of the rainbow and are guaranteed to display that manish chest in a manish manner.

You can't take the new hats with you. We don't know how it happened, but the West is this year's male cue. Men of all sizes and shapes will be reaching this summer for ten-gallon hats, six-inch belts, and studded boots. So that you will not think our prediction too radical, we hereby inform you that these items are expected to take care of Jack's "all play and no work" side.

Playtime Clothes Feature Sarongs

Broom-Stick Skirts For Golf, Short Overalls For Fishing, Shorts For Tennis Matches

Summertime! Ah, only a few short weeks and summer vacation will be here! Summer, to most people, means swimming, tennis, fishing, golf and numerous other ways of entertaining one's self. Of course with summer sports comes the problem of what to wear.

Swimming being one of the most popular sports, we will start with the latest thing to wear while basking in the sun or riding the waves at our more popular summer resorts. Sarongs will definitely have their place among the more popular suits. They are, of course, used more for sun-bathing.

Since most of the lassies around school will be out to get a good tan, two-piece suits will no doubt hold the spotlight. The one-piece bathing suits with or without skirts will naturally be the good old stand-by for some of us who don't look well with so much of our anatomy exposed to the critical eyes of passerby and to the strong rays of old Sol.

FOR GOLF OR JUST FOR LOZING AROUND WE WILL NO DOUBT SEE A LOT OF THE FAST-GROWING POPULAR "BROOM-STICK" SKIRT. THOSE OUT FOR THE EXERCISE AND SUN WILL PROBABLY BE SEEN WEARING SHIRTS AND SHORTS AND CARRYING A SKIRT FOR WHEN THE CLUB-HOUSE COMES INTO VIEW.

Bob Hines, an English 8 student of Miss Kiefer, told the class interesting things about Robert Byrne and his work.

The following students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 7 class scored A+ on an idiom test over five lessons of the book: Mary Bowlby, Elenor Christ, Katherine Kuntz, Myla Landis, Bob Safer, and Beverly Sprunger. Those who scored A are Delores Daniels, Clarence Freeman, Harriet Greer, Alice Hall, Connie Harrison, Marjorie McMahan, Laverne Michel-felder, and Emalyn Remmel. Martha Smith and Jean Weil scored A—.

Marjorie Ann Meyer received the highest grade on a test given by Mr.

Heine to his Biology 2, period 7 class.

"Personal Adjustments" is the subject taken up by Mr. Murphy's sociology classes.

Marie Fish and Audis Igney, English 3 students of Miss Kiefer, gave reports on waterspouts in connection with the class study of "Waterspouts and the South Seas."

Hilda Leininger scored 100 on a test given by Mr. Sterner to her Latin 2, period 6 class. Others who received high grades were Marilyn Cairns, 97; Barbara Egert, 96; Carl Schurenberg, 96; Charles Hoke, 95; and Margaret Kuntz, 95.

Jack Parker, Lawrence Phipps, and William Vanderford received 100 on a micrometer reading test given by Mr. Smuts to his metal classes.

Phyllis Buckmaster, Carolyn Fackler, and Ann Welborn made A— on a test on gerunds in Miss Pocock's English 2, period 4 class.

On a recent Latin 2 test given by Mr. Sterner to his period 4 class, Martha Harry received 95; Sally Muller, 99; and Rosa Lee Hall, 96.

In Mr. Heine's Biology 2, period 3 class the following students made 96 or above on a recent test: Bill Brutton, Bill Fishering, Bob Sheldon, Jane Schafer, Eula Teel, and Nila Thayer.

Raymond Vonderau, Evelyn Hagerfeld, and Sam Bacon made the highest grades on a German test given by Mr. Schnepel to his German 3 class.

Maxine Asmus, John Hitzman, and Lee Loeser made 94 or above on a test recently given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 1 class.

Betty Kite made A and Colleen McCarty and Virginia McCormick made A— on a test over "Lyrics From The Poets of Today" given by Miss Pocock to her English 4, period 2 class.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have studied the correct home use of antiseptics and disinfectives.

Lois Anderson, Kate Cox, Pat Jackson, and Gerry Mason made 98 on a test given by Mr. Heine to his Biology 2, period 6 class.

All girls' gym classes are playing basketball.

Alma Smith, Helen Welbaum, Charles Reppert, Sally Mueller, Jeanette Moore, Carolyn Fackler, Dave Peterson, Gerry Mason, and Phyllis Bloemker, English 2 students of Miss Pocock, made the best drawings of the siege of Torquillstone.

After Mrs. Welty's Latin 1 classes studied the labyrinth which was built for the Minotaur, Dick Cunningham and Eric Baade brought in very good reproductions of different types of labyrinths.

Coat Fashions Feature Plaids

Popular Styles Top-, Box-, Coats, Dress-maker, Reefer Wrap-arounds, Princess

Suits are all the rage this year, but did you ever think that you also need a coat—a coat that may be worn with dresses or over your suit on extra cool days? Your selection of a coat must be given a lot of consideration before making your choice.

THREE SLEEVE FEATURES ARE DOMINATING THIS SEASON'S COATS: THE MILITARY SHOULDERS WITH THEIR HUGE PADDINGS, DROP SHOULDERS WITH THE SEAMS SLIDING DOWN OVER THE ARM, AND THE NEW DEEP ARMHOLES, COMMONLY KNOWN AS DOLMAN SLEEVES.

Next to consider is color and material. For an all-around coat, get something in beige wool, such as tweed, camel hair, wheat and white diagonal stripe, cashmere, or covert cloth. If your clothes are mostly plain colors, a coat of giant plaid will go beautifully. For figured or bright dresses, the new shades of red or a bright green will blend in just right.

Next, consider the type of coat you want. Do you want a top-coat, box-coat, reefer, wrap-around, a dress-maker, or a princess coat? They are all very popular in plaids or plain material.

For you girls that want an all-around coat, choose a country coat that falls loosely from a shoulder yoke. This, in beige, can be worn with anything, any time and any place.

For the girl who likes to dress casually, try a coat of neutral plaid, such as blue, grey and beige.

For wrap-around coats, consider a pale beige wool with a natural leather belt and deep armholes, or a glen-plaid in beige and brown.

THE NEWEST THING IN REEFER COATS IS A CANDY PLAID, WITH HALF-BELT AND KICK PLEATS IN THE SKIRT. THE COLORS ARE NOT BABY TINTS BUT THE BOLD SOPHISTICATED SHADES SUCH AS VANILLA, BUTTERSCOTCH, STRAWBERRY PINK, AND ANISE BLUE. WEAR IT WITH COLOR OUTSIDE.

For the girl who wants that sophisticated, classic look, get a navy wool or grey tweed princess coat with white pique collar and cuffs.

If you happen to be one of the lucky people who have a coat and also a suit, you could make a fine investment in a cape. They vary in length from the long dress length to the hip or three-quarter length. If you want to be conservative in the buying of your cape, get a plain color in beige, red or bright yellow; but if you want to be a little reckless just once (and we can't blame you), get a bold plaid or check that will blend in with your suit or plain dresses.

Shopping For Clothes, Beauty Comes With Arrival Of Spring

It's spring again, and you'll probably be shopping around for beauty as well as clothes—the kind of beauty that comes in boxes and bottles and kits. There are many clever aids on the market this spring. Here are just a few:

Invest a dollar or two in good grooming. A certain company is putting out a brand new make-up cape of late. It ties on, covers you down to the elbows, and comes in pastels, like shell pink, blue, white or yellow. And there are little pockets conveniently placed to hold powder puffs, combs or fixings for your hair. The cape is endlessly useful for keeping powder and stray hairs off fashionable shoulders.

Spring lilac—a delightful new floral scent—made by a popular firm. Toilet water with or without atomizer, cologne and perfume can be had for 50 cents and up.

IF YOU'RE A DARK POLISH AD-DICK, YOU'LL WANT BLACK FIRE, SO HANDSOME AND FLATTERING TO WELL-KEPT HANDS AND LONG NAILS.

Do you use an eyelash curler? Curling makes eyelashes look inches longer, and the special little gadget does the trick in a trice, works as easily as a scissors, very reasonable, and you'll have it for years.

Something brand new: Beauty tissues. These are small, highly-absorbent squares, specially processed from all-linen rag. Not to wipe away cleansing cream, but to do a during-the-day freshening job for oily skin. You carry a dozen or so in a slim ploidim envelope, and whenever that "healthy glow" appears just pat your face with a tissue and swish! It's gone without disturbing your make-up one iota; fifty cents for a big, big wad, complete with carrying envelope, and they're wonderful, really.

One slick quick way of having your allure with you always is to carry a Perquette; a tiny, metal lipstick-shaped case housing a shaft of solid perfume. This you swish, simply over perfumable areas of the skin, and lo, it is beautifully, lastingly fragrant. Equal to four drams of liquid perfume, it's obtainable at a reasonable price. Flavors? Delicious. They are Honey Mead, Daybreak, Green Moonlight.

IF YOU CARE TO KNOW THE NAMES OF ANY OF THE FIRMS THAT ARE ISSUING THE ABOVE PRODUCTS, DROP A NOTE TO THE FASHION EDITOR OF THE TIMES, AND THE INFORMATION WILL BE SENT YOU PRONTO.

Colorful Bags Are Latest In Fashion

Large Patent Leather, Brightly Colored Red Silk Purses Are Styled In All Sizes And Shapes

Whether you're tall or short, you can buy the exact purse that fits your personality. The huge patents and the brightly colored red silks are only two of the many on sale at all of the Fort Wayne department stores.

Large patent leather purses that can really carry everything are made in all shapes. Some of them are decorated only by a large gold initial, while others are fastened by a red, white and blue enameled emblem. The inside is lined with a heavy silk that will wear for months, and the finishing details are perfect. Many of these spring purses are fitted with a compact and a matching comb case. Talon zippers fasten most of the purses, and this assures long wear.

A new type of material is being used this season. It's a corded material that looks very expensive and very smart. The best part of this is that they cost very little, the cost depending on the size of purse wanted.

The felts look unusually well with very tailored suits. They are mostly envelope shaped and fastened with a huge emblem of military design.

Reporter Received Royally In Meeting Of Rotarian Group

A reporter attended a meeting of the Rotary International Club, which consists of prominent Fort Wayne business and professional men. At 12:30 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served. After the lunch, we were entertained by an outstanding speaker. At each meeting throughout the year, some sort of program is provided just after the lunch. Sometimes it is a magician or speech contest.

During the course of the year the Rotarians sponsor two speech contests with students, representing each of the high schools, as the participants.

One of the contests is based on speeches about the Rotary Club. These are always very interesting. The other contest is extemporaneous, which is extremely helpful to those who are in it. This contest does not limit the subject of the speaker.

There are Rotary Clubs in every city in the United States whose population is over ten thousand; therefore it attains the name International. To promote better business and help the business man is the purpose of this important club.

Summer Footwear Styles Are Given

Unique Sport Shoes Are Rope-Soled; Sandals Forecasted For Coolness During The Summer

"Put your best foot forward." What phrase could be more appropriate during a spring when shoes are so smart? "Style" is the key word in describing this season's "foot-cladders."

The parade of sports shoes that struck us as being unique, were rope-soled. Rope was actually wound around to form a sole; they were slip-ons and the body of the shoe was cut from soft suede. You can get them in navy, beige or brown. I assure you, you won't get "hung" if you purchase a pair.

THE DEARLY LOVED CASUALS ARE BEING "DUNKED" IN SUMMER DYES SO THEY WON'T BECOME A MERE MEMORY WITH THE APPROACH OF HOT WEATHER. THEY COME IN SOLID WHITE, TOO.

It's a little early for the appearance of sandals but my prediction is that they will be as popular as ever. They will be styled to show more foot than shoe; but after all, comfort and coolness are what we clamor for when the mercury hits 95°.

With spring activities on the way, many of you might have wrinkled brows and questioning eyes as to the type of dress shoe to buy. It goes without saying that spectators are still the leading "ladies." Brown-white and Blue-white are their colors. The style is altered slightly by the featured snub-toes, and the even-cut vamp. Both are extremely flattering to the legs.

Toeless shoes are still being shown and beyond a doubt are outstanding for their comfort. Heels are either high or medium and are smart in either size. If you absolutely can't walk around on your toes, the medium heel is advisable because the high heels are really HIGH.

Saddle-tan is making its unobstructed debut into popular taste. You saw it first in the casuals, now you'll be seeing it in dress shoes. Purses are being fashioned in this color and the fabric to go with them. They aren't easily scuffed but special cleaner is sold to renew their "life" after some days of hard wear.

The item that might interest all of you in connection with '41's spring shoes is their very reasonable price. If any one approaches you with the remark, "I can't find one pair of shoes I like or can afford," just look at them quizzically and walk off with "She must be kiddin'."

A purchase from an advertiser makes you a Times booster.

South Side Lassies Will Be Seen In Large, Gay Patterns Of Hawaii At Prom

Gay Shades To Be In Males' Outfits

Boys' Sports Wear Will Take Turn For Bright Colors In Ties, Trunks, Shirts

Since everybody is dreaming about grass skirts, hula dances, moon flowers, and soft guitar music or anything else that goes with a Polynesian Paradise, clothes are also turning toward Hawaii for fashions.

Polynesian prints are especially popular in formal wear. Many a South Side lassie will be seen in large bright Hawaiian prints twirling at the Junior Prom. So, girls, why not follow that old saying "when in Rome do as the Romans do" and when in a Polynesian Paradise do as the Polynesians do and blossom forth in a print formal of moon flowers, coconuts, pineapples, or large green leaves.

WITH THESE PRINTS WEAR TYPICAL HAWAIIAN JEWELRY, MADE OF CORK, SHELLS OR OF PLASTICS AND WEAR A GARDENIA OR SOME OTHER FLOWER IN YOUR HAIR TO ADD THAT FINAL HAWAIIAN TOUCH.

This year the boys have a chance to break into the "print" with the gay colors they will have in sport wear. Bright color combinations following Hawaiian theme is found in ties, and shirts to be worn by the American males this summer.

American beaches will be turned into Polynesian Paradises with the gay-colored beach clothes featured this summer. Hawaiian designs are prominent in swimming suits for the boys and girls, suits coming in floral prints and designs in all gay colors, such as yellow, coral, blue and white. The girls will even wear rubber leis as necklaces while promenading the beach.

Over these print swimming trunks, the boys will sport an Hawaiian shirt, while on their feet they'll be wearing reed or leather sandals.

Hawaiian influence will also be noticed in play suits, dirdle shirts and sandals during the summer.

Writer Finds Large Collection of Buttons Here In South Side

By Elinor Muntzinger
For the past several days I've been scouring the fashion volumes for ideas on unique buttons. I thumbed the pages of several dozen "chic" periodicals; when I was about to give up in despair, Miss Sallie Claiborne approached me in a dress that was trimmed in the most adorable sailor buttons! Suddenly I was enlightened. South Side is just the place to cite my search. And so I searched.

Barbara Cross has a darling set of padlock and key buttons. In the near future you see somebody come down the hall in a dress that's trimmed in scissor accessories, it'll probably be on Lois Likins. She's got her eyes on the ones they have down at Frank's. Marjorie McMahon has some cute football buttons made of pigskin. Colleen Glentzer sports cigarette packages on one of her dresses. Four of Martha Moellering's button holes are filled with onions. Gladys Tremper has an outfit in her wardrobe that has wooden wheel buttons. Jane Klinefelter's fish with wings in the form of buttons are clever.

Hilda Leininger's big, big, stars and Delores Daniels' anchor buttons are cute sailor types. The gold military buttons with eagles on them or the red, white and blue buttons are tops.

Betty Stump's owls are carved from elephant tusks.

Besides these, there are clothes pins and flower baskets that are very new and clever. There are some beautiful handpainted buttons in the family heirloom box, and someday I'd love to see them on a dress.

All in all the latest fashion advice in buttons is novelty.

Pins On Blouses Are Newest Style

Moonstone, Floral Jewelry Are Latest Developments; Name-Pins Are Still Very Popular

Would a blouse be complete without a pin at the neck? Why, of course not. Pins just seem to add color and sophistication to a pretty white or colored blouse. One of the recently popular styles in pins is the large one composed of many Eisenburg stones. These pins are usually oval, round or shaped like flowers. They can be purchased at department stores or jewelry stores, and the price runs from $2.00 up.

Moonstone jewelry is one of the newest types. Pins are usually set in silver, sometimes gold, and present an attractive appearance to set off clothing.

Floral pins are still in style. Colorful stones make up the petals, while silver, gold or painted metal is used for the stem and leaves. These pins can be purchased in ten-cent stores, but the better ones are sold at department and jewelry stores.

NAME PINS WILL NEVER GO OUT OF STYLE, SO IT SEEMS. NAMES SAWED OUT OF WOOD, MOUNTED IN SMALL LETTERS ON WOOD OR COMPOSITION SYMBOLS, AND NAMES IN SILVER OR GOLD ADORN THE CLOTHING OF MANY GIRLS. OF COURSE THEY DO COME IN HANDY ONCE IN A WHILE WHEN YOU MEET A BOY.

Pins are not only a fashion, but some of them indicate certain achievements. For example, many seniors have good reason to be proud of their National Honor Society pins which they received recently.

For That New Formal . . .

Wear Gay, Chic Flowered Prints To Prom

To the right is pictured a youthful dress, cleverly fashioned into a pink and white bouffant evening gown with shirred bodice, worn by lovely actress Gale Storm. This dress is extremely smart and youthful, and that is exactly what you should look for in selecting your formal for the Junior Prom.

Gay print flowers spattered on a chic material are not only smart, but will be fitting at the prom this year, because the dance is centered around Hawaiian settings. Bright colors, large and small prints, and plain colors are all a la mode. Dresses this year, as never before, have more popular styles. All colors, materials and designs are popular.

Because of the war in Europe, American designers are being given a better chance to show their talent, and we find their clothes extremely lovely and glamorous. We find also that a certain group of American designers are devoting their time on dresses for high school and college girls.

Materials are dealt with more than ever before. We see so many dresses with perhaps jersey skirts and 'silk' bodices. Velvet and silk are combined very much lately.

AN EXAMPLE OF AN OUTSTANDING FORMAL IS AN INVINCIBLE SHIRTWAIST DINNER DRESS IN A CELANESE CANDY-

Clothes, School, Etc. Fill Seniors' Minds When Spring Comes

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to—National Honor Society, clothes, love, valedictorian, or fishing? Well for the graduating senior, all run and neck at the finishing line.

Do they really think about National Honor Society? We'll say they do! This spring we find the seniors groping about school with eyes as big as saucers (with cups to match) because they spent four years attempting to make old NHS. "Did he make it?" one might hear a timid little freshee ask. No poor John didn't, but Lawyer Smith's son did. I hear he had a way with the teachers. Nice work if you can get it!

As for clothes, this spring when you see a senior "Joe" girl walking around school in what appears to be a dirty dishrag, don't be frightened, it's just her jerkin ornamented with the autographs of the dear friends she must leave in June.

Love—well, love is the only thing that remains the same through all this changing world. Love at dear old Alma Mater is still the same. If only we had classes in love, what the seniors wouldn't do for A's! School steps, running boards, and The Grill are still the seats of affection.

Want to be a valedictorian, huh? Well, had you thought about it when you were a freshman, things might be a little rosier. It's not unusual to see seniors burning the midnight oil in order to pass that dynamic chemistry test. Hope he gets that percentage up. Wonder if he knows 10 people are ahead of him? Well, at least, he can rest when summer comes, if he's alive then.

Fishing? Here we have man's greatest sport. In the early days of June one might see a hearty, energetic senior starting out for a definitely tough day at the fish hatcheries. Well, at least he'll get what he's after. Life's odd, isn't it?

STRIPED RAYON JERSEY.

If you are a lucky girl who looks well in glamorous gowns, you will undoubtedly look simply ravishing in a white silk formal draped across the bodice and also across the fullness of the skirt, caught up by a cluster of shell pink roses.

Whatever your particular fascination, here's glamour for your gala Junior Prom evening. Flutter into summer in a silk and rayon chiffon formal, accented by catin bows, separate chiffon bolero.

"Night-Time Blues" is a deep navy, high aqua. The navy's in—interpreted by a red, white and blue shirtwaist gown. A navy blue jacket adorned with the insignia of an ensign.

Knock 'em dead in a smoothie evening dress with a flaming red rayon crepe top, and a swishy marquisette skirt.

AS A MATTER OF WHAT TO WEAR OVER YOUR PROM FORMAL, MIGHT WE SUGGEST AN ATTRACTIVE CAPE? CAPES, AS YOU KNOW, ARE AGAIN TAKING THE HIGHLIGHT ON THE FASHION PARADE. WHETHER SAILOR OR OTHERWISE, YOU WILL BE IN HIGH STYLE AS WELL AS COMFORT. COATS, CAPES OR WHAT-HAVE-YOU MUST, HOWEVER, BE MATCHED OR BLENDED IN TINT WITH YOUR FORMAL.

Boys! Here's What You Should Be Like According To Girls

By R. L. H.

There isn't a girl in South Side that hasn't imagined a boy of her dreams. Of course, we seldom find our ideals, but it's fun to dream. Boys, if you want to be the answer to a maiden's prayer, read through this ideal boy as pictured by a great number of Archer girls.

In the first place, a nice personality is essential. We don't expect a boy to be witty all the time or very serious; but we do expect him to be agreeable and fun. A boy who does have his serious moments is more appealing.

Manners are of equal importance. What girl likes to date a boy who lets the door slam in her face, or who makes a pig of himself when food is served? We girls don't expect a boy to be overly polite, but just enough that he knows what to do when it is supposed to be done, and does it most smoothly.

On a date, if the boy who is driving doesn't have any suggestions as to where to go after the dance or party and keeps asking his date, he is likely to become an awful bore to the girls.

Dancing seems to present a real problem to the boys; but, for their information, we don't really picture our ideal as another Vernon Castle. All we expect is a boy who can dance fairly well and does not take it too seriously. If he ignores the fact that he isn't the best dancer in the school, it will be almost unnoticed, and therefore a better time can be had.

A boy who doesn't take the girl too seriously is likely to be the most in demand. Also the less talking a boy does to his friends about his girlfriends will be greatly appreciated, whether it be good or bad. A girl would much rather have him tell her to her face rather than to hear it on the grapevine.

A boy who dresses neatly and conservatively always looks cute and doesn't look too conspicuous. It he speaks well of others, he's bound to have a lot of friends, which really creates a grand impression. Good scholarship and participation in school activities help a boy's chances with Archer girls.

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO.

Velma Lehman

Miss Velma Lehman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lehman, 2615 Oliver Street, has accepted a secretarial position in the Fort Wayne office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Miss Lehman graduated from South Side High School. She was honored by membership in the National Honor Society and took a prominent part in musical activities. She continued her education and graduated from the Executive Secretarial Department of INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE in Fort Wayne.

Medieval Touch

Above is pictured a dress which might well be named "Medieval Influence." Its bolero bodice of black velvet is encrusted with white and gold bead embroidery.

Broom-Sticks Are Latest Skirt Styles

These Tricks Are Gathered On Wide Waist Bands; When Purchased, Are Tied Around Pole

Whoever heard of a broom stick on a girl? Well, it's not exactly broomsticks that girls are wearing, but they are wearing skirts called broomstick skirts. These skirts are full and are gathered on wide waist bands. They are not the neatly-pressed skirts that has been the style heretofore, but they have creases in them where they have been tied around a pole. These skirts can be purchased for $1.98 at almost any department or clothing store in Fort Wayne.

Of course, the regular gathered skirts are still good this season. If you really want to be in style, just get a couple of yards of large, gay print material and gather it on a wide waistband. With this, combine a white blouse, long or short sleeved, and you will be the best-dressed girl in South Side (although you will see your double in every class room).

Multi-colored pastel plaid skirts are still very popular with girls. Plain pastels also remain in style.

ONE TIP FOR ANY KIND OF SKIRT IS DON'T HAVE THE SKIRT TOO LONG OR SHORT! OF COURSE IT WILL HAVE TO BE SHORT ENOUGH FOR APPEAL, BUT IF YOU ARE BOW-LEGGED, KNOCK-KNEED, AND EVERYTHING ELSE, REMEMBER, NOT TOO SHORT.

Spring Outfits Feature Hats

Wide-Brims, Perky Berets, Straws, Sailors, Felts And Pill-Boxes Are Smartest

No matter if you have a smart new suit or a marvel of a spring dress, the effect desired is lost if the hat worn with it does not go with the dress or suit. There is always one certain hat that can put the right accent on the right place.

One of the girls here at South Side wears with a navy-blue dressmaker suit a wide-brimmed navy-blue hat with yards of veiling falling down over the wide brim. Another smart idea is to wear a tropical print turban with a suit that is not extremely tailored. If you do decide to wear a turban, wear a brightly colored animal or face on your lapel.

If you are wearing a plaid suit, do try to match ONE color in a perky beret or sailor. More than one color usually looks like a hat worn by your Aunt Hattie in the gay '90's. Berets come in any color desired and they can be matched to the rest of your accessories.

Straws and pill-boxes have been prescribed for printed or pastel dresses worn through the summer. The pill-boxes, some of them, are made entirely of tiny flowers and topped by a veil.

The following isn't strictly connected with the term hats, but it is a cute idea. Summer formals will soon be day after tomorrow and the florists have co-operated by making tiny hats that will match the flowers in your corsage or the color of your dress. Try it if you really want to wear something out of the ordinary.

The raffia hats seen a lot last summer are back, and as popular as ever. They are trimmed with a silk band of tropical print and come in natural beige or luggage tan.

The favorites of every teen-age girl, the classic felts, are being worn this spring in "simply sumptuous" pastels. One selling point about these is that when you buy one, it is assured that you will have a hat that can be worn all seasons of the year.

Nothing has been said about the cooperation between the dyers and the manufacturing companies. Once upon a time you would buy a hat in a new shade and couldn't find a thing to match or go with it. Now all this is changed. Hat, shoe, glove and accessory companies have united to give the public a wide choice of colors and a chance to match everything. A beige suit can be contrasted by a luggage tan bag, shoes, gloves AND a beige and luggage tan hat that perfectly matches the other accessories.

Four Archers Are Honored In Music Meet

Elaine Hirschy, Alice Jean Light, Marilyn Sondles, Janice Sprunger Place

Elaine Hirschy, Marilyn Sondles, Alice Jean Light, and Janice Sprunger captured awards for South Side in the finals of the state high school solo music contest at Indiana University Saturday.

ELAINE, 12A, won gold medal honors in the piano division, by placing in a three-way tie for first place. The other members of the triple tie are Alma Ruth Twineham of Indianapolis Technical High School, and Jack Wehrenberg of North Side. MARILYN SONDLES, 12A, won first division rating along with four other piano contestants.

BOTH ELAINE AND MARILYN ARE ELIGIBLE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS IN THE UNIVERSITY'S SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

South Side's other music contestants, ALICE JEAN LIGHT, violinist, and JANICE SPRUNGER, pianist, received second division rating in their respective contest divisions, it was announced at Indiana last week by Mrs. Adela Bittner, director of IU Extension division.

These four musicians won the right to compete in the state finals through winning the district contest which was held March 15 at the Indiana University Fort Wayne Extension Center. These winners competed with other district winners from Bloomington, Indianapolis, Evansville, and East Chicago districts last Saturday.

Elaine Hirschy is a pupil of Elizabeth Newell, Marilyn Sondles and Janice Sprunger are pupils of Edith Foster, and Alice Jean Light is a pupil of Gaston Baile.

Winners were chosen in five divisions of musical accomplishment, namely, piano, violin, cello, boys' voice, and girls' voice. Exactly fifty-five entrants in the Northeastern Indiana district contest and sixty-seven musicians from all over the state participated in the state finals.

EEE Meeting Features Word Game, Speeches

A series of eight competitive word games was conducted by Theda Tyndall at the Three E's club meeting last Saturday at the home of Mary Nell Spiegel, 924 DeWald Street. A prize was awarded to Joyce Cleaver for having the largest number of points.

Elinor Muntzinger gave a humorous monologue, "Betty at the Baseball Game", and Mary Nell Spiegel read a declaration on "Oysters".

Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served; and an announcement was made that the next meeting will be held in the form of a picnic.

R. Miller Reads Article To Junior Math Club

Robert Miller read an article on "Mathematical Figures" to the members of the Junior Math Club last Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock in Room 138. Elinor Muntzinger was in charge of the meeting. Assisting her were Phyllis Roberts and Barbara Spiegel. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Grad Invited To Join Honorary Fraternity

Thomas A. Gallmeyer, '40, was among the fifty freshmen at Indiana University who were invited to the pledge meeting of Phi Eta Sigma, men's freshman honorary fraternity.

Kenneth Moeller, '38, also attending Indiana University, recently was elected first sergeant of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity.

Camenean Group Will Hear Dean

Miss Pittenger To Talk To Club Next Tuesday In Room 138; Those In Charge Are Listed

Miss Martha Pittenger will give a talk at the Camenean Club meeting Tuesday in Room 138. Those in charge are Lois Bonebrake, Marjorie Haller, Lisea Kaiser and Ruth Henry.

At the meeting held Tuesday, April 15, Laura Nahrwold was appointed secretary for the remaining two meetings by Reba Coppock, vice-president. This change was made because Marjorie Roberts, the former secretary, quit the club to work after school.

At this meeting, which was devoted to dress designing, Miss Pittenger was the guest. Margaret Brower told about fashion designing and sketched a figure on the board.

A post-Easter parade was held and headed by Frances Nash. Those who participated were Emalyn Remmel, Pearl Baldwin, Lois Bonebrake, Kathryn Eipper, Reba Coppock and Ruth Cyr.

Charlotte DuWan conducted a quiz on styles. Barbara Koenig and Lisea Kaiser were the captains. Dorothy Saafrank, Lois Holzworth and Lisea Kaiser won the prizes.

During the meeting, fashion design originated by Charlotte DuWan and Lisea Kaiser, were available for the members to see. Refreshments were served.

Twenty-Eight Colleges Present Scholarships

Scholarships are being offered by twenty-eight colleges to the seniors for entrance next fall. Students interested in trying out for the scholarships should see Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal.

The scholarships are being offered by the following schools: Pomona, Hiram, Kanyon, Northwestern, Agnes Scott, Western, Rockford, Connecticut, Heidelberg, Kalamazoo, Hanover, Swarthmore, Earlham, Wesleyan, Lehigh, Harvard, Adelbert, Johns Hopkins, DePauw, Brown, Indiana, Purdue, University of Southern California, Rochester, University of Chicago, Indiana State Teachers' College, Ball State Teachers' College, Eastman School of Music and Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Grade Card Day Sees Decrease In Absences

Since vacation the number of absences have been slightly less than they were before vacation. During the week preceding vacation, the highest number of absences was 82; and the lowest was 56.

Monday, April 14, 67 pupils were absent, some of them due to absences from town. Tuesday there were the fewest absences for a long time, 36; probably because of the issuance of grade cards.

Philo Plans Election, Literary Test Monday

Election of officers will be the major business of Philo next Monday. A literary acquaintance test will be given in which all the members will participate.

Nominees are as follows: President, Ellen Harry and Marjorie McNabb; treasurer, Elinor Muntzinger and Joan Cartwright; secretary, Kathryn Guild and Joan Thomas; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Ellen Barrett and Carol Trenary; program chairman, Joan Cox and Carol Whithern.

Other nominees are as follows: Pianist, Pat Haruff and Marcella Schwartz; scrap book, Grace Johnson, Carolyn Snoke, Etheldrea Behling, and Harriet Will; point recorder, Barbara Hadley, Ruth Werkman, Holly Reppert, and Marilyn Loomis; publicity, PhyllisWefel, Jeanne Seidel, and Harriet Shinnick; Inter-Club Congress representative, Ruth Hageman and Martha Cash.

Lois Craig has been appointed music chairman; Marilyn Dennis, chairman of Theatians; and Rosemary Ziegler, chairman of decorations for next semester.

Mr. John Schommer To Talk To Lettermen

Mr. John Schommer will be the main speaker at the Lettermen's Banquet April 30, it has been announced by Mr. Ora Davis, athletic adviser. Mr. Schommer is a professor at the Illinois Institute of Technology. He was one of the former big ten of basketball and football. He is known for his honesty in calling fouls, which has earned for him the nickname of "Honest John".

Mr. Davis states that Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, will probably be toastmaster. Speeches will be made by the coaches, Mr. Wayne Gift, Mr. Burl Friddle, and Mr. George Collier. Arrangements and programs will be completed soon.

Grad Wins Honor

Dale Stone, '35, has won honor roll distinction as a senior at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio. He made a scholastic point average of 3.2 out of a possible 4, according to mid-semester grades. Dale is majoring in business and social sciences. His principal interest is the study of South America. While he was in South Side, Dale was a member of the glee club and Hi-Y Club.

Miss Mabel Thorne spoke on "Labrador" at USA's meeting Thursday in the Greeley Room. She illustrated a part of her talk with things she had brought from Labrador, such as maps made by the women and a doll dressed by a Labrador girl.

The committee in charge of making the favors for the Girl Reserve banquet is comprised of Peggy Roth, Rosemary Bund, Phyllis Buckmaster, Grace Rendleman, Doris Lontz and Marilyn Domer.

Betty Hall, Virginia Applegate, and Lois Bonebrake were in charge of the program. Refreshments were served.

Camera Club Views Ben Harris' Pictures

Still and moving pictures of Arkansas, taken by Ben Harris during spring vacation, were exhibited yesterday at the Camera Club meeting in Room 36 at 3:30 o'clock. John Myers, president, was in charge of the meeting. A business meeting was also held.

"Various Phases of Developing" was the subject discussed on April 16 by Camera Club members. Ben Harris, at this meeting, talked on preparing negatives. Reports concerning the spring exhibit, monthly contests, and outdoor meetings were heard.

Be Kind to Animals Week April 20-26 . . . .

When was the last time you petted a dog? If you have one of your own we know it wasn't long ago—but if you have no pet it's easy to ignore the stray cats, the homeless dogs you see in your neighborhood. Yet they—more than any human derelict—need your help. Consider their inability to ask for aid and do what you can to help. If you have no home to provide them, call the city dog pound and know that at least one living animal will benefit through this organization. During Be Kind To Animals Week—every day of the year—join us in giving aid to all animals!

Two Girls Top Seniors Honor Roll

Mr. R. N. Snider Reveals Valedictorian, Salutatorian Of Class Of 1941

Romayne Rediger, Ruth Dauner Lead

Romayne Earns 96.3 Average; Ruth Makes 96; Both Girls Take Part In Clubs

ROMAYNE REDIGER and RUTH DAUNER have been announced as valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1941 graduating class by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. Their records constitute the highest scholastic achievements of the senior class for the entire four years.

ROMAYNE'S AVERAGE WAS 96.3 AND RUTH'S WAS 96.

The averages were rather close, needing much detailed figuring to determine the actual average.

Romayne is a member of National Honor Society, Philo, Latin, Inter-Club Congress, Christian, GAA, So-Si-Y, and is a past member of Meterites and USA.

Ruth has been a member of Math-Science, Wranglers, Service, Orchestra, Trio, Latin, Totem, National Honor Society, and has acted as point recorder of Library, musical chairman of Philo, vice-president of Travel, and Social Science secretary-treasurer. She also won the Algebra contest as a freshman.

To compete for valedictory or salutatory honors, the student must have attended South Side for at least three years and maintained an average of 90 per cent or above.

Kathryn Guild Is Forum Treasurer

Senior Elected At Muncie Last Friday; Mr. Wilburn Wilson Rechosen Director Of Group

Kathryn Guild, 12B, was elected treasurer of the Indiana Student Forum held at Central High School in Muncie last Friday. Bob Wylie, 12A, was secretary last year.

Other officers are Betty Moler of Columbus, president; Bill Sterrett of Muncie, vice-president; and Mary Ann Alexander of Bloomington, secretary. Board of directors for next year are the same as this year except that Mr. Charles Culbertson was replaced by Miss Gertrude Colecott, of Kokomo.

Other directors are W. C. Wilson; Russell T. McNutt, Muncie; Jeanette Landrum, Terre Haute; Kenneth B. Thurston, Bloomington; and Glen W. Maple, South Bend.

AN INCREASED MEMBERSHIP OF 80 PER CENT WAS ANNOUNCED FOR THE PAST YEAR.

South Side will again be in charge of the bulletin printed four times a year. Next year it is hoped that it will be possible to print bulletins for every member of each Social Science Club in the state. This new system will necessitate more workers on the bulletin so all Social Science members are asked to cooperate next year. Bob Wylie was in charge of the bulletin last year.

FOUR SOUTH SIDERS WHO PRESENTED SUBJECTS AT THE FORUM ARE FRANK DUWALDT, DISCUSSION LEADER OF ONE SESSION; PAUL KEIL, BETTY KOEHLER, AND FAYE GUMPPER.

The topics discussed were "The High School Student and the Defense of Democracy," "Effects of the Present National Emergency Upon Our Democracy," "Financing the Defense of Democracy," "Implications of Population Trends," "Becoming a Healthier People," "War Aims and Peace Plans," "A Federal Union of English-speaking Peoples," "The Policy of Hemispheric Solidarity," "Problems of the United States in the Pacific," and "The Role of the United States in the Post-War World."

Dr. L. A. Pittenger, President of Ball State Teachers College, addressed the entire assembly on "Keeping Education Hatched Up to Life." Mr. W. C. Wilson explained the purposes and achievements of the Indiana Student Forum.

Mythology Discussed By Latin Club Group

Dorothy Snavely told the mythological stories of "Pan and Syrinx" and "Pan and Apollo" at the meeting of Latin Club last Thursday. Ellen Harry read the poems "Song of Syrinx" and "Pan Pipes." Albert Verweire gave the history and a demonstration of the flute. Music of the Greeks and Romans was the theme of this meeting.

A trio composed of Mary Whittier, vocalist; Albert Verweire, flute; and Luck Smith, accompanist, presented, "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark."

Mr. Snider Treks To Dakota States, Evaluating Schools

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal, has spent the last two weeks in North and South Dakota, evaluating some of the high schools there. He visited the high schools in six cities, namely, Webster, Spearfish, Belle Fourche, Watertown, Brookings, and Redfield.

A committee of nine visited these schools. They were from the State Department of Education, colleges, and superintendents and principals from other high schools.

Only one high school in South Dakota is as large as South Side, and that is in Sioux Falls.

Mr. Snider says that the schools were all "very good." Most of the students come a long way to school; therefore some of the schools have dormitories, and many of the students board in town. There are no buses; so they must furnish their own transportation.

Twenty-Four Archers Attend Annual Indiana Student Forum

By Lois Gumpfer

Last Friday 221 Archers and 3 faculty advisers left South Side at approximately 7:45 o'clock for Muncie to attend the Indiana Student Forum meeting.

Mr. W. C. Wilson, Miss Mary Crowe, Mr. M. Murphy, Dick Theye and Paul Keil drove the gang down to Muncie. Dick Theye arrived there first, even if he was driving a new 1941 Buick. When we all arrived at Central High School (Muncie) we received identification tags, programs, and their school newspaper. (The Times is better by far.)

A couple of the fellows brought popcorn from a censored beverage hall(?). Munching on this food, we investigated the classrooms, library, and office and then (still eating popcorn) entered the auditorium for an assembly meeting. Here we heard a talk by Dr. L. A. Pittenger, president of Ball State Teachers College. The subject was "Keeping Education Hatched up to Life."

Our friend, Mr. Wilson, got up and claimed that he was a success because he was doing something he didn't want to do when he didn't want to do it. He explained the purposes and aims of the Indiana Student Forum. We also heard the Central High School choir. Their robes were a brilliant purple.

After the assembly, and still fighting for more popcorn, we divided into small groups to discuss various problems. The student and adult leaders were very well chosen. Frank Duwaldt was one of the most efficient of the student leaders. Betty Koehler spoke at one of the morning sessions.

With adjournment at 11:55 o'clock that morning, we all dashed for the gymnasium where our dinner was scheduled to be held. One of the girls lost her ticket but she had such a lean and hungry look on her face that the ticket collectors permitted her to pass by. The food was delicious. (No worms in the salad this year.)

An after-dinner speech was made by some state official of the education board. When we were excused, we

Times Obtains Highest School Paper Award

Pacemaker Plus All-American Prize Goes To Archers By Almost Perfect Score

Scoring the highest mark possible in high school journalism, The Times again captured the Pacemaker award, plus an All-American rating.

The Pacemaker was awarded only to fourteen papers in the country out of 963 entries in the First Semester Critical Service for 1940-41 of the National Scholastic Press Association. The Times is one of six papers in its class receiving the All-American rating.

WEEKLY ISSUES OF THE ARCHER PAPER FOR THE FALL SEMESTER OF 1940 WERE ANYZED AND RATED.

Marge Sheldon was the General Manager, with Rowena Harvey as faculty adviser. Eleanor Vesey, '39, acted as Miss Harvey's substitute for seven weeks of the semester.

The Times was entered in the division of Public Co-ed High Schools with 1600 to 2499 students, and with the papers published weekly and printed in a school shop.

The front page make-up and the feature stories were especially praised. The Times was also praised for the progress shown. The news value and sources scored 195 points; the headlines, typography, and make-up won 300 points; the news writing and editing received 170 points; and the department pages and special features scored 275 points. Thus, the Times scored 1,040 points out of a possible 1,100.

No grades are given for illustrations and advertising because of the variety used in the different papers.

This score was determined by the accomplishments of the papers in the same group and standards applied by the judges to each paper in the group.

Women Teachers To Hold Banquet

Miss Elizabeth Kelley Is To Serve On Committee; Theme To Be Based Around Maypole

All women teachers of South Side are invited to attend a faculty dinner tonight at the Women's Club at 6:30, when election of officers will be held. The theme of the affair is centered around the maypole.

The general committee for this affair is Miss Elizabeth Kelley of South Side and Miss M. Catherine Jackson of Central. Miss Bernice Sinclair of North Side is in charge of the decorations.

Officers of this group are Miss Merib Ingham, Central, president; Miss Olive Perkins, South Side, vice-president; and Miss Vesta Thompson, North Side, secretary-treasurer.

To Head Times

Rebecca Abbott

Rebecca Abbott will succeed Mary Lybrook today as Times General Manager and will be in charge of the next three issues. It was announced by Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser, last night.

Class Of '43 Arranges Gay "Mardi Gras"

Miss Lucy Osborne, Mr. A. V. Flint, Class Advisers, Name Committee Heads

New Orleans has its Mardi Gras, it's true; but South Side sophomores will also have a chance to enjoy the gala French carnival, May 9, when they hold their annual class party in the school gymnasium. The decorations and program will carry out this carnival theme. Committees for the Sophomore "Mardi Gras" have been announced by Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. A. V. Flint, class advisers. This is a party for fun and gaiety and all sophomores are invited.

Miss Blanche Hutto is planning the decorations with the decoration committee which is composed of the following students: Russell Sunday, Mary Lou Feller, Mary Current, Ilo Hirschman, Rose Marie Vogel, and Connie Harrison, chairman.

The publicity committee includes Bill Bone, chairman, Martha Cash, Ken Iba, Elinor Muntzinger, Frank Neff, and Grace Johnson. Juanita Drews heads the invitation committee and her co-workers are Fred Collins, Rose-Etha Brazey, Francis Weir, and Marilyn Birely.

JULIA KASER, JAMES STEINER, MARTHA MOON, MARGARET ANNE MEYER, JANE CHENO-WETH, AND ELMER KAHN, CHAIRMAN, COMPRISE THE ENTERTAINMENT GROUP.

The reception committee is led by Mary Cleland and consists of Colleen McCarty, Joan Schwartz, Joan Brubaker, Jeanne Seidel, and Betty Schweikart. The clean-up committee includes Dora Jackson, chairman, Bonnie Junk, Donna Peel, Sally Ogden, Marilyn Bullerman, and Willard Clark.

The door committee consists of Bob Budde, chairman, Ben

Ford To Sponsor Contest For Pupils

Deadline For Entries Is June 2 To Juniors, Seniors; Offer 49 Scholarships To Winners

All entries for the state Ford Driving contest are to be in by June 2, it was announced last Tuesday. Any boy or girl between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, who will not be nineteen before the contest closes, may enter. Entrants may obtain cards from home room teachers of junior and senior home rooms, fill them out, and send to Ford Good Driving League, Dearborn, Michigan.

A $5,000 scholarship will be given to the national winner of the contest, and 49 smaller ones will be given to the winners rating next highest.

In return for the entries, contestants will receive a pamphlet entitled, "How to Become a Skilled Driver," and membership in the Ford Good Driving League.

Final examination for the contest will be held at Dearborn, Michigan, during the week of August 6.

Mr. Ora M. Davis Is Christian Club Speaker

Mr. Ora Davis, Christian Club adviser, spoke on "The Place of Religion in a Community" at the group's potluck held last Tuesday night in the cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock.

Hymns were sung by the Shankster Trio, composed of Wilma Jean, Ida, and Erma Shankster. Programs were in the form of crosses.

Margaret Bedsworth served as general chairman of the affair; and Audrey Smith, Kendrick Roth, Gwendolyn Kelly, and Richard Hamilton served as her committee.

C. Wilson, birch tree; 6, Mr. Dorsa Yoder, birch tree; 34, Mrs. Grace Welty, dig dandelions.

May 23 Is Date Set For Ivy Day

J. Holtmeyer, R. Rediger, E. Remmel, R. Wuttke, J. Gumpfer Compose Program Group

Ivy Day's annual program will be held this year on May 23, it was announced last Monday. The home room period will be lengthened, and only 12B's, 12A's, and post graduates may participate.

The procession of seniors will be headed by the band. Following will come the class officers, class sponsors, Inter-Club Congress sponsors, the Ivy Queen, and her four attendants. The program will consist of the crowning of the queen and the presentation speech by the senior class president, Jim McClure. An acceptance speech will be made by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal; Mr. Merle Abbott, superintendent of schools, will address the students; and the ivy oration will be given by orator chosen by the seniors.

On the program committee are Rudolph Wuttke, Emalyn Remmel, John Gumpfer, Janet Holtmeyer, and Romayne Rediger. Seniors in charge of finding out the number of students in each home room for the distribution of the programs are Martha Jean Smith, Louisa Haugk, and Laverne Michelfelder.

Rudolph Wuttke, Ed Bauer, Dick Theye, and Safford McMyler are in charge of purchasing and planting the ivy.

Mr. Lester Hostetler, choral instructor, is teaching the seniors the Alma Mater song for the program. He is also providing a quartet of senior girls who will sing the traditional ivy song and possibly other numbers. Emalyn Remmel, Helen Savage, Ruth Dauner, and Gloria Staley make up the quartet.

Marionette Club Gives Fairy Tale

"Aladdin And Wonderful Lamp" Presented By Members Of Puppet Group As Last Play

Marionette Club wound up their series of fairy tales last Tuesday with their presentation of "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp." Although the series was started a few years ago, the scenery, dolls, and players were new.

Ray Fish and Barbara Burt took the title roles as Aladdin and his mother.

Other characters were as follows: Marfena, Mary Current; magician, John Rolap; Lamp Genie, Bob Ziegler; Ring Genie, Maxine Clark; Sultan, Victor Kaufman; Major, Richard Safford; Princess, Wanda Baney; Fatima, Sirlene Smith; prologue, Ann Haller; and voices, Don Koonce.

Those who worked the puppets are Mary Lou Feller, Jane Hickman, Aileen Rolap, Rosemary Zeigler, Dorothy Rison, Martha Schaffer, Pat Florenzier, and Mary Morgan.

Plans are being made for next year's series, which will deal with a literary theme.

Members Discuss Scenes On Stamps

Barbara Long, Ray Fish, Rosemary Spore, Jack Rogers Are Heard On Philatelic Program

"The Founding of Maryland" and "Pony Express" were the subjects discussed April 23 in the Greeley Room.

In keeping with their theme "Fields of Interest Pictured on Postage Stamps," Barbara Long talked on "The Founding of Maryland" and Ray Fish discussed "The Pony Express." Rosemary Spore read a short story entitled "The Smart Guy" which described the woes of a stamp collector.

A short business meeting preceded the program, when members discussed plans for next semester.

Another interesting feature was a talk given by Jack Rogers, in which he explained the Regional Stamp Convention held April 18, 19, and 20 at the Anthony Hotel.

THE LOCAL STAMP CLUB ENTERED SEVEN FRAMES IN THE CONVENTION, PICTURING FIRST-DAY CACHETS OF THE "FAMOUS AMERICAN SERIES."

Rosemary Spore headed the program committee for this meeting, and the following people assisted her: Richard Stamets, Barbara Long, Walter Konow, Jack Rogers, Richard Cunningham, Ray Fish, and Gerald Wullman.

Dancing At "Polynesian Paradise" Will Be From 8:30 To 11:30; Cost Is 75 Cents

Paul Dannecker Is To Furnish Music

Native Setting For Affair Consists Of Grass Skirts, Palm Trees, Moonflowers

Soft Hawaiian music, grass skirts, leis, and dancing feet will carry everyone away on May 2 to the annual Junior Prom, "Polynesian Paradise." Paul Dannecker and his 10-piece orchestra will play for dancing from 8:30 till 11:30 o'clock. Each guest will be presented with a colorful lei at the entrance.

Walls will be covered with yellow strips of paper resembling a grass skirt, and panels of moonflowers. Large palm trees will be scattered about the hall with monkeys hidden in the leaves. Behind the orchestra will be a large mural of a Hawaiian guitar and leis. On one side of the gym will be life-size cardboard figures of hula dancers.

Ralph Shimer, president of the junior class, is general chairman of the dance. Assisting him are Roger McVay, vice-president; Marilyn Loomis, secretary-treasurer; Mary Ellen Barrett, Joan Cox, and Sam Johnson, social council. Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, junior class advisers, directed the arrangements.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whelan, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shimer, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McVay, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Walker, Miss Erma Dochterman, Miss Blanche Hutto, and Miss Lucy Osborne.

JUNE SHUPE, UNDER DIRECTION OF MISS HUTTO, MADE ALL THE LAYOUTS FOR DECORATIONS, AND JOHN POTTER DID ALL THE PAPER CUTTING.

Decorations Workers Listed
Marjorie Barrett, Rosemary Spore, Patricia Smith, Margaret Tenachoff, Joan Druhot, Peggy Lou Hickman, Etheldrea Behling, Bernita Eggers, Al Speckman, John Wells, Wilma Kellogg, Margaret Heine, Annabelle Harrod, and Katherine Zaegel.

Gloria Kramer, Norma Whetsel, Peggy Greaney, Ruth Werkman, Carolyn Snoke, Marilyn Chaney, Edith Ream, Neva Kirk, Marilyn Burns, Phyllis Minier, Lois Briggs, Lois Hoff, and Katherine Dinkel.

South Side's Choir To Give Program

Program Will Be At Emmanuel Lutheran School Hall On Coming Tuesday Evening

South Side's Vesper Choir under the direction of Mr. Lester Hostetler, will present a program at the Emanuel Lutheran School Hall for the Federation of Lutheran Women next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The numbers to be presented in the program are "Vesper Hymn," Russian air; "Evening Song," by Houser; "Open Our Eyes," by MacFarlane; a solo by Emalyn Remmel; "O, Lovely Clouds," by Mozart; and "Lo, A Voice," by Bortniansky.

Approximately thirty-five girls constitute this group which has performed at the recent service club assembly, South Wayne Baptist Church, Little Art Theater for the American Association of University Women, South Wayne United Brethren Church, Civic Theater for "The Kingdom of God," a Lenten season production, Christian Club, and two Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

Soloists for the programs have been Emalyn Remmel, Erlene Lee, Joyce Cleaver, Gloria Staley, and Mary Whittier. Wilma Lagemann is the pianist and accompanist for the choir.

Actions Which Are Rude Aren't Wooded; They're Often Rued

Do you know the proper thing to do and when to do it when dining out? Do people remark about you, "He's a pretty good fellow, but I don't run around with him very much because his manners are terrible." Or do they say, "He's a good fellow and swell company, too. He's always well at ease, well-poised, and he does everything in the most graceful way."

There are some who, in regard to correct manners, take the attitude that they are only superfluous, that fine manners don't make fine people. This is true to some extent; being well-schooled in the intricacies of etiquette isn't necessarily indicative of good character—but it certainly helps! People form opinions of others from first impressions, and manners are one of the first things noticed.

But to the average high school student, who hasn't devoted much time to the study of the hair-line rules of correct social conduct, good manners don't all come from books. On the contrary, modern etiquette trends are toward what appears to be most natural and graceful, not toward complex rules laid down perhaps centuries ago. Emily Post herself once said that one of the most mannerly persons she had ever met was Will Rogers. Will Rogers certainly had no reputation for being stiffly formal; instead he was known for always being at ease, graceful, natural, and, what's even more important, he made OTHERS feel at ease. This is the essence of good manners.

High school students will do well to cultivate a good mannerly conduct; it has a vastly important bearing in later life. The best method to learn manners is, not to study all the complexities of courtly etiquette, but to practice and to learn those little habits which always look the best and are most considerate. Great emphasis is placed today on personality and personality development. Mannerliness is the first figure considered in the adding of a personality rating.

"All That I Am And All That I Ever Hope To Be I Owe..."

With the advent of Mother's Day comes our annual appeal for its observance. Fortunately most of us are still blessed with mothers who are still living. It is not enough, we believe, for us to show appreciation of this fact by merely wearing a red carnation on Sunday or by sending a gift. These tokens of appreciation and affection, while admirable, do not express fully the sentiment which is behind the meaning of Mother's Day. Don't be satisfied in sending only a gift to your mother; show her your feelings in other ways. Did it ever occur to you that some sacrifice on your part, even if it parallels those of your mother's in only a small degree, might be appreciated?

Are you planning to celebrate Mother's Day by assisting your mother with the spring cleaning? Are you going to remove the burden of taking care of your younger brothers and sisters (even if only for the afternoon) from her hands? Have you figured out just how you are going to make your mother's Mother's Day a real source of satisfaction and joy? It doesn't take money to express appreciation; it doesn't take telepathy to get across the idea of gratitude. This is our appeal for Mother's Day.

It gets you either way. If your dates for the spring dances 'way in advance, you change your mind on whom you would like to go with; if you wait, some one beats you to it.

Step number one in studying: Turn the radio OFF!

Maybe track attendance could be increased if the drum-majorettes put on a show as they do at the basketball games.

Have you secured your date for the Junior Prom yet?

A freshman knows that he knows not, a sophomore knows not that he knows not, a junior knows not that he knows; and a senior knows that he knows.

"Good fences make good neighbors"—especially when the neighbors have a lot of little kids!

Modernized quotation: The grass is always greener in the other fellow's window box.

May Day Special

M is for Merry, which we are this time of year;
A is for Army, making many a female shed a tear.
Y is for Youth, whose fancy now turns toward love,
S is for School, soon to be over, my little dove.

W is for Work, which we all soon shall shun;
I is for Intelligence, which never does overrun.
S is for Silly—and I mean those little blondes;
H is for High school, in which many are found.
E is for Education, which few of us ever will get;
S is for Sometime later when the lack of knowledge we'll regret.

Alene Loeser.

Decoration Day

Today I shall attempt something different in this column. It will be a new type poem—not humorous, but solemn. I am dedicating it to the heroes who did die for our land's freedom and now in their graves do lie.

These men should be an inspiration to each and every one, For all have earned a sacred title in God's Kingdom. They laid down their lives for life, liberty, and happiness; And, because of them, our democratic country is a success.

Americans, you should rejoice in this land of the free, Especially when you consider the strife and trouble across the sea.

This coming Decoration Day should mean much to all, And for mercy toward these brave soldiers we should call.

A.L.

Mother's Hey Day

Each year a day has been set aside, When by all mama's wishes we abide. This should be true every day. (At least, this is what my mama does say.)

Mom says that in her day they were never allowed to date Until they were eighteen, and more things could appreciate.

Since shows weren't in vogue and autos weren't in style, Into all parks and dark corners the couples would file.

But first the chaperone was done away with, Because then the sweethearts could steal a "kith". Perhaps my imagination is running away with me; But, when Mom acts so innocent, I smile with glee.

I do think it would be something quite unique To take Mother as a chaperone on the date next week. Why don't you try it and see how it is? That is the way our parents did it—no funny bizniz!

May Day

May Day has been celebrated through years beyond recall; And our fair city, Fort Wayne, is not to be outdone at all! For we have our Maypole with all the dancers, And they are the South Side student romancers.

Each has his long ribbons to twine, And all have already started the winding sublime. It seems that a mishap has suddenly occurred; Beall has McNabb on his string, if my vision isn't blurred.

Dick Gallmeyer is running around very fast Until upon fair Janis Tremper his eyes he can cast. Pat Racht has been walking at a low rate of speed, In hope that in catching up to her, Jim Straley will succeed.

SPRING

Fashion-at-ors

E. MUNTZINGER

S-uits are seen in big pastel plaids this spring.
P-rints are the most popular for silk dresses.
R-edingotes are the most popular form of suits.
I-cc blue is the predominating color.
N-cklines are sweetheart shaped.
G-old wedding rings from Mexico are the latest.

F-lowers for the hair hit the second notch in the fashion parade.

A-nklets are being worn by the best dressers.
S-kirts are again simple—prints and stripes.

H-air style is toward the short and curly.
I-ntriguing necklaces are seen in the forms of lima beans and cord beans.

O-n sweaters you'll wear colored pearls.
N-ovelities are big boy's faces for the lapels.

N-ecklaces are styled in the South American way.
E-arrings are good as usual.

W-ear peasant scarfs folded as belts to keep skirt and blouse together.
S-hoes have rope soles this year.

I-nsure popularity by wearing one of those cute little white crew hats.

T-here are many clever pins for summer.
E-mphasis is on bright colors this year.

M-any white blouses will be seen.
S-wim suits will come in gay Hawaiian prints.

Have You Noun About C(l)ause Of This

Now just wait a minute! Here you are hollering, whining, and complaining just because you have to write a theme tonight which will probably take an hour or so. But listen—what have YOU got to yelp about? In the first place, if you had written the theme over last week-end and during the week, you wouldn't have to burn the midnight oil tonight to get it and a hundred and one other things done.

In the second place, your English teacher, if average, according to a recent poll taken of several of our English teachers, will spend approximately—not one, mind you—but ten hours merely marking the themes. That's not counting the weekly time spent in checking and correcting themes with the students. Of course this varies. If an English teacher has several English 6 or 8 classes, she will spend even more time; but, if she has more freshman and sophomore classes, her task will be lighter.

The problem of administering to the grammatical and literate needs of South Siders is divided between fifteen English teachers, who have among them sixty-nine classes. This is an average of nearly five classes during the day. Still wanna bet your English teacher leads an easy life? All students who have taken junior and senior English in the past year are familiar with the department's proudest possession—a phonograph and medium-sized but constantly growing library of records. They're not the kind of records most high school students are commonly associated with, but are recordings of literary readings. Among these are readings of Beowulf and Chaucer for English 7 and readings of contemporary poetry, many of which are by Robert Frost. In addition there are a few old disks of Shakespeare. The department plans to get more in the near future—possibly more Shakespeare as recorded by Orson Welles.

Are You A High School Fool Craving College Knowledge?

Experience is the best teacher, and the teachers of South Side have had the best experience. Perhaps when older friends or parents tell you prospective college students how you should spend your time at college, you put aside their advice with "Oh, they never went to college," or "They don't understand how we feel about it." Nevertheless, you should consider their advice valuable. If, however, it does not satisfy you, absorb these suggestions given by those people who have used their college education to the best advantage—the teachers of South Side.

Miss Georgianna Hodgson (who was graduated from Ball State College and took graduate work at Indiana University and the University of Michigan): Every person on earth needs to further his education. This does not necessarily mean college. It means the establishment of contact with people. To those of you who will enter college, I say, "Do not take snap courses!" Handle as much as you are able to handle and learn all that you can. Go to a school where credits are always good. If you have the ability, time, and money, I would advise you to first take a general arts course and then specialize, as in the cases of medical students and lawyers.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler (who received her A.B. at Michigan State Normal School and her A.M. degree at the University of Michigan): If you enter college, concentrate on work and remember that the purpose for which you are attending college is to gain educational advantages and not to lead a whirlwind social life. Many a boy or girl has been sent home because he did not realize, or did not want to realize, or appreciate, the real purpose of attending college.

College Depends On You
Miss Mabel Fortney (Ball State, University of Michigan): Whether or not you go to college depends absolutely on you. In case you do go, select your course so that it will help you to do what you want to do after you are graduated from college.

Mr. Wilburn Wilson (Ball State, Chicago, Harvard, University of Michigan, Indiana University): Work! First decide what you are going to do after college; then select your course strictly on that basis. Spend more time on your course and studying than in making social contacts.

Miss Dorothy Magley (Girl's school, Indiana University, Columbia University): Before you put your parents' money and time into your college education, be sure you're going for the purpose of getting returns. Study—but, if you're going to get something out of college besides work, (and you probably will want to) be sure your friendships and associations suit you, for they are the lasting friendships and influences of your life.

Mr. Earl Sterner (Indiana University): Seniors will find it a big jump from high school into college. Act grown up. Study hard; strive for high grades. Remember the sacrifice that your parents are making to send you to college and acquire for yourself a good education in return for what they are paying out in money.

Instruction at Johns Hopkins University is offered in three schools: the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Engineering, and the College of Business Economics. The total enrollment of the undergraduate and collegiate schools is approximately 1400, a number which enables the student to enjoy the intimate associations usually possible only in the small colleges. Not only does the university itself afford many opportunities for a student, but its location in Baltimore, Maryland, offers the additional advantages of a large historic city.

The classroom and laboratory buildings are arranged around a central quadrangle on the campus. The Hopkins program permits a wide variety of courses to suit the individual needs and special interests of its students. In the collegiate division of the College of Arts and Sciences, the university assumes that all students have an interest in the fundamentals which a liberal education requires. Therefore, the first two years are devoted to basic courses such as English, foreign language, history, economics, and an elective science. At the start of the third year, the student begins with a different objective. Most of those interested in the professions of law, medicine, or public service will elect to remain in the college for two more years.

An intercollegiate program of the school athletics embraces fourteen activities including football, basketball, and other prominent sports.

Our "Pen" Has You Covered With Daring Life Statements

No doubt there has been many a time when students have asked themselves, "Am I average? Do I get up earlier than the average student? Do I study more than the average student of my class? Do I sleep more or less than the average youth of my age? Just how do I rank with other people?" In order to answer these inquiries, we have taken a poll of a number of pupils, and with the results of this poll we will construct an image of the average South Side High School student.

Begin With Dawn

A very suitable place to begin, naturally, is at the start of the day. Much to our surprise, the rising time of Archers differs widely. The members of the fairer sex arise between 6:30 o'clock and 6:45 o'clock. They must need this time to primp because the boys lie in bed until at least 7 o'clock or possibly 7:15 o'clock. We found that, because they have learned more efficient uses of time and have eliminated all but a barely necessary routine, upperclassmen climb out of bed ten to fifteen minutes later than underclassmen.

The average underclassmen arrives at school between ten to five minutes before the first bell. Here again upperclassmen, particularly boys, are more efficient, for they seldom come until that five minute period before the final bell.

Archers Are Starving!

It was unanimously declared by those polled that they didn't get enough to eat at noon. Perhaps we should petition the cafeteria to enlarge their servings without a corresponding raise in price.

When the subject of studying arose, we found four distinct schools of thought respective to the four classes. The model freshman utilizes half his study time at school and studies for one hour at home. The sophomore makes use of three-fourths of school study time and studies an hour and a half at night. The junior, most studious of all, studies during all study time at school and works two hours or more with his homework. The average senior sleeps during study periods and works fifteen minutes at home except nights before big tests when he may cram for six hours.

The retiring hours are as follows: freshman, 9 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock; sophomore, 9:30 o'clock to 10 o'clock; junior, 10 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock; and senior, there's just no telling when!

Color Of Character Makes Our Portrait Pretty As A Picture

According to astrologers, one's character lies in the stars, but we are out to prove that colors are just as effective.

Take, for instance, the case of Gloria Staley. . . .

Basic colors: Red: This is the color Gloria sees when she has to watch an underdog teased. Otherwise, she is a very good-natured girl.

Orange: Everything is sunny when Gloria's in Mr. Gilbert's chemistry class. This is her favorite subject.

Yellow: Here is one color that doesn't fit into her constitution. There's proof aplenty: she is a real club worker and not afraid to assume responsibilities. Organizations that are proud to name her as a prominent member are: French, Math-Science, Social Science, SPC, Philo, Glee Club, and Totem.

Green: We can't imagine Gloria as a victim of the green-eyed monster of jealousy. 'Tis heard, though, that she has a romantic rival in Jeanne Smith.

Blue: She's never blue when a certain Charles Close is around.

Violet: Violet, the flower, appeals to her as much as the color; and Gloria has a weakness for flowers. You might remember that, boys!

Black: The future isn't black for her. She plans to attend Purdue and there study to be a dietitian.

Gold: This usually reminds one of awards, and Gloria merits rating here. She is a new member of the National Honor Society.

Rose: Everything is rosy when there's music around. It's her hobby and she does a marvelous job of developing it. Have you heard her sing?

Pink: Gloria keeps in the pink of condition by eating lots of her favorite food, macaroni and cheese.

Goofy Graduate Gets A Silly Scholarship!

By Alene Loeser

Upon becoming a senior, I was suddenly exposed to the question as to where I would attend college. Being the tenth highest in my graduating class of ten people, I was sure that any school in the United States would accept me as a student. (However, it was my ardent prayer that the registrar would never learn how many people constituted my class.)

I immediately wrote to the various institutions, (not mental) asking them for their latest catalogs. Since Amapola College in Poppyville, Vermont, offered the course which I wanted to take up, this institution was my choice for my next four years of tedious study. Within several days' time, Amapola's registrar sent me an application blank.

One of the first questions asked was, "What is your name?" It seems ridiculous, but I never KNEW my real name! (People have always called me such a variety of things!) But I knew that the Board of Health would undoubtedly have some record of my birth. After school the next day I scurried downtown to the City Hall. For ten minutes the clerk searched through the files for my certificate, but her efforts were fruitless. I became dubious as to whether I was ever born. The dutiful clerk finally found my birth certificate; she had been looking previously in the records of the mentally deficient.

The next question asked of me was, "Why are you going to college?" Was I going to school to get a formal education? Was I going to college in hope of graduating and getting a diploma at Amapola? Was I going to college to acquire new acquaintances? Yes, each of these answers DID express a bit of truth, (but not too much!) Yet I definitely was going to school to hook a man, a mouse, or what ever else I would be able to snare.

I answered the remainder of the questions with very little difficulty and upon completion I mailed the blank directly to Poppyville, Vermont. I had high hopes of receiving my letter of admission within several days. I was not to be disappointed either, for my letter arrived very shortly. Was I admitted, or didn't they want me? These were the questions prevalent in my mind. I opened the epistle and read, "On the basis of the application which you filled out, Amapola College for all types of nuts, morons, idiots, imbeciles, and screw-balls awards you a scholarship for life."

Gradu-aches

With the end of the school term just a few weeks off, many happy faces are seen about school. The owners of these smiling countenances are happy because they either are sporting a National Honor Society pin or are proud winners of scholarships to well-known colleges. Still, there are other smiling students—smiling not because their names are on the four year honor roll, but because they're in LOVE!

Looking over the students averaging high in love-making, we find that John Bonisb has worked hard for and won a scholarship to go steady with LaVerne Greiner as long as he can keep his grades up. . . John Heffelfinger has been studying to get on Mary Ann Florence's honor roll, but she has given a two year scholarship to Bob Cowan of North Side.

Since Jim Straley flunked out of Pat Racht's life, Warren Cook has been staying up late at night studying to raise his grades high enough to go with Pat. . . John Gumpfer and Jane Klinefelter are a new couple to be added to those lovers in the upper third of their class. . . Other couples include: Don Weisler and Dorothy Jagers, Dick Wilson and Ruth Werkmann, Jack Vetter and Eileen Eidner, Bud Brudi and Helen Ninde, and Bob Zimmer and BethAnn Green.

Dave Rea is carving a great future for himself in the field of romantic escapades by cutting the initials of Connie Clark of New York on desks and walls about school.

Will You See "Life With Muntzinger?"

By Elinor Muntzinger

It is four minutes and fifty-nine seconds since the tardy bell has rung. For one split-second there is a tense silence reigning over home room. Another second elapses. Suddenly a figure sweeps through the door, and a mess of wind and dust (and the figure, which is me—or rather, what's left of me) tears across the room. The bell rings fiercely and is accompanied by a loud crash of furniture. I am sitting victoriously at my seat! (if not in it.) I struggle up to "seat level", take a deep breath, and glance about me. Where the heck am I? Where are all the happy little faces of the home room chums I used to see about me? A queer realization begins to grip me. Egrad! I'm in the wrong home room!

After endless wandering from home room to home room to office to home room, I finally settle myself in my seat to do some swift, crude studying. I'm suffering a hangover from overindulgence in brain food (geometry to you) the night before. I have to study everything except that during home room period. I ought to get my history chapter read, at least, and then I have a study period. Suddenly, my teacher begins divulging information about clubs, and I have to sit there helplessly and listen. Oh, well, there's a study period yet.

And so, after an hour of struggle and bluff in history class, I drop into my study hall bench with a sigh—(in fact, with two sighs—one of relief and one of extreme ecstasy at the thought of having one whole hour to study in peace instead of pieces.)

I go about my task cheerfully as the busy little bee when—crash!—all my peace is shattered into a million pieces. A nonchalant voice informs me, "Today's the day to have your Totem picture taken." I might have suspected as much! Restraining myself from uttering too many phrases the censors warned me against, I again submit to my inevitable fate.

Well, I feel like a different person as I enter geometry class—at least I'm prepared for THIS lesson! I've studied for the test! But you can bet I won't be on top of the world for long. The teacher is informing the class that the tests have not arrived, and so we will work on our advance assignment. Oh, heavens! Everything happens to me.

While I am actually rolling along smoothly in an impromptu speech in English class, I am rudely interrupted and summoned to the office. As I puff up the incline, I am at regular intervals swearing at the interrupter of my oration and wondering what's going to happen to me when I get up to the office. When I arrive at my destination, I discover I have been taken away from that beautiful masterpiece only to undergo a physical examination for GAA.

Meterites Further Plans For Social

Arrange Annual Mother-Daugh-ter Tea At Meet Staged Last Tuesday; Choose Committees

Further plans for the Mother-Daughter Tea were discussed at the Meterite meeting held last Tuesday in Room 102.

Patricia Rhodes, chairman of the decorating committee, made a report on materials needed for the table decorations. Mary Anne Duemling, chairman of the serving committee, made a report for her committee, and appointed ten girls to assist her. They are Barbara Leas, Mary Louise Mc-Nabb, Carolyn Druhot, Delores Gerke, Jacqueline Bock, Mary Condrey, Joyce Dicke, Mary Harry, Carolyn Fackler, and Marj Peterson.

Evangeline Wittmer, who is in charge of the music for the tea, an-nounced that Martha Davenport will play her violin, Helen Wellbaum will play the piano, and Mary Whittern will sing.

In addition to the tea-planning, Phyllis Bunke is to make reservations for a pavilion at Foster Park for the Meterite picnic on June 2.

Mary Whittern, president, appoint-ed the nominating committee, consist-ing of Glessna Oppenlander, Margaret Hahn, Arvilla Rediger, Marilyn Toole, and Peggy Needham. On the commit-tee for making the diplomas for the graduating girls are Janet Rea, Don-na Mouglin, and June DeWood.

Lichtenberg's Team Wins

Eugene Gettel made the highest score at the XYZ meeting recently at 3:30 o'clock in Room 188. Fred Smith was second, and Charles Hoke took third place. Phil Lichtenberg's team has won the most battles in the weekly competition over Margaret Kuntz's group.

Try Trolley Buses To Arrive At School Almost-You Hope!

After I had been subjected to the trials and tribulations of riding a bi-cycle to school, I decided that, if ever again I should be in danger of being late for school, I would employ as a means of transportation one of the vehicles of the Indiana Service Corporation (trolley coach to you). Of course, this system has its drawbacks, too... the chief of which being a little matter of seven cents; but I shall fur-ther enlighten you in the disadvan-tages of a trolley bus.

On another most inopportune morn-ing, I had failed to bum a ride. Hence, I decided to make use of my new sys-tem... riding the trolley bus. When I reached the bus stop, there was not a coach in sight. Since I had missed con-siderable sleep the night before, I de-cided to take a little snooze against a tree, trusting the noise of the coach to awaken me as had that of the street cars in years past. The time was then five minutes until eight.

Miss Bus
When I awoke, the time was one minute past eight. I opened my eyes just in time to see two buses vanish-ing in the distance. Why, oh why don't they blow their horns to awake snooz-ing school students who want rides? But no use crying over spilt milk... besides another coach was appearing over the horizon. When I boarded, the time was two minutes past eight.

Imagine my consternation at seeing the car filled with hardy men who from appearances and odors must have been coal shovelers! Timidly I took the only empty seat in the car beside one of the men. At the next cor-ner another coal shoveler stepped on.

"Get up, Bud, this is where my pal sits every mornin'" said my seat-mate.

Without waiting for me to move, he abruptly pushed me off on the floor. Oh well, no matter; it costs but little to have trousers dry-cleaned.

Decides To Move
I shuffled to the rear of the car and laid hold of one of the support poles. "Move... you make a better door than a window!" exclaimed a gruff voice behind me.

"And you can't stand there either," said another voice when I moved.

By the time I reached school it was four minutes past eight. Again I was saved the disgrace of being late. How-ever, I wondered all day why my friends avoided me, and when I got home, I discovered that I had con-tracted a rather costly odor from the passengers on the trolley coach.

Here Are Three More Clubs Which You Archers May Join

Hello students! Here we go again on another edition of the Clubs Column, which has been a regular feature in the Times for the past month. If you have read these articles before, you know that the purpose of this column is to inform you of the various clubs at South Side.

We start off with the PHILATELIC SOCIETY, which is one of the largest and most popular organizations in South Side. The purpose of the club is to unite all those students in South Side interested in philately, to pro-mote friendship among those inter-ested in philately, to educate the mem-bers of the club as to the real ad-vantages of philately, to create new collectors, and to bring to others an appreciation in the art and pastime of stamp collecting.

THE STAMP CLUB IS VERY ACTIVE, as can be seen by the fact that during the past several years they have sponsored the South Side cachet, sponsored the stamp and cachet exhibit at South Side, entered the city stamp exhibit and won four prizes, sponsored the philatelic menu contest, and brought expert philatel-ists to speak before the club. The faculty adviser of this club is Miss Pauline Van Gorder, who has done much to make this outstanding club what it is today.

Another very prominent organiza-tion at South Side is the SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB. Any junior or senior boy or girl who has maintained a scholastic average of B or above, who has special interest in social sciences, and who does not belong to more than two other clubs (Times and Totem excluded) unless on the honor roll, may join this organization.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in public affairs, develop leadership, promote school activities, practice coopera-tion, and to develop patriotism.

Programs at the meetings, which are held every two weeks, relate to history, government, and present politics. Debates, mock trials, pot-lucks, discussions, and outside speak-ers add interest to the year's pro-gram. The club also undertakes school and civic projects, and has bought for the school a moving pic-ture machine. The faculty adviser is Mr. Wilburn Wilson.

Zooming through the air comes a large number of airplanes. We start to run for cover and then we realize that those are only model planes. Yes, South Side has a very good as well as large AIRPLANE CLUB. This or-ganization is open to all those pupils in the school who are interested in the construction and flying of model aircraft.

The members build their planes in school, fly them in the gym and out-side the building, and discuss the con-struction plans among themselves. All in all this is one of the most in-teresting clubs in South Side.

Wil B. Nelp Speaks To Group Of Archers

Mr. Wil B. Nelp, assistant to the president of Franklin College, talked to a group of South Side students Tuesday during the third period. He told the qualifications, activities, and courses of Franklin College.

Cinder Squad Is Victorious At Mishawaka

Collyermen Win Triangular Meet; Gus Feistkorn, Mile Relay Team Break Record

Coach George Collyer's tracksters registered another win last Saturday in annexing a triangular meet at Mishawaka. The Archers placed first with 50 points, while Mishawaka and Froebel trailed in that order. All of the times for the meet were good, and several South Siders came home with new records in their possession.

Gus Feistkorn kept up his record-breaking performances in the 880-yard run, breaking the existing track record at Mishawaka by sprinting the distance in 2:04. Gus teamed with Jim Morrison, Bill Miller, and Jim Worman to carry home a new mark in the mile relay. The rapid relay quartet finished far ahead of the other teams, for the Archer runners showed more speed than Mishawaka track fans had seen for many years.

Other local winners were Jim Worman in the 440, Tom Deal in the mile, Les Oppenlander in the high hurdles, Chuck Close in the shot put, and Dal Zuber in the pole vault.

Oppenlander finished well ahead in the high hurdle finals, but the Kelly hurdler injured his foot and was unable to enter the high hurdle event. Here is a complete summary of the meet:

Shotput: Close (SS), first; Davis (SS), second; Rupchock (M), third. Distance: 49 feet, 1/4 inch.

Pole Vault: Zuber (SS), first; Armenton, (F), second; Gorman (M), third. Height: 10 feet, 6 inches.

Broad Jump: Steele (M), first; Haughton (M), second; Radican (F), third. Distance: 21 feet, 3 3/4 inches.

440-Yard Run: Worman (SS), first; Shaffer (F), second; Heinsbarger (M), third. Time: 53.4.

880-Yard Run: Feistkorn (SS), first; Boyer (M), second; Marvel (M), third. Time: 2:04.

Mile Run: Deal (SS), first; Wierman (M), second; Walsh (M), third. Time: 4:51.

High Jump: Campbell (F), first; Boger (M), second; Posurtko (M), third. Height: 5 feet, 7 inches.

High Hurdles: Oppenlander (SS), first; Zeller (M), second; Johnson (SS), third. Time: 24.6.

100-Yard Dash: Gonzales (F), first; Parry (SS), second; Claeys (M), third. Time: 10.3.

Low Hurdles: Campbell (F), first; Hamilton (F), second; Sebold (SS), third. Time: 24.6.

220-Yard Dash: Gonzales (F), first; Parry (SS), second; Steele (M), third. Time: 22.7.

Half-Mile Relay: Mishawaka, first. Time: 1:34.

Mile Relay: South Side, first; Mishawaka, second; Froebel, third. Time: 3:37.

Bill Miller, running in the 440-yard dash, was fouled 20 yards from the finish line, and he was unable to finish the race. Bill was in second place when tripped.

South Side's high jumpers had plenty of trouble in clearing the bar, for both Shimer and Kilpatrick slipped on the wet grass and were unable to clear 5 feet 4 inches.

USA Club To Sponsor Mother-Daughter Tea

USA's Mother-Daughter Tea will be held today at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. A skit entitled "We Do This" will be presented by Martha Dirmeyer, Doris Pape, and Patty Hocker. Doris Lantz and Grace Rendleman will sing the Girl Reserve "Quest Song", and Phyllis Buckmaster, Rosemary Bird, Grace Rendleman, and Peggy Roth will sing "We Would Be Building."

The committees for the tea are program committee, Martha Dirmeyer, chairman, Patty Hocker and Doris Pape; invitations, Lois Bender, chairman, Anna Lee Bearinger, and Jean Clark; and refreshments, Donna Jones, chairman, June Ellenwood, and Wyla Baldwin.

Interesting Information, History On Kokomo Relay Is Given

With the Kokomo Relays carded for Saturday, many Archers have sought to learn more about the event. The first Kokomo relay events were run off in 1925, and this is the sixteenth year of the popular meet.

The meet is run off in two sections. Class A is composed of schools with an enrollment of 500 pupils or more, while class B is made up of schools whose total enrollment falls below 500 students.

All of the events in each class are scored on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis. That is, first place receives five points and so on down to one point for fifth place.

Medals will be presented to all those who finish in one of the first five places.

The coaches of the teams which win the class titles will also receive appropriate honor medals. Each school is allowed to enter two men in each event, and an athlete may compete in but three events.

Here is a review of the final scoring and placing of the teams at Kokomo last spring:

Class "A"
1. Hammond	39
2. North Side	28
3. Froebel	28

4. South Side	26
5. Anderson	23
Class "B"
1. Garrett	44
2. Gas City	24
3. Alexandria	18
4. Burris	17
5. Fairmount	15

Coach Collyer has received the schedule for the starting times of the events, and—for those of you who may be interested—here are the starting time for the meet at Kokomo—(Class "A" only).

Coach Collyer has received the schedule for the starting times of the events, and—for those of you who may be interested—here are the starting time for the meet at Kokomo—(Class "A" only).

Field events:
12:15—Pole vault.
1:30—Broad jump.
2:30—High jump.

This Archer Got It! Have You Had Any Trouble With Cars?

By "Rumble" Bone

I stood before the mirror which sits on my dresser, trying to get my tie fixed for a date. I don't know why, but for some reason or other I always wear one of the things. I usually take it off about an hour later. Looking up at the clock, I noticed that it was getting late; so I dashed down the stairs, buttoning my shirt as I went.

I walked into the kitchen, where my mother was washing the supper dishes.

Talks To Junior

"Junior," I said. I don't know why, but I always call my mother Junior. I know it's not showing the proper respect for my elders, but I don't seem to be able to break myself of this bad habit. "Could I...rather...well, that is, could I just maybe...possibly have the car for tonight?"

Utter silence followed.

"Junior, did you hear what I said?"

"Yes," was the reply, "I heard you perfectly."

"Well?"

"I am thinking," said my mother, as she reached over and took the hand towel off the hook.

"You see, Junior, it's like this. I promised Dick, Bob, and Chuck that I..."

"What! You mean that there will be eight people in one car?"

"Now let me finish, please. You have the whole thing all mixed up. Chuck is going to drive to the dance, and he is going to take Kent, and then, after the thing is over, Kent will drive Chuck's car, and Chuck is going with me. Do you understand?"

"No, I don't. What is the sense of all this switching around?"

"I'll explain that later, but right now all I am interested in is the car."

"You will have to ask your father when he comes home," was the reply.

Delivers Oration

I went back upstairs to write the speech I was to give to my father. It wasn't long until he came home; and, having gone over my speech once more, I went downstairs to pop the question to him.

"Hi, Dad, how are you? Do you want me to get your slippers? I fixed the furnace and brought the paper in for you."

"What's on your mind, Son? Is it money again?"

"Oh, no! It's nothing like that. I was just wondering if you were going to be using the car tonight."

"Why no, Son, I have no use for it tonight. Would you like to have it?"

"You really mean it? Gee I think you're wonderful."

"You can have it, but don't run the tires off."

"Don't worry, Dad, I won't. So long."

Times Stages Potluck Wednesday Evening

The Times staff potluck was held Wednesday evening at 5:30 o'clock in the cafeteria. Becky Abbott served as mistress of ceremonies. Miss Harvey and Mary Lybrook spoke to the group. Other entertainment was contributed by Alene Loeser, who read a prophecy, and Bill Bone, who presented a declamation "The Raft".

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol

Out of the total of twenty-three entries for the boys' intramural softball tournament, only four games have been played. The annual boys' gym class carnival is still in progress; and, according to Mr. Louie Briner, it will last at least two more weeks. Because of the small number of entries for softball, the deadline for entries has been extended.

The four games played last week were between the Swoses and the Bus's, the Archers and the T.O.P.'s, the Hot Dogs and the Swans, and the Easy Aces and the Cats. The winners and scores were the Swoses, 11 to 3; the T.O.P., 9 to 0; the Hot Dogs, 5 to 4; and the Easy Aces, 9 to 4.

Umpires for the game between the Swoses and the Bus's were Walter Timme and Ed Skole. Morton and McMillan officiated for the Easy Aces and Cats. For the Hot Dogs and Swans, Lotts and Hobeg made the necessary recordings. Walter Timme kept score for the game between the Archers and the T.O.P.

Next week, this column will give a complete list of the entries for softball. There will probably be some results announced for the gym class carnival; and for those who are interested, there will be some facts about the intramural track meet which will be open for participation in just a few weeks.

South Side Graduate On Freshman Council

William Riethmiller, '40, is among the freshman students at Northwestern University recently elected to the Freshman Representative Council. This council is composed of representatives elected from each of the fraternities and men's open houses on the university campus and is responsible for governing the non-curricular activities of freshman students. Bill, who was very active in extra-curricular work in South Side, is a student of liberal arts and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity.

Student Players See One-Act Play Friday

"All's Fair", a one-act play, was presented before the Student Players' Club last Friday in the Greeley Room by members of the group.

Lois Craig was appointed chairman of the play by Miss Margery Suter. The cast included Patty Har-ruff, Ellen Motz, Garneta Beaty, Mary Lou Feller, and Lois Craig. Clara Makey was prompter.

The next meeting will be May 23.

GAA Baseball Upperclassmen Name Winners

Geneva Martin, Julia Kaser, Alice Fisher, Betty Hargan Captain Victorious Teams

Upperclassman GAA baseball winners were determined last week when Geneva Martin's Senior 1's, Betty Hargan's Junior 1, Alice Fisher's Sophomore 4's, and Julia Kaser's Sophomore 1's were the winning teams of the fourth round.

On Diamond 3 the Senior 1's, captained by Geneva Martin, defeated Betty McKay's Sophomore 3's, the final score reading 28 to 23. Outstanding players on the winning team were Maxine Sterling, Geneva Martin, Bernadine Bender, Bernadine Pressler, and Frances Nash.

Betty McKay, Miriam Abbott, Ruby Clausen, Marion Faux, and Phyllis Amstutz made runs for the losing team.

Betty Hargan's Junior 1's defeated Martha Cash's Sophomore 2's by the score of 16 to 5 on Diamond 4. Sylvia Sholty, Rosemary Spore, Patricia Smith, Elaine Daeger, Jeanette Whet-sel, Betty Hargan, and Lenora Moyer each made two runs for their team.

On Diamond 2, Alice Fisher's Sophomore 4's defeated Betty Baker's Junior 3's by 19 to 9. Two runs each were made by Marilyn Bullerman, Joan Stradiem, Alice Fisher, and Janice Fruth.

The Sophomore 1's, captained by Julia Kaser, captured an overwhelming victory with a 20-point lead over the Junior 2's captained by Margaret Dale. The score was 20 to 1.

Julia Kaser, Barbara Renz, Eileen Reinking, and Pat Harnish made three points each for their team.

Umpires for these baseball games were Jean Clark, Phyllis Crabill, Alice Dolin, and Doris Dearingier. Scorekeepers were Patty Hocker, Doris Pape, Barbara Burt, and Maxine Clark.

Schedule Is Approved For Teachers' Salary

Public school teachers' salary schedule for the next school year was approved by the board of school trustees with only minor revisions being made from the present setup.

The board raised the maximum pay level of teachers with four and five years' training by $50 effective after next January 1. The regular increase of $50 was allowed for all teachers for the entire school year. It was estimated that the increase approved by the board will amount to about $18,000.

Next year's school calendar was also approved by the board. The calendar is as follows: Opening, September 2; Northeastern Indiana Teachers Association Convention, October 23 and 24; Thanksgiving holiday, November 20 and 21; Christmas holiday, December 22 to January 5; end of first semester, January 23; opening of second semester, January 26; spring vacation, March 30 to April 3, and school closing, June 12.

Miss Olive Perkins Might Be Classed As A Globe-Trotter

If you happen to walk into Room 90 sometime, you will be immediately greeted with a friendly smile by Miss Olive Perkins, French teacher. This well-liked personality was born in Monmouth, Indiana, not far from Decatur. Here she attended a country school until she reached the fourth grade. After this, her family moved to Decatur, where Miss Perkins finished her grade school and high school education.

Studied At Terre Haute

She continued her studies at the Indiana State Teacher's College in Terre Haute, Indiana, where she received her A.B. degree with a major in French and a minor in Spanish. After graduation from Teacher's College, Miss Perkins accepted a position in South Whitley, where she taught French and English. During this time she did summer graduate work at Wisconsin University.

She continued to do summer graduate work later on at Middlebury, Vermont, where she received her Master's degree. In 1924, Miss Perkins left South Whitley to come to South Side. What was South Whitley's loss is South Side's gain.

She had the extreme good fortune in 1927 of having the opportunity to visit Europe. She spent the whole summer traveling in France, Italy, and Switzerland. In France, she saw a number of French operas and plays which were quite different from the ones here in the United States. Not long ago, Miss Perkins took a trip to New Orleans and Cuba. Just last summer she traveled in Vermont.

Has House Hobby

Although she loves to play the piano, Miss Perkins said that her main hobby was keeping house. And we hear that she keeps herself busy trying out new cooking recipes, as she loves to cook. Like a lot of us, she is keen on playing bridge. Miss Perkins also finds time to knit along with collecting classical and operatic records.

Her favorite radio programs are Fibber McGee and Molly and Fannie Brice as Baby Snooks. So now if you happen to meet our personality of the day, you will know that Miss Perkins possesses an interesting past, present, and, no doubt, an eventful future.

Wo-Ho-Ma's Discuss "Flower Arrangement"

Mr. Ellis Fisher, representative from Vesey's Flower Shop, gave a talk on "Flower Arrangement" at Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting last Thursday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. With him, he brought flowers and vases to demonstrate to the girls how to arrange flowers for center-pieces and various occasions. Miss Fisher assisted him with his demonstration.

Included in the entertainment was Betty Lou Hancock, who gave a reading "She Just Cried". Norma Close led the game "Electricity". Committee in charge was Katherine Bulte-meier, chairman, Norma Close, Norma Russell, and Phyllis Crumrine.

Committee for the next meeting is Alice Fisher, chairman, Anna Marie Roth, and Alice Snyder. Flowers were given to the girls at the end of the meeting. Dum-dums were served as refreshments.

32 GAA'ers Enter Badminton Contest

Games Are Played During Fifth, Eighth Periods In Handball Court, Gym; Hold Drawings

Approximately thirty-two active GAA'ers have entered the girls' annual badminton tourney. The games are played in the handball court and in the gym.

The drawings were held recently; and, as a result, the following games are scheduled: JoAnn Schwartz and Marian Faux vs. Catherine Horn and Mary Morgan; Jeanne Smith and Geneva Martin vs. Betty Kyruk and Marilyn Meyers; Maxine Sterling and Fuzzy Amstutz vs. Helen Long and Delores Majorki.

Mary Mallers and Phyl Westerman are scheduled to play against June Moyer and Jeanne Spore; Pat Jackson and Norma Russell vs. Kate Sanders and Duck Spore; Charlene Colicho and Martha Smith vs. Ilo Hirschman and Helen Marschand; Betty Thiele and Irene Meyer vs. Betty Hargan and May Scheele; and Laurel Bacon and Gloria Harvendorf vs. Phyllis Jackson and Maxine Asmus.

The games will be played this week during the fifth and eighth periods, and winners will be announced soon.

Glenn Miller Sends Answer To Request From Archer Fans

Don Stroebel, 12B, recently sent a petition containing 300 names of South Siders to Glenn Miller and his orchestra, requesting him to play "Little Brown Jug" on his Chesterfield broadcast. Hopefully, the 300 Archers listened in every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, waiting to hear their request.

However, not so long ago, Don received an answer to his petition from the famous orchestra leader. The letter said that, due to the ASCAP and radio controversy, the orchestra would be unable to play "Little Brown Jug" until the situation was cleared up, as this song comes under the ASCAP class.

But don't give up hope, fans. Glenn Miller said that maybe it would be possible to play your request later on. Anyway, let's hope this ASCAP situation will blow over soon, because South Side swing fans demand better music played by the better orchestras.

Tracksters Will Travel To Kokomo Saturday For Relays

Archers Have Good Chance To Win Meet

Relay Teams, Close, Feistkorn Have Best Chance Of Taking First Places

South Side's track team will journey to Kokomo this week-end to compete in the Kokomo Relays. Several Archer tracksters are hoping to win places in the annual Kokomo event, and it is probable that the Collyermen will come home with a majority of the medals.

Gus Feistkorn and Chuck Close seem to be good prospects for first places in the 880-yard run and the shot-put. The relay teams should also make their mark at Kokomo, for both are capable of winning over the state's toughest quartets.

Archers certain of making the southern trip are Jim Worman, Jim Morrison, Gus Feistkorn, Chuck Close, Bill Bond, Rudy Wuttke, Bill Miller, Tom Deal.

Other Kellies going are Ralph and Richard Sebold, Dick Kilpatrick, Chick Shimer, Dwight Davis, Sam Johnson, Art Parry, and Les Oppenlander.

Last year the locals placed well in the Kokomo event, but the Archers had a great triple threat harrier in Ernie Vogel. With Vogel ineligible for track this year, it is certain that the locals will have to rely on a team balance if a high place is to be won.

In the next few weeks, the Green cinder pouters will be preparing for the sectional and state meets. Several local tracksters appear to have good chances for placing at state, and the southern thinly clads are working out each evening.

GAA Holds Annual Table Tennis Meet

Tournament Winners To Be Given Points; Drawings Posted On Board; Thirty Girls Entered

GAA table tennis tournament has been in progress all of this week in the girls' table tennis room during fifth and eighth periods.

For the winner, two out of three games must be won. Twenty-five points will be given to the champion, 15 points for runner-up, and 10 points for the first game winner. Drawings for the single matches are posted on the bulletin board outside the girls' gym office.

Mural Markers

Intramural's softball season started last week with a bang. Byron Gingham, pitcher for the heavyweight favorites, T.O.P., opened the season with a no hit—no run game, winning the game by a score of 3 to 0. Thus the T.O.P. moves into the second round and are scheduled to play the Swooses this noon.

In the other game played last week between the Easy Aces and the Cats, two middleweight teams, Easy Aces proved their name by defeating the Cats by a score of 9 to 4. The members of the Easy Aces scored the following number of points: Voight, 1; Hambrook, 1; Werling, 1; Majorki, 2; Minser, 1; Clifton, 1; Turner, 1; Wissler, 0; Yunt, 0; and Harter, 1. For the Cats, Megess, Dorman, Deal, and White scored once. The others failed to score.

Another game played in the heavyweight division was between Alexander's Swooses and the Bucs. Bill Fishing won the game for the Swooses with a score of 11 to 3.

The game between the Hot Dogs and the Swans turned out to be a thriller. The scoring run crossed the plate for the Hot Dogs in the first half of the third and later turned out that the Swans could not score in either the third or fourth inning, thus losing the game 4 to 5.

With the intramural softball season well under way, it appears that many good games are promised.

Gus broke the existing 880-yard run record at Mishawaka last week-end by running the distance in 2:04. The lanky Green harrier also runs as a member of the fine mile relay quartet; teaming with Jim Morrison, Bill Miller, and Jim Worman, he has aided in registering several good times with this crew.

Lieutenant Cautions Bicyclers To Ride Sanely, Obey Rules

Mr. R. Nelson Snider received a letter from Mr. Custer A. Dunifon, traffic lieutenant, recently, concerning bicycle riders. The letter asks students to observe the rules of safety for bicycle riders. Following is the content of the letter:

"During the spring vacation, a bicycle rider from a Fort Wayne grade school rode his bicycle out of an alley without first stopping for a sidewalk, and crashed into the side of a car, causing the rider to fly over the top of the car.

"The damage to the car was very slight, but the bicycle was badly damaged, and the rider received a laceration on the back of his head.

"A few days later a high school student rode a bicycle out of an alley, failing to stop for the sidewalk, out into the street and into the side of a concrete mixer.

"In this case there was no damage done to the concrete mixer; little damage was done to the bicycle, but the bicycle rider suffered a very serious injury to the head and was taken to the hospital, where he will be confined for some time. His condition is only fair. In each of these cases the bicycle rider miraculously escaped death.

"I am taking this opportunity to plead with all bicycle riders to please stop for sidewalks when riding out of alleys or private drives, and to stop for stop signs and traffic lights, and obey all the rules of the road.

"In the spring of each year we always experience an alarming increase of accidents involving bicycle riders, and with cooperation I am sure that these accidents can be avoided."

Kelly Golf Team Plays CC Tuesday

Begin Action At Brookwood Golf Course; Full Spring Card Has Not Been Announced As Yet

South Side's golfers swing into action next Tuesday, meeting the Central Catholic mashie wielders at the Brookwood Golf Course. As yet the complete spring card has not been announced, but other outstanding golf teams are being scheduled.

During the past week, most of the aspirants for team berths have been shooting practice rounds. The cards are turned in to Coach Friddle, and the Archer mentor is to select his varsity quartet from among the low scorers.

So far, about ten boys have shot practice rounds. Jim Straley, Bob Hines, Bob Robinson, Bob Young, Al Schaefer, Tom Hall, Bud Boyce, Don Parkinson, Art Parry, and Kent Lentz are among those who have shot early practice rounds.

Jim Straley has posted the best nine-hole effort, a 41. Other scores turned in range from the low 40's to the high 50's.

Scribe Advocates Pep Session Before Sectional Track Meet

By Bob Young

Again this week, your scribe is going to dwell on the subject of a recognition track assembly. Last week, I gave several good reasons for having the assembly; among those were the ideas that such an assembly would duly recognize the feats of the boys and that the enthusiasm shown would help to give Coach Collyer's boys the spirit and confidence that South Side wants and has a great track team.

Every year the Archer students approach sectional track time with the thought that the district event is just another track meet.

In the past few years, the South Siders have failed to give the sectional and state place winners any plaudits for their fine work. For three years, Coach Friddle's basketball team won the sectional tourney.

Before all three of these meets, and in fact, prior to all basketball games, the students were permitted to cheer their favorites on with special pep assemblies.

Never fool yourself, fellow Archers—our track boys work just as hard and train just as strictly as do the basketball or football players. It is only reasonable to assume that these track boys should be given equal consideration with the other varsity athletes.

On Saturday, May 17, South Side will enter the sectional track meet. I believe that our track athletes should be given a good send-off and just recognition for their past deeds at an assembly on Friday morning, May 16.

Also, the tennis and golf players deserve special merit. Along with the track performers, the tennis and golf boys form the complete spring sports picture at South Side.

It seems to me that this subject could be discussed in the home rooms, so that the students may decide for themselves whether or not they appreciate their track, tennis, and golf players. An assembly is the only way to singly honor every athlete before his fellow students.

These have been my views. What are yours? Perhaps we can work together and have a good recognition and pep meeting for our spring athletic teams!

Girls' Sportsettes

"Dizzy Dean" is the name given to Janet Malcom by members of the second period gym class, because of the swell pitching she has been doing in baseball. Keep it up, "Dizzy".

Three sophomore girls who have been doing a lot of bowling and are making good scores are Sally Ogden, Donna Peel, and Janice Fruth. Keep the good work up, girls!

Joanne Schwartz received a cold, but not pleasant, surprise when a bunch of her friends put her under the cold, icy water of the showers after GAA.

Poor Maurine Brackman! She's always getting hurt. Just recently she sprained a ligament in her left hand.

One of our prominent GAA members is at home, sick with measles. She is none other than Helen Long. Here's hoping she has a speedy recovery.

Prize boners of the week were made by Geneva (Pres.) Martin, "Red" Nash and Duck Spore Friday at an exciting?? basketball game. In attempting to steal home, all three were put out. The looks on their faces was the funny part.

Patricia Ehle Plays Superior Basketball, Takes GAA Honors

Many win titles in basketball, golf, and tennis, but Patricia Ehle, enthusiastic 12B, member of GAA, captures the title for sportsmanship in all sports. Pat has already earned 1400 points in GAA, and she hopes to become a lettergirl soon.

Patricia Evelyn (she prefers to be called Pat) was born in Fort Wayne on January 10, 1924. She attended the Miner, South Wayne, Hoagland, and James H. Smart schools in Fort Wayne before coming to South Side.

Like most sport-loving Archers, Pat rates basketball highest on her sport list. Showing that all of the faculty rate high with her, when asked her favorite teacher she said, "I'm not going to commit myself. I like them all." She did say, however, that she likes English and home economics (especially cooking) best of all subjects.

As her favorite screen couple, she rates Bette Davis and Jim Cagney as tops. "Rebecca" was the best movie she ever saw, and "The Citadel", her favorite book. Although all foods are appealing to Pat, she says that strawberry pie and fried chicken will always make a complete meal in themselves. Proving her sense of humor, she rates Henry Aldrich as her favorite radio program.

Pat is a super-excellent basketball player, rating honors on the honorary basketball teams in GAA in her sophomore and junior years. Her pet peeve is women who wear hats in shows. It is rumored that she often sings, "You Walk By", but to whom she sings it is a secret.

Besides being a most active GAA'er, she belongs to the Service Club. Her ambition is to go to Purdue and become a dietitian.

Result In Fourth Round GAA Games Is Given

Last Monday, the fourth round of freshman baseball was won by Anna Roth's Team 2, Alice Dolin's Team 3, and Virginia Griffith's Team 4.

On the northeast field Anna Marie Roth's Team 2 defeated Phyllis Jackson's Team 6 by the score of 10 to 1. Shirley Rowe, Jean Clark, Ida Mae Rhodes, and Betty Cutter made runs for the winning team.

Alice Dolin's Team 3 defeated Maxine Clark's Team 5 by the score of 11 to 0. Runs for Team 3 were made by Kate Horn, Alice Dolin, Phyllis Crumrine, Joan Deel, LaVonne Taylor, Dorothy Windhorst, and Nina Beam.

On the southwest field Virginia Griffith's Team 4 defeated Marilyn Dorman's Team 1, 13 to 6. Star players were Phyllis Moore, Ruthetta Firse, LaDonna Russel, and Mae Terry.

Umpires and scorekeepers were Carolyn Fisher, Nina Beam, Elaine Pumphrey, Phyllis Jackson, and Helen Long.

Track Tremors

By Gus Feistkorn

Many of the students have been giving their ideas on the track season, but as yet the track boys have had little chance to speak. We are going to express our opinions each week in this column concerning the coming meets on our schedule.

Also in my initial effort, I wish to call your attention to Bob Young's article on a track pep session which appears on one of the sports pages this week. We all feel the same as does Bob about such an assembly, and I hope that such a recognition meet may be brought about.

This week, the boys are looking very earnestly forward to the Kokomo Relays. Listed below are a few opinions which my fellow trackmen expressed concerning the Kokomo meet.

Doc Dannecker: The competition will be plenty tough. Every South Side trackman is going to Kokomo with the idea of winning.

Art Parry: We're tougher than they come now, and we'll be even tougher by sectional time.

Les Oppenlander: It's in the bag!

Chuck Close: I hope we win.

Jim Morrison: We'll take all the events—I hope.

Rudy Wuttke: We'll take them all. Jim Worman: We'll win this week-end if the fellows keep their training promises.

Gene Reichart: I hope we win. Richard Sebold: All of us are working hard to win this and the coming meets. An important thing lacking is the backing of the team by the student body.

Ralph Sebold: We'll do our best, which, by now, ought to be pretty good.

Dick Kilpatrick: We have as good a chance as anybody else in the meet. Curtis Kyvik: It will be a walk-away for us.

Don Yant: The other teams will be tough, but we're tougher.

Tom Ulrich: We ought to win in a breeze; at least, we have the best material.

Chick Shimer: It depends on how the fellows feel.

Bill Bond: If we don't win, they will at least know that we were around!

Dal Zuber: The competition is going to be plenty tough.

Sam Johnson: No matter how it comes out, we will be in there plugging for South Side.

Paul Wuttke: We're going to win.

Bob Bolyard Earns Very Bright Future In Professional Ball

By Austin Gardner

Bob Bolyard, member of South Side's Hall of Fame, is now assured of a baseball future as a result of an appointment to a professional baseball team.

First let me tell you of the events leading up to this event. As all of us Kelleys know, Bob, then only a junior, was a member of the South Side basketball squad that won the state championship in '38. He was captain in 1939 of the team that was ousted by Ossian.

After his graduation that same year, Bob played basketball and softball with the Rea Magnet Wire Company until 1941. At the close of the basketball season, he joined the Veterans of Foreign Wars' baseball team, playing second base. The Vets won the state tournament and were defeated in the second round of the national tournament. In the city tournament Bob won the coveted sportsmanship award. At the end of the baseball season, he became a member of the St. Joseph Athletic Club, which won the independent tournament at Zanesville.

Bob played baseball, softball, and basketball up to March, 1941, when he went down to Leesburg, Florida, to try out for professional ball with a St. Paul farm team. After three successive weeks of training, he landed a contract with the St. Paul club, who, in turn, optioned him off to a team in Grand Forks, North Dakota. The first game of the initial season was played last Monday.

We of South Side wish Bob Bolyard all the luck in the world in this new venture.

Ping Pong Team Wins First Match

Varsity Squad Scores 4-To-3 Victory Over Fort Wayne Table Tennis Club Last Saturday

South Side's varsity table tennis team defeated the Fort Wayne Table Tennis Club by one match last Saturday at the club to win their first match. The score was 4 to 3. Wayne Brown won the deciding match from Joe Kintz, 21-16, 15-21, 21-18, 21-23, 21-16. Ray Commers, Charles Gramlich, and Ray Vonderau also won their matches. Mr. Ralph E. Murray is faculty adviser for the group.

Other team members who played Saturday are Norman Fortness, Kenneth Hibler, and Bud Puff. The first two regulars for South Side, Max Stobaugh and John Craig, were unable to play and were replaced by second team members.

Barney Horn, Robert Brenizer, Pete Collias, Gene Gabriel, Marshall Gabriel, and Joe Kintz comprise the club's team. South Side's varsity team was picked this winter by a round-robin tournament.

Service Club Honors Pupils At Assembly

Approximately Thirty - five Members Earn Awards For Work During Year

Approximately thirty - five members of Service Club were awarded bronze, silver, and gold pins at the group's annual recognition service held last Tuesday morning in the gymnasium.

Those people who received gold awards which require 600 hours of service, are Joy Degitz, Elaine Hirsch, Evelyn Erickson, Betty Porter, Bernadine Pressler, Mary Brandyberry, Joan Thomas, Miriam Roebel, Crystal Valentine, Shirley White, and Clarence Freeman.

Special awards were given to Gertrude Merkel, who had 955 points, Louise Buesking, 968; and Marjorie Hopkins, 999 points. These members had received their gold pins along with a special certificate.

Having served the required 450 hours for a silver pin, the honored members for this award are Betty Thiele, Rosanna Weston, Alice Volmerding, Betty Lapp, Helene Lisius, and Kenneth Wollman.

In order to receive a bronze medal, a worker must have served 300 hours of service. Those people who merited this pin are Claude Davenport, Louisa Haug, Ralph Herb, Clifford Hess, Marilyn Miller, Betty Elbertson, Eileen Hornmann, Miriam Jackson, Jeanne Smith, Jean Sheets, Joan Squires, Maxine Sterling, Evelyn Thomas, Marguerite Calkins, and Max Stobaugh.

Elaine Hirsch opened the service with a piano solo. The Girls' Glee Club directed by Mr. Lester Hostetler and accompanied at the piano by Wilma Lagemann, sang several songs and Mary Whittier sang, "I Would Be True".

Dick Theye, Charlene McAtee, Dolores Daniels, and Bill Siebold were the student speakers for the service.

Nineteenth Banquet Held By Lettermen

Athletes Stage Annual Dinner Last Night At W. Creighton Church; Attendance Is 125

"S" men held their nineteenth annual Lettermen's banquet last night in the West Creighton Christian Church, at 6:30 o'clock. Approximately one hundred and twenty-five parents, friends, and guests of the lettermen attended this Archer banquet.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal; Miss Martha Pittenger, dean; Mr. Burl Friddle, basketball coach; Mr. Wayne Giff, football coach; Mr. George Collier, track coach; and Mr. Ora Davis, athletic director, were speakers from the South Side faculty.

Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools, and Mr. John Schommer, well-known referee, were other distinguished speakers on the evening program. Bob Hines, president of the club, was the only student speaker.

Entertainment was furnished by a parents' quartet composed of Mr. Earl Siebold, Mr. Fred Bloemker, Mr. Wilbur Gidley, and Mr. Theodore Haberkorn. Prior to the banquet the South Side Trio, under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, entertained the banquet guests.

Of the thirty Lettermen, eight of these were awarded their first letters and sweaters at the banquet last night. The new Lettermen are Bryce Augsburg, Tom Brower, Harry Hines, Bill Knoll, Gene McClain, Harold Werkman, Dallas Zuber, and Bob Babbitt.

Other lettermen receiving awards are Bob Birkenbeul, who received his second letter; Charles Close, fourth letter; Charles Feistkorn, second and third letters; Bob Hines, fourth and fifth letters; and Ralph Shimer received his sixth letter.

The Booster Club under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto were in charge of decorations for the affair.

Mr. A. Verne Flint, adviser of Lettermen's Club, and Mr. Davis, were in charge of plans and arrangements for the banquet.

"Believe It Or Not", Bill Bone Conceives May Day Inspiration

By Rundell Bone
Now let me see, I could—no, that wouldn't do either. I am supposed to be writing a feature on a May Day Celebration, a humorous feature at that. My boss has as much conception of humor as I have an inspiration for this article. I have been spending the last half hour sitting here looking out of the window and raking my brain for ideas.

Let's go back and start from the beginning. There are several different ways of writing a feature like this. First, you can sit down and start telling about how May Day Celebrations started and how they are celebrated in different countries, and so forth.

This type is known as the industrious type. I, definitely, do not belong to this class. I can't think of even enough to say to write an inch, let alone four pages.

Then there is the type who will start out to write a feature on a May Day Celebration and end up writing about something entirely different. This is the absent-minded type. There are always a few on every staff. This type will write a paragraph, eat for fifteen minutes, sleep awhile, and then write some more. By this time he has forgotten what he wrote before. Consequently, no two paragraphs fit together. I cannot possibly be classified with this type (?). I must now go over to The Grill and get an ice cream cone. Wait a minute. I'll be right back.

Well, here I am again. Now let's see, where was I? Oh yes, I was writing a story on a May Day Celebration. Oh well, by this time you know all about it, so I shall now leave you with your fund of information. If there is anything you would like to know about any of the months, just drop in on me any afternoon. You will always find me in the Times room, slaving away, eating an ice cream cone, with my feet propped up on a desk.

Indiana Extension Program Growing

High School Graduates, Pupils; Professional, Business Men May Receive Training Here

Fort Wayne's Indiana University Extension is rapidly taking on a complete and varied program for people of many interests. High school graduates enroll seeking a complete year's work prerequisite to liberal arts, medicine, dentistry, social service, nurses' training, Purdue engineering, and teacher training.

Graduate courses and special lecture courses designed especially for business and professional people who wish to further their professional, as well as cultural, interests are also offered. In addition to these courses, many subjects are offered for students of sophomore, junior, and senior standing, since sixty hours can be completed in Extension classes.

Not only does the Extension enroll residents of Fort Wayne, but many graduates of out-of-town schools. Besides the regular student group who are working toward academic degrees, the student body consists of stenographers, bookkeepers, industrial employees, and representatives from seventy-five other vocations. In addition to this program of studies is a rather large social program open to the students.

Mothers Make Clothes

"Over 700 garments have been made by South Side mothers for the Red Cross", announced Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, chairman of this group, approximately 250 were knitted or crocheted sweaters, mufflers, shawls, etc.

The group is working only on Tuesday afternoons until the present supply is exhausted.

Four Archers Leave

Archers Invited To Indiana Tech

College Holds Open House Friday Evening, Saturday Afternoon, Evening For Students

Members of South Side High School are cordially invited to attend the Fifth Annual Open House, tomorrow evening, May 2, 7 to 10 o'clock and Saturday afternoon and evening, May 3, 1:30 to 5:30 o'clock at Indiana Technical College.

Class sessions will represent the technique in presenting engineering subject-matter; laboratory experiments in the wind tunnel; stress analysis of students' airplane designs; qualitative and quantitative analysis and organic chemistry; use of transits and levels, calibration of an x-ray machine; study of a mercury rectifier; frequency machine with cathode-ray oscilloscope; gear cutting on milling machine; thread cutting on lathes; photographic study of Diesel engine operation; large display of engineering drawings and designs in competition for the Caswell annual awards.

The judges determining the winners of the Caswell awards are as follows: E. T. Riedy, chief draftsman, International Harvester Company; C. E. Carlson, chief draftsman, S. F. Bowser & Company; and E. J. Zelt, supervisor of drafting department, General Electric Company.

The enrollment for the spring term at Indiana Technical College of 462 engineering students is the largest spring enrollment in the history of the school. Graduates find ready appointments in attractive situations.

The summer term opens June 2; fall term, September 2.

Personality Is Very Important For Any Boy's "Perfect Girl"

The perfect girl—ah, how every boy would like to meet one. The perfect girl is a very hard person to find. In the ensuing paragraphs, an attempt is made to give a word picture of the boy's perfect girl.

First of all, she must be about 5 feet, 3 or 4 inches. This will make her just tall enough for the average boy. Then comes the face and hair. The face should have more or less of a heart shape with large clear eyes, a small, fine nose, and small, nicely developed lips shaped like Cupid's bow.

The perfect girl's hair should be naturally wavy, not curly. The hairdo should depend on the certain boy; but, through a poll among the boys, we learned that anything but tight, kinky curls are all right.

She should dress well. Her clothes should always be clean and neat. It isn't necessary for the girl to have an abundance of clothes just as long as they are proper for the occasion, in style, and look nice on her.

Of course, the most important item of the perfect girl is her personality. Without a dynamic personality, the perfect girl would not be so perfect. She must be able to make friends easily, get along with other people, and be able to talk easily, but not too much.

And now, let's discuss some of the crazy fads that our perfect girl might try. Above all things the girl should not smoke big black cigars or corn cob pipes. Also, she should refrain from wearing loud, heavy jewelry.

Incidentally, if any boy around school should happen to find such a girl, don't be foolish and tell anybody because it would probably incite a riot.

What Do You Know Concerning Schools In Our Metropolis?

Our local colleges, of which we are justly proud, will some day serve as gateways to a world of knowledge for many of our present Archer students. With this in mind, we present facts about one of these leading institutions of Fort Wayne. We hope this information will help the graduating students to choose their next school.

Located in downtown Fort Wayne is a school of commerce that is well-known, the International Business College.

International is recognized as one of the leading business schools in America. While the college, now in its fifty-second year, limits its student body strictly to high school graduates, it has an average enrollment of over 500 day students. The majority of these students come from within 150 miles of Fort Wayne.

Since International is a school specializing in business training, accounting, typing, and shorthand are subjects which are included in most of its courses.

But the program of this college is not totally confined to business. There are student clubs, school parties, dances, athletics, such as bowling, and recreational activities.

Students graduate from International with a confident feeling of preparedness to meet the obstacles lying ahead. The thorough training which a student receives at this college enables him to secure a worthwhile position in that particular channel of business which he chooses.

It Appears Mr. Paul Schnepel Has Led Very Interesting Life

Paul Schnepel had the consideration and forethought to be born on a quiet Sunday afternoon, July 4, 1909, at Belmont, Wisconsin. At the age of three he moved with his family to Yoder, Indiana, where he made his boyhood home.

He was a good lad, his mother said, but was filled with wanderlust at a very tender age. His early explorations led him to crawl quietly out of church under long rows of pews, while his father conducted class. His other wanderings took him to neighboring farms, the beautiful woods across from home, and to the nearby village of Ossian. On all of his adventures he was quite cautious and very seldom came home with more than one tear in his neatly patched, blue denim overalls.

Leads Outdoor Life
Paul's mother, being musical, thought piano lessons quite appropriate; but Paul thought it more fun to lead the cows and horses to pasture, gather eggs, listen to the birds, and try his manly skill at baseball and tree climbing.

His was a fine physique and nothing to be sneezed at, mind you. Even his older brother could not vie with him; and, of course, his younger brother and three sister didn't try.

Paul received his early education at St. Mark's Lutheran School and was graduated from Concordia Academy, Fort Wayne. Football and baseball took up much of his spare time, but the strict "adherence to rule" at this institution only tended to strengthen his desire for travel and adventure.

At the age of sixteen, Paul was quite a handsome specimen. He was 6 feet, 1 inch, weighed 170 pounds, had broad shoulders, blue eyes, and wavy hair demurely parted in the middle. He developed his muscles, his brawn, and his pocketbook by sawing logs, cutting corn, plowing, harvesting, and road construction.

By the time Paul was 18 his hair had taken a side part; the air of nonchalance had been added to the 6 feet, 1 inch, and the result was a college freshman. Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, was one grand school, and they had such cute coeds in those days. The best crop, however, came to Capital in 1930 when Paul was a senior. Pleasure mixed with a little study proved to be an ideal formula, and regular doses of this helped him to get the most out of his college education. With much perseverance and a great deal of inspiration, he even managed to get an advanced degree from Ohio State University.

The love of travel and adventure took Paul to the west coast and back via hitchhike during one summer. At another time he made a trip to Florida and returned, via the same thumb. His other experiences include a year and a half as a "benchwarming" pitcher with the Cleveland Indians and two to three months' summer work as night watchman and G-man at Westinghouse Factory, Mansfield, Ohio. During other spare moments he worked with construction gangs on buildings and highways.

Paul's teaching experience includes a year at Lafayette Central, Indiana, four years at Celina, Ohio, and up to the present, one year and three months at South Side. He has some very sound theories on physical education, safety, and personal and social hygiene, and has visions of some day realizing a few of his "pet hopes".

Is Proud Father
Paul is a congenial, devoted husband and a perfect father. He is quiet, sincere, good-natured and even-tempered. He is generous, kind, and understanding. He enjoys listening to good music and constructive conversations; he appreciates art, doesn't like to dance, does like sports. His favorite color is blue; his favorite pastime is playing with daughter Karolynn Sue; and of course his favorite school is—South Side.

Sally Moorhead, '40, Sells Dress Designs
Sally Moorhead, '40, sold two coat designs recently to Mr. Morris Carmel, designer, who visited Fort Wayne while on a tour. The designs were done in Art class last spring under Miss Erma Dichterman's supervision. Mr. Carmel urged Sally to go on in the profession. Sally is now a student at Indiana University Extension.

Students Discuss Poems
Ada Prange and Sarah Makey discussed Heine's "Die Lorelei" and famous poems by Goethe at the German Club meeting yesterday at 3:30 o'clock. A contest was held after which refreshments were served.

Show appreciation; buy from The Times' advertisers regularly.

May 7, 8 Are Dates For Annual Extemp

May 7 and 8 have been chosen as dates for the annual Extemp Contest, it was announced last week by Mrs. Dorothy Rieck, speech instructor. Three contests will be held on Wednesday and the finals on Thursday. Subjects will be drawn on Tuesday, May 6 at 3:30 o'clock in Room 190. They are "Should the United States feed Axis-occupied countries?" and "Should the United States convoy materials to Europe?"

Admission of 10 cents will be charged for those who wish to attend the contest. They will be excused from their classes that period. Participating in the contest will be Don Meyer, Bob Guion, Byron Singer, Bob Safer, Bill McNulty, Bob Allen, Clifford Springer, Bill Bone, Dick Bahlke, Jerry Mansbach, James Bumke, Bob Robinson, Max Atkinson, John Virts, Alene Looser, Lois Bloemker, Marjorie McNabb, Bob Young, and Kolman Gross.

The winner's name will be engraved on the McAllister Trophy, and will be the South Side representative in the city contest on May 26.

Camenean Club's Topic Is Hobbies

Ruth Cyr Is Chairman Of Program Tuesday; Miss Martha Pittenger Presents Reviews

Hobbies will be the subject discussed at the Camenean meeting Tuesday in Room 138. Ruth Cyr is chairman. Any member who has a hobby is to see Ruth in order to participate in the program.

The project and the initiation committees are to make reports at the next meeting. An election of officers will be held. The nominees were selected by the old officers and Alice Klenne and Miriam Roebel.

At the meeting held Tuesday, April 29, Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, gave several interesting book reviews. She read some of the main portions of "White Cliffs" and "Singing in the Wilderness". The summaries were in the following books: "Madame Curie", "The Good Shepherd", "How Green Is My Valley", "The Tree of Liberty", "North To The Orient", "Listen To The Wind" and "Goodly Fellowships". She also presented interesting facts about Mrs. Lindberg. Group singing was led by Evelyn Rimmel. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Torch Club Plans Camp Trip Today

Jack MacMillan Has Charge Of Arrangements; Every Member Is Requested To Be Present

Plans for a week-end camping trip will definitely be arranged today by Torch Club members in Room 174 at 3:30 o'clock. Jack MacMillan is in charge of the arrangements. Every member should be present at this meeting to sign for the trip. Mr. Ernest Walker, club adviser, announced. Definite facts, the date, and transportation will be given. The camping trip will be to the YMCA Camp Potawatomi.

Dale Schouweiler was received as a Torch Club member Thursday. For all prospective members, the Torch group meets Thursday in Room 174. Each week interesting programs are arranged or service work is discussed. Meetings are also held at the YMCA every month.

Social Sci Holds Test On May 16

Four Groups Will Participate In Quiz On General, U. S. History And Social Studies

Social Science students will take tests for department honors Friday, May 16, at 3:30 o'clock. Tests will be given to all four groups: occupations, general history, United States history, and senior social studies.

Tests with the exception of occupations will be standardized in addition to information tests. Civic attitude tests will also be given. The tests will be conducted by teachers of the social science department.

Awards will be given on Recognition Day and will be graded in value from freshman year to senior year. The senior winner will have his name engraved on a silver shield which has names of winners of previous years. A certificate of merit and an additional prize will be given. To date, fifty students have signed to take the test.

The mathematics department will hold its tests on May 22.

Recognition tests will be given in all four years work, first year algebra, second year geometry, third year advanced algebra and geometry, fourth year, trigonometry.

Certificates will be given to winners. The sophomore student having the highest average over freshman and sophomore work will have his name engraved on the Junior Math Trophy.

Who Is Responsible For Those Pictures In Southwest Case?

Originally, the showcase outside Room 186 was to display work done by the typing students and the ribbons awarded for certain speeds. Early last fall Mr. A. Verne Flint and his accomplice, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, put some pictures in the showcase, then gave the key to Mr. Murch, they said. Meanwhile when they wanted to put something else in the case, the key was no where to be found. Mr. Murch was consulted in the matter, but he said that he had never received the key.

The pictures were intended for a joke. They first show a little boy with a large fish; and, as the boy gets larger, the fish gets smaller.

You may still view these pictures, which have been locked for some time to come or at least until the key is found, in the showcase in the southwest corner of our building on the second floor.

Ticket Drive For Operetta Opens Today

Price To Be Fifty, Thirty-Five Cents; Sale Is Managed By Mr. Ora Davis

Operetta tickets priced at fifty cents for reserved seats and thirty-five cents for the unreserved section will go on sale today under the management of Mr. Ora Davis. Cast and chorus members will also have a supply of tickets for this musical production which, under the direction of Mr. Lester Hostettler, will be presented on the evening of May 16 on the large stage in the gymnasium.

"Chonita," an operetta based upon the music of Franz Liszt, is the Gypsy romance of Stefan and Chonita, played by Bob Jamieson and Emalyn Rimmel. When Chonita visits her rich relatives in Budapest, Konrad, her playboy cousin, portrayed by John Myers, provides the third party for the inevitable triangle of lovers. Others in the cast are Lois Craig, Daya, Chonita's old nurse; Charles Close, Murdo, Chonita's father; James Bunker and Wilma Lageman, Baron and Baroness Stanesque, the relatives; and John Oleott, Emil the butler.

Miss Blanche Hutto and the art department are working on the stage settings. The first and third acts are in the Gypsy encampment outdoors. In the second act, set in the rich Budapest home, will be an elaborately furnished ballroom scene.

Twelve couples will be the guests at the ball, given in Chonita's honor. A special number provided for the guests will be a military routine presented by the Dance Club under the direction of Marilyn Wolf.

Twelve girls from the chorus who will, in the first act, present a gay Gypsy dance are Etheldrea Behling, Eleanor Christ, Joan Cox, Betty Freeman, Peggy Greaney, Phyllis Hubbard, Ruth Kelso, Carolyn Plummer, Violet Reiter, Mae Ann Stark, Carol and Mary Whittier. Miss Alice Dean, Miss Gretchen Smith, Marilyn Wolf, and Eleanor Christ are supervising the dance routines.

Approximately 120 students will take part in the chorus. The orchestra, composed of about twenty members, will furnish the accompaniment to the operetta.

Six To Enter Extemp Finals Periods 1, 3

Winners Of Rounds Held Yesterday To Compete Today; Victor In City Meet

Six speakers will compete in the finals of the Extemp Contest today the second and third periods.

All those who wish to hear the finals will be excused from their classes. The admission is ten cents.

Subjects are "Should the United States Feed Axis-occupied Countries?"; "Should Congress Pass Laws Curbing Strikes in Defense Industries?"; and "Should the United States Convey Materials to Europe?"

Judges for the preliminaries, held yesterday, the first, third and fourth periods, were Mr. Jake McClure and Mr. Maurice Cook.

The first period, John Virts and Alene Loeser spoke on the food question; Clifford Springer and Bob Robinson spoke on the convey question; and Kolman Gross and Max Atkins, on strikes. Elaine Hirsch was chairman, and Ed Wade and Wayne Brown were timekeepers.

The third period Byron Singer and Bill McNulty spoke on strikes. Lois Bloemker and Bob Safer talked on convey; and Dick Baihle and Bill Bone spoke about food to the Axis-occupied countries. The chairman was Karl Eberly; Fred, Bill and Franklin Thompson were timekeepers.

During the fourth period, James Bumke and Bob Allen talked about a convey system. Bob Young and Bob Guion spoke on strikes; and Don Meyer talked on the convey question.

The winner's name will be put on the McAlister Trophy; and the winner will represent South Side in the city contest, May 26.

Teacher Obtains Position
Miss Mary Pocock, English teacher, was elected secretary-treasurer of the High School Women Teachers' Association at a dinner meeting at the Woman's Club.

Sophomores Are To Romp, Dance At Gay Carnival

Direct Party Plans

Miss Lucy Osborne

Mr. A. Verne Flint

Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. A. Verne Flint, sophomore class advisers, are directing plans for the annual Sophomore Party to be held tomorrow night.

C.M.C. Club Has Outside Speakers

Third Period Pupils Of Misses Susan Peck, Dorothy Magley Hear Principal, Instructors

C.M.C. Club, the Civic Minded Citizens, is a club composed of Miss Susan Peck's and Miss Dorothy Magley's third period English classes. It meets the third period once every two weeks to discuss the place of the citizen in the community at one meeting.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, talked to the club on the place of the school in the community. Mr. Ora Davis spoke at another meeting on the place of religion in the community.

Mrs. Harry Hogan gave a talk on the responsibility of children as to their duties in the home. At the meeting this week Mr. Burl Friddle and Miss Gertrude Smith talked on personal appearance.

So-Si-Y Members Welcome Mothers

Girl Reserves Hold Tea Tuesday In Greeley Room; Gertrude Merkel Opens Entertainment

Girl Reserves of So-Si-Y entertained their mothers at a Mother-Daughter Tea, Tuesday afternoon in the Greeley Room. Gertrude Merkel, club president, welcomed the mothers to the tea.

The program was divided into three divisions. Mrs. John Kalkins led a panel discussion of six girls on information concerning Girl Reserve Clubs of the world. This introduced the club and its activities to the mothers. Members of the discussion group were Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Bender, Bernadine Pressler, Evelyn Hegarfield, Peggy Berning, and Betty Thiele. Preceding the panel discussion each member said, the "Girl Reserve Code" and sang "The Girl Reserve Quest."

The second division consisted of three talks on "I Am An American Girl". Talks given were by Ilo Hirschman, Romayne Rediger and Annabelle Harrod. "America the Beautiful" was sung after the speeches.

Maxine Goers, Margaret Agler, Helen Forst, and Betty Horstmeyer each gave tribute to the mothers represented. Tribute to mother's patience was given by Maxine Goers. Margaret Agler gave a tribute to mother's understanding. A tribute to mother's kindness was done by Helen Forst. Marjorie Gerding completed the tribute by giving one to mother's love. These tributes were in the form of corsages which were given to the mothers.

Two Class Members Will Be Chosen As King, Queen To Rule Over Subjects

8:30 Is Time Set For Mardi Gras

There Will Be Fish Ponds, Games, Stunts, Fortune Telling To Amuse Group

Each year New Orleans holds their Mardi Gras, which is an affair of gaiety and great celebrating. This year the Sophomore party is patterned after this affair and is an event of tomorrow evening.

In New Orleans, the night before Mardi Gras day, a parade of brilliantly lighted floats, followed by a magnificent ball and tableaux is held.

On Mardi Gras day early in the morning, the maskers begin to appear from all parts of the city. Dressed in garish costume they congregate for many impromptu frolics. There are myriads of gray, green, blue, and red devils, monkeys, ghosts and ghastly skeletons. Colonial gentlemen pace the streets with masked ladies who appear to be from the chorus of some light opera. Silent horsemen, night riders, cowboys, and jockeys ride slowly through the streets. Clowns and harlequins make merry, and demure ballet girls and Spanish dancers reply tartly to impudent advances.

The streets are thronged with visitors and tourists and the day is one of gaiety always long to be remembered. Undoubtedly this feature of Mardi Gras is the most unusual entertainment on the continent. The crowds are unusually gay and orderly. Good humor abounds, and since Rex holds the keys to the city, the streets belong to the maskers and the visitors.

At high noon the streets are cleared and the King rides through the crowds in his Royal Chariot, followed by a long line of beautiful floats. After the Royal Floats disappear, the maskers and crowd again take possession of the streets, where the reveling continues until the setting of the sun. Rex's Ball is held in the evening.

South Side's Sophomore party is patterned after this that is held in New Orleans. The grand parade starts at 8:30 o'clock. It will be led by the King and Queen who will be accompanied by gentlemen in tall hats, ladies, clowns, and masked onlookers. The crowning of the King and Queen will then take place, which will be followed by a street show consisting of dancing and singing.

There will be games, stunts, fortune telling, and a fish pond for those who do not wish to dance. There will then be dancing for all.

This is the one class party where every one comes for fun and gaiety. Come and make merry with the rest of us. Remember that this is an affair where you can either dance or if you dislike dancing, you can play the various games which will be held. Whoever you do there will be plenty of entertainment for all and lots of food which will be of the Carnival type.

There will be gay colored streamers, balloons, and silhouetted figures of the various clowns and performers.

BOBBY GORDON'S EIGHT-PIECE ORCHESTRA WILL FURNISH THE MUSIC FOR THE DANCING AND STUNTS. COME AND HAVE FUN AT THE SOPHOMORE CARNIVAL.

Joan Wagner Is French Club Head

Eleanor Christ, Janice Sprunger, Nancy McKay Are Other Officers Chosen In Group

New officers for 1941-42 were elected at the last meeting of French Club held last Thursday. They are as follows: Joan Wagner, president; Eleanor Christ, vice-president; Janice Sprunger, Inter-Club Congress representative; Nancy McKay, point recorder.

Pins were awarded to the members accumulating the highest number of points this year. Clifford Springer, Katherine Kuntz, Mary Bowlby, Marjorie McMahon, Eleanor Christ, Lavorne Mitchellfelder, and Jeanne Cyr were so honored.

Track Coach Heads Session Tomorrow

Mr. George Collyer, Archer track coach, will be in charge of a pep session which will be held tomorrow. Mr. Collyer will also talk on the rules of track. The band will furnish the music and the cheerleaders will lead the yells.

Recall That Rooster Ruffians Are Those Bred In The Barns!

Once upon a time, so runs the barnyard fable, there was a rooster in a chicken house who thought that he was big enough, strong enough, and tough enough to run the whole colony of chickens. He acquired a superiority complex, tried to boss around all the other hens and roosters, and thought that he could monopolize things in general. Speaking in modern terms, he wanted to be the cock of the roost. Then one day an enterprising young rooster took the wind out of the old bird's sails. The old boy found out that he just wasn't as tough as he thought he was.

The ancient Aesop knew both his chickens AND a bit of human philosophy. He understood that birds are not at all unlike human beings. He also knew that in every gathering of people, as in every chicken coop, there are some who have a desire to run the show and disregard the rights of others. The years have rolled by, but people haven't changed; there are just as many cocks of the roost in a modern high school as there were in ancient Greece. Just as the younger roosters resented the old rooster of the barn yard story, so now do people resent someone who attempts to secure more than is justly due him. Everyone has witnessed the inevitable fall of the cocks of the roost, and there is nothing quite so ridiculous as the sight of a crest-fallen "rooster" who thought he was someone that experience taught him that he wasn't. One who tries to be the big boss always ends up with less prestige and less respect than that with which he started.

Whenever you have a temptation to be the cock of the roost, remember old Aesop's tale. You don't want people to laugh at you for making a big fool of yourself, do you? Experience is the most severe teacher, but one might as well take advantage of the sad experiences of others.

A Campaign Is A Weak One If Observed Only One Week

Just as we like to see people who are always neat and clean, so do we like to go to a school whose interior is always neat and clean. Two weeks ago a city-wide clean-up week was held; last week was a beautification week here at South Side. Every home room did something to make our school a cleaner and more beautiful place in which to attend classes. It is now up to the individual students at school to keep up the good work that has been done. True, we do have a janitorial force, and a very good one; but our school is far too large for them to take care of without the complete cooperation of the student body. Last week we proved that we can make this institution of ours a clean and beautiful building; now let's prove that we can, with a little effort, KEEP it a clean and beautiful building.

Everyone can help in his own little way. For instance, the girls should resolve not to wipe their excess lipstick on the walls. Having bright red streaks smeared all over the walls doesn't help the appearance of the building. Boys can help by not scribbling on posters and by not throwing little bits of torn paper all over the halls. Everybody can help by not eating lunches all over the building (and leaving half of the food lying on the floors.) It isn't a big thing to ask of anyone; it only takes a thought to refrain from defacing something. Let's all give our school a perpetual thought when it comes to the matter of CONSIDERATION!

Before you run down The Times again for a bad issue, recall the fact that The Times was recently awarded the All-American Pacemaker Rating, the highest possible award, by the National Scholastic Press Association. There were only fourteen Pacemaker honors awarded in the entire contest.

Incidentally, while being careful to stay off the yards of the property owners school, how about remembering our own school lawn?

So you say that you are a track fan! Can you name the date of South Side's last track meet, the opponent, the victor, and the approximate score?

One can always distinguish a freshman from a senior by the way he walks to his seat in the study hall upon arriving late.

Question of the day: Study or tennis?

It's ■ date—tomorrow night, the Sophomore Party.

South Sea Sonnets

By Alene Looser

Dreaming

One day while I was dreaming in the good old study hall, Into a very deep slumber I happened to fall. It seems very strange, but it's actually true; (You see, I was going to Hawaii and crossing 'the Pacific blue.)

The boat was called Paradise, and Polynesians were the crew.

The captain was Mrs. Scott—that's what I'm telling you! And, if we talked above a roar, a little slip we got. Saying we'd be docked for eights unless we did shut up.

To escape her eyes and ears so sharp, I thought I'd write a note, 'Cause, if I couldn't have free press, I certainly would revolt.

I addressed the little note to the girl in seat sixteen; Praying I would not be caught, I sent it to my dream.

The ocean splashed, the boats did rock, and—alas—I had been seen;

And in Mrs. Scott's eyes I was utterly green! I blamed the color on the sea and on another alibi, But the real reason was that my dream got a note from another guy!

Suddenly I awoke with a terrific headache, But the ringing of the bell was really a break. I was getting into trouble which seemed so very bad. That to be in South Side High School, I definitely am glad.

Polynesian Paradise

To you who didn't go to the prom, I'll let you appreciate. Things of interest about the various dates. Short boys with tall girls and all other were there, All adding to the success of this junior affair.

But now to get down to the couples about which you want to know:

Had you heard about Herb Kramer and his girl friend named "Glo"?

Conspicuous as a cute couple revolving round about Were Roger McVay and Marge McNabb, having fun without a doubt.

Dotty Gildea was there with Don Duiser so true, And Phil Hammond was idolizing Marge Wighel, dressed in icy blue.

Joan Cox was Billed by Siebold for that whole night, And, in thinking Sanford and Winters were there, you are actually right!

Howard Blood could be seen in the Hall with Rosa Lee; And, to be sure, Joe Loos was there with Dee.

Pat Townes were blue for Centralite Ray Stump, And Marge Dyer and Don Meyer did not look down in the dumps.

WINning things to wear SHOWing of spring styles PLACE yourself in vogue

Girls, we take you now to witness a spectacle of spectacles, the Fashion Derby. This greatest of events comes annually in the spring. You, the high school girls, now approach the ticket window where you stand in line with many other fans of the sport, including collegiates, debs, sophisticates, matrons, and yes—even tots. You are about to place your bets on your favorites' and we're going to give you a few tips....

In the first race skirts are competing. Coming into the lead is the "dark horse", the broomstick skirt. Don't overlook the possibilities of the promising pastel plaids. The veteran full, gathered skirts of last year will give you a run for your money!

In the second race are the blouses. Another dark horse is taking the lead here, the frilly white batistes with elaborate square necklines. But it looks like a photo-finish with those delightfully delicate pastel sweaters. Heavenly sky-blue and pink that's almost white are THE colors. It's nose to nose!

The next event is among shoes. The new play shoes are kings of the turf at the present writing. Some are white; some, light brown. Golf shoes are still in the running, and casuals (especially yellow ones) are up in front. Saddles are not disqualified.

In the next event we have materials. Seersucker is a good bet, and pique is a favorite. Thin cool batistes are also in the race. Jerseys are promising. Anything in stripes is a good bet!

In the final event are the coats. The odds on rain-coats (especially the light blue ones) are two to one. They're winners in anyone's language and their styles are all perfect. Capes are coming up to the front for dress wear.

There you have our 1941 spring fashion tips. Now use your best judgment and go ahead and pick 'em. They're sure winners!

To Fold In The Agents' Fold You Must Fold, Not Fold Up

By Pat Sanford

Wednesday! Guess what? Folding. Wednesday evening after school marks the weekly anniversary of the folding of The Times. Agents, assistants, and nearly anyone who can be caught is rushed into the honorary fraternity, S.W.F.C. (Suckers Who Fold Club). Perhaps you'd be interested in a play-by-play account of the work of the S.W.F.C.

The 3:20 o'clock bell just rang. The first thing in the life of a folder (in this case, an assistant) is to dart out of the room into the halls and make a mad rush for the Times room in order to catch any victim who might be trying to escape before the assistants arrive. Upon entering the Times room, his first real difficult task is to capture a healthy, hearty individual. By standing just inside the door one is able to pounce upon the different specimens who waver in. (I might suggest that it's always wise to have a good long rope ready just in case the victim is a little obstinate.)

Let us now imagine that a sufficient number of lunatics have been caught. (We'll have to imagine because it happens once in a lifetime.) The next problem is to get rid of the ice cream cones, the cheese crackers, Dave Rea, "Daddy" Miller, McIntosh, and a few other Times Room loafers. After all such impediments have been removed, the preliminaries of the folding bout are begun.

Bell For First Round

The bell for the first round rings and the referee introduces the first page of an eight page paper to the anxious commentators and reporters. The fight is now on.

"Why Pat, such language! What's the matter? . . . Oh, I see—well just because the printing ink came off on your new white sweater is no excuse for you to use such language. After

No—it couldn't be. The papers aren't actually folded! (faint). Well, there's one folder gone; carry him away. Now to get home to my cold dinner, and my father and mother."

Ignorance and Blitz

We interrupt this evening's edition of "Gang Busers" to bring through a special broadcast direct from Archuria. Take it away.

"Good evening. The Sign of the Bow and Arrow is holding its own against the opposing forces of Smellonia. In the Southern Country a crisis has occurred near the Sites of Mary Jo. Unofficial sources have it, however, that York will soon fall.

The situation looks much better in the territory around Wayne Bechtel and Martha Jane Krauskopf. (Even incendiary bombs won't disturb them) . . . A new stand is developing in the Central Catholic section involving Bob Heiny and Archerette Betty Stump. This enterprise should see some interesting developments within the next ninety-nine hours.

An agreement has been reached, for John has finally announced his "steady" plans with LaVerne Greiner. She put up a gallant fight; but, as observers believed from the first, conquest was inevitable. . . . From the library territory comes the hint that Sweeney has finally capitulated. The communique became blurred toward the end, but we'll relay complete details as soon as they come in. . . .

"L'amour, l'amour," is the password Bob Soest has been heard to murmur constantly. Could the brunette from Central be the incentive? Unless your news analyst's forty years of experience fail, a "steady" setup will be already in operation by the time this goes to press.

Rumors continually pour in from the front teaming Evelyn Erickson with—well, it's a different male every time. Ah, well, variety is the life of spice, as our own beloved leader, Herr Schnanders, believes so sincerely. . . . Howard Stults seems to have a system for getting himself into the enemy camp. For his information, Jean Weil has no desire to be buddies with anyone but "Mac," and Marney Dyer takes her orders from Don Meyer.

We would like to retract a statement made in this column two weeks ago. It seems as if Dave Rea doesn't find Pat Sanford a second rank sergeant serving in place of Connie Clarke.

Archuria—now signing off. . . We'll bring you further developments as they happen. In the meantime, "tanks" for the little items in ye welte knowne dirte box!"

Don't Be Foo'd! Meat Your Friends Here!

Above is pictured South Side's cafeteria as it appears after the noon luncheon. Have departed for their afternoon classes.

It may be empty now, but just come around about 12:30 o'clock this noon. The place would simply be buzzing with activity! Yes sir, the South Side cafeteria is one of the busiest spots in town during the noon hour. During an average day, no less than three or four hundred students eat at the cafeteria. But on days when the weather is bad, the attendance runs up as high as six or seven hundred. Fifteen hundred pieces of China and three hundred pieces of glassware are needed to serve this crowd.

Miss Mellen Heads Staff

The head of the staff is Miss Lucy Mellen, who also teaches home economics. Besides teaching her classes, she must plan the meals and buy the daily fresh food and an annual supply of canned food. Miss Mellen is also responsible for sending in reports on expenditures and receipts to Mr. Abbott, who in turn passes them on the school board. She works in cooperation with Mr. Snider in granting the immediate use of the cafeteria to school organizations for their potlucks, banquets, and other affairs.

Three practical cooks comprise the rest of the adult staff. The veteran member of the trio, Mrs. Nettie Mercer, has been in South Side for eighteen years. The others are Miss Hannah Bittner and Mrs. Vida Clark, who is the mother of Mr. Russell Clark, our school engineer. There are twenty school students who work in the cafeteria during the lunch hour.

Our cafeteria is unique in that it offers a complete line of foods, where as the cafeterias of many schools offer only one hot dish, a choice of two salads, and a dessert. One can get as complete a meal at our South Side cafeteria as in any commercial restaurant.

Has Large Turnover

No doubt many a student as he passes over his nickel for a hamburger, wonders just where his money goes. The turnover in expenditures and receipts per annum runs around ten thousand dollars. Nickels for hamburgers and other items must take care of food costs, labor and linen expenses, and the outlays for repair and replacement of equipment. Miss Mellen always sends in one big order for canned goods in the spring, which arrives and is paid for in September. Monthly expenses run around $700.

Pieces of equipment are the most costly items which the cafeteria must buy. The electrical units include a Furnas ice cream refrigerator valued at between $800 and $900, a $400 dollar cafeteria refrigerator, a General Electric refrigerating unit worth $200, and a $500 dishwashing unit. The gas stoves taken together are valued at between $1200 and $1500. At the present time Miss Mellen is contemplating the purchase of a new oven at about $400.

If You Are Taking The Hard Knocks, Journey To Knox

Knox College occupies an attractive area in the heart of the city of Galesburg, Illinois. This institution includes about twelve buildings in all and is especially concerned with the efficient instruction of its 600 students. Although it is coeducational, the usual ratio is sixty per cent men to forty per cent women. This is strictly a liberal arts school, in which training for nearly all professions and trades is provided. Among the twelve large buildings mentioned are the music building, the gymnasium, the indoor track building, the observatory, Beecher Chapel, and Seymour Library. The Knox theater occupies the central portion of Alumni Hall. This large theater offers special opportunities for those interested in dramatics.

Students who have ranked in the upper tenth of their class in scholarship in any year are designated as honor scholars. Besides freedom from certain restrictions on extracurricular and social activities, such honor scholars have the privilege of signing for more than eighteen hours and enrolling in courses designed for the class a year ahead of them.

This school also offers its students opportunities for membership in a variety of societies and organizations. In addition to many departmental organizations, Knox has a Debate and Forum Club, a dramatic group, various honorary societies, and The Knox Student, a weekly newspaper.

Central First Came, South Side Second; North Side Is New

"We have three high schools here in Fort Wayne."

"Are they alike?"

"Oh, no! One's red, one's orange, and the other's gray."

"Don't be silly—I mean the educational systems."

"Oh, heavens, I don't know. I suppose so."

If you should have to give an account of your town's public high schools to a stranger, would you give an answer similar to the one above? We certainly hope not! But just in case such a calamity should occur, we are going to educate you as to the fundamental differences of our three public secondary schools, South Side, North Side, and Central.

Construction Differs

Perhaps you are interested in knowing something about the buildings and the grounds in addition to their colors. North Side and Central each have an auditorium, an advantage lacking in South Side. North Side and Central each have one major gymnasium and a small one which is more for recreational room. North Side also boasts of a swimming pool. North Side and South Side each have an athletic field, but Central is without one. Each of the three schools has about seventy rooms. The total areas covered (excluding the athletic fields) are: North Side, 381,000 square feet; Central, 20,500 square feet; and South Side, 390,440 square feet.

The courses taught at the three schools are largely the same with the exception of the vocational and industrial systems which Central offers. North Side and South Side afford two years of industrial work; Central offers five years (including post-graduate apprentice work).

Central Has Most Pupils

According to faculty population Central leads the other two schools with seventy-five teachers. South Side is running a close second with seventy. North Side is lagging in third place with forty-five pedagogues. Central also has the largest number of students. Approximately 2,200 boys and girls obtain their education within its walls; about 2,000 students daily roam the halls of South Side. The knowledge seekers at North Side number approximately 1,750.

In guidance, music, speech, and publications activities the three schools are almost alike. No fundamental differences exist in the individual departments.

South Side was dedicated in 1922 and was rebuilt to the condition in which you now see it in 1938. North Side was in its infancy in 1927, whereas Central, the veteran of the three schools, was presented to our town in 1904. It, too, was regenerated in 1938.

If You Have A Line, Your Number's Up!

There are three lines—clothes lines, party lines, and the kind of lines that we students hand a teacher when we arrive at that fatal moment without our day's assignment. Following are the favorite but the not-always-successful tricks employed by members of our student body:

Dale Koonce: I just tell the teachers I forgot them.

Anna Marie Roth: It is too much trouble to give excuses.

Marcella Bazzinet: I tell them anything I can think of.

Carol Overman: I always have my assignments.

Ken Lauer: I don't say anything.

Dick Sellers: I always make an attempt to get my lessons.

Doris Lontz: I say that I do not know the answers.

Adeline Corts: I get a coughing spell.

Paul Benedict: I usually say that I have lost my paper.

Mary Alice Kerns: I sit and blush.

Don Weberus: I always have my lessons.

John Blair: I sit and feel like a fool.

Earl Cheever: That is a trade secret.

Richard Johnson: I sit there and look dumb.

Charles Harrison: I just talk slow and don't say much.

Ivy Days Are Just A Poison Ivy Daze To Grouching Grad

By Elinor

"Oh, hello, Maisie. I was just going to call you. Yeah, I've heard the news, and am I mad! Yeah, some wisp of a glamour dame gets to be Ivy Queen. I'm going to get Clarence to go down and tell them smart-alec guys where to get off. Clarence says I'm the only one who would possibly fill the qualifications and the—uh—gown. What has that beanpole glamour girl got that I haven't? I'm every bit as exotic as she is! She goes with a glamour boy? Well, Clarence may not be a glamour boy, but he's coitantly good enough for me."

"What do I care, though? I didn't particularly want to be Ivy Queen. Actually, dogged up in all that garb and then traipsing up and down the streets with it! It coitantly doesn't strike me as being much fun. Clarence says that one queen had to miss going to a prom because the ivy turned out to be poison ivy. Imagine! And what if I'd be queen and one of my attendants would trip all over my train and tear it to shreds. Last year when I saw it, I flunked that darned geometry; that's how's come I'm seeing it again."

If Every Night Thou Cram, Maise A Glance At This Grand Slam

By Rundell Bone Jr.

There I sat, staring at a blank wall. The perspiration was rolling off my face in huge drops. One single light was beating down on me while the rest of the room was in darkness. I seemed to hear voices popping questions at me. I tried to think, but only other thoughts, strange imaginings dashed through my mind.

Oh, if I could only get out of it! Why did I ever take it? I really didn't mean to; it was forced on me. I had no choice. I got up and staggered over to the door, but it was no use. I knew there was no hope for me unless I relaxed and took it calmly.

The minutes ticked by like seconds, and cold chills shot up and down my back. Something within me kept saying, "You're a goner! You're a goner! You're a goner!" Then past memories shot through my mind. I felt like yelling out for help, but I knew it would be of no use.

Suddenly the door opened. I turned quickly to see who it was. A figure stood in the doorway, staring—at me!

"Is—Is my time up?" I stammered.

"Yes," was the reply, "it's 11:30 o'clock."

"All right, I'll go."

"I know you didn't want to take this subject, son; but you'll never regret that you took it. It's time you go to bed now. Even if you don't get a good grade on the test tomorrow, I'll know you did your best," said my father as he turned out the light and left the room.

The quartet composed of Ruth Dauner, Lois Craig, Gloria Staley, and Helen Savage will sing several selections. Lois Gumpfer, Hilda Schubert, and Faye Gumpfer, who compose the trio, will play several pieces.

Do You Know Much About Fort Wayne's City Hall? Learn!

Perhaps you have never been arrested for a major or minor traffic offense; and, if you haven't, you have probably not had an occasion to visit our City Hall.

As almost everyone knows, the City Hall is located on the southeast corner of Barr and Berry Street. This important building houses in its basement a garage, which stores the patrol cars of the police, the police station, and a cell block. The cell block contains eight or ten cells where prisoners are kept until their trial or until they are transferred to the County Jail. These are especially necessary in case a person is arrested during the day or night after the city court has adjourned; they must await trial until the court reopens. From the police station calls are constantly being sent out and are coming in pertaining to arrests and accidents.

After going through the basement, let us now climb to the first floor. On this floor is the all-important traffic bureau. Traffic violators are questioned here and must pay fines for overparking or other minor offenses.

Hard-working Lieut. Custer Dunifon is in this office. The Board of Safety, which has supervision over the police and fire department, is on the first floor.

Also on the first floor is the office of the City Comptroller, who has charge of all bonds and financial accounting.

The second floor is largely devoted to one room in which the city court is held under the jurisdiction of Judge Schannen. At night this room is used by the City Council, which makes the city laws. This council is comprised of nine councilmen, representing each of the wards in the city and four councilmen-at-large.

On this floor, Mayor Harry W. Baals has his office. The City Engineer and the Park Commissioner both have their offices on the second floor.

The office of the Board of Health is on the second floor, along with the health laboratory. The laboratory is for the testing of milk and other foods from each of Fort Wayne's dairies, and to test items brought in by the inspectors which are thought to be impure. The people working in this department inspect all cafes, grocery stores, etc., where foods are sold.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Patricia Drummond, a student in Mrs. Welty's Latin 2 class, brought in a doll dressed like a Roman senator.

Catherine Kissell had charge of the safety program Friday in Home Room 30.

On a dictation test given by Miss Perkins to her French 1, period 3 class, Bob Welty made a perfect paper; Ann Haller, and Katherine Kayser scored A+; Clarence Bruner, Patricia Underhill, and Mary Louise Wilson made A grades; and Alida Eidner and Martha Wake made grades of A-.

Dallas Zuber and Gene Auer tied for the highest grade on a literature test given by Miss Peck to her English 8, period 3 class.

Mr. Gould's advanced botany classes will start a study of ferns in the laboratory after discussion in the classes.

The following students of Mr. Parks' four Junior Business Training classes made outstanding grades on a recent test: Paula Hartman, Patricia Newlin, Margaret Stalp, Wanda Hoyer, Mildred Linton, Beverly Wiedelman, Helen Geroff, Sam Gross, Beryl Lahmeyer, Joyce Lochner, Willodean Norris, Franklin Ross, Kenneth Gordon, Robert Kiermaier, and Clara Korte.

Mr. Peirce's sociology class is beginning the study of problems of the race of tomorrow.

Almost all sewing students of Miss Rehorth have started work on a second garment.

Mr. Null's 9A English classes have just finished a rather long theme on some interesting things about South Side.

On a test given by Mr. Peirce over early Roman History, the highest grades were made by Harold Beeching, James R. Davis, Mary Morgan, Arvilla Rediger, Evangeline Witmer, Eugene Gettel, Albert Leakey, Jack Stark, and Mary Whitner.

The students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 2 class have finished reading "Aucassin et Nicolette."

Elinor Pell, Pat Racht, and Marion Garrison made A+ in Miss Pocock's English 4, period 6 class over a test on the agreement of verbs with subjects.

In Miss Oppelt's Cicero class, the following students made 90 or above on all the ablatives constructions: Ruthanna Doll, Mary Dunbar, Ellen Motz, John Olcott, John Virts, and Bob Zimmer.

Miss Bean's 9A food classes are serving luncheons this week and next week.

Mr. McClure's United States History 2 class is studying the American foreign question on Isolationism vs. Interventionism.

Paul Keil, Ruth Dauner, Bob Wylie, Clifford Matson, and Betty Koehler made A grades on a recent economics test given by Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Null's special English classes have been studying types of literature. They have completed a study of ballads. In the future these students will study all the epics of great nations and English translations of Greek dramas.

Mary Jane Wallis and Phyllis Westerman have charge of the Bible readings for Home Room 60.

In a recent quiz given to Mr. Murray's period 7, Business Problems class, Lois McLellan, Phyllis Mueller, and Mary Murchland made A.

Staff Entertained At Times' Potluck

Miss Rowena Harvey Presides; Alene Loeser, Pat Sanford, Bill Bone Give Recitations

Martha Jane Krauskopf and Wayne Bechtol were awarded a loving cup in the form of a paper drinking cup by Marjorie Sheldon at The Times' potluck, held Wednesday, April 30, at 6 o'clock in the cafeteria.

Miss Rowena Harvey, staff adviser, announced the new staff for next semester. Mary Lybrook, retiring general manager, expressed her gratitude for the cooperation the staff rendered her.

Alene Loeser gave the prophecy. Pat Sanford presented "The Complaint of The Times' Folder". "The Raft", a humorous declamation, was delivered by Bill Bone. Becky Abbott, present general manager, served as mistress of ceremonies.

Guests who were present from The Northern staff are Fahma North, Art Aiken, Bob Richards, Margaret Adams, Virginia Vandenberg, Jim Benninghoff, and Frances McGahey.

Mary Lybrook served as general chairman of the affair. Louis Hallenstein headed the clean-up committee, which included Virginia Gray, Jane Klinefelter, Ruth Hageman, Bud Gardner, Bill Bone, and Mary Lybrook.

Joe Salom, chairman, Tom Yates, and Frankie Neff had charge of arrangements.

Laura Grazier, chairman, Faye and Lois Gumpfer, Kenneth Breimeier, Bob Young, and Karl Eberly served on the food committee.

Masie LaRue Has Ghastly Experiences At Junior Prom

"I had the most wonderful time of my life at the Junior Prom. Gee! I wish the evening hadn't gone so quickly." These are some of the sounds coming from the freshmen and sophomore girls who had the luck to be invited to the prom. One, in particular, is just too thrilled for words, and that is Masie LaRue. Here is the account of Masie's adventures at the prom.

"We had just got to the prom and then Bob couldn't find the ticket. After searching for about ten minutes, which seemed like hours to me, he came to the bright conclusion that he had left it at home. So we climbed into the car again and went to his house. Here we were about ten minutes in which Bob literally tore things up to get his ticket. Finally we were off to the dance. When we arrived it was about 9 o'clock.

"Tripping into the dance, Bob decided right off that he wanted to dance. The band was playing a waltz, so we decided to jitterbug. While every one else was drifting dreamily around in clouds, Bob and I were 'jiving'. After circling the dance floor, I thought I would just as soon drop dead. The chaperones were talking, the students were laughing, above all, the orchestra had stopped and there we were doing an exhibition dance in the middle of the dance floor. Was my face red?

"After hurriedly leaving the dance floor, I told Bob I was thirsty, so into the lounge we trekked. I ordered a coke, but imagine my surprise when Bob asked for a short. You know what I mean. I was again made the subject of humiliation. Drinking our cokes, or I should say gobbling them, we again trekked out onto the dance floor.

"This time there really was a jive piece being played so we swung into the midst of things. Imagine my disgust when I slipped and fell on my face. Again we were the center of attraction. I had the misfortune to have a white formal on, and when I fell down, you can just imagine what my formal looked like. Three guesses. I wonder now why we just didn't ask to be a floor show for the prom. I truthfully didn't believe anything more could happen to me but it did.

"Again dancing around I had my eyes closed because the music was so soft and wonderful and wasn't paying any attention to what was happening when Bob stepped on my formal and tore it. Well, that was that. So making a hurried exit I decided it was time for us to go home."

This "Club Column" Is Last One, But These Clubs Are Not Least

Greetings, students! Here we go for the final edition of the Clubs Column. In the past several months we have covered all the clubs and organizations that are connected with South Side. This column has been written to give you who are interested in outside activities in South Side a chance to look over some of the school organizations; and so on with the remaining school clubs.

Bang, boom, bam!!! No, pupils, it isn't an invasion, or cops shooting robbers, or anything as blood-thirsty as you imagine coming from the basement of our alma mater; it is only the Rifle Club gents ventilating cardboard targets. Our school has one of the most outstanding rifle clubs in Fort Wayne; and although they all aren't dead shots, they are approaching that goal very rapidly. The club members display their knowledge of "triggerometry" every Monday night after school in the basement of South Side where the range is located.

The team is divided between the girls, who, under the leadership of adviser Rosemary Delancey, compete among themselves, and the boys led by Mr. Maurice Cook, shoot against each other and, as a team, represent South Side against other schools. A letter "S" bearing small crossed rifles is awarded to those earning 180 points. Anyone is eligible for membership.

A very worthwhile club goes by the name of the Service Club. Probably no other organization in South Side does as much for the school as does this group. As the name implies, Service Club is open to those who render service to the school by working in offices, assisting teachers, helping in the study hall, aiding the athletic and music departments, and collecting attendance records.

Recently organized, the club is purely social, a get-together for play of those who at other times work together. All in all, this club's purpose is to afford entertainment for those people who help about the school.

Last but definitely not least, is the Inter-Club Congress. This organization is composed of representatives of all clubs in South Side. The Congress discusses the needs of the school, and sponsors various constructive campaigns. The faculty advisers are Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. C. A. Bex, and Mr. A. V. Flint.

Collection and distribution of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, decoration of the Voorhees and Greeley Rooms for Christmas, care of the school lawn in the fall and spring, and Courtesy Day are among the many projects sponsored by Inter-Club Congress.

Here Is What One Kelly Thinks About Any Formal Dance

By One of the Girls
At 7 o'clock one spring evening, I gaily tripped up the stairs singing a little ditty to myself. (All right, so no one would listen to me.) I was going to the Junior Prom, my first formal dance.

While I was getting ready, I was so excited that I nearly fell and broke my neck when I slipped on the soap in the bath tub. (Tain't funny!) After this escapade, I flopped down on the bed to rest a minute. This minute—lengthening into half an hour—gave me exactly fifteen minutes to finish dressing. By this time my little ditty had turned into the "Volga Boatman."

Upon donning my new white formal, I began wondering as to what had happened to my corsage. After all my date did ask me what color my formal was, and I didn't think he just wanted to know. Getting quite desperate, I was all for the idea of picking a few dandelions when the bell rang.

Ripping part of my hem in trying to get to the door, I found a little boy selling raffle tickets. It was all I could do to refrain from using my lead pipe and beating the innocent babe. Hastily putting this idea aside, I repaired my dress and sat down to wait.

My date was due at 8:30, and it was already nine o'clock. Finally at 9:30 he arrived with his corsage, out of breath and covered with dirt mumbled something about a flat tire.

After he went home to change, we picked up another couple and got to the dance two hours late.

After all this trouble, I decided that going to formal dances just wasn't what it was cracked up to be. Can you blame me?

Tennis, Golf Teams To Start Action In Next Few Days

Divoteers Plan Central Match To Be Tonight

Racquet Welders Schedule Two Meets, But Will Card More; First To Be May 26

South Side's varsity golf and tennis teams are slated to swing into action within the next few days. Coach Burl Friddle of the golf team and Mr. Stanley Post, tennis mentor, have been contacting many schools in this territory for matches. While only four golf matches and two tennis battles are definitely carded, Mr. Davis and the coaches have hopes of lining up about ten matches for each team.

Coach Friddle's swingers will open their divot digging at the Brookwood course tonight, meeting the Central High School quartet.

On Friday afternoon the golf team will engage the Central Catholic team at the Municipal links.

Next Wednesday the Archers entertain the Irish at the Brookwood layout, while Central will entertain the Green hitters at the Municipal on Friday. It is probable that the Elmhurst team will also be included in next week's card. The Elmhurst quartet boasts the city amateur champion, Freddie Link, as its outstanding golfer.

Mr. Friddle expects to also book matches with Angola, Auburn, and Garrett. The team will probably be entered in the state tourney on May 24.

The Archers who form the varsity are TOM HALL, BOB ROBINSON, BOB YOUNG, JIM STRALEY, and AL SCHAAF. The latter two are newcomers to the local squad, neither having seen action in matches prior to this spring.

Coach Friddle and his golfers practice each evening from 4 o'clock until dark at the Brookwood Golf Course, which is located just south of Waynedale on the Bluffton Road. Some of the 18-hole scores turned in thus far show, Al SchAAF, 89, 91, 92; Bob Robinson, 87, 89, 91; Tom Hall, 87, 88, 90; Bob Young, 87, 88, 89; Jim Straley, 90; Bud Boyce, 95; and Forrest Myers, 106.

As yet, the tennis team is scheduled to meet but two foes—Central and Central Catholic. Harold Werkman, Ward Gilbert, and Dick Schieferstein are the leading contenders for the number one spot on the tennis team. Tom Hall, Bob Robinson, Bob Young, Al SchAAF, and Bob Hines are the main candidates for the golfing quartet.

HERE ARE THE TENTATIVE MATCHES SCHEDULED THUS FAR:

May 8—Central at Brookwood.
May 9—C. C. at Municipal.
May 13—C. C. at Brookwood.
May 15—Central at Municipal.
Tennis:
May 26—Central, here.
June 2—Central, there.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol
Four games have been played in the boys intramural softball tournament in last week's schedule. Only two or three activities remain to be run off in the Gym Class Carnival and a meeting of all those interested in tennis was held Tuesday night. The final results of the golf tournament will be in by the first of next week at least.

The four games played off in the boys' softball tournament were between the Ex Laxers A. E. and the Ten Stooges, the Ex Laxers B. C. and the Handsome Heavies, the Whiz Kids and the Hottentots, and the Tops and the Swooses. The winners respectively were the Ex Laxers A. E., the Ex Laxers B. C., the Hottentots, and the Tops.

A fast exciting match that was expected between the Ex Laxers A. C. and the Ten Stooges turned out to be a complete rout with a score of 13 to 1 in favor of the Ex Laxers A. C. Although the Ex Laxers B. C. were heavily favored to swamp their opponents, the Handsome Heavies, the game turned out to be highly interesting with the Ex Laxers B. C. trailing until the last inning. The final Shot Put—Won by Sadler, S.; Close, S.S. of Ft. W., second; Prymiski, H., third; Hatfield, C. of M., fourth; Templeton, H., fifth. Distance—51 ft., 11 in. score was 13 to 5 in favor of the Ex Laxers B. C.

A team living up to its adopted title was the Hottentots, who squeaked the Whiz Kids with a one-sided score of 16 to 4. An interesting game with a fairly close score was seen between the Tops and the Swooses. The Tops came out on top with a score of 12 to 7.

Finally, after about four weeks, Mr. Briner says that the Boys Gym Class Carnival will be over by the end of this week because of the fact that there remains only two or three events yet to be finished.

Additional information from Mr. Briner was that a meeting for those interested in tennis was held, the results of which were plans for another intramural tennis tournament and the announcement for those interested to see Mr. Briner for full details.

Next week full results of the boys intramural golf finals will be announced and more about the boys' tennis tournament will be found.

Mother-Daughter Tea Given By USA Group

USA's Mother-Daughter Tea was held last Thursday at 3:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Patty Rocker, Doris Pape, and Martha Dirmeyer presented a skit about the Girl Reserves entitled, "We Do This." A duet, the Girl Reserve "Quest Song," was sung by Doris Lontz and Grace Rendleman; and Grace, Phyllis Buckmaster, Rosemary Bird, and Peggy Roth sang, "We Would Be Building." The committees for the tea were: Program committee, Martha Dirmeyer, chairman; Doris Pape, Patty Hocker; invitation, Lois Bender, chairman, Anna Lee Bearing, and Jean Clark; and refreshments, Donna Jones, chairman, June Ellenwood, and Wyla Baldwin.

Support Of Entire School Body Is What Green Harriers Need

By Bob Young
Some two weeks ago a freshman sports fan accosted yours truly in the midst of a conversation on track at South Side and asked, "Has the stadium ever been filled for a track meet?" Naturally, I answered to my knowledge the stadium had seldom been one-quarter full for such an affair. After my reply, the freshman companion went on to say, "Well, I imagine track is not very interesting around here, and I guess I won't go to any of the meets. One of my friends at North Side told me that their meets are really good". This was too much to take in one swallow, but I set the freshman right by reminding him that no one can truly tell whether or not a sport is interesting unless he or she actually participates or views the event.

Perhaps the freshman's attitude reflects the views of hundreds of South Siders who are conspicuously absent whenever the Archers hold a meet. If so, I believe that the track meet attendance could be increased by one hundred per cent if only the majority of the students should actually see a meet.

Tomorrow afternoon the South Side track team is playing host to the Central Tigers in a dual meet. That will be a good time for each South Sider to take a look at our team and to lend a little confidence and spirit to the boys' ability.

There will be no admission charge, so that all to be sacrificed will amount to but a couple hours of your time. If you, and I am speaking now to the girls as well as to the boys, have never had the opportunity or the desire to see a track meet, I wish to urge each of you to make an effort to see the meet on Friday.

Next week-end the sectional and state eliminations will be under way, but the student body should not let the track boys down just because they are running at North Side or Indianapolis. A few words of good luck or a cheery "nice goin'" never are forgotten by the recipient, for he recalls for a long time afterwards that at least someone is watching his performances. True, we can't congratulate all the boys nor can we honor them all by a single gesture of good will; but each of us meets up with several of the boys each day and has an ample opportunity to offer words of encouragement to the track boys.

Every day we can, in some way, show our appreciation of the team. Tomorrow afternoon a well-filled stadium could readily cause the boys to realize that their work has been well received by us.

LET'S ALL TURN OUT IN A BODY FRIDAY AFTERNOON AND SHOW FORT WAYNE THAT SOUTH SIDE REALLY APPRECIATES ITS TRACK TEAM!

Former Instructor, Sister Took Jaunt Down Mississippi

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, world traveler and former world history teacher in South Side, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Catherine Smeltzly, former social science instructor at Central High School, has returned from taking a two-weeks' cruise on the Golden Eagle, a Mississippi River packet, down the Ohio, Mississippi, and Tennessee rivers. She explained that the boats on these rivers are very much like those on the Yukon in Alaska, where she traveled last summer.

"We have seen mostly the southern people, who are noted for their social life," she commented. She viewed the splendid scenery and ate good cooking. Her partial list of foods included biscuits, pancakes, chicken, home-made ice cream, and cakes. This menu is a contrast to the simple meals she ate in Alaska.

Pete Holzworth Named Head Of Hi-Y District

Pete Holzworth, vice-president of Hi-Y, was elected president of District 4 at a meeting of representatives of Sections 1, 2, and 3 in Allen County, April 30, for the coming year.

Members went for a swim between 7:30 and 8 o'clock last Thursday evening at the YMCA pool. Plans were discussed for having either a potluck or dinner-dance to end the semester.

Dave Azar, treasurer, gave a financial report and requested that all pencil money be handed in.

Banquet Is Postponed
The Quill and Scroll banquet has been postponed from May 9 to May 22 due to the fact that the former date would conflict with a meeting of the Math-Science and Social Science Clubs tomorrow night.

Picnic Date Set
Service Club annual picnic will be held May 28 at Foster Park. Helen Savage will be in charge of the arrangements.

Rifle Team Takes Seventeenth Place

Archers Are High In National Shoot, Also Take Sixth In Hearst Trophy Competition

Archer Boys' Rifle Club placed seventeenth in the nation in the junior team championship with the score of 2959. On May 5, the five high score members, Edmund Bauer, Joseph Bekius, Richard Hornberger, John Myers, and Richard Theye, competed with fifty other teams for the junior team championship title and awards.

The first five high Archer members won sixth place in the William Randolph Hearst Junior Rifle Trophy competition. The competitive firing was twenty shots prone and ten shots standing. Scores made were as follows: Edmund Bauer, 282; Joseph Bekius, 261; Richard Hornberger, 258; John Myers, 276; and Richard Theye, 250.

Richard Brintzenhoff, Clifford Springer, Arthur Puff, Thomas Broxon, and Richard Sunier placed twelfth in the same match for the second high-man team. Richard scored 247; Clifford, 246; Arthur, 238; Thomas, 258; and Richard, 220.

Members of the first-five team received emblems signifying their honors received for shooting and placing seventeenth in the nation.

Rozella Foutz Has Unique Art Exhibit Of Dress Designs

Rozella Foutz, a pupil of Miss Erna Dochterman, has on display in Room 26, an interesting art exhibit, which consists of drawings made by Rozella for her spring dance review. She teaches dancing and music.

Each year, as Miss Foutz presents her review, she proceeds to draw her own designs for the costumes to be worn in the production. These costume designs were made by Rozella in her art periods.

The costume designing has turned into a regular business. At the age of twelve, Rozella began teaching dancing. She has studied both in Indianapolis and Chicago. She presented her first dance review six years ago.

When Rozella was a sophomore, Miss Dochterman suggested that she apply her art of dress design which she had been studying, to a practical purpose, namely, designing the costumes for her annual dance reviews. Thus the idea was born, and since then Rozella, a post graduate now, has designed all the costumes. This year Rozella's dance review will be held at the Shrine auditorium June 3.

Here's best wishes, Rozella, for a swell review and a bright future as a costume designer.

Jim Glass, '39, Was Too Tall For Draft; Just Six Feet Eight

Many Archers will remember two teammates who played together on our state championship team in 1938 and on the undefeated squad of 1939. The names of these two fine athletes are Jim Glass and Bob Bolyard. Last week the Times featured Bob, and this week we present facts about Jim.

After graduation in 1939 Jim went to the University of Missouri and, because of his height and ability, made the first team in his freshman year. Jim did not go back to Missouri but, instead, started to work at the Rea Magnet Wire Company where he was a basketball teammate with Bob Bolyard for two years. During the season of 1940, he joined the forces of the St. Joe Athletic Club and was a main factor in helping that team win the independent league championship.

Everything was going smoothly when on April 12, 1941, he received from the United States Government a draft questionnaire. Jim was summoned to leave for camp immediately; but, upon receiving his physical examination, he was found to be too tall. It so happened that the height limit for the draft was 6 feet 6 inches. Jim is 6 feet 8 inches.

Camera Club Makes Plans For Exhibition

Plans for a spring exhibit of pictures taken by club members were discussed at the Camera Club meeting held yesterday in Room 36 at 3:30 o'clock. The date will be late this month, it was announced by Mr. Francis Fay, club adviser. The exhibit will be held in Room 36.

The photographs were taken and developed by club members in the Camera Club's darkroom.

GAA Baseball Round Finished

On the northeast field Geneva Martin's Senior 1's scored up another victory by defeating the Sophomore 1's. The score was 2 to 1. Bernadine Pressler, Maxine Sterling, Geneva Martin, and Frances Nash made two runs each for their team.

On the southeast field, Betty Baker's Sophomore 1's defeated Martha Cash's Sophomore 1's by the score of 17 to 0. Betty Baker, Kathleen Nieth, and Pat Ehle scored four runs each for the winning team.

On the southwest field Alice Fisher's Sophomore 4's defeated Betty Hargan's Junior 1's by the score of 11 to 1. The most outstanding players for the Sophomores are Ivan Brubaker, Kate Sanders, and Alice Fisher.

The Sophomore 3's defeated the Junior 22's by the score of 12 to 2. Helen Marschand made twelve runs for the winning team.

Umpires and scorekeepers were Marilyn Jean Clark, Martha Dirmeyer, Doris Pope, Alice Dolin, Patty Hocker, Wanda Hoover, and Doris Bearer.

Archer Harriers Will Meet Tiger Tracksters Tomorrow

Cinder Contest Is Scheduled At Green Field

Kelley Tracksters Practice For Sectionals; Central Is Final Season Opponent

The Archer harriers will meet Coach Bob Dornte's Central tracksters in a dual meet Friday afternoon in the Green stadium. The meet will begin as soon as school is out, probably around 3:45.

The Tigers are not as potent as in past year when they boasted of such luminaries as Charlton in the dashes and Kulesza in the high jump; but they are strong and well-coached.

With the sectional meet but one week away, Coach Collyer is sending his boys through long practice drills in preparation for that event. The Central meet will give all Archerdom its final view of the Green trackmen before they enter elimination competition, so a large crowd is expected to be on hand.

Dick Kilpatrick and Chuck Close appear to have easy sailing in their field events, as does possibly Gus Feistkorn in the 880-yard run; but all of the other local luminaries should be hard pressed for places by the scappy Tiger crew.

South Side's pole vaulting will be ably handled by Dal Zuber, while Rudy Wuttke will seek to best Central's colored flash, Gray, in the broad jump. The hurdling should be well taken care of by Kellies Oppenlander, Sebald, and Gernand.

Tom Deal and Dwight Davis will do the mile trotting, while Archers Shimer, Parry, Miller, Worman, and Sebald will probably see action in the shorter sprints.

The rapid relay units should finish ahead, with the half-mile quartet being expected to encounter the most trouble. The relay team members are Chick Shimer, Rudy Wuttke, Art Parry, Bill Bond, Gus Feistkorn, Jim Worman, Bill Miller, and Jim Morrison.

Track Briefs

A word about Gus: Last week end Gus Feistkorn turned in some of the best running of his high school days. Gus ran the last leg of the 1500-yard medley in 1:59, which time is but a single second above the state mark for the distance which he paced. Coming back thirty minutes later, Feistkorn had enough drive left to gain a third place in the 1000-yard run. He bested the existing record for the event in finishing third. In the 1500-yard relay Gus made up a 5-yard deficit and carried the baton home first, but five-fifths of a second short of a new record. Chuck Close tossed the shot some 50 feet 8 inches, which bests his former record-breaking performance by one-half foot. Last year's state titlist from Shelbyville nosed out Close in this event. Les Oppenlander, who has been suffering lately under the strain of a sprained ankle, is hoping to hit the cinders again against Central. Tom Deal keeps showing consistent improvement in the mile, as he paced off the mile at Kokomo some five seconds faster than he had ever stepped the distance before. The Archer half-mile relay sprinters bested North Side's heralded half-milers by a good five yards! It looks as though South Side has a good chance of having two relay teams at the state finals.

Coach Collyer tells us that broad-jumper Rudy Wuttke is returning to form. For under poor jumping conditions at Kokomo last week end the Archer jumper managed to leap 20 feet 10 inches, which was good enough for a fourth place in really tough competition. Dick Kilpatrick deserves plenty of credit for his fine high jumping at Kokomo last week end. Dick cleared the bar with four of the state's best, and as a result he was awarded a first place tie. Kokomo officials could well term the relays a great success: for 604 athletes from A and B schools competed, and around 900 spectators were on hand to witness the events. Have you noticed the shiny new gold, silver, and bronze belt buckles which our boys brought home? Well, sports fans, South Side boys carried off eleven buckles—more than any other squad entered!

A good meet is in the wind for tomorrow evening, with the Central trackmen furnishing the competition. Gus Feistkorn will be out to "do or die" tomorrow night in the half-mile run. Also out for a record will be the mile relayers, Jim Worman, Bill Miller, Gus Feistkorn, and Jim Morrison. This is one of the fastest relay quartets which South Side has ever produced. All of the boys are seniors, and this will be their last opportunity to attempt a crack at the school mark. Well, so long, and I'll see you at the meet tomorrow afternoon!

Urges Support

—Courtesy of The News-Sentinel
George Collyer

Pictured above is George Collyer, efficient mentor of our highly efficient track team, who has urged the students to support his boys in the coming meets. Mr. Collyer stated that the boys and he expect a large turnout tomorrow afternoon when the Archers engage Central in a dual affair in the local stadium. Also, the tracksters hope for plenty of support when the sectional and state meets are held. It seems only fitting that all true South Side sports fans should be on hand to cheer on our great track team in their final meets of the year; for, so far, little appreciation has been given the tracksters for their efforts.

Many Track Records Set In Gym Meet

Block Race, Chin-Up, Board, Accuracy Throws, Jumps Marks Beaten In Finals

Many records were broken in the indoor part of the Intramural Track Meet which has been held during the past months in the gym classes. Contestants first qualified in gym class and then competed after school for champions of all classes.

In the block race, Habig won the lightweight division, setting a new record of 21.6 seconds. Voight took the middleweight crown with 21 seconds, and Rodey was best among heavyweights with 20 4/5 seconds. Bolyard took the lightweight chin-up title, breaking a record with 32 times, Wuttke, the middle with 40, and Clendenen, the heavy, with 33.

Two records were broken on the balancing board by Morton, lightweight, with 607 and Worth, middle, with 215. Siples won in the heavyweight class with 36. Habig and Baumgartner tied for first place in the volleyball serve of the lightweight department. Wissler and Gildea both smashed records in the middle- and heavyweight divisions. Laymon, Edwards, Voorhees, and Wittwer won the medicine ball push, heaving 45 feet 10 inches, 57 feet 5 inches, and 48 feet 7 3/4 inches.

The softball accuracy throw was won by Kast, Hemrick, and Brandt, throwing 8, 7, and 9 perfect throws. Mueller won the high jump in the lightweight by going over the bar at 4 feet 4 inches, while Klopfenstein with 5 feet and Pomeroy with 5 feet 5 3/4 inches took care of the light- and heavyweights.

Runge threw the softball 186 feet in the distance throw; Voight, 250 feet; and Underwood, 242 feet 5 inches. In the forward jump Cheever, leaping 7 feet 3 3/4 inches, Nichter, 8 feet 4 3/4 inches, and Minser, 8 feet 1 1/2 inches, captured the titles. Running broad jump crowns were annexed by Baumgartner, jumping 13 feet 10 inches, Parry 16 feet 4 inches, and Pomeroy, 16 feet 5 1/2 inches.

Vanderford walked 6 feet on his hands to cop the lightweight title, while Wissler set a record of 36 feet and McNeal walked 64 feet 5 inches. The backward jump was won by Kaufman with 6 feet 3 3/4 inches. Turner with 7 feet 4 1/2 inches, and Allen, setting a record, with 7 feet 5 inches. Voorhees, Clendenen, and Laymon won the hand wrestle, and the leg wrestle went to Runge, Fishing, and Schlose.

Mr. Louis Briner, intramural head, asked that it be announced that those boys who are entering the outdoor part should go work out two or three nights a week under Mr. George Collyer, track coach.

These events will start May 16, and any boy may compete in three running activities including the relays, or two field events.

Track Team Takes Third During Relay

South Side Harriers Display Fine Technique Placing In Kokomo Meet Saturday

South Side's harriers again came through with several fine performances last week end in finishing third in the Kokomo Relays. Only North Side and Hammond, perennially outstanding squads, placed ahead of Coach Collyer's sprinters.

Dick Kilpatrick, Archer high jumper, was the only local single event winner. He tied for first place in the high jump by clearing 5 feet 8 inches, for none of the other boys left in the jump experienced any more success than did Kilpatrick.

In the other two field events, the broad jump and the pole vault, South Sideers won fourth and fifth places. RUDY WUTTKE gained the fourth in the broad jump, and DAL ZUBER vaulted to a fifth place in the pole vaulting finals.

South Side sprinters captured two track firsts, both in relay events. Archer teams won both the middle distance relay and the 1500-yard relay.

Other Archer relay units also gained places in the medley relay and the half-mile relay. GUS FEISTKORN was the only local star to place high in his specialty, as he gained a third place medal for his performance in the 1,000-yard run.

A complete summary of the meet follows:

100-Yard Dash—Won by Cowan, N.S.; Clifford, H.M., second; Edwards, H., third; Taylor, M., fourth; Sitko, C. of Ft. W., fifth. Time—10.1.

120-Yard High Hurdles—Won by Bojinoff, N.S.; Mattox, H., second; G. Clark, H., third; Sefton, R. of E. C., fourth; Holman, C. of Ft. W., fifth. Time—15.4.

Medley Relay—Won by North Side; Anderson, second; Horace Mann, third; South Side, fourth, and Logansport, fifth. Time—8:05.5.

Half-Mile Relay—(First race)—Won by Horace Mann; Froebel, second; Marion, third; Anderson, fourth; Central of Fort Wayne, fifth. Time—1:33.8.

Half-Mile Relay (Second race)—Won by Hammond; Kokomo, second; South Side, third; North Side, fourth; Riley of South Bend, fifth. Time—1:34.2.

Middle Distance Relay—Won by South Side; Hammond, second; Horace Mann, third; North Side, fourth, and Kokomo, fifth. Time—5:59.1.

200-Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Bojinoff, N.S.; Cowan, N.S., second; Campbell, F., third; Denny, Kokomo, fourth; Sandbach, H.M., fifth. Time—2:23.4 (ties record).

1,000-Yard Run—Won by Grobey, C. of M.; Hawk, N.S., second; Feistkorn, S.S., third; Kimble, A., fourth; McLain, A., fifth. Time—2:18.3 (new relay record).

1,500-Yard Relay—(First race)—Anderson; Central of Muncie, second; Lew Wallace, third; Kokomo, fourth; Central of Fort Wayne, fifth. Time—2:52.3.

1,500-Yard Relay—(Second race)—Won by South Side; Hammond, second; Froebel, third; Horace Mann, fourth; North Side, fifth. Time—2:55.9.

Broad Jump—Won by Edwards, H.; Blackmon, H., second; Cowan, N.S., third; R. Wuttke, S.S., fourth; Gray, C., fifth. Distance—22 ft., 10 in. (New relay record).

Pole Vault—Courtice, H.; Carr, H.M., and Moore, L., tied for first, second and third; Clinton, fourth, and Van Dyke, A., and Zuber, S.S., tied for fifth. Height—12 ft., 9 in.

High Jump—Kilpatrick, S.S. of Ft. W.; Brown, N.S. of Ft. W.; Ahnkins, K., and Campbell, F., tied for first, second, third and fourth; Snow, A.; Landsford, C. of Muncie, and Smith of Marion, tied for fifth. Height—5 ft., 8 in.

Gift Starts Spring Drills

Wayne Gift

Coach Wayne Gift started his 1941 football squad off in high gear last week as they engaged in their first practice drills of the year. With plenty of good prospects returning, Coach Gift expects to produce another winning eleven next fall. In his initial effort at South Side, Mr. Gift turned out a fighting, revitalized outfit which dropped but two out of nine tilts.

Freshmen 3's, 4's Win Title

Alice Dolin, Nancy Griffith Are First; 6's, 1's Take Second, Third Positions

Alice Dolin's Freshman 3's and Nancy Griffith's Freshman 4's were the winners for first place in the Freshman GAA baseball tournament.

Phyllis Jackson's Freshman 6's were second place winners and Marilyn Domes's Freshman 1's placed third.

For first place the Freshman 3's and 4's defeated four freshman baseball teams.

Members of Alice Dolin's team are Joan Deel, Mary Ann Weber, Wanda Hover, Ruth Gerding, Kate Horn, Nina Beam, Dorothy Windhorst, Alice Dolin, Ethelyn Hitsabeck, Virginia Wood, Helen Plumley, LaVonne Taylor, Babs Brasher, Nancy Rosencrance, Mary Morgan, Elaine Pumphrey, and Phyllis Crumrine.

Umpires for the entire tournament were Geneva Martin, Marilyn Bullerman, Carolyn Fisher, Sally Ogden, and Pat Jackson. Scorekeepers were Bette Thiele, Ilo Hirschman, Phyllis Amstutz, Carolyn Fisher, Pat Jackson, Sally Ogden, and Marilyn Bullerman.

The results for last Monday's game are as follows: Freshman 4's defeated the Freshman 6's by a score of 12 to 6. Freshman 5's won over the Freshman 2's by a score of 18 to 2. With a score of 18 to 9, the Freshman 1's were defeated by the Freshman 3's.

Mural Markers

By Bud Gardner

Four games were played on the Intramural softball schedule last week with the Exlaxers B. C., Hottentots, Exlaxers A. C., and the TOP coming out on top.

The game between the Exlaxers A. C. and the Ten Stooges turned out to be a rout, with the Exlaxers winning by a score of 13 to 1. Here is what the summary showed: Knoll 1, 3, 2, scoring all three times; Ruckle, 1, 3, 4, also scoring three times; Gildea, a walk, a strike out, and a home run, scoring two times; Strawbridge, 1, 3, scoring once; Miller, a single (no score); Hall, a single and a double, scoring once; Haies, a walk and a home run, scoring once; Dalman, a home run, scoring once; Babbitt, a single, scoring once. Welch was the only one of the Ten Stooges able to score.

In the game between the Exlaxers B. C. and the Handsome Heavies, the Exlaxers were out on top by the score of 13 to 5. For the ELEG, the following boys scored: Moller, Dannecker, Straley, Shimer, H. Hines, Feistkorn, Reichart, and Wells. The Heavies' runs were scored by the following boys: Lakey, Tieman, Nearmon, and Schemhorn. In the first half of the third inning, Moller, Dannecker, and Straley were the first three to bat for the Exlaxers and all of them hit home runs.

Another game in the heavyweight division between the Whiz Kids and the Hottentots turned out to have a fairly lopsided score. It was 16 to 4. The following boys scored the indicated number of times: Curley, once; Steiner, once; and Schlose, twice. Every Hottentot scored except Cappell. The number of times follows: Kite, twice; Ludwig, once; Taylor, twice; Perry, twice; Duiser, twice; Oppenlander, twice; Kiger, twice; Rehling, once, and Dent, once. Bill Schlose of the Whiz Kids, turned out to be the best hitter of both teams. Out of two trips to the plate, he got two home runs, which is really hitting.

The game between the TOP and the Swoose turned out to be the closest, even if the TOP did show immense superiority throughout the entire game. The following boys for the TOP scored: Underhill scored once; MacLain, three times; Zuber, three times; Meyers, twice; Brower, once; Wolf, once; and Werkman, once. For Alexander, Fishing scored once; Mast, once; Schernberg, once; Gardner, once; Drummond, once; Rehner, twice; and Sellers, once. The star of this game was Tom Rehner, who did excellent fielding by catching many high flys and swell batting by getting a single and a homer in the last inning.

Girls' Sportsettes

Some of our GAA members have the cutest nicknames. Some of them are "Stringholder" Ogden, "Datsie Poo" Peel, "Mouse" Fruth, "Nibs" Martin, and "Red" Burt.

What's the matter with Evelyn Arnold? Friday, in GAA, she made two outs. But that's okay. Evelyn, everybody makes them.

Congratulations to all of the girls who have won their first or second round in the ping-pong tournament.

Joan "Gabby" Dodge is really hot in baseball. Last Friday she hit two home runs. Keep the good work up, Gabby.

All the girls are asked to sign up for the events for the track meet. The events are running high jump, running broad jump, base running, throw and catch, balance beam, 50-yard dash, potato race, volleyball serve, basketball throw, baseball throw, foul shooting, baseball pitching and baskets for time.

Math-Sci Plans Joint Meeting With Social Sci

Mr. L. R. Hull, Fred Schweir On Program Tomorrow; To Honor Ten Seniors

Mr. Louie Hull, physics teacher, and Fred Schweir, senior student, will present the program for the Math-Science Club meeting to be held tomorrow night in the botany laboratory, Room 76, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Hull's topic for discussion will be "Visible Sound Waves" for which Clifford Springer will provide the mathematical explanations, and Fred Schweir's subject will be "Chemical Magic."

Social Science Club and its adviser are to be guests of the Math-Science Club at this meeting.

Certificates will be awarded to ten outstanding seniors and honorable mention will be awarded to six senior members.

There are four requirements that must be fulfilled to receive a certificate. One must be a senior and have been an active and faithful member of the Math-Science Club for at least one year. He must have either majored in science and minored in mathematics or majored in mathematics and minored in science.

During this time the student must have maintained an average of at least 92 per cent. Mr. R. Nelson Snider will take charge of this part of the program and will present the awards.

Election of officers will also be a feature of this meeting. The nominating committee which met last week and chose the candidates was composed of Lois Gumper, chairman, Ralph Sebold, and Gloria Staley.

All members should remember to enter the school building through the southwest entrance on Gummer Street and go immediately to Room 76.

Students Complete Annual Beautification Projects

General beautification and cleaning processes took place last Thursday when Archer students began their project for the annual Inter-Club Congress.

Projects for the home rooms undertaking this Beautification Week were as follows: Replacing of four birch trees, ivy planting, filling four flower urns, planting flowers and seeds, planting shrubs, digging dandelions, and washing walls.

The committee in charge was Tom Wilson, Norman Fortress, Eva Jean Wylie, Betty Koehler, and Max Sterling. The projects were under the direction of Mr. C. A. Bex.

Five Archer Yankees Start Civil War Anew In Speech Battles At Lexington, Kentucky

By Mary Ellen Barrett
On Sunday, April 27, a group of happy go-lucky, ambitious, sleepy-eyed people consisting of James McClure, Edward Meyer, Mary Ellen Barrett, and Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, left for the Sunny South to carry South Side to the National Speech Tournament.

After a hilarious ride of eight hours in Mrs. Rieke's "blue streak" chevy, and passing the time by working crossword puzzles, folding road maps, singing and eating, we arrived in the blue grass country in late afternoon. (I can't tell you about the scenery because I slept through Cincinnati and Covington.)

Following our supper in one of the outstanding cafeterias in Lexington (they ran out of butter when we got there, so we had dry rolls), we went to the Henry Clay High School, where the contest was held, to register. After Jim and Ed had finished primping (they were going to show the Southern belles how the Yankees "wow" the women), we entered this beautiful high school of typical Southern architecture, and let Lexington know that South Side of Fort Wayne had arrived.

Since it was my seven trunks that were weighing down the car, they took me to my lodging first, which was a beautiful home with in a few blocks of the homes where the rest were staying. After getting my first taste of Southern hospitality from my charming hostess, I started out with the gang to look the place over. We drove along beautiful, cool shaded roads on each side of which were large farms, the smallest housing around a hundred horses. In this tour we visited the well-known "Dixiana" farm owned by Mr. Fisher of Detroit.

Monday started the nerve-racking grind of the tournament. Jim and Ed spoke in the morning and gave them a taste of the northern competition. My first round wasn't until 4 o'clock, so I had all day to bite my fingernails.

While I was awaiting my turn to speak, who should walk in but Bev Griffith, who was graduated from South Side in '39 and now attends the University of Kentucky. Bev brought several friends with her, so they sat there and laughed at my declamation to inspire the judges.

All this time, Mrs. Rieke was busy judging extemp contests, and on the last day she had the honor to be a judge in the national debate contest.

After devouring our lunches Tuesday noon, we adjourned to the school for our third round before getting the gong. After I had finished speaking, Bev took the North Side girls and me riding in her friend's convertible. Jim and Ed wanted to go with us but then they couldn't leave those two blondes stranded.

Tuesday night was another, so we went. They were to announce those who were still in the contest. Then in the middle of the Governor's speech, some one walked in with copies of the Lexington Herald containing contest results. Well, every one forgot the Governor and made a dash for a paper.

After glancing over the paper, we found only Jim McClure and a North Side girl were still in the contest, but they had omitted the second round of the humorous contest. That one round would determine whether I was to go on in the contest or not. That round would be announced at the dance that night. So what were we to do but go to the dance? There I met my Waterloo, second round wasn't in my favor.

Wednesday morning, Ed and I entered the poetry contest, but Shakespeare just didn't write the right thing for us. Jim was still carrying the Green and White colors, but the Rebels just couldn't be held down, so that left the three of us out in the cold. To console us, Mrs. Rieke took us all out to dinner at the "Canary Cottage," a well-known restaurant (with butter).

After dinner, we went down to claim our mail, as we'd been doing for the past two days, from the temporary post office established in the school. After reading their mail, Jim and Ed spent the afternoon working up courage to ask this movie actress from California who was in the contest for her autograph. (P.S., they got the autograph). Wednesday night we all attended the "Male Animal," a comedy presented by University of Kentucky dramatic organization.

Thursday morning was very uneventful because no one woke me up till a quarter of twelve. While Mrs. Rieke was judging all day, the boys went out to find a reasonably priced horse for Jimmy to buy. They came back with a miniature horse of sterling silver. We spent Thursday afternoon really getting acquainted with our fellow Americans from North, South, East and West. It's the thrill of a lifetime to meet and exchange ideas with boys and girls your own age from all over the nation.

In the speech given by the president of National Forensic League at the opening meeting, he stated, "The reason Hitler is so powerful is because he is the only orator in Germany. With America full of young orators, like those present here, it will long be a democracy second to no nation in the world."

PROOF WAS GIVEN IN THE HUMOROUS DECLAMATION FINALS THAT AMERICA WAS DEFINITELY A DEMOCRACY WHEN A NEGRO BOY PLACED FIRST.

Despite color or race, if you are the best you get what you deserve in America. Thursday night, Mrs. Rieke, the North Side girls, and I attended the finals of the dramatic declamation and extemp. Jim and Ed were also there with their hostess.

Oh yes! I almost forgot, Wednesday afternoon the photographer from Life magazine came over to our lodging and took our pictures with our hostess. We hope they get in, but we're running competition with several beauties from Hollywood.

By Friday, the place was practically deserted, since the only contest left was the national debate. Following this we bade farewell to our new-found friends with promises to write and with hopes of seeing them at the Nationals next year.

Ed and Jim had spent the entire morning planning a tour on which to take Mrs. Rieke and me. So we started out and on our tour we saw Man O' War, War Admiral, Colonel Bradley (not a horse, but a Kentucky cologne), Fair Play's statue, Elmendorf farm, Keeneland Race Track, several well-known tobacco warehouses, and a horse sale, where we had to hide Jimmy's check book to keep him from buying a horse. To top the day off, we all attended "Penny Serenade" that night.

With tear-filled eyes we said goodbye to Lexington at approximately 6:30 o'clock Saturday morning and joined the parade of cars to Louisville and the Kentucky Derby. Through several friends, the Derby for a very reasonable price, thus allowing me the price of a jockey cap. After leaning on the rail and basking in the sun through six races and picking only two winners, the big moment came.

After the bugles had blown, and everyone shouted "they're off," the horses whizzed by with Whirlaway in the lead. After this thrilling race, which Whirlaway won (despite the fact I had a cool million bet on Our Boots), we followed the gay Derby crowd out of Louisville.

Tired but happy and just a wee bit homesick, we started for good old Fort Wayne, which we invaded about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

Philo To Present English Awards

Senior, Freshman With Highest Average Will Receive Prize; Others Are For Poem, Essay

Philo Club will give two awards for excellence in English on Recognition Day. One will go to the graduating senior who has the highest average grade in English. The other award will be given to the freshman who, at the end of the 9A work, has the highest average in English.

Two awards will be made by the English Department for creative writing. These will be given to students of English 6, contemporary literature; one for the best poem and one for the best essay.

Contributions for these awards may be essays or poems written as regular classwork or as extra work. From any one English 11 class, not more than two poems and two essays may be turned in for final judging. These are not to be marked by the teachers and corrected by the pupil as are the regular themes.

Manuscripts must be ready for final judging not later than May 29. The student's name should be clipped to and not written on his manuscript, because the ones submitted to the final judges are to be identified by numbers only.

Plans Completed For Meterite Tea

Dorothy Meyer, Evangeline Witmer To Serve As Co-chairmen Of Mother-Daughter Program

Plans for the Meterite's Mother-Daughter Tea to be held in the Greeley Room Tuesday, were completed last week in Miss Peck's room.

Evangeline Witmer and Dorothy Meyer are co-chairmen, planning the program. The program will be as follows: Mary Whittier, the president, will welcome the mothers. The welcoming speech will be followed by the usual business meeting. Miss Mary DeLancey will address the mothers, talking on some phase of literature.

Phyllis Crabill, chairman of the foods committee, reported on the arrangements made. On Phyllis' committee are Phyllis Bumke and Adelaide Cortis.

Mary Ann Duemling, chairman of the serving committee is to be assisted by Carolyn Druhot, Delores Druhot, Mary Harry, Joyce Dicke, Mary Condrey, Mary Louise McNabb, Carolyn Fackler, Barbara Leas, Jacqueline Bock, and Marjorie Peterson.

The reception committee is headed by Patty Hocker, assisted by Doris Pape and Adelaide Cortis.

Patricia Rhodes is in charge of the decorating of the table. The refreshments will be served following the speeches.

Junior Symphony Has Last Concert

June Flaig, Senior A, Is Featured Harp Soloist; Other South Siders Are On Program

Fort Wayne's Junior Civic Symphony held this final concert for the season Monday evening at the Majestic Theater. This was the third concert of the year and the orchestra was under the direction of Gaston Baillet.

June Flaig, senior A, was the featured harp soloist. She played Debussy's "Danse Sacree", accompanied by a small string orchestra. For her encore June played a French number. Numbers by the entire orchestra included "The Impresario Overture" by Mozart, Bizet's Prelude to the Suite, "L'Arlesienne" (No. 1), "Arabian Dance" and "Chinese Dance" by Crist, Victor Herbert's "Panamerican", and Sibelius' "Finlandia."

South Side students in the Symphony are Alice Jean Light, Hilda Schubert, June Flaig, and Faye Gumper. Alumni include Bob Wiehe, Loretta Rinearson, and Eileen Byers.

MY MOTHER

I knew her first as food and warmth and rest,
A silken lap, soft arms, a tender breast;
Then as fear came into my world, I knew
She was a never-failing refuge too.
Time taught me more and more to comprehend
Her understanding sweetness as a friend,
And as my life's horizon grew more wide
Her meaning to myself was magnified
By vision that had grown at last to see
A love that could enfold the world—and me.
Oh, there were restive and impatient days
When willful childhood craved its wild ways
And flung aside the gently guiding hand.
But patience and a love that would not fail
Always prevailed—how could they but prevail?
And now so well I know her that I know
The graciousness of her will always grow.

Recognition Day To Be Held June 6

Annual Service For Pupils Doing Outstanding Work Will Be During Afternoon

Five Instructors
To Be In Charge

Awards To Be Presented To Pupils By Various Departments And Activities

South Side's annual Recognition Day will be held the afternoon of June 6 in the gymnasium. Students who have done outstanding work in all departments will be honored and will receive green and white ribbons with the seal of the school. They also will sign their names in the "Green Book," in which the names of those who have been recognized in the past are recorded.

The committee consists of Miss Elizabeth Demaree, chairman; Mr. Elma Gould, Mr. Russell Furst, Mr. Jack McClure and Miss Gertrude Oppelt.

The fields of recognition and the awards which will be given are as follows:

English Department: Honors will be awarded for the best poem and best essay written by English 6 students. The freshman with highest average in class work, the senior with highest four-year average in regular class work, and the winner of the local Psi Iota Xi short story contest will be announced.

Latin Department: Two seniors, one a January graduate and one a June graduate, who have done most outstanding work in four years in Latin will be recognized.

French and German Departments: Four German students who made the highest grades and the French students making the highest scores in a special examination will be honored.

Social Science Department: A medal will be given to the most outstanding student.

Science Department: A student who has taken three years of science and is chosen by the teachers will be honored.

Mathematics Department: Six students at mid-term and ten at end of year who are most outstanding and have made highest scores will be recognized.

Other fields honoring their best students are art, music, commerce, home economics, industrial arts, public speaking, publications, dramatics, girls' athletics, boys' athletics, and boys' and girls' rifle clubs.

Latin Group Plans Music Discussion

"History And Development Of
The Harp" Is To Be Topic Of Meeting Thursday, Room 138

"History and Development of the Harp" will be the topic of the Latin Club meeting to be held a week from today in Room 138 at 3:30 o'clock. This discussion on music is the last in a series following the theme for the year, "Arts of Greece and Rome."

Carol Whittier will tell the stories of the first lyre at the contest between Marsyas and Apollo. Facts concerning the cithara and the lyre will be discussed by Joyce Cleaver. June Flaig will demonstrate the modern harp.

Violet Reiter will give the story of the banquet scene from Vergil's "Aeneid," and June will read in rhythm the song Iopas sang at the banquet. Joyce and Carol will sing a duet, "The Song of Iopas," accompanied by June at the harp. "Swanee River," "Home Sweet Home," and "Welcome Sweet Springtime" will be sung in Latin by the group with harp accompaniment.

Officers for next year will be elected. Dorothy Gildea, president, will make committee appointments for the picnic in June. A farewell to the graduating seniors and a response will be given.

Principal Announces Dates For Graduates

The following dates for senior events have been announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal.

Seniors who have completed their work will be excused from classes after June 6. Recognition Day is set for the afternoon of June 6 in the gymnasium. Baccalaureate will be held at the Shrine June 8, at 7:30 p. m.

The senior dance will be June 10 at 8:30 p. m. in the gymnasium. Commencement is June 11 at 8:30 p. m. in the gymnasium. On June 11 final grades will be issued in short periods.

June 10 used books will be purchased and lockers will be cleaned out. Lockers will be redeemed after the short periods on June 11 and rental books will be collected June 10 and 11.

Directs Operetta

Mr. Lester Hostettler

Mr. Hostettler will direct the operetta to be given in the gymnasium tomorrow night.

Bob Safer Is Archers' Hope In City Contest

In South Side Extemp Test
B. Young Places Second,
B. McNulty Takes Third

Bob Safer will represent South Side in the City Extemp Contest May 26 as winner of the South Side contest. Also his name will be engraved on the McAlister Trophy, which will be presented to him at Wranglers' banquet.

Bob Young placed second and Bill McNulty, third. Other finalists last Thursday were Bob Guion, Alene Loeser, Bob Robinson, and Don Meyer.

Third place winners in the preliminary contest were Bill Bone, Kolman Gross, and Bob Allen.

Subjects for the contest were "Should the United States Feed Axis Occupied Countries?", "Should Congress Pass Laws Curbing Strikes in Defense Industry?", and "Should the United States Convey Materials to Europe?"

Contestants in the preliminaries on Wednesday were as follows: First period, John Virts, Alene Loeser, Clifford Springer, Bob Robinson, Kolman Gross, and Max Atkins; third period, Byron Singer, Bill McNulty, Lois Bloemker, Bob Safer, Dick Bailhe, and Bill Bone; fourth period, James Bumke, Bob Allen, Bob Young, Bob Guion, and Don Meyer.

Ivy Day Plans To Be Completed On Monday

Final plans for Ivy Day will be completed at the next Inter-Club Congress meeting, Monday. Also plans for the locker-cleanup which will be June 10, will be worked out.

The committee in charge of the picnic is Tom Wilson, chairman, Elmer Kahl, Jean Fisher, Opal Springer, and Helen Laney. The meeting will be in charge of the officers.

Fort Wayne Has Held Championship Titles In Speech, Latin, Music, Basketball; Now Let's Be Winners In State Safety Campaign

The screech of brakes, a scream, and a crash; and another traffic accident is chalked up on the records. Nine times this year citizens of Fort Wayne have met their end in accidents involving motor vehicles.

In other towns in Indiana the traffic accident toll is also mounting; so someone thought the needless slaughter should cease. One of the best ways to stop accidents was to have a contest. So plans for such a campaign were drawn up, and that is the reason Fort Wayne is now in a safety contest with three other cities, South Bend, Gary, and Evansville.

The object of the competition is to see which city can maintain the best safety record. It started the first of this month and will be held throughout the remainder of May and June. Of course, the city with the lowest number of traffic accidents wins. And our city plans to win this contest.

Last Thursday a meeting to determine the method of conducting this campaign of safety was called in the City Council Chamber. Mayor Harry Baals, Lieutenant Custer Dunifon, Mr. Jim White, the traffic engineer; Mr. Merle J. Abbett, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools; Mr. Elden Campbell, who is affiliated with the radio program, "Hey Mr. Motorist"; members of the Board of Safety; the principals of all the public high schools; and representatives of all the Fort Wayne high school newspapers were at the meeting.

The plan for the safety campaign

Speech Dinner Theme To Be Horses, Races

Decorations For Wranglers' Banquet To Be About
Kentucky; 162 Honored

Kentucky, the blue grass state, will furnish the theme of Wranglers' banquet on May 20, in the cafeteria. Horses, the derby, blue grass, and things symbolic of Kentucky will be carried out in the decorations and speeches.

The deadline to sign up in Room 190 is May 19. Fifty cents for the banquet can be paid before or after the affair.

Bob Young will be toastmaster, and the speakers who will present awards are Martha Jean Smith, Dave Rea, John Warner, Jim McClure, Bob Robinson, Don Meyer, Charlene McAttee, and Mrs. Dorothy Rieke. Mrs. Howard Carson will present the Psi Iota Xi plaque for winners of freshman and sophomore oratorical contests.

Bill Bone and Mary Ellen Barrett will present a humorous skit, entitled "A Pair of Lunatics."

Students who have been outstanding in speech work throughout the year will be honored. They are as follows:

Rundell Plans Active Summer Of Loafing; Read About It Below

Many students will spend their summer vacations bathing and others will find work. This story is dedicated to those few who will give their time to the great art of loafing. Being an ardent admirer of this sport, I should find it little trouble to expound on it, but since I am the way I am, it is a great effort to get up the energy to write these few miserable lines.

The following paragraphs will be used to describe the typical vacationist in action. I shall use myself as the ideal example. First of all I wake up in the morning, sometimes, and after guzzling a glass of milk, I dash out of the house, only to be yanked back in by my mother and told to make my bed. After making the bed, or I should say smoothing the covers out, I again try to sneak out but again my mother is waiting.

"Where do you think you are going?"

"Well I was just going out to mow the lawn."

"I thought you were and when you got that finished you can wash the car."

"Oh! I'll be a wreck and me with a date tonight. I'll be all worn out."

"A little exercise will do you good."

"Say, Mother, can I have the car tonight?"

"I suppose so, if you ever get it washed and the lawn mower rolling."

"Okay, okay, don't rush me."

After four hours, sixteen minutes and thirty-five seconds, I am now ready to wash the car. A few splashes and a slop; the heat of the sun and the car is all washed and dried.

"Do you call that car washed?" asked my mother, looking it over. "Look at those streaks, and you didn't even get the wheels damp."

Having rewashed the car, I removed myself to the house where I cleaned up and got ready for my date. This is the typical day of the typical student during summer vacation. If you have any ideas of working this summer, just stop by and I will gladly accommodate you.

Wo-Ho-Ma Club To Sponsor Tea

Mothers To Be Guests Of Homemakers On Next Thursday;
Doris Ontario Is Chairman

Wo-Ho-Ma's Mother-Daughter Tea will be held next Thursday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Girls are asked to bring flowers for the mothers' corsages.

The committee in charge of the affair is Doris Ontario, chairman, Virginia Shorter, Joyce Archbold, Alice Martz, Elsie Korte, Ruth Gregory, Doris Jean Siples, Wahilla Spore, Nancy Rosencrance, Marie Lebamoff, and Ruth Dold.

Miss E. Bocke and Mrs. Margaret Snyder represented the Luzziers Cosmetic Company at Wo-Ho-Ma's last meeting. Miss Bocke and Mrs. Snyder demonstrated make-up on Alice Fisher and Doris Ontario.

Three Archers Withdraw

May 9; Six Are Mentioned

Eleven seniors, Dick Theye, Safford McMyler, Ralph Sebold, Martin Gerand, Evelyn Erickson, Elaine Hirschy, Richard Sebold, Hilda Schubert, Virginia Hill, Gloria Staley, and Robert Wylie, were awarded the highest honor that the Math-Science Club can bestow upon its members at the last Math-Science meeting held May 9 in Room 76.

These students maintained an average of 92 or above in mathematics and science while majoring in one and minoring in the other. They have also been members of the club for at least one year, and during this time have rendered some outstanding service to the club.

The average made by these students, as announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, are as follows: Dick Theye, 98; Safford McMyler, 97; Ralph Sebold, 96.5; Martin Gerand, 96.25; Evelyn Erickson, 96; Elaine Hirschy, 95.37; Richard Sebold, 95.25; Hilda Schubert, 95; Virginia Hill, 93.5; Gloria Staley, 93.33; and Robert Wylie, 93.14.

Honorable mention was given to six other outstanding seniors in Math-Science Club, namely, Ruth Dauner, June Flaig, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Janet Holtmeyer, and Betty Koehler.

Fred Schweir and Clifford Springer were the speakers for the evening. Fred who was assisted by Ed Schouweiler, presented several chemistry experiments, and Clifford spoke on the subject "Visible Sound Waves."

Social Science Club members and its advisers, Mr. Wilburn Wilson and Miss Mary Crowe, were guests of the Math-Science members at this meeting. Social Science held its business meeting in the Greeley Room immediately following the program of the Math-Science Club. A vote was taken by ballots as to whether the club should have a picnic or a banquet to close the school year. Also nominations were made for next semester's officers, which are to be voted on at the next meeting.

Social Science and Math-Science members then joined together for the social part of the program in the Greeley Room. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Camera Members Arrange Elections

New Officers Will Be Selected
Wednesday; Club Plans Hike
To Foster Park, Spring Show

New officers will be chosen by Camera Club members at their meeting next Wednesday. It will be held in Room 36 at 3:30 o'clock. John Myers is the retiring president. Bob Zimmer has been vice-president; Herman Turner, secretary-treasurer; Ben Harris, dark-room manager; and John Logue, parliamentary.

Following the election, members will hike to Foster Park to take pictures. This is the first of the outdoor meetings planned by the club.

Members will also be asked to hand in the pictures they have taken for the spring exhibit. Mr. Francis Fay, club adviser, is arranging the exhibit program. It will be held in Room 36 the last of this month. Pictures taken, developed, and printed by Camera Club members will be featured.

450 People Attend Sophomore Party

Bob Druhot, Nancy Cherry Reign
As King, Queen; Master Of Ceremonies Is Fred Collins

Leading the Grand Parade of the Sophomore Party were King Bob Druhot and Queen Nancy Cherry, who were elected by members of the Sophomore class. As the boys and girls paraded about the gym, they were given bright-colored party hats and black masks. The patrons then sat about the floor while the king and queen were officially crowned by the class president, Betty MacKay.

Gay party hats, black masks, fishing, fortune tellers, balloons, and dancing marked the annual party. The South Side gym was the scene of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, as was called the party this year. Approximately 450 people attended.

Fred Collins acted as master of ceremonies for the evening's program. Mary Whittier sang several numbers and two groups of eight girls each, one dressed in gay formals and the other in shorts and blouses, were featured in dances.

Mr. Earl Sterner led three different groups in dancing. Refreshments in the form of ice cream bars and cookies were served to the guests. Bobbie Gordon's eight-piece orchestra furnished the music for the program and dancing after the organized entertainment.

Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. A. Verne Flint, sophomore class advisers, and the class officers chose the theme, planned the program, and did the decorating for the affair. Officers of this class are Betty MacKay, president; Victor Kaufman, vice-president; Marian Faux, secretary; and Dorothy McPherson, Marcella Schwartz, and Richard Shriner, social council.

Last Week
Thursday, May 8
Betty Jean Brubaker, Ross Hauser, Bobbie Hull, Vivian Shamburger and Eugene Witte.

Friday, May 9
Lois Likins, Romaine Rediger.

Saturday, May 10
Faye Alexander, Betty Jean Behrman, Dwight Davis, Joyce Enos and Bill Knoll.

Sunday, May 11
Wanda Baney.

Monday, May 12
William Brewer, Dick Wilson, Marjorie Sheldon and June Sheepe.

Tuesday, May 13
Harold Stillwell, Bryce Augsburger, Eileen Bracht, Charles Beall and Caroline Packler.

Wednesday, May 14
Donna Jean Mouglin.

This Week
Thursday, May 15
Dorothy Jean Burke and Audrey Longworth.

Friday, May 16
Robert Barnette.

Saturday, May 17
Vernon Smith and Betty Soderin.

Sunday, May 18
Billy Jones, Bill Miller, Jeanette Perry and Shirley White.

Next Week
Monday, May 19
Edwin Steele, Frances Meyers, Betty Jane Koehler and Virginia Orniston.

Tuesday, May 20
Doris Byroad, Jean Kern, Patricia Klebe and Helen Peck.

Wednesday, May 21
Robert Dalman, Austin Gardner, Mildred Linton, Dale Schouweiler, Patsy Rhodes and Kenneth Wollman.

Thursday, May 22
Jean Sheets, Calvin Singer, Dick Theye, Clarence Maskinke and Jean Moore.

Emalyn Rimmel, B. Jamieson Have Leads In Production as Chonita, Stefan

Tickets On Sale
For 35, 50 Cents

Ducats May Be Bought from Members Of Chorus, Orchestra, In Home Rooms

"Chonita", a gypsy operetta, based upon themes by Franz Liszt, will be presented tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock in the gymnasium, under the direction of Mr. Lester Hostettler.

In Hungary in 1880, a Gypsy tribe, in their colorful outdoor encampment, is celebrating the eighteenth birthday of Chonita. Chonita and Stefan love each other and plan to be married. The plot becomes rather complicated when Chonita is sent to Budapest to visit her rich relatives, the Stanesques; for their son, Konrad, and the Gypsy maid fall in love.

Emalyn Rimmel as Chonita and Bob Jamieson as Stefan, the minstrel of the Gypsy tribe, have the leading roles. Chonita is the daughter of the Gypsy chief, Murdo, who will be portrayed by Charles Close. Chonita's faithful old nurse, Daya, will be played by Lois Craig. Baron and Baroness Stanesques are portrayed by James Bunner and Wilma Lagemann. John Myers acts as their playboy son, Konrad. Emil, the faithful butler in the Stanesque household, will be played by John Oleott.

Tickets priced at fifty cents for the reserved section and thirty-five cents for unreserved seats have been on sale for the past week under the supervision of Mr. Ora M. Davis. Chorus and orchestra members and home room agents have aided in the sale.

Scenery for the Gypsy set and the Budapest home has been constructed by the art department, under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto. Several students, under Miss Erna Dochterman's direction, made the gay posters advertising the operetta. Mr. Jack Wainwright printed the eight-page programs.

Miss Lucy Osborne, who assisted selecting the cast, has coached Mr. Hostettler and Mr. Wainwright in speaking parts. Miss Margery Suter rendered valuable assistance at critic rehearsals.

Marilyn Wolf and Eleanora Christ taught the dances, under the supervision of Miss Alice Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith. Dance Club members who will present a Gypsy dance and a military routine are Mae Ann Stark, Barbara Cross, Phyllis Renkenberger, Gloria Deal, Marilyn Toole, Jean Schleiger, Rose-Etha Brazy, and Eleanora Christ.

Chorus dancers include Etheldrea Behling, Eleanora Christ, Joan Cox, Betty Fremion, Peggy Greaney, Phyllis Hubart, Ruth Kelso, Carolyn Plummer, Violet Reiter, Mae Ann Stark, Carol and Mary Whittier.

On the staff producing this operetta are the following students: Business managers, Robert Allen and Elizabeth Kelo; publicity, Carol Whittier, Joan Dodge, and Joyce Cleaver; stage guides, Elaine Polman, Lorraine Berning, Frances Weir, and Betty Jo Jones; electrician, Ben Harris; stage hands, Max Chandler, Wayne Brown, Edward Wade, and John Blair; prompter, Dorothy Snavey; and make-up, Dorothy Snavey, Bettill Stein, Gloria Staley, Wanda Baney, Joan Cox and Violet Reiter.

Accompanists for the groups are Bernita Eggers, Elaine Hirschy, Wilma Lagemann, Jacqueline McCoy, Doris Radcliffe, and Jack Ruhl. Don Aldrich and Bob Brooks will serve as ushers.

Those furnishing the orchestral accompaniment are as follows: First violin, Faye Gumpfer, Alice Jean Light, Elaine Boerger and Jean Fackler; second violin, Martha Davenport, Katherine Nicar and Frances Weir; viola, Elizabeth Kelo; cello, Hilda Schubert; Ruth Dauner, and Wyla Baldwin; harp, June Flaig; string bass, Marilyn Burns; tuba, Philip Allen; clarinets, Richard Fowler, John Gumpfer, Jim Bumke, and Lucy Smith; trombones, Tenny White and Elaine Brown; cornets, Calvin Singer and Julia Kayser; flute, Charles Hoke; and French horn, Robert Allen.

Save All The Dough Until A Time When You Really Knead It

Man always learns his greatest lessons from Mother Nature. Since time immemorial man has been striving to seek a higher source of knowledge, but inevitably he returns to the simplicity of nature for the answers to his problems.

Enough of philosophy—truly one can learn a great deal from good old Mother Nature. Let us take the case of the little squirrel. He knows that there will be difficult times ahead, so he saves and plans for the future. He realizes that there will come a day when nuts and acorns no longer cover the ground and when barren trees are devoid of any food whatsoever for a winter-stricken, hungry squirrel. Consequently he saves. Instead of wastefully eating all his nuts at one time, he gathers and hides caches of food for the long winter months.

In the process of civilization man has lost the instinct of thrift which comes naturally to the wild. Humans have been able to so change the world about them that there are no longer any winter months in their years. The average person's income is pretty much the same in June as it is in January. But there are still winter months—if not in the year, there are winter months of a lifetime.

Of course, we don't mean to say, that high school students should immediately start saving up for old age. Fifteen cents here, a quarter there, and a dime somewhere else won't finance an old age. In fact a great many people never reach the point in life where they are no longer able to support themselves. It's the HABIT OF SAVING that counts. There are times in practically everyone's life when a few extra dollars come in handy. If the habit of thrift has been studiously cultivated, those few extra dollars will be waiting at the bank. Thrift is a sort of an equalizer; it takes away that money which might otherwise be spent foolishly and returns it again when one is most thankful to have it.

Again We're Tracking Down South Siders "Off The Track"

This Saturday South Side's trackmen will enter the sectional track meet with a good chance of returning with a majority of the first place ribbons. The winners of the first two places in this event will be among the contestants at the forthcoming state meet. We have all seen that this year's crop of track stars have "meant business" in their endeavors. Can we say the same of our support? It is useless to keep harping on a certain subject if the same sermon and the same pleas are to be overlooked by the school as a whole. But we believe that our student body (with a few hard pinches) can be made to see its shortcomings. In short, we are again referring to this matter of—you guessed it—school spirit.

Yes, this year, more than ever, the fellows who carry the Archer banners on the cinder track need the help of an enthusiastic, sincere student body. Competition and mental strain are only two of the factors which have made this year's squad stand against even greater odds than ever before. It stands to reason that a bigger and better crowd up in the bleachers yelling, "Come on, you Archers!" cannot help but inspire our deserving athletes to greater accomplishments. We'll be looking for YOU at the seasonal track meet this Saturday. Will YOU be there?

Do you remember when? last summer, about the middle of August, you were counting the days until school would begin and you could see old acquaintances once again?

Really, one need never worry about a test. If one hasn't studied for it, it is sure to come; but, if one has studied, it doesn't make any difference anyway.

Daylight Saving Time has its disadvantages, too. It makes it just that much harder to come in and study.

Now that Polynesian Paradise and The Mardi Gras are over, we can start saving money for the Senior Dance.

"The flowers that bloom in the spring Huh!—poison ivy, too!"

The quotation, "The good die young", seems to have lost its force in this day of the automobile.

Believe it or not, summer vacation is less than a month away. Have you made your plans yet?

It Seems As If The No Bill Prize Is Awarded To Eller

Oh, for the life of a bill collector! Bills are handed out with the warning to have them in by the tenth-of the month, or else. Oh, this is terrible! I asked them to give me places to go that are close together; they gave me places all over town! Well, I guess I'll have to make the best of it. I gather up my books and, after dropping them several times, I manage to get on the bus—but I have to stand. I have so many books that I can't hold on to anything; so, every time the bus starts and stops, I fall and drop my books again. Finally some kind soul rings the bell, and I nearly knock him down as I rush to his seat.

Believe it or not, I reach my destination. The first place to which I am to go is rather dark and dingy. (It shouldn't be, however; the owners sell sweepers.) The old man is very gruff and tells me that he doesn't have the money now. I explain that the longer he waits, the more it will cost him; but he stops me with, "The longer I wait, the more money I will have."

The next place to call is about six blocks from town. When I get there I ring and ring the door bell. I know someone is there because I can hear music inside. Finally some guy opens the door. I have no sooner gotten the word "collect" out of my mouth when he opens his teeth falling out like hailstones. (They are just about as hard, too.) He is giving a music lesson and can't stop long enough to give me the money.

"But I have come so far—"

"No, call later!" (The door is shut in my face!)

By the time I reach town my feet are the worse for the wear. I will go to one more place and then home. I tramp into the last building that I was directed to and find the office I want is on the seventeenth floor. I wait for an elevator, and I am rewarded by finding that a very young man is going to take me up to the seventeenth floor—alone! I find my office but it was closed. What if they have forgotten me and everyone has left. How will I get out of the building? I find the stairs and start down. I go down one flight and rest; then another flight. (and another rest.) After an hour of walking and resting, I reach the main floor. As fortune has it, someone has forgotten to lock the door; and I don't have to break the glass after all.

I arrive home late at night—I don't know when. Oh, well—I guess it's all in a day's work!

Dead Letter Days

By A. Loeser

Coming Events
With the closing of school many events will be here; Ivy Day coming so soon does seem queer! I'm wondering who she is (and her attendants, too), Who will plant the green ivy in the morning dew.

This event is one looked forward to by the class. As the ceremony is so impressive to the entire mass. Who the orator will be remains a secret yet; But whoever it is will be grand, I'll bet.

The Totems will be out very soon, And they're a definite feature in the month of June. Everyone will be signing pictures and saying sweet things; And, to all Totem owners, sweet nothings a signer slings.

Another event looked forward to Is Recognition Day, when school is nearly through. Language, math, and journalism kids are honored greatly. Indeed, this program is carried on sedately.

The Senior Dance is what is anticipated most; Our dances have gained fame from coast to coast. This is a fine climax to the senior "affairs". Seeing all the fellows with their favorite "dears".

Last, but far from least, is graduation day, When all who have studied can now play. School is over for them, at least till September; And South Side High they will always remember.

Graduation
The day will soon be here, And seniors have no fear That graduation will be grand. (Not only in South Side, but over the land.)

To think they do not have to work On Algebra or English—just shirk! Oh, that indeed is the life for me, From books and studies always free.

But if this were true, I really wonder If our whole country wouldn't go to thunder. For school is really for you and me— At least that is what I am told, you see.

This Is Net Idle P(r)addle!

If you've seen a young man around lately who is not very tall, is rather dark, and possesses that strange wide-eyed look peculiar to anyone just beginning really to get acquainted with South Side, who has the vigor of a student but the dignity of a teacher, it's probably Mr. Ralph Murray. This new pedagogical has been inhabiting our halls only since the beginning of the semester. You may see him in classrooms, you may see him at The Grill, but you'll more than likely see him in Room 170, sponsoring a table tennis club.

Shortly after his arrival at South Side, Mr. Murray was introduced by Mr. Maurice Cook to some boys who were interested in organizing a varsity table tennis team. It was suggested that a tournament be held to determine which boys should play on the team. Of twenty-seven enthusiastic contestants, the six highest formed the varsity table tennis team. The six next highest constituted the second team. This was the way in which the South Side table tennis team was organized.

But it was only the beginning for Mr. Murray. He had hardly arrived at South Side before he stimulated a new type of activity. He soon found himself sponsoring a new club, working at noons and after school. He began planning for outside matches and soon arranged for such contests as the one held with the Fort Wayne Table Tennis Club. Arcola, Central, and International-Harvester are among the future opponents for this semester.

To maintain his position on the team, a player must attend two one-hour practices a week. The varsity boys, however, practice every noon and sometimes play as late as six-thirty or seven o'clock after school. The tables are open to all boys at noon. From three-thirty to four-thirty o'clock one table is reserved for team play, and after this both tables are used by the varsity players.

To better his position, a player must be able to win two out of three games when challenging the player who is his superior; but, to advance, he must be able to beat his immediate superior.

To be eligible, each player must be certified by the office before each match, just as in other sports. The club is working toward an award system whereby a player may earn a letter for outstanding work. New nets have recently been added to the school's ping pong equipment.

Concerning tips on how to master this game, Mr. Murray says, "Just practice!" Proof that this plan is successful can be given by South Side's top eight players who are (in rank): Max Stobaugh, Ray Commers, Norman Fortress, John Craig, Kenneth Hibler, Charles Gramlich, Wayne Brown, and Gerald Wullman.

Mr. Murray, who considers sponsoring this new organization his chief hobby, also likes to read and go to the movies. He educates South Side students in business law, business problems, and bookkeeping.

Double Features

By Marge Sheldon

Curly wisps of strawberry blonde hair, a pair of clear, sparkling violet-blue eyes, a bright, attractive tooth-paste advertisement smile, and a silvery soprano voice are all one needs to recognize—Emalyn Remmel.

NOSE: This popular senior miss "nose" just about all that's happening around these southern portals—before it happens! She's very active in the musical department, so she's on the inside of most of the surprise assemblies and programs. She "nose" what's what in "parley-vous Francaise" as well as her other subjects; her grades prove that!

COMPLEXION: Deep scarlet should you mention Cliff Matson; livid purple that in Miss Kiefer's English class. (Her most embarrassing moment occurred during a lecture by her pedagogy on a certain Grecian urn. It seems that the touching painting on this old world masterpiece depicted a certain Greek god eternally kissing a mortal. Emalyn couldn't restrain an awed "Chee!" and, of course, the class, including Miss Kiefer, literally howled!)

FINGERS: She has her fingers in practically everything: Philo, Math-Science, Wranglers, Extemp, Cameraman, Chorus, and Quill and Scroll; and she is vice-president of Inter-Club Congress. She dislikes snooty or catty people, but she'd go for a dish of strawberries anytime! Kay Kyser tops her list of favorite orchestras, and she adores dancing. Margaret Speaks and Dennis Day take first in the radio vocal lanes, and her love of music is even carried into the movie realm, for Jeanette MacDonald heads her "likes" in Hollywood. Her most recent achievement is her leading role in the operetta, in which Bob Jamieson plays opposite her.

FEET: First, she plunged down from a huge box during a spring festival at Hoagland School. It seems the little boy directly behind her had a pin. (The consequences were as expected.) While at Hoagland, she won second place in the finals of an oratorical declamation contest; and, as a freshman in high school, she placed third in the freshman speech contest.

One of her never-to-be-forgotten experiences happened last summer on Winona Lake, when the canoe in which she and another girl were paddling nearly capsized in a heavy blow. They settled on the opposite side of the lake and ended up at a conservation laboratory. Several obliging fellows put the canoe, girls and all, into the back of a truck and returned them to their worried friends who were looking frantically for them.

EYES: are turned toward a musical career via a larger school and perhaps a musical conservatory later. This tiny package of dynamic personality (five feet four, to be exact) adores pep sessions and programs that show school spirit—things the whole school does together—especially the school song, which still thrills her through and through. Swimming and golf (when she has a few spare minutes) constitute her hobbies, and she has a positive mania for suits and blouses.

All's Fair In Love And Wear; Doesn't Our Regalia Kill You?

The present World War has tended to make a decided change in the fashions of today. American designers are now given a chance to display their talents. A few French designers have come to America to continue their profession and have changed their styles (and ours, too.)

The most outstanding evidence of the War in clothes has been the nautical effect on dresses, suits, and even hats. We find that sailor dresses are not dying out as would an ordinary fad, but are being carried over into the summer wardrobe. Slacks, dresses, bathing suits and also shoes have a nautical air about them. Shoes this summer have rope soles.

In the first World War clothes were probably affected a little more so than today. We discovered then that dresses almost left the fashion picture to allow boyish suits to take over. There were very few women who wore frilly, feminine clothes. Nearly all clothes were tailored... Today, however, the women can still play the part of the weaker sex. Dresses are even more frilly and fancy than last year; colors are gay and bright.

College and high school girls started it; now fashion designers perfect it. We refer to the throwing of a coat over the shoulders instead of putting it on. Perhaps it was because of the heavy suits worn by girls that coats that became cumbersome were slung over the shoulders. This year we note on the fashion calendar that capes are extremely popular and are comfortable to wear.

This summer one will find dirndl skirts extremely smart. Nearly all of the summer dresses and skirts are made of this material. Big gay prints, stripes, checkers, and polka-dots are chic. Maybe they are so popular because they are comfortable and can be worn on any occasion (or perhaps, because they are so flattering to the figure.)

Hawaii has certainly contributed a lot for the smart dressers. Leis of sea shells are the latest fads in neckwear... In the months to come, enormous handbags lined with rubber will be a handy thing in which to carry a bathing suit, pens, all cosmetics, and pins.

Here is where those large scarves you made for winter will come in handy. This spring wear and come face to face with the problem of what to wear for a wrap, you can run to the closet and revive last winter's scarf. Just drape it around your shoulders gracefully and start out. Fashion experts shine with approval.

Are You In A State Of Sanity; Is Insanity Your State Now?

By Edgar Kettler

Are you normal? This seems like a rather personal question for your roving reporter to ask, but it becomes sensible after a few (?) words of explanation. A few weeks ago the Quiz Kids were on a program with Bill Stern, the sports commentator. During the course of the program, the question of sanity came up. Poor Bill then became the object of an ingenious experiment. Here is the general scheme of the examination which proved the sports announcer's (and later on, the Archers') mental fitness:

The examiner first asks the victim to name a color. Then the latter is asked to call out the name of a piece of furniture. Finally the mental genius (or dunce) must pick a number between one and five. According to the psychologists on the program, if a person does not answer, "red", "chair", and either "three" or "four", the normal answers, he is either a genius or he is insane. I shall leave it to you to judge the category the following Archers fall into by their replies to the foregoing questions:

Bill Miller: Red, chair, four.
Marjorie Dyer: Red, chair, five.
John Warner: Green, chair, five.
Paul Keil: Red, chair, four.
Richard Fishering: Red, chair, four.
David Rea: Red, davenport, three.
Lola Rodriguez: Red, chair, three.
Safford McMyler: Blue, chair, four.
Al Schaaf: Red, chair, four.
Katherine Kuntz: Pink, chair, three.
Miriam Jackson: Red, chair, three.

A Dinner Unsettled Leaves One Nettle

By "Toto"

Wouldn't it be fine if everyone were given a study period after lunch? Even the doctors advise a short nap after eating. This going to sixth period class and sleeping isn't quite the thing to do (as my teacher pointed out to me on my report card). Let me illustrate what I mean.

I've just come back from lunch and have an English class in ten minutes. Ohmigosh, I think we had to report on the Readers' Digest today. Now where is my Readers' Digest? I just had it right here. Let's see, now—lipstick, comb, one public speaking debate, six pencils, one pencil sharpener, two cents, a driver's license, but no Readers' Digest. Well, it's too late now; there's the bell.

Ten minutes elapse; class is now in session. Teacher: Betty, we will now hear your report from the Readers' Digest. Me: Teacher, I'm sorry but...

Teacher: Stand up in front of the room, please. Me: I can't find my Readers' Digest, but I read a very good article in True Story that might do. Let's see now—it was about a policeman.

Teacher: You'd better sit down. So you can see what happens to people who have a class after lunch. Think what a great blessing to humanity a rule granting a sixth period study to everyone would be. Those sufferers who have the same trouble as I do will heartily agree with me on this subject. All that is needed is a petition to the faculty and five minutes to get out of school in case the said faculty doesn't agree.

Teachers Still Have Hand In Everything From GAA To XYZ

Have you ever heard it said that a teacher is created only to teach or to be taught? If you have, don't believe it—at least not of the members of our South Side faculty. A poll of the various Archer teachers produced the following evidence to the contrary:

Miss Susan Peck: I have sponsored the Meterite Club since 1927. I am assistant sponsor of the CMC and English clubs.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler: I sponsor the XYZ's; I was sponsor of the Math-Science Club.

Mr. Earl Sterner: I am now faculty adviser for the Latin Club. For five years I was the sponsor of the Torch Club and the sophomore class.

Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke: Sponsoring the Wranglers Club takes all of my spare time.

Miss Gretchen Smith: I have sponsored GAA as long as I have been teaching at South Side.

Miss Mabel Portney: Sponsoring the Junior Math Club takes most of my time.

Miss Olive Perkins: At present I sponsor the French Club. I have sponsored the USA and Travel clubs.

All Loyola Prudents Are Loyal Students

The college of arts and sciences of Loyola University is located in Chicago, Illinois. The collegiate studies pursued here form a part of the Jesuit educational training. In accordance with this purpose of the school, its enrollment is limited to the members of the Jesuit Order.

The educational system in use in the colleges of Loyola University is guided by the principles set forth in a body of rules outlined by the most prominent Jesuit educators. It is fundamental in the Jesuit system that different studies have distinct educational values. Mathematics, the natural sciences, language, and history are the most important subjects offered. Language has held a position of honor at Loyola as an instrument of culture.

The university affords every facility for the mental and physical development of the student. In addition to the regular buildings containing classrooms and laboratories, there are the alumni gymnasium, the Memorial Library (which houses 330 periodicals), and the Madonna Della Strada Chapel.

This Green Doesn't Play The Golf Game The Really Fairway

By Bill Bone

With the warm days of May rolling around, our attention is turning to the great out-of-doors and the fine sport of golf. Ah yes, well do I remember the first and only time I attempted to drive a ball! But enough of this reminiscing—let's start from the beginning.

First, after paying the nominal fee of thirty-five cents, one advances to the first hole and sets his ball on a tee between the two little white markers which he cannot help but see. Then the potential player opens his eyes and sticks his hand into the golf bag which his little brother is carrying. Of course a caddy may be hired, but a little brother is much more economical.

Having placed his hand into the bag, one must draw out a club—any club. It doesn't make much difference which club is chosen because the chances are that the ball won't be hit anyway. Next the player should take a few practice swings and then line up with the ball. "Bring the club back and then swing," is the rule. If my example is followed, one won't even hit the thing for the first fifteen tries; and then by that time, if no one is looking, the ball may be picked up and carried to the next green. After several attempts with the putter, if the "enthusiast" still has not succeeded in sinking the ball into the cup, he should get down on his hands and knees and shoot the thing like a marble.

About this time one is due to be hit on the head with a stray ball which is followed with the usual "Fore!" There are always those bright golfers who wait until the ball almost hits some poor, unsuspecting victim before they warn him of his coming danger. If you're the kind of golfer I am, you give up upon reaching this step and go home.

The Booster Room Boldly Boasts That It Stores Stale Stuff

Do you know where the Booster Room is? Not many of the students in South Side would be able to tell an outsider where it is if they were asked. Not many teachers know where it is, either. The Booster Room is used by the Booster Club, although the Times staff has access to it also. In order that those in doubt will be able to place and know more of the Booster Room and the other special rooms about our building, we are presenting a series of informative articles on the subject.

The Booster Room is used chiefly for the storing of files for The Times. Sample sheets of every Times issue from the initial copy to the latest issue are stored in here. These files date back to October 6, 1922. There are three huge cupboards which store all of the papers. In this room there is also a pile of financial records.

All of the material which is used for the School Press Review is stored in this room. In addition to these items, the Booster Room houses all of the cuts and mats for ads used in The Times and Totems of former years. All of the left-over Totems of previous years are also kept in the Booster Room.

The Booster Club uses this room for different purposes. During the basketball and football seasons, candy, drinking cups, boxes, baskets, candy, and gum are stored in the room. The candy and gum is stored in a box to protect it from mice and other harmful things.

The location of the Booster Room is in the northern section of the building, just to the left of the north gym entrance. The only persons who have keys to the Booster Room are Miss Rowena Harvey and Miss Mary Poock.

Romance Languages Are Favorite Spring Subjects Of Students

Although some students rate "A" in English, Latin, and math, they can't average above an "F" in the language of love. Then there are those who rate tops in romance but low in school work. Looking over the grades of the South Side lovers, we find many fine scholars.

Two new loversick scholars to enroll in "Mimi" Dunbar's school of love are Gene Reichart and "Doc" Dannecker. The boys are hoping for a lot of homework since "Mimi's" attentions during class time are divided among the rest of the scholars... Ken Iba and Juanita Drews have been doing their home work together on Saturday nights. In fact, Kenny has helped Juanita so much that she has rewarded him with her club pin.

Since Sam Johnson received an "A" for courting Rosemary DeFavel, he has decided that she needs some private tutoring. Consequently these two have been seen about town together lately... Marilyn Soudes has left the South Side Romeos for a boy with higher book learning. The lucky boy is an intellectual genius from Indiana University.

John Potter can't keep his eyes on his books in class because they continually wander in the direction of Catherine Somers, who already has Byron Singer at her beck and call... Lorraine Lord and Tyke Hartman are making up for all the time they skipped from the school of romance last winter; so both soon will be graduating with high honors from the school of love.

Indiana University Is Being Expanded To Add Facilities

When a student thinks of college, first thoughts naturally are concerned with the schools of his own state. There is a surprisingly low percentage of high school students planning to attend Indiana schools, who have never seen any, or at least any but a few, of our own Indiana universities and colleges. Consequently we are presenting a verbal picture of one of our foremost state universities, Indiana University.

The campus of Indiana University is situated on the edge of the small city of Bloomington, Indiana. The buildings cover quite a large area of rolling territory, for the most part covered with trees, particularly maple. There are constantly being built new edifices to augment the universities educational facilities. The newest of these is the Music Hall, in reality a huge auditorium. It is located by the field house and the stadium near the edge of the campus. In the past few years there have been a number of other buildings constructed, including the Union Building and science and mathematics halls. On the other hand, some of the older buildings date back to the nineteenth century.

Some of the internal improvements of these new buildings have not been entirely completed, such as the library in the physics and mathematics hall. These are continually being added to and improved. One of the interesting features on display at the physics hall is the new cyclotron, or atom-smasher. By this new instrument the department hopes to further the research into the mysteries of the atom. Exploration of the atom is the "hobby" of one of the physics faculty members. (The cyclotron weighs seventy tons, occupies a major portion of the basement, all requires an overhead block and tackle to move equipment around.)

The fraternity and sorority houses are located across the street from the campus. The school is situated within the limits of the city, and offers easy access to the business district.

Pupils To Attend Butler Field Day

Eleven Times Staff Members To Go To Indianapolis Saturday In Journalism Conference

A group of South Siders under Miss Rowena Harvey's supervision will journey to Indianapolis Saturday to participate in the annual Butler University Journalism Field Day.

Those who will attend are John Gumpfer, Becky Abbott, Jane Klinefelter, Ruth Hageman, Franklin Neff, Tom Yates, Tompse Hall, Kenneth Breimeier, Margaret Kienzle, Bill McNulty, and Marilyn McGuire.

From 8:30 a. m. till 4 p. m. the students and teachers will attend lectures, conferences, and discussions. In the morning a one-hour contest will be held, and at a luncheon Saturday noon awards will be given. Becky Abbott will deliver a speech.

Marriages Of Former Kelleys Are Announced

Several announcements of coming and recent marriages of former South Side students have been made.

Miss Elizabeth Luyben, a graduate of South Side, will marry Mr. Lloyd W. Burgener, a former Central High School student, on June 14, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Miss Marjorie Ruth Merryman, formerly of Central, became the bride of Mr. William W. Ostermeyer, South Side alumnus, on April 29. Miss Mary Ellen Gingham, formerly of South Side, became the bride of Mr. Philip S. Dunham of Orlando, Florida, on March 24. Mrs. William Arnold Walker, known as Juanita Rarick when at South Side, was married on November 30, 1940, it was announced by Mrs. Walker's parents.

Each of the students in Miss Perkins' French 4, period 7 class, has completed some special project, such as maps illustrating a story read, dressing dolls in native French costumes and making scrap books, and

Bill Blass Wins First In Designing Contest

Bill Blass, who was graduated from South Side last spring, won the first prize in the Design for Living contest.

Bill is the first man ever to win an award in this series. While in South Side, he had eight terms of art, specializing in costume designing.

Last summer Bill won five prizes in a costume designing contest staged by the Chicago Tribune. He is now a student at the McDowell School of Design in New York. He will finish his course sometime in July. Bill's design was pictured in the May issue of "Mademoiselle."

Tom Wilson To Lead Problem Discussion

Tom Wilson will be in charge of today's meeting of Torch Club, which will meet at 3:30 o'clock in Room 174. A discussion of some school problem will be featured. Mr. Ernest Walker, club adviser, announced.

A definite date for the spring camping trip has been given. So it would not conflict with Mother's Day, May 11, the date is set for May 31 and June 1. Dick Holmes was inducted into the club last Thursday.

Publication Bosses Are Very Thrilled About Future Jobs

What would you think if you were chosen a staff member of the Times or Totem next year? Would you be thrilled? Would you be sorry? Well, here are some of the thoughts of the staff members of next year.

John Gumpfer, the new general manager and business manager of the Totem: I'm speechless, but I think The Times and The Totem next year should be very good since we have such good workers.

Pat Sanford, Totem editor: I am awfully pleased, and I hope we can have the best Totem ever.

Jane Klinefelter, co-managing editor: I am very happy about the whole thing, and I am sure that we shall have the best Times yet with our new staff.

Ruth Hageman, co-managing editor: I hope that Jane and I can do our job as well as those have done it before us.

Bill McNulty, editorial editor: It's going to be the best editorial page yet—with the biggest, best, and most interesting dirt column.

Alene Loeser, feature editor: I think it will be a lot of fun.

Kenneth Breimeier, make-up editor: I think it will be a lot of fun to make up The Times.

Tompse Hall, business manager: The business manager's job is a very responsible job and good experience. I think the business side of The Times will be good and will work very efficiently.

Marge McNabb, Totem co-circulation manager: I am thrilled to death and will do my best to get the subscriptions in and surpass this year's mark.

Betty Stamp, Totem co-circulation manager: I'll do my very best to equal and perhaps surpass, this year's subscription mark.

Now that you have heard what the new heads are going to do, what do you think of your paper and year-book? I think that with these excellent workers The Times and The Totem will again rate among the highest next year.

Kelley's Have Articles Printed On Youth's Page

Four Archers made contributions to Youth's Passing Show last week. Articles written by Ellen Wehr and Eleanor Christ and poems by Coleen Gentry and Gene Hargen were published. Ellen's story was about the Saturday that she got up to go to school. Coleen's poem was titled, "My Wonder" (her wonder is—who is Yehudi?) "She Came, She Saw, She Conquered" was the title of Gene's poem.

Eleanor wrote an article about her mother's narrow escape from death in the war days of 1918. A picture of Eleanor and her mother was also printed.

Social Science Plans To Entertain May 25

Social Science Club is planning to have a picnic this year instead of their regular annual banquet. The picnic will be May 25. Presentation of honors and formal speeches will be very short. Dick Theye, Eva Jean Wylie, and Ruth Dauner, officers of the club, are in charge of the arrangements, which are still indefinite.

Three Hundred-Thirty Typists Keep Typewriters C-Cl-Clicking

Click, click, click is a familiar sound coming from the southwest extremity of our building in Rooms 182 and 184. These rooms are for the purpose of typing, and they contain seventy-five typewriters. Fifty are in the large room and twenty-five in the smaller room.

Royal, Remington, Underwood, and L. C. Smith are the names of the various kinds of typewriters. You will probably be interested to know that 100 pupils are taking Typing 1, 169 are taking Typing 2, 10 are in the Typing 3 class, and 51 are taking Typing 4. This comes to a grand total of 330 typing pupils in South Side. Both Rooms 182 and 184 are open until 5 o'clock every day for pupils who wish to type after school.

Around the walls in Room 184 are motivation charts, which show the rate of speed of each student.

A large chart on the front board of Room 184 represents the Big Ten in the Typing 2, period 7 class. Those with the ten highest rates get their names on the ten highest stars, then the next ten are listed as the second Big Ten, and the third highest ten typists have their names under the third Big Ten heading.

Some of the outstanding pupils in Miss Covalt's Typing 2 class are Lois Hoff, Laverne Holloway, Marie Boehm, Annabelle Harrod, Joan Squires, and Thelma Draper. All of these girls are in the clerical branch and can type 50 words a minute. Elaine Hirsch, who is in this class, is the only person who can type 60 words a minute.

Above 60 words a minute is an excellent average and below are listed girls who have typed at that rate: Eileen Kiessling, Wilma Lagemann, Betty Nichols, Bernadine Pressler, Lois Ringenberg, Miriam Roebel, Marilyn Sappington, Marion Seemeyer, Maxine Stough, Helen Savage, Eileen Horman, Jeanne Smith, and Pauline Schoenherr. Betty Lapp, who is on the clerical branch, has the highest speed in Miss Covalt's class, typing 70 words a minute with only four errors.

MARY LYBROOK, IN MR. MURCH'S CLASS, HAS A SCORE OF 74 WORDS A MINUTE.

At the end of semester 1, pupils must type at least 20 words a minute, with no more than six errors on a five-minute test.

At the end of semester 2, students must type at least 30 words a minute with no more than six errors on a ten-minute test. The students must be able to type 35 words a minute, with no more than six errors on a ten-minute test at the end of the third semester. At the end of the fourth semester, pupils must be able to type 40 words a minute with no more than six errors on a ten-minute test.

Eileen Reinking Has Title Of Enthusiastic Soph GAA Member

Eileen Reinking, enthusiastic GAA sophomore, receives the celebrity spotlight this week. She joined GAA as soon as she came to South Side, and she has been active in every type of sport since then.

Eileen was born in Fort Wayne on May 31, 1925. She received her educa-tion at Zion Lutheran Grade School before entering South Side. Her fa-vorite teacher is Miss Susan Peck, and she rates art highest on her list of studies.

Her favorite all-time movie was "Rebecca", and she nominates Bill Holden and Priscilla Lane as the perfect screen couple. She also chooses "Rebecca" as her favorite book.

Give Elaine strawberry short cake to eat, and you'll remain her friend for life. Her most embarrassing mo-moment occurred when she was on a date and it began to rain, and her dress started to shrink. Her pet peeve is just themes.

Her most thrilling moment came, as she puts it, "When I met Chuck, etc." We'd like for her to explain the etc., and of course, it's understood that Chuck refers to Chuck Under-wood. Her hobby is baton twirling, and she puts it to a good use by twirl-ing for the Wolf and Dessauer Girls' Band.

Although she excels in every sport in which she participates, she would rather play tennis than all the others. She is a 10A, in the commercial course, and her ambition is to become a stenographer.

Girls' Sportsettes

Our congratulations to Charabelle Squires for winning the ping-pong tournament. She really did swell play-ing, and earned the right to be cham-pion. Also congratulations to "Fuz-zy" Amstutz, for being runner-up.

GAA's annual banquet is to be held Tuesday, May 27, in the cafe-teria. Come on, girls, sign up and make this a bigger and better banquet than we've ever had. The admission is 30 cents.

Barbara Burt has now taken on a new nickname that just fits her. The name is Touchy.

Most gym classes have been prac-ticing for track.

Some freshmen who have really been doing some fine baseball playing are Marilyn Domer, Alice Dolin, Wanda Hoover, and Maxine Clark.

Betty MacKay is getting good in high jumping. Last week, she jumped over 4 feet. Keep the good work up, Betty, and maybe you can beat the record, four ft., eleven inches.

Two Weeks' Christmas Is Set For Next Year

School for the 1941-42 year, will start September 2 and will run until the Teachers' Association meeting, October 23 and 24. The next vacation will be the Thanksgiving vacation, November 20 and 21. Christmas vaca-tion is set for December 22 to Janu-ary 4. March 30 to April 3 will be spring vacation. The school year ends June 12.

Badminton Double Winners Revealed

Jo Ann Spore, Kate Sanders Are GAA Champs; Jeanne Smith, Geneva Martin Take Second

JoAnn Spore and Kate Sanders claimed the badminton doubles title last Friday evening. The runners-up were Jeanne Smith and Geneva Mar-tin, who played a close game with the score of 21 to 16, 17 to 21, and 21 to 12.

To climb up to the championship, Spore and Sanders defeated Betty Hargan and Mae Scheele in the semi-finals by a score of 21 to 15, 21 to 11. In the quarter finals, Spore and Sand-ers won over Dorothy Jackson and Norma Russell by a score of 21 to 13, 21 to 6.

In the quarter finals, Geneva Mar-tin and Jeanne Smith defeated Betty Kyvik and Marilyn Meyers by 21 to 9, 21 to 3. Maxine Sterling and Phyllis Amstutz defeated Delores Ma-jorski and Helen Long by default.

Lenora Moyer and Rosemary Spore defeated Mary Mallers and Phyllis Westerman by the scores of 21 to 6, 21 to 8. By the scores of 21 to 9, 21 to 7, Ilo Hirschman and Helen Marschand defeated Colleen Colicho and Martha Smith.

Betty Hargan and Mae Scheele de-feated Betty Thiele and Irene Meyer by the scores of 21 to 17, 21 to 15. Pat Jackson and Maxine Asmus de-feated Laurel Bacon and Gloria Har-dendorf by 21 to 12 and 21 to 19.

Rooms Are Continuing Improvement Projects

Beautification projects of the home rooms are being continued this week. Mr. Francis Fay's and Miss Beluah Rinehart's home rooms are planting flowers in one of the two remaining vases. Miss Mary Crowe, Miss Mary McCloskey, and Miss Susan Peck are filling the other urn. Mr. J. H. Mc-Claire's room is planting flowers near the observatory. The flowers on the north corner are being planted by Mr. Lloyd Whelan's home room.

Those projects which have been already carried out are planting of birch trees, flowers in the urns and ivy. Dandelions were dug and walls washed. All these proved a success because of the students' cooperation. Mr. C. A. Bex has been directing the undertakings.

Tests Given To Deaf

Audiometer tests have proved a great aid in discovering hearing dis-abilities. Those students who have hearing defects are to have definite tests. This plan will be a continuous one.

Remedial measures looking to cor-rection will be supplied by the School City. These tests will be of value to the persons receiving them in aiding correction.

Archers Will Work, Sleep, Have Dates, Eat During Summer

In about four weeks school will be over. To all of us it will be a great day. To some 437 seniors it will be the last day of their high school life.

Following are the answers to the question, "To what do you look forward most when school is out?"

Bob Dalman: Moonlit nights in Devil's Hollow and work.

Mary Current: Eating a lot and sleeping a lot.

Bob Hockemeyer: Dates and work, mostly dates.

Jim Straley: A life of leisure under a shower.

Barbara Couser: The relief that I won't have to study every night for three(3) hours.

Dick Gallmeyer: My job.

Laverne Griener: Riding around in convertibles.

Pat Racht: Taking it easy and rest-ing up for school next term.

Barbara Scudder: Playing golf.

Jeanne Siedel: Playing golf.

Pat Sanford: Getting ideas for the 1942 Totem.

Reports Due Soon

All school clubs and organizations should begin to think about the financial reports which must be made at the end of the year. The clubs which can close their financial trans-actions early should do so and start the preparation of their reports. All reports must be complete on the last day of school.

GAA Ball Games Near Completion

Betties Hargan, MacKay, Alice Fisher Captain Victorious Teams; Runs, Scores Listed

Margaret Dale's Junior 2's were de-feated by Alice Fisher's Sophomore 4 team by the score of 14 to 7. Betty Baker and Kate Sanders each made four runs to bring the sophomores to victory.

On diamond three Betty Hargan's Junior 1's defeated Betty Baker's Junior 3's by one point, the score be-ing 14 to 13. Each member of the winning team made two runs each. Kathleen Neith made five runs for the losing team. The umpires for these games were Marjorie Shannon, Mar-tha Dirmeyer, Ilo Hirschman, and Alice Dolin.

May 16 Is Date For Tests On Safety Units

Seniors and juniors are to complete the suggested lessons on safety for May 9, and on May 16 should receive the bulletin on Winter Hazards, "Thrills of Spring", Red Cross Home Questionnaire, and Accidental Death Toll of 1940. Tests will be given over these units on May 16.

New Society Membership Is Honored

Sixty-eight Archers Belonging To National Society Are Recognized On May 8

Principal Acts As Toastmaster

Donna L. Foutz, Bob Hines Make Welcome, Accept-Talks; Music Is Heard

Sixty-eight members were recognized at the thirteenth annual National Honor Society Banquet last Thursday night at the Plymouth Congregational Church. The banquet theme was carried out in the society's colors of gold and blue. Individual places were marked with a large blue and gold National Honor emblem, while programs were blue with a gold torch.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, acted as toastmaster. Donna Lou Foutz, graduate of '39, welcomed the incoming members into the society. "Processions", the acceptance, was given by Bob Hines.

The four characteristics, "character, scholarship, leadership, and service", for which the National Honor Society stands, was brought out by speeches given by Safford McMyler, Edward Meyer, Maxine Case, and Sam Bacon. Safford spoke on "But One Lamp", which was on character. "The God of the Great Endeavor" gave Me a Torch to Bear" was given by Edward. Maxine Case spoke on "How Far That Little Candle Throws Its Beams". Sam Bacon gave the final characteristic talk on "I Lift My Lamp".

Musical program preceding the banquet was given by the past trio of South Side. Members included Ruth Baade, pianist; Loretta Riner, violinist; Elfrida Schubert, cello. Emalyn Remmel, member of the society, sang "I Love Life." She was accompanied at the piano by Mildred Hanke.

A quartet composed of Helen Savage, Gloria Staley, Ruth Dauner, and Wilma Lageman sang "Send Forth Thy Light." The quartet was accompanied by Mildred Hanke and Elaine Hirschy at the piano. Betty Elbersen and Faye Gumpfer at the violins, Hilda Schubert at the cello, and June Flaig at the harp.

New members of the National Honor Society were introduced by silent slide pictures. Dick Theye gave a short talk on each member. Every-one sang "From Sea to Shining Sea" to conclude the program.

Members of the society are Rebecca Abbott, Robert Allen, Sam Bacon, Edmund Bauer, Kathryn Beckman, Joseph Bekius, John Bonsib, Mary Bowly, James and Robert Brooks, Louise Buesking, Maxine Case, Ruth Dauner, Francis DuWaldt, Marjorie Dyer, Betty Elbersen, Evelyn Erickson, June Flaig, Rosella Foutz, Clarence Freeman, Martin Gernard, Faye and Lois Gumpfer, Mildred Hanke, Louisa Haugk, Ralph Herb, Virginia Hill, Robert Hines, Elaine Hirschy, Janet Holtmeyer, Marjorie Hopkins, Eileen Hornmann, and Paul Keil.

Others are Elizabeth Kelso, Betty Jane Koehler, Katherine Kuntz, Wilma Lageman, Maurine Leas, Carolyn Lichtenberg, Mary Lybrook, Sarah Jane Makey, Clifford Matson, Safford McMyler, Gertrude Merkel, Donald and Ed Meyer, Lester Oppenlander, Bernadine Pressler, Romyne Rediger, Emalyn Remmel, Robert Robinson, Joel Salom, Helen Savage.

Hilda Schubert, Ralph and Richard Sebold, Marjorie Sheldon, Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley, Elizabeth Stein, Violet Steinbauer, Dick Theye, Shirley White, Rudolph Wuttke, Eva Jean and Robert Wylie, and Robert Young complete the list.

Members of the committees assisting Miss Mabel Thorne, chairman, were Edmund Bauer, Janet Holtmeyer, and Louisa Haugk.

Ten members of the junior class served. Those were Mary Ellen Barrett, Carolyn Trenary, Joan Cox, Mary Nell Spiegel, Roberta Steck, Doris Radcliff, Janet Whetsel, Ellen Harry, Katherine Summers, and Dorothy Snively.

Mr. and Mrs. Northrop of North Side, Mr. and Mrs. Croninger of Central, Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent, Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider were guests.

"Learn It, Freshies", Inform Kelly Seniors About School's Song

"It's a swell song, but we should have learned it when we were freshmen", is the unanimous opinion expressed by those seniors interviewed by your roving reporter when asked, "What do you think of the school song and what do you think about waiting until you were a senior to learn it?" This question was particularly timely, for each senior home room has spent a recent home room period in the band room to learn the school song under Mr. Hosteller's direction for the Ivy Day ceremonies. The seniors questioned gave many varied answers which follow:

Joe Loos: I think we should learn it as freshmen instead of waiting until we are seniors.

Larry Phipps: It's a very fine song; but the last four Ivy Days I've attended, the seniors couldn't sing it.

Jim Weaver: It's a good song, but we should have learned it earlier.

Fred Schwieler: It's OK.

Fred Sharp: It's all right and you should wait till you are a senior to learn it.

Marge McMahon: It is very pretty, but we should have learned it sooner.

Don Meyer: We should have started learning it when we were freshmen.

Ed Meyer: It's a beautiful ditty, and even freshmen should know it.

Red Bradley: They should start singing it sooner.

Dick Theye: Ditto.

Art Parry: It is a very fine song.

Mac McKay: Everyone should learn it when he is a freshman.

Kelley Pupils Fmd Work In Factories

GE. Wayne Knitting Mills, Bowser's, Professional Baseball Bureau Employ Ten Archers

Archer students have been found working in many of the Fort Wayne factories. Several are working at the General Electric and others are working at the Wayne Knitting Mills, Bowser's, and the Professional Baseball Bureau.

Those students working at the General Electric are Dale Amstutz, Bryce Augsburg, Clifford Hess, Bob Moses, Kathryn Laubman, Donna Jean Neff, and Gloria Wieke; Wayne Knitting Mills, Bob Englehart; Bowser's, Dick Fisher; and Professional Baseball Bureau, Alice Volmerding.

Grads Given Honors At Indiana University

Several South Side graduates have been honored recently at Indiana University.

Richard Craig, '40, received one of the freshman numerals awarded at the spring athletic banquet recently. Phillip Green, '37, received a senior yell award.

Thomas Gallmeyer, '40, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, has been pledged to Skull and Crescent, social honorary for organized and dormitory sophomore men.

Leona Menze, '38, was one of the forty-eight women pledged to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary.

W. Myron Jones, '35, has accepted a position in the sales department of the Armstrong Cork Company of Lancaster, Penn.

Kenneth Moeller, '36, has been elected a member of the Union Board, men's governing body.

Philaetheans Sponsor Mother-Daughter Tea

Eighty mothers attended Philo's annual Mother-Daughter Tea Monday at 4 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The welcome was given by Becky Abbott.

Lois and Faye Gumpfer spoke in behalf of the daughters and their mother, Mrs. Otto Gumpfer, gave the response.

The Philo trio, comprised of Lois Gumpfer, Hilda Schubert, and Faye Gumpfer, and the quartet, composed of Ruth Dauner, Lois Craig, Gloria Staley and Helen Savage, furnished the music.

A dance was presented by Gloria Kramer, accompanied by Bernita Eggers. "Sparkin'", a one-act play, was presented by Thespians.

Mary got a little "D", It made her very sad— So she studied hard the next six weeks And now she's feeling glad.

Shorthand, Typing Courses Offered

Skadron Is Only Local College To Have New Speedscript For Their Summer School Pupils

To meet the ever increasing demand for stenographers and secretaries and to help young people who plan to attend college this fall, the Skadron College is now offering courses in Speedscript shorthand, which is proving so popular in many prominent schools in the country.

New day school courses in Speedscript and beginning typewriting will start on Monday, June 16; and evening classes in typing will start on Wednesday, June 18.

In addition to beginners' classes in shorthand and typing, advanced Gregg students may take post graduate training at the Skadron College this summer and qualify for a position in the fall.

The Skadron College is offering Speedscript, the new streamlined shorthand, to meet today's demand for an efficient system of shorthand, which is simple enough to learn for personal use and yet fast enough to meet any business requirements. Speedscript is not machine shorthand nor an abbreviated system of longhand. It offers all the advantages of shorthand and eliminates the drudgery required to learn the older systems.

System Proved Superior Exhaustive tests prove that the theory of Speedscript can be learned in half the time required for older systems. High school students who plan to enter the university in September can learn enough shorthand and typing in summer school to be useful to them in taking notes, typing theses, and helping to pay their own way. Young men who expect to join the army can secure enough shorthand and typing in summer school for practical use and promotions in the army. Recent articles in leading magazines point out that there is a crying need for young men stenographers in the army. Graduates who expect to enter business can secure a three months' head start and be employed sooner with greater resultant earning power by studying Speedscript and typing at the Skadron College this summer.

A recent survey by the Goldey College, Wilmington, Delaware, which has been teaching Speedscript for three years, in a direct comparison with one of the older shorthand systems, reveals amazing facts regarding the ease of learning Speedscript and the speed attainable after a relatively short period of intensive study.

Fewer Students Drop Out An interesting side-light of the survey shows that the percentage of students who dropped out was considerably less in Speedscript than in the older system. The survey thus reveals that Speedscript students enjoy their study of shorthand, are pleased with the progress and are less likely to discontinue their shorthand training.

A comparative study of transcription errors in Speedscript and the older system of shorthand reveals that Speedscript students made half as many errors in transcription, proving that it is easier for Speedscript students to write new words and thus to do a better job on technical dictation. Speedscript is the result of two decades of work on the part of one of the nation's outstanding shorthand experts, J. Walter Ross of Pittsburgh. A graduate of Duquesne University, Mr. Ross was, for 14 years, a teacher in the Evening School of Business Administration of that institution. He taught for many years in private commercial schools, and for nine successive summer sessions was a teacher of methods in teaching shorthand and typing at Bowling Green Business Institute, Bowling Green, Kentucky. Speedscript shorthand is offered in Fort Wayne only by the Skadron College.

"Them's My Sentiments"--Can You Guess This Pedagogue?

The students who are taking sociology, economics, or history are considered privileged if they are placed under the leadership of this week's pedagogue personality, Mr. Maurice Murphy. All of Mr. Murphy's students find him an interesting and likable teacher.

He was born on a farm near Posyville, in Posy county, Indiana. Since his early location was rural, Mr. Murphy attended a country grade school. After receiving an adequate education from a favorite teacher of his over the first two years of high school, he went to Central Normal College in Danville, Indiana. Here, he finished the last two years of high school and junior college. Later, Mr. Murphy entered Indiana University as a junior, from which school he was graduated.

Our pedagogue then attended Illinois University for two years and two summers after which he received his Master's Degree. His first position was teaching a country grade school near Harrisburg, Illinois, where he taught for three years.

After this, Mr. Murphy taught a year in Martin County, and three years in Hendricks County, Indiana. Fort Wayne was then fortunate in having Mr. Murphy come to teach here in 1918.

Above all other pastimes, Mr. Murphy has an earnest desire to travel. He has been in Canada, and has visited nearly all of Southern United States. He was impressed especially with the state of Virginia and also Washington, D. C.

Like many of us, Mr. Murphy listens to the radio. He enjoys listening to good musical programs and says he prefers the Ford Sunday Evening hour along this line. He also listens faithfully to all of the political programs.

Mr. Murphy really gets down to earth in his pastimes, for another of his favorites is working in his garden at home. Whenever he has any time left over from these hobbies, Mr. Murphy can be found reading famous biographies or delving deep into a historical novel. Now you know why this very busy man is such an interesting character.

Stamp Club Stages Regular Exchange

Philatelists Plan Discussion On "Fields Of Interests As Pictured On Postage Stamps"

Stamp Club held its regular exchange last Wednesday in the Greeley Room.

Following a short business meeting, members engaged in buying, selling, and trading stamps. Warren Lotz was in charge of this meeting.

The Philatelists will meet in the Greeley Room next Wednesday and complete their discussion of this semester's theme, which is "Fields of Interest as Pictured on Postage Stamps."

The committee for this meeting will consist of Keith Lakey, Bob Howey, Glen Hille, Ray Kast, Alvin Haley, Wayne Graff, Richard Stamets, and Jim Steiner.

Meterite Tea Held Tuesday Afternoon

Miss Rose Mary D'Lancey, Helen Welbaum, Wanda Baney, Martha Davenport Give Program

The members of the Meterite Club held their annual Mother-Daughter Tea in the Greeley Room on Tuesday. Helen Welbaum opened the program with a piano solo. Wanda Baney gave a reading entitled "Modernistic Art Shop". Martha Davenport played a violin solo entitled "Serenade", and Betty Lou Funk accompanied her on the piano.

Miss Rose Mary D'Lancey gave a book review on "Sapphira, The Slave Girl." Marilyn Toole concluded the program with a tap dance. Bernita Eggers accompanied her on the piano.

Patricia Rhodes took charge of decorating the table. Mary Anne Duemling, serving chairman, had as her assistants Barbara Leas, Mary Conder, Mary Louise McNabb, Marjorie Peterson, Carolyn Druhot, Delores Gerke, Mary Harry, Carolyn Packer, Joyce Dicke, and Jaqueline Bock.

Phyllis Crabill, chairman of the foods committee, was assisted by Phyllis Bumke and Adelaide Cort.

The reception committee was headed by Patty Hocker and the committee was comprised of Doris Pape and Adelaide Cort.

Quill And Scroll To Hold Dinner

Journalistic Society's Annual Event Planned For Tonight; Twenty-six Archers Will Go

Quill and Scroll, national honorary journalistic society, will hold its annual dinner tonight at 6:30 o'clock in Miller's Cafeteria. The dinner will be informal with no speeches. It will be followed by a theater party.

Twenty-six members from South Side will attend the banquet. They are John Bonsib, Richard Green, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Louis Hallenstein, Mildred Hanke, Louisa Haugk, Janet Holtmeyer, Eileen Kiessling, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Maurine Leas, Mary Lybrook, Emalyn Remmel, Robert Robinson, Hilda Schubert, Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley, Robert Young, Elaine Hirschy, Rebecca Abbott, James Brooks, Robert Brooks, Marjorie Dyer, Jo Frosh, Joel Salom, and Marjorie Sheldon.

There is one accidental death in every 5 1/2 minutes, 11 every hour, 255 per day, 1,800 each week; and 96,000 are killed during the year. There is one accidental injury every 3 1/2 seconds, 17 per minute, 1,000 per hour, 24,000 per day, 170,000 every week, and 8,800,000 a year.

Information for recent years indicates that this total makes accidents the fifth most important cause of death, exceeded only by heart disease, cancer, cerebral hemorrhage, and nephritis. Children under 5 years of age were the only persons with a better accident record in 1940 than in 1939.

Like cattle at a water-hole, Some students push and shove; They never heard of patience, And no one bears them love.

Why are fire engines red? A fire engine has two pedals. A fireman has two feet. A foot of two feet is one foot. A queen is a ruler.

Pupils Agree It Is Hard To Do Work In Last Few Weeks

"Two weeks! Two weeks and we'll be away from it all," exclaim our exasperated an exhausted students in answer to the question, "Do you like to work in school this time of year?"
"And besides," say some, "when you work, you don't rest; when you don't rest, you get tired; when you get tired, you don't like to work, so why ask such a silly question?"

After all this, it did seem rather dumb, but here are some more replies:
Bob Smith: I like to sleep; therefore, I don't like to work!
Fosh Kettler: No! Definitely not!
Dick Muckley: I like to work catching up on sleep.

Wayne Hart: No! Spring fever.
Dick Sellers: No, I don't like to work anytime.

Don Shrimp: Absolutely no.
Jack Worthman: I like to work in school, so I won't have homework.

Alma Smith: I don't mind.
Dale Schouweiler: I don't like to work anytime.
Helen Welbaum: No, of course not.
Carolyn Fackler: No, it's too hot.
Margie Rohys: No!
Jack Rollins: Yes, I love work.
T. Henry: Don't be silly!
Marjorie Peterson: I never like to work.

Elizabeth Hopkins: No.

Archer Artists Capture Places In Art Contest

M. Crago, P. Ream Place
1st, 2nd; M. Lebamoff,
M. Brower Are Honored

Maxine Crago and Paul Ream, South Siders, placed first and second in the third division of the annual poppy day poster contest sponsored by the American Legion.

Marie Lebamoff and Margaret Brower received honorable mention together with James White-hurst of North Side.

Winning posters of each division have been forwarded to be judged in the district contest. The judges of this division are George Kawehn, Mrs.
Carl Evans, and Sheldon Hine.

The contest, conducted by the Women's Auxiliary, Unit No. 47, was divided into three classes. The first division consisted of fourth, fifth, and sixth grades. Seventh, eighth, and freshman grades were classified in a second group, and the sophomore, junior, and senior grades made up the third class.

Proceeds from the sale of poppies on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 24, will be devoted to various veteran relief projects conducted by the unit.

Latin Club Holds Election Tonight

"History, Development of Harp" Is Theme Of Meeting; President To Appoint Picnic Groups

Candidates on the slate for the officers of Latin Club who will be elected this evening at 3:30 o'clock in Room 138 are president, Lois Craig and Carol Whittier; vice-president, John Olcott and Keith Lakey; secretary - treasurer, Ellen Motz and Pat Haruff; and Inter-
Club Congress Representative, Otis
Russell and Dorothy Snively. June
Flaig, Hilda Schubert, and Laura Grazier served as the nominating committee.

"History and Development of the Harp" is the theme of the program in which June Flaig, Joyce Cleaver, Carol Whittier, Violet Reiter, and Joan Cox will participate. Mythology concerning the lyre, the ancient cithara and lyre, and the modern harp will be discussed.

The story leading to the banquet scene in Vergil's "Aeneid" at which Iopas sings a song telling of the wonders of nature to the accompaniment of a harp will be told. Joyce and Carol will sing the English version of the song. June will accompany the group when they sing "Swanee River", "Home Sweet Home", and
"Welcome Sweet Springtime" in Latin. A farewell to the graduating seniors and a response will be given.
Dorothy Gilda, president, will appoint the committees for the picnic.

Times Corrects Mistake

The Times apologizes for a mistake printed last week concerning safety statistics in the four "contest cities."
The correct numbers are as follows:
South Bend:
28 killed last year.

7 killed so far this year.
Evansville:
15 killed last year.

4 killed so far this year.
Gary:
28 killed last year.

15 killed so far this year.
Fort Wayne:
9 killed last year.

9 killed so far this year.

Gloria Werkman Is Chosen To Reign As Ivy Day Queen At Tomorrow's Coronation

C. Rodriguez, M. Leas, L.
Greiner, M. Sheldon Are To Be Ruler's Attendants

Senior President
Will Give Crown

Bob Young Will Deliver
Oration; Mr. M. J. Abbott
To Give Acceptance Talk

This year the senior class of 1941 will celebrate the seventh annual Ivy Day. In 1935, the students decided to have two ivy plantings, one for juniors and another for the seniors. The reason for Ivy Day was because of the great need of ivy on the school building.
The following year, in 1936, it was decided to have Ivy Day a senior activity.

In order to choose a Queen and an orator, a poll is taken in each home room, a slate was then made of the ten girls and the three boys receiving the most votes.

The final list was again put up to be voted on by senior home rooms and the faculty. From this, the girl receiving highest number of votes was chosen Ivy Queen and the next four, her attendants.

The boy receiving the most votes would be class orator. This system of choosing a Queen and orator is still followed today.

The tradition of Ivy Day is still young in South Side, being only in its seventh year, but it is a tradition to be carried on by the many classes to follow the class of '41. Ivy Day is one of the most outstanding activities of the seniors.

Class officials, school officials, class officers, the band, and all senior students, 12A's, 12B's, and post-graduates turn out for this celebration.

One of the outstanding things of the program is when the entire senior class sings the Alma Mater song, which is printed below.

Alma Mater Song

Hail to thee,
O South Side High School,
Faithful may we be;
Our beloved Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to thee;
May we always well remember
All thy gifts to us so free
And pay homage to thy mem'ry.
Hail South Side High School,
To thee.

Social Sci To Pick Officers At Picnic

Juniors Interested In Joining
Are Invited; R. McVay, B.
Newhard Are Prexy Nominees

Social Science Club will have an outdoor picnic at Foster Park immediately after school tomorrow night. Tennis, horseshoe, and other games will be played.

The election of officers for next year will be held. All members are urged to attend, and juniors who are interested in joining Social Science next year are also invited.

Roger McVay and Bob Newhard are nominees for next year's president.
Those nominated for vice-president are Joan Cox and Dorothy Gilda.
Marjorie McNabb and Kathryn Guild are nominated for secretary-treasurer.
Don Knorr is the nominee for sergeant-at-arms, and Keith Lakey is nominated for Social Science's Inter-
Club Congress representative.

Orator, Crown Giver Of Ivy Day

Bob Young

Gloria Werkman

Gloria Werkman need not be formally introduced to you. You all know her as a precious package of personality, whose smile is enough to convince anyone that "life can be beautiful". Since entering South Side from Harrison Hill four long years ago,
"Glo" has made an outstanding record for herself. She excels in scholarship, and The Totem and The Times are her outside interests. (plus "Art" work).

She wears all colors well, but strikes an especially attractive note in her bright red reversibles. Any clothes
"fads" are quickly picked up by
"Werky" and the style is readily accepted.

Walking in the snow at a late hour is one of her unusual "likes" and at the other extreme, she loves to bask in the sun, to a rich golden brown.

She is looking forward to graduation because next fall she plans to enter Vanderbilt University. In our opinion, those other Southern beauties will have to acknowledge their definite competition.

She will symbolize as gracious a Queen as ever wore a crown.

Ivy Planting, Queen Have Been A Senior Tradition Since 1937

Ivy Day originated way back in 1936. This senior tradition grew out of a suggestion by the members of the Inter-Club Congress that it would be beautifying to the school if some ivy was planted.

One good idea followed another, and it was decided that a lovely miss and attendants should go with ivy planting. In 1936 the juniors elected Ruth Garrison as their ivy queen. The seniors didn't choose a queen but appointed Ruth Rose as orator, who was aided by Ann Abbott, who read a poem concerning ivy.

In 1937 Ivy Day became a senior tradition and Virginia Fathauer became the honored queen. The program of ivy day consists of the processional with the queen and her attendants followed by the senior class and teachers, the planting of the ivy, the ivy song, and a speech by the chosen orator. The queen, attendants, and orator are elected by ballot by the senior class. Martha Zelt, Nadine Mueller, and Bea Etzler have been the other queens of the past.

State Championship Is Won In Geometry

Jeanne Seidel, 10A, a member of Miss Fortney's Geometry 2 class, tied for first place in the state geometry contest. Jeanne was eligible for the state contest on the merit of winning second place in the sectional contest.

Jim McClure

Pictured above are Robert Young and James McClure, who will take active part in the Ivy Day exercises tomorrow. Bob was chosen by the senior class as orator; Jim will crown the queen.

Ivy Day Celebration, After Seven Years Has Become Tradition With Seniors

Polls Determine Queen, Speaker

Program Consists Of Talk, Crowning, Singing Of Alma Mater Song by Seniors

Gloria Werkman will be crowned Ivy Day Queen during the annual Ivy Day ceremony tomorrow morning. Girls chosen to be Gloria's attendants are Maurine Leas, LaVerne Greiner, Carolyn Rodriguez, and Marjorie Sheldon. Mr.
Earl Sterner's son, Danny, will be crown bearer.

James McClure, senior class president, will crown the queen. Robert Young will deliver the oration.

McClure will preside over the planting of the ivy and Mr. Merle J. Abbott will deliver the acceptance speech.

Senior girls' quintet which consists of Gloria Staley, Helen Savage, Emalyn Remmel, Ruth Dauner, and Wilma Lageman will sing "In May."

Order of procession will be as follows: The band, Mr. Abbott, R. Nelson Snider and Miss Martha Pittenger, senior officers, senior sponsors, inter-club congress sponsors, singers, accompanist, senior president and orator, queen and her attendants, 12A home rooms, 12B home rooms.

Senior class advisers and officers are Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr.
Paul Sidell; James McClure, president; June Flaig, vice-president; Rebecca Abbott, secretary-treasurer;
Marge Sheldon, Marnee Dyer, and Dick Theye, Social Council.

Ivy Day is sponsored by the Inter-Club Congress, which is advised by Miss Emma Keifer, Mr.
A. Verne Flint, and Mr. Joseph
Bex. The committee which planned the program, consisted of Rudolph Wutke, chairman; Janet Holtmeyer, Emalyn Remmel, John Gumpfer, and Romyne Rediger.

Planting committee is Rudolph Wutke, Ed Bauer, and Dick Theye.

The other six nominated for Ivy
Queen were Rebecca Abbott, Delores
Daniels, Faye Gumpfer, Marjorie Mc-Mahon, and Jeanne Weil.

Margaret Agler Is Club President

Camenean Club Elects Officers, Will Install Next Tuesday
At McMillan Park Picnic

Installation of new officers will be held at the Camenean Club meeting next Tuesday, which is to be held in the form of a picnic at the McMillan Park.

Margaret Agler was elected president; Lois Bonebrake, vice-president;
Jeanette Zahn, secretary; Marjorie
Haller, treasurer; and Alice Klenke,
Inter-Club Congress representative.

Flora Saurer is chairman of the next meeting. Those assisting her are Sue Roebuck, Garneta Beaty, Alice Klenke, and Barbara Koenig.

Each member is asked to bring her own sandwiches and plate.

Members must sign in Room 32 for the foods they intend to bring to the picnic by Monday afternoon. All girls are also requested to bring permits from home to ride in automobiles furnished by the mothers of some members. Each girl should be at the park by 4:30 o'clock.

At the meeting held Tuesday, May 13, of which Ruth Cyr was chairman, members and their hobbies were presented. Eva Jean Wylie showed a part of her collection of eighty dogs, which came from many states. She also collected pictures of dogs.

Marilyn Soudles brought a part of her collection, of about 450 elephants.
She has received them from practically all over the world. Irene Meyer displayed her hobby of collecting bracelets, all of which are different in many ways.

Miriam Roebel is a collector of pitchers. She has just recently acquired this hobby, but already has pitchers of odd shapes and different colors.

Charlotte DuWan has a novel hobby, that of a collection of about one hundred musical selections. She sings both classical and opera pieces, but prefers opera.

The officers for this semester are Wilma Lageman, president; Reba Coppock, vice-president; Laura Nahr-wood, secretary; Arleen Reineke, treasurer; and Louisa Haugk, Inter-
Club Congress representative.

Old "Jallopies" Rate Tops In Popularity Among Kelly Males

Many students have either bought or are thinking seriously of buying used cars. Although these cars are called second-hand, they are really only "jallopies". On of the most prominent "rattletraps" seen around the school is Safford McMyler's "puddle jumper". The tires on this thing are about ready to pop, but Saf claims he can go sixty miles an hour in it in spite of the tires.

Another tin can on the loose is Dick Parker's "blue streak". Dick brings a gang of boys to school each day.

Warren Spangle bought himself a 1930 Studebaker. Although there is no running board on one side and for a while there was no floor board or battery, Warren has finally got the thing in running order. As soon as he buys some license plates and gets a driver's license, he will be within the law. Marge McMahon's "black beauty" has been jumping around the school for some time now, but at least it serves its purpose.

Every afternoon, when leaving school, we notice Don Baur trying to get his buggy rolling. He has to let it roll down hill before it will start, and, several times he has needed the assistance of an innocent bystander.

Even Karl Eberly and Bob Young are thinking of purchasing a second-hand car so that they will have some transportation around Indiana University next year. Neither one of them knows enough about a car to fix a tire, but they are game, anyway.

Essay Writers Given Honors In Competition

Safety Winners Are Beverly Miller, Bob Guion, Mary
Cleland, Sherley White

Beverly Miller, Mary Cleland, Robert Guion and Sherley White were winners of the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior safety essays. Some 1,800 essays were submitted from the English department.

Three essays were picked for each year; from these twelve, Lieutenant Dunifon, safety commissioner, picked a winner from each section. Essays were judged on content rather than composition. The Lieutenant especially liked those which were evidently products of family discussion.

Starting this week and for the next four weeks the winning essays of each class will be featured in The Times. The senior essay will be published in the Senior Issue. The freshman essay, written by Beverly Miller appears below.

What We Think Can Be Done To Make Fort Wayne Safer

It is quite evident that the cause of the automobile accidents lies in the individual himself. This would lead one to believe that the driver and pedestrian should be taught the rules of safety as the school children are.
Although this may seem unnecessary since most accidents are caused by carelessness rather than lack of safety information, it will help if it is supported by the citizens.

To educate the public is not an easy undertaking. The problem should be constantly before them. Every moment they are in traffic they should be reminded of the ever-lurking danger. This can be accomplished by the co-operation of every safety-minded person. If group organizations would bring before their members this problem and stress it, a great many people would realize its importance. The police force is willing to give its help.
The newspaper is read by every civilized citizen and can easily make the public aware of the need of its aid.
It should be just as important to the citizen that such a great number of his own countrymen are being killed daily in automobile accidents as it is that large numbers of foreign men and women are being killed.

Citizens must be made to realize that our traffic laws are for their own protection and that the police are not trying to cause them trouble but rather to protect them. Let us all abide by the safety laws, and support all those who are trying to make our town, state, and nation a better one in which to live.

Seventy Social Science Students Take Exams

Approximately seventy social science students took the Recognition
Day tests last Friday after school.
Tests were given in occupations, general history, United States history, and senior social studies, and covered all work in those subjects.

Juniors and seniors took tests on civic attitudes which is mostly about information on civics.

All tests are now being graded by the faculty of the social science department, and they are so distributed that no teacher has the test of a student in his class. The winners will be announced on Recognition Day,
June 6.

Last Musical Is Scheduled For Tuesday

Miss Catherine Goetz, pianist, Dr. Connell, Conductor Are To Be Featured

Archers To Play
Three Band Solos

Jean Wagner, George Jackson, Elkhart Dance Team, To Do Several Numbers

Miss Catherine Goetz, a pianist from Columbus, Ohio, and Dr.
Grant Connell, a guest conductor also from Columbus, will be the main features of the last assembly of the year to be held Tuesday morning. Miss Goetz has given several concerts in different cities and has played with college and university bands. She is considered one of the most outstanding young artists of her day. Dr. Connell is president of Capital College of Music and Oratory in Columbus and is a fine director.

Miss Goetz will play a piano concerto, "Repertoire" by Bennett, with band accompaniment, directed by Dr.
Connell. Dr. Connell will also direct our band in "Barber of Seville" by Rossini, and other numbers.

Solos will be played by James Van-Buskirk, cornetist; John Wells, trombonist; and Calvin Singer, cornetist.
James will play "From the Shores of the Mighty Pacific," by Clarke; John,
"Flocktonian," and Calvin "Grand Russian Fantasia," by Levy.

Jean Wagner and George Jackson, a dance team from Elkhart, will put on several exhibitions.
They have been dancing together for several years and have performed in many of our large cities. They are students of Miss Dorothy Miller of Elkhart.

Mr. Jack Wainwright will direct the band in the following numbers: "Triste Valse," by Sebilus; "Dedication," Frankiger; "Phedre," Massenet; and "Knightsbridge March," Coates. Many other numbers may be added to the program.

Mr. Wainwright has requested of the student body that they co-operate by listening carefully to show their appreciation for the time and energy the performers have spent to make the music assembly a success. Courtesy should especially be shown to the guests.

Mr. Wainwright will entertain the band at his camp, Camp Limberlost, this week-end. While there the band will present a concert at the La Grange High School auditorium Friday night for the Exchange Club. Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, will accompany them.

Camp Limberlost was founded by Mr. Jack Wainwright in 1926 as the first music camp in existence. Courses offered during the summer include private lessons on an instrument and in voice; band, orchestra, chorus and ensemble playing and singing; music theory; conducting, drum-majoring; art; dramatics; the dance; craft in make-up or advanced academic subjects with credit; all departments of athletics and recreation.

The camp grounds, throughout which the natural beauties have been preserved, are divided into sections for a club house, girls' cabins, boys' dormitory, and dining hall. Each Sunday afternoon a formal concert is presented by the musical organizations of the camp.

Throttle All Energy, Gear Your Muscles From Death's Clutches

In spring a young man's (and many a young woman's) fancy turns to thoughts other than love, particularly driving. It's a strange high schooler who on these balmy afternoons isn't subjected to an intense urge to trundle out the family buggy for a social cruise. With a full card of spring dances ahead, students are demanding cars for this date and that.

Those who are just rounding sixteen this spring are spending long hours on the roads and streets mastering the fine art of driving. In short, more and more students are behind the wheels of automobiles this spring.

In most cases where a youngster of high school age is seen driving he has a car full of friends. They are usually laughing and joking, and the driver spends a good portion of his time turning to and conversing with them. Often—too often—this procedure leads to disaster. We do not mean to say that high school drivers are poor drivers. Some of the finest drivers on the roads today are of high school and college age. BUT, when an accident occurs involving a youthful driver, the blame invariably falls upon him. People are always ready to blame the young and unexperienced whether or not the blame is really theirs, just because a few high school drivers have made a bad name for all their classmates by their own recklessness.

The only way, then, that youthful drivers can avoid that blame is to exercise extreme caution to keep out of accidents. One must remember that, whenever the cause of an accident is in question, suspicion falls upon the young driver. If all we Archers are careful drivers at ALL times (and this includes the time when the "one and only" whom you want to impress is in the car), accidents are not likely to happen. But if, in the next few weeks, some one should be killed or injured in a car driven by a student, the result will be an evil reputation for all the Archers, not to mention the sorrow and expense to the family of the driver.

All One Can Do Is Gap When Reaching The Adolescent Gap

According to Noah Webster, adolescence in life is merely the stop-gap between childhood and maturity; but, to the parents of the so-called adolescents and to the youth in question, it means far more. Those of you who have passed or are passing through such a stage know it to be the age of blind love and green-eyed shadows. It's the time when brother casually begins to wash just below the neckline, and when his red and blue socks seem a bit loudish to us on Friday night (and when his technique is the topic of the day). Sister's ideas seem to revolve around lipstick, modern romances and football heroes. She seems to have a particular mania for indulging in all of the latest fads and crazes.

The chief characteristics of the adolescents are dumbness and flirtatiousness. The students who wearily plod from class to class in the seemingly hopeless task of getting an education are much too tired to learn. The English grades are improving, however, since English has been suggested as a universal language. It is feared that even the American must learn it. The average high school examination is a bugaboo of the day. Usually the adolescent student cannot exert enough energy to make a scholar's grade. It is not uncommon for a teacher of teen-aged youths to find a paper containing only a fancy, flourished heading. Some wise scholars have enough ingenuity (?) to draw a crude tombstone with these words written below: "Sacred to the memory which deserts me on occasions like this."

As for the school vice, flirting, we find that statistics show a sharp rise in the percentage of flirts among the adolescents. Whether this is due to all of the beautiful co-eds and handsome males at our school or for some other reasons, we do not know. Perhaps the adolescents who are reading this believe we should mind our own business. Confidentially, we have no business of our own—also no mind.

One really has to be on his toes to keep up with the modern popular songs. By the time the words to one are learned, it has lost its popularity.

Stop and think now. Are you SURE that you didn't borrow something from some one that you ought to pay back?

He who is behind The Times is never behind the times.

"Roomatics", "Hall Pass Outs", And Loeser Are Our Patients

By Alene Loeser

Perhaps you members of South Side High School have never realized what a fine health resort you are attending. I am referring to that little spot located near the border of the Maumee River, Archeriviera. Each day to this recuperation building over one thousand patients journey. I, too, am one of those misfortunates who attend this resort to gain knowledge, health, a man, or whatever else suits their fancies.

Each day I must arise at 7 o'clock to get ready for my daily sessions at the "Riv". I know one of the outstanding reasons for my wonderful health is the fact that I always get three hours sleep. I possess small props to hold up my eyelids because I am not able to do so otherwise. After my nourishing breakfast of cake, pie, candy, and a small glass of beer, I am ready to take my brisk walk of two blocks to Archeriviera. The walk certainly wearies me, and the twenty-minute rest period before the first bell is a welcome blessing to this patient. During the home room period, I am generally in the arms of Morpheus. This brief rest period does allow me time to regain some of the color in my cheeks. (After a few applications of rouge).

The first period bell has rung, and I am off to my mental stimulation class. One would almost think there is a fire in the building or that Tyron Power has just walked in because of the pushing and confusion in the corridors. After kicking, pushing, and jabbing students, I finally reach my destination, the algebra class. I am always wide awake in here 'cause every day we have a little quiz; and, unless my eyes are focused well, I can not see one of the more intelligent patient's paper. One can plainly see why this class could be called a stimulation class.

When these daily tests are over, I find myself badly in need of a physical workout. And so to my gymnasium class I trod wearily onward, hoping that the workout will not be too strenuous. Since gym class does not require any mental concentration, I am one of the outstanding personalities in this field of endeavor. At the conclusion of the workout all patients must take a shower to refresh themselves. This makes them ready for the remainder of the day's work.

When one hears the hour bell, back to Archeriviera he must go whether ready, willing, or able. How I ever survive the hard work and toil spent in the afternoon's work, I shall never know. When the 3:20 o'clock bell rings for dismissal, I am always one of the first patients outdoors to breathe the fresh air. Today the doctor again diagnoses cases, and I am told that I am suffering from that common malady, spring fever. For a remedy, I think I will stay home from Archeriviera for a week.

Tomorrow we are getting our cards telling of the conditions we are in and how we have improved. I am fearful that this particular little Archer may have to remain within Archeriviera's portals another year because of a failure to improve.

Poetic Panorama

Street Car Trial

Each morning to arrive before the bell,
I rush to the street car, pell-mell.
I get out my pass as quick as I can,
And I show it to the conductor man.

All seats are taken, and I must stand
With pencils, books, and paper in hand.
Chivalry indeed has gone out of date.
(Or at least for a seat, I don't rate!)

The car must stop at every block,
And, when this happens, my ribs feel a sock.
A big bulge pushes me in someone's lap,
And I become embarrassed due to the mishap.

All goes fairly well until my book drops;
Stooping to pick it up, I, too, flop.
The notes are cast throughout the car,
Even to the very end, which seems so far.

My affairs are no longer mine alone,
And they are broadcast o'er the mouth telephone.
I can't tell you how relieved I became,
When, "Here is South Side!" is yelled by a dame.

I run off the car as quick as I can,
While everyone around laughs where they stand.
For my books have fallen once more.
Oh! Those studies, I do abhor.

Susie Lou.

Our Archer romancers must have their ups and "dow-ans." But Dick Braun is high in the thoughts of Betty Cowan's. While walking to classes to beat the bell, Can be seen Mary Bowlby (thinking hard about Mel).

A Tall Story And A Tiny Tale

You heard it cussed and discussed; you've heard it hashed and reshaped, but just what is the difference between a freshman and a senior? The question is a knotty one; many an argument has arisen over the characteristics of average high school freshmen and average high school seniors. In order to forever settle the controversy, in order that we may present to you the facts in black and white, we have picked at random a freshman and a senior, photographed them, and gotten the lowdown on them. Let there never again be arguments over the differences between freshmen and seniors.

Frank Dickmeyer, chosen as the typical frosh for this interview, remarked his ambitions were rather vague other than that he planned to attend college. Senior Mildred Hanke hemmed and hawed about the question but stated that she had no plans for a college education. (Confidentially, the reason for the hesitation was that her ambition is the same as that of most other girls—she wants to hook a man!)

Every night, Frank spends an hour and a half studying, while Mildred spends two. (although she says that this has declined considerably during this last semester). The freshman declares that, whenever there is a dance, he goes; but he says he doesn't run around with any girls. (Hmmm—even if he does go stag, what does he tain high hopes that she will be asked to the Senior Dance, but she does not say by whom. Here is one point where the freshman concurs with the senior; both appear quite shy.

Algebra is Frank's favorite subject, and he is an "A" student in that class. Mildred caters to the commercial subjects. Seniors are definitely more extra-curricular than freshmen—seven clubs claim Miss Hanke as a member while Frank belongs to none.

Tennis is the favorite sport of the freshman, while Mildred's heart belongs to big league baseball. She is a most ardent fan of the Chicago Cubs. Both of the typical class representatives are the "freshmen" of their families. Frank has three brothers and sisters, Doris, Betty, and Delbert, who have all been graduated from South Side. Doris is now at Michigan University. James Hanke, a brother of Mildred, was also graduated from South Side.

When approached on the subject of growing up to be a "big senior," Frank emphatically stated that he had hopes of becoming six feet tall. (but he doesn't think that he will ever make it.) He evidently isn't a Popeye fan, because he doesn't eat spinach. However, he does intend, either by hook or crook, to grow considerably in his future high school years.

All Blames For Badge News Are Pinned On Muntzinger

By E. Muntzinger

Whether or not you realize it, there are a great number of pins besides bobby pins and safety pins floating around South Side. These are the club pins. Many of them sooner or later arrive in the lost and found drawer in Miss Pittenger's office. Let's take a peek into the drawer today and see just what we can find.

Here is a three-sided pin in red and gold. It has a guard at the end of which is an initial. This is the emblem of the Torch and Hi-Y Clubs. Any boy who is a member of either organization, may buy one.

Another pin that we find in the drawer is in the shape of the letter "L." It is a library pin which can be obtained by doing meritorious work in the library or on committees of the Library Club. The "L", of course, stands for "library".

The next pin is a membership pin of the Rifle Club. It is round and rather small and is given to all members of the club. The Rifle Club offers many medals for achievement, which, however, must be purchased. The highest possible medal which can be won is that of the "distinguished" rifleman. None of the boys have ever won a "distinguished" pin. A few of them, though, proudly sport an "expert" pin. It is blue with gold letters and has a gold-plated wreath around it. This badge is suspended from a bar by a chain.

Another lovely ornament is a French Club pin. It belongs to one of the six or eight members who have won the highest number of points during the time they were in the club. It is in the shape of a shield, separated diagonally by a change of colors, from green to gold enamel. It has a "C" and an "F" on it which stand for "Cercle Francais". The emblem in the upper right hand corner is the Fleur de Lis, the insignia of French royalty, generally used as the symbol of France.

Another interesting pin is the Indiana Student Forum pin, which is worn by members of the Social Science Club. Any member may buy this badge. It is a torch engraved on a tiny map of Indiana. This signifies that the club is a branch of a state organization. The entire pin is gold. A bronze-colored "S" represents the winning of 300 points in the Service Club. If a student has received 450 points through work in this club, he wins a silver pin of the same type. If he should gather a total of 600 points, he receives the highest award, the gold "S". All these pins are about five-eighths of an inch square.

One curious-looking pin of bronze shows a linotype matrix with a quill in the foreground. On it are the letters "SS" and "T" representing South Side Times. The cost of the bronze pin is 1500 points. The pin can also be secured in silver for 1500 more points. The quill represents the old system of writing; the linotype matrix stands for the new.

Those are all the pins we find in the drawer today. Of course, there are more, but it very seldom happens that members of all the clubs lose their pins. Anyway, this may have helped you get an idea of just what are some of those queer little gadgets that some of the students wear.

Grads Can Harbor Pleasant Thoughts About Ann Arbor!

The University of Michigan covers the large area of approximately 10,233 acres. The campus life centers around Ann Arbor, where the university is located. About eighty-five buildings are utilized for instruction, research, living quarters, and for allied purposes; of this number, about forty-five buildings may be regarded as main structures. There are nearly fifteen libraries on the campus, which are used for extensive reference by the students taking various courses. For interesting research, the campus maintains four large museums. Other important buildings on the campus include two large gymnasiums, about six buildings devoted to medicine, a natural science auditorium, and many university office buildings.

The university is divided into a college of arts and sciences, a college of engineering, a medical school, a law school, a college of pharmacy, a school of dentistry, a school of business administration, a college of architecture and design, and a school of education.

The University of Michigan offers many advantages through its organizations and societies. The Universal Music Society gives the students splendid opportunities for studying and singing the great choral compositions. This group is privileged to hear many famous artists who are brought to the university. In the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater the university has a modern, well-equipped theater which seats about seven hundred people. Groups interested in drama produce many plays which are occasionally supported by engagements of professional companies.

The Clothes Line ---

Glorious days of spring and summer beckon once again with promises of gay adventures in fashions. With the coming of spring dances and proms, the high school girl is again confronted with the problem of what to wear. Well, to be truthful, one has an extremely large margin to choose from. Naturally, however, there are a few styles that are more popular than others. The predominating color this spring is red—red as never before! The brightest reds that can be made are right. Red in formals, red in shorts, red in skirts, and red in bathing suits is tops.

Slacks and two-piece bathing suits will stun the boys this summer. One will see very few girls clad in one-piece bathing suits strutting about the beaches. Huaraches direct from Hawaii fill the desires of any young graduate. They can also be had in red, yellow, white, and natural. You have seen many a lass going into this spring with a white stiffly-starched collar peeking out from under a sweater or suit. This practice gives a girl that look of extreme pertness (and neatness).

Last year's faddy neckline gadgets are back this spring in the form of leis (also from Hawaii). They are especially smart when worn with a dainty white blouse and a bright cheery skirt. Large full skirts will never go out of style; this year they are as popular as ever.

Many Get Rickets Selling The Tickets

By Itsa Bargain

Belonging to clubs may be a good thing; when it comes to selling tickets, I object! Not that I don't want the party to be a success, but for ever yticket I sell I have to buy three other tickets from someone else!

The last time I sold tickets I was called after school and was surprised with several dozen tickets which, someone told me very impressively, I was to sell and I was not to show my little "mug" 'around there UNTIL I had sold them.) As soon as I got out of the room, I took inventory of the tickets and my prospects. Two dozen tickets and no prospect comprised the notation.

Hey! There's Masie! "Say, Masie, do you want to buy a ticket to the Sweater Girls' Party? You do? Why they are only 25 cents. Sure, here you are. Oh, are you selling tickets, too? Oh, for the concert. Sure, I'll buy some—two, I guess. Yipe! Are they fifty cents? Well, O. K.!"

Now after this little encounter, I still have twenty-three tickets left and have acquired two tickets for something else. Guess I could try Jack.

Me: Hi, Jack! How about buying a ticket from me?

Jack: Sure, if you buy two Hi-Lo pencils from me!

So there is a slight pause for ticket and cash identification, and I end up a little bit better than before. This is something to think about 'cause I've spent all my lunch money for the week for tickets.

Twenty-two tickets left now. I wonder if it's worth all this bother. I could buy them all myself and chuck the whole business. Yes, I could if I were rollin' gin wealth. (I'm not!) The only thing to do is to plan a mechanized approach. Better try it on the next person I see. May Bee would be a good customer.

Hey, May! May: Sure I'll buy some from you if you'll take a book of chances from me. They really don't cost much. They're only one dollar per book. How many books do you want?

Me: Never mind about the plural, I'll take one book and here are four tickets. I don't care if you can't use them; I can't use one book of chances either—so what? Now please take them. All right, buy ONE of my tickets then. You don't have any money with you! Sure I'll loan it to you!

I retire and nurse along a progressive headache and a depleted pocketbook. I don't know maybe it's my approach—but I can't get anywhere when I have tickets to sell!

The Senior Dance The Grad Enchants

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles explaining the origin of and other facts about South Side's important customs and ceremonies.

A grand climax to a year of exciting social activity is the Senior Dance. It is a delightfully thrilling occasion—almost as much fun to prepare for as to attend. Let's glimpse at a group of seniors who are decorating for the dance.

"This certainly is going to be a grand dance. I bet it will be the best one any group of seniors ever produced!"

"I'll bet every senior class says that."

"Everyone but the class that put on the first Senior Dance. I wonder when that was?"

"In 1923. My aunt graduated then. She was telling me all about it the other night."

"It must have been rather crude."

"Oh, no. It was a big affair and really fun to plan, I guess. South Side was new, and the students wanted to put over their social program with a bang. So they planned a grand dance for the seniors and their friends. It was for stags as well as dates."

The Senior Dance is still for stags as well as dates. It has become one of South Side's grand traditions—the kind that only the most uninterested student in school would dare to miss. It was considered such a success that not one year has passed without a Senior Dance. Hundreds of students have flocked to a gym elaborately decorated by a number of students who have not regretted returning to school to decorate during the week when seniors are excused. The dance is under the capable management of the senior advisers, who now are Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell. A specially invited guest is Miss Martha Pittenger.

A definite theme is always chosen to predominate the dances. Some themes of previous years have been: "A Symphony in Silver" in 1940; "Sunrise Serenade" for 1939; and "Summer Night" in 1938. The plans for this year's Senior Prom have not yet been made.

Don't Bough Down Or Shrub Shoulders At Ever Green Tale

About this time each year it is the custom of each home room to set out some kind of a shrub, tree or vine. In a few years South Side will be in the middle of a birch and evergreen forest; but, since the present administration is stressing conservation, I guess we shall have to keep up with the times.

First of all it is necessary to take a collection in the home room for the purpose of gathering money to purchase the desired article. The home room teacher appoints someone to be in charge of the collection. At the end of three days the collector has only received a dollar, and the tree costs a dollar and a half. So the poor teacher has to make up the difference. We now have the needed funds, and a committee is sent down to the tree nursery to purchase the tree. (Well, at least it will be a tree someday.)

The next task is to dig a hole. Some poor unfortunate is drafted and is set to work on the job. After he has removed a sufficient supply of earth, the entire class files out to watch the ceremony of dropping the trees into the opening. After the dirt has been carefully repacked in place, the class returns to its room, jubilant that it has helped in the beautification of the school.

Here Are Revealed Morbid Mutterings And Silly Stutterings

How do you express yourself when you are angry or when you are in a hurry and are delayed? What do you say when you hammer your finger?

In a recent poll we found the following expressions original and most popular:

When seven of our students are in a terrific hurry and are held up by a crowd in the hall, their favorite exclamation is "Put a nickel in it!"

Two seniors, after putting their fingers under a descending hammer, responded with something like this, "Oh, this !!!!! hammer!"

The other day we heard the man next door say, "Well I'll be a hotel bill!" when he couldn't get his dog to come in the house.

In one of our art classes a boy was told to tell someone to turn off the motor. He stuck his head in the door and yelled, "Can the juicer!"

If ten of our students have something that they do not want someone to see or to hear about their password in hostile territory is "jiggers".

Some of the most common expressions in the language of our jitterbugs are "hep-cat", "jive", and "boogy-beat".

An old but still very popular expression of disbelief to twelve South Siders is "nerfs".

Then there is that expression which applies to something that is supposed to be funny and isn't — "that's a killer."

There are many other expressions that our students use to put across their different ideas and moods, but these are so numerous that it would never do to put them down 'cause some of them might take up more of these expressions that they already have. Goodness knows, if people take up any more, they are either going to have to make a new dictionary or change the English language!

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Edward Burns, John Christoff, Harry Seiler, and Dean White brought ropes knotted in twenty four equal divisions to explain to Miss Thorne's Algebra 2 classes the method the Egyptians used in making right angles.

Reports on the private lives of the Romans were given by Latin 4 students of Mrs. Welty. Robert Racht reported on the Roman family; Jack Shirk, names; and Ellen Sroufe, education of the Romans.

Highest grades on sociology test given by Mr. Peirce were made by Mary Lou Baker, Jean Moore, Lois Holzworth, Lois McLennon, Betty Peppeler, Joel Salomon, Helen Squires, Max Stobaugh, William Walker, Mary Brandyberry, Harold Haberstock, Clifford Imbody, Marjorie Sheldon, and Bill Siebold.

Miss Pocock's English 7 class has started reading ballads and lyric poetry.

Students of Miss Rehorst recently saw movies on home management.

Miss Kiefer's English 3, periods 1 and 2 classes have completed the study of old English ballads. Eugene Stratton, Marshall Oswald, George Lohse, August Igney, and John Collins dramatized "Robin Hood" and "Allan-a-Dale."

Joan Strahlem read the Bible to members of Home Room 30 recently.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes are studying the handling and training of children.

In a recent trigonometry test given by Miss Fiedler, those who made perfect scores were Marcelle Driftmeyer, Robert Holzworth, Kenneth Lampton, Safford McMyler, Richard Gallmeyer, Sarah Jane Makey, Ralph Sebold, and Richard Sebold.

On a test in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1 class, period 6, Betty Clem, Joyce Dicke, Jerry Miller, and Robert Pugh made the highest grades.

Girls gym classes are resuming the baseball tournament after interrupting for track practice.

On a test given by Miss Perkins to her French 4, period 2 class over "Accession Et Nicolette" the following students made above 90: Georgia Johnson, Jane Cocks, Margaret Bedsworth, Delbert Veech, Patricia Racht, and Carole Overman.

Mr. Bex' drawing 6 classes are doing development. For example they lay out on paper the size and shape of the pieces to make a tin cup, funnel, or quart measure.

Harold Hollenberg, Mary Murchland, and Howard Stults made a grade of 96 or above on a Senior English test given by Miss Hemmer.

Bud Leming made the highest grade on a test in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1 class, period 3. Other high grades were made by James Mencer, Bob Senseney, Nestra Swanson, and Kathryn Gramlich.

Members of Miss Mellen's Home Room 77 donated $1.50 for filling one of the school urns.

Miss Dean's dance class, period 1, is learning a gypsy tamborine dance.

Students whose safety essays were chosen to be submitted from Mr. Cook's classes are Jay Davis, English 8, period 1; Mary Cleland, English 4, period 2; Verne Mitchell, English 2, period 3; Mary Mallers, English 2, period 4; and Elinor Muntzinger, English 4, period 6.

Eugene Stratton made the highest grade on a test on meter reading given by Mr. Snuts to his metal class.

Each advanced sewing student of Miss Rehorst is making a color wheel.

On a test over the struggle of the popes and emperors given by Mr. Peirce, the highest grades in the first period were made by Arvilla Rediger, Bob Ruckel, James Davis, and Marilyn Toode; period 3, George Hahn, and Jeanne Cyr; period 7, Fred Smith and Jack Stark.

The students of Miss Perkins' French 3, period 1 class have finished grammar and are taking a series of review tests.

There Is More To Publishing Totem Than You'd Expect

This week The Times takes you inside the Totem office to give information concerning the Totem activities. Perhaps you didn't realize it, but there are many duties and tasks which the Totem workers have to perform in order to get our popular yearbook.

Pictures and snapshots of the students have to be taken; this operation requires the workers on the staff to identify the individual and group pictures. During this time, the circulation department of The Totem has to be taken care of. Students come to the Totem office frequently during the school year to pay for their year books. The receipts of these payments have to be carefully filed and recorded.

Several months ago all of the club pictures were taken. It is the duty of the Totem workers to see that all the clubs have been listed correctly and that they have paid for their space in The Totem.

Two of the most important issues in The Totem are the class and club stories. After all these stories are submitted to the Totem office, they have to be proofread and corrected. It is important that the Totem writers make these stories as accurate and interesting as possible.

When the material for The Totem has been carefully put together by the staff, the copy is sent to the printers to be published. Along with this task, the Totem workers have to see that the covers are sent to the binders. Also the correct name of the Totem purchaser must be placed on the cover. A few of the Totem members collect ads from the firms which help to publish The Totem, such as the printer and photographer. However, very little concentration is spent in getting ads for The Totem.

One of the biggest tasks that the Totem workers perform during the year is the distribution of the yearbooks to the students. About eleven hundred Totems are being sent out this year, which exceeds, by far, last year's record.

When the publishing of the yearbook is all completed, the workers in the Totem office must help train next year's Totem workers.

Show appreciation; buy from The Times' advertisers regularly.

Adeline Courts Is Junior Math Head

Marilyn Smith, Patty Schnurr, Ellen Briggs, Margie Pyle Are Other Officers Named

Officers of the Junior Math Club were elected Tuesday in Room 138. The new leaders are president, Adeline Courts; vice-president, Marilyn Smith; secretary, Patty Schnurr; treasurer, Ellen Briggs; sergeant-at-arms, Margie Pyle; and Inter-Club Congress, Joyce Bricker.

Elinor Muntzinger was in charge of the meeting. Assisting her were Robert Miller, Delores Moore, and Joyce Bricker. Plans were made and discussed regarding the next meeting which will be the last of this school year.

Congress Plans Semester Picnic

Members Complete Arrangements For Annual Affair At Meeting Held Monday Night

Inter-Club Congress held its last meeting Monday night in Room 54. Plans were made for the picnic to be held Wednesday at Foster Park. This is the only social affair the club holds. Norman Fortress reported $8.15 in the treasury.

Assignments were also made for the annual locker clean-up, June 10. This will be held during home room period.

Because some seniors won't be here, it was decided to issue a special bulletin asking seniors to take the responsibility of cleaning their lockers before they leave.

180 Speakers Are At Wrangler Feast

Orators Hold Dinner Amongst Gala Decorations Of South; Speeches Named For Horses

Amid all the excitement equal to Derby Day, Wranglers held their annual banquet last Tuesday in the cafeteria. Decorations were carried out in typical Southern style, with horses, blue grass, jockeys and mint juleps. Programs at each place were gay-colored horses and jockeys on a brown background.

Approximately 180 Wranglers attended this affair. Bob Young served as toastmaster, while Bob Robinson talked on "Men of War," the title given to oratory winners. Mrs. Howard Carson presented the plaque to the "Colts and Two-Year Olds" or the freshmen and sophomore speech winners.

John Warner told about the Henry Clays of South Side, while Martha Jean Smith presented awards to the winners at South Side's "Churchill Downs." "Photo Finish" was given by Don Meyers; "Whirlaway," by Dave Rea, and "Jockeys," by Charles McAtee.

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, Colonel Bradley of South Side, presented the speech letters to students who did outstanding work in inter-scholastic competition. James McClure presented Wrangler honor awards under the name of the Kentucky Derby.

Two mint juleps, Mary Ellen Barrett and Rundell Bone, presented a humorous skit entitled, "A Pair of Lunatics."

Following the program the new officers for next semester were announced. They are as follows: Harold Brudi, president; Alene Loeser, vice-president; Janis Tremper, secretary; Mike Beall, treasurer; Pat Sanford, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Fred Collins and Warren Cook, sergeants-at-arms.

Fifty Boys Are Entrants In IM Cinder Contest

Tom Rehner, Phil Lichtenberg, Don Voorhees Place High In Light Division

Intramural tracksters numbering about fifty turned out for the track meet Friday. This, incidentally, was a much better number than in the past few years. The meet was conducted by Mr. Louie Briner, assisted by members of the varsity track team. Official timers were Mike Beall and Gus Feistkorn.

First in the lightweight 100-yard dash was Tom Rehner with 12.2 seconds. Waldo Layman and Don Voorhees tied for second and third with 12.3. Bob Zehrung, George Blanks, and Jack McNeil tied for first place honors in the heavyweight division, all with 11.9 seconds.

In the lightweight division of the 220-yard dash, Rehner again took first place, timed at 27.2; Harry Kast took second, and E. Eichenauer, third. Charles Underwood won the heavyweight heat in 26.4. Verweire was second with 27.2 and Zehrung was third.

Phil Lichtenberg, Bob Smith, and Harry Kast won first, second, and third in the lightweight 440-yard dash, the time being 1 minute, 5.3 seconds. Heavyweight honors in this event went to Art Garrison in 1.43 with Bill Knoll, second, and Ward Gilbert, third.

The 880- or the half-mile went to Voorhees with Seiler second, the time being 2:40.2. Don Knorr won in the heavyweight class, his time being 2:32.9, and Tom Elliott and Warren Spangle tied for second.

There were nine heats in the low hurdles; and, when the winner was finally decided upon, it was Wissler with 15.6. Latz was second with 17, and Baumgartner third, timed at 18. "Squeeb" Hines set the pace for the heavyweights in 13.8. Verweire was second with 16.2, and Knoll third with 17.2. There were no high hurdles.

Four teams were entered in the half-mile relay. Lichtenberg, Seiler, and Kast with Rehner anchoring, won in 1:59.6 and Voorhees, Lotz, Snyder, and Fortress were second. On the heavyweight side Spangle, Bornschein, Knoll, and Hines won in 1:51.6 with Verweire, Zehrung, Elliott, and Blanks second; Rariden, Vonderau, Gernand, and McNeil, third.

No lightweight entered the mile relay, but two competed in the heavyweight division. Voltz, Bornschein, Knoll, and Spangle were first in 4:32.6 and Gernand, Vonderau, Rariden, and McNeil were second.

Wissler leaped 17 feet 10 1/4 inches to capture the lightweight broad jumping title. Rehner took second with 15 feet 3 3/4 inches and Shannon third with 13 feet. On the heavyweight side, Beall, Elliott, and Underwood took first, second, and third with 17 feet 5 inches, 17 feet 4 inches, and 17 feet 1 3/4 inches.

First place in the high jump went to Bill Wissler and Wehring and Lichtenberg tying for second with 4 feet 7 inches. Gumpner took the heavyweight high jump going over the bar at 5 feet. Charles Underwood and Harry Hines tied for second place honors both failing to go over after 4 feet 10 inches.

La Monte Snyder won in the lightweight class of the pole vault, vaulting 8 feet 3 inches. Wissler and Miller tied for third at 1 foot 9 inches. Snyder's jump, however, was not official as he may have been over-weight. The heavyweight titles in this contest were annexed by Gene McClain, Tom Elliott, and Charles Underwood. McClain's jump being 7 feet 8 inches and the other two failed to get over 7 feet.

Harry Hines won the heavyweight part of the shot put heaving 37 feet 7 1/4 inches. John Mast was second with 35 feet 7 inches, and Chuck Underwood was third with 35 feet 3/4 inch. Lightweight honors went to Don Voorhees, Dick Morton and Waldo Layman putting the shot 28 feet 8 3/4 inches, 28 feet 3 3/4 inches, and 25 feet 7 1/4 inches respectively.

To give credit where credit was due, this department thinks that the most colorful contestant of the afternoon was Tom Rehner, a freshman who won three firsts and one second. He very easily won the 100-yard dash, and setting the pace all of the way, took the 220. Tom was the main reason why his team won the half-mile relay. Upon receiving the baton, he was at least 30 yards behind, but proving himself a real sprinter with about 12 yards to go, he passed Voorhees of the other foursome and won by two steps. He also placed second in the broad jump.

Two other outstanding entrants were John Gumpner, who won the high jump and placed in several other events, and Phil Lichtenberg, who won the 440 and placed second in the high jump. Another fast stepper was Chuck Underwood who had a first and two seconds.

A contestant in this meet could enter three running events including relays and one field event, or three field events. The times this year have not as yet been compared with those of former years. Consequently, we cannot yet inform you of any broken records.

S-O-S Shorts On Sports

By Wayne Bechtol
In the boys' intramural department, activities have greatly increased despite a temporary lull. Eleven softball games have been played and listed as past history; eight of the games represented the heavyweight division and one of the eleven games represented the middleweight division. Final results of the tennis tournament are expected to be available by the end of the week. Another big event played off every year at this time was the Intramural Track Meet held last Friday after school.

One of the most outstanding and unusual games ever witnessed was between the Lemons and the Hoopbirds. The final score was 6 to 6 and the time for the game was up and still no one could be truthfully called the winner. It was finally referred to a flip of a coin and Abe Lincoln called the Lemons the victor so who were we to dispute the Great Emancipator's word?

The Musketeers were completely shut out by the ExLaxers A.C. with a score of 7 to 0. Running true to form the ExLaxers B.C. took the Ten Stooges for a one-way ride to defeat when they produced the score sheet having a score of 8 to 1 in favor of the ExLaxers B.C.

The Rumbogies weren't quite in the groove as they conceded the victory to the Easy Aces, who won the game with very little effort; the final score was 8 to 0. A very interesting game was seen between the Swoshoes and the Hottentots but oddly enough the unfavored Swoshoes won the game with the score reading 10 to 4. The Powerful ExLaxers were finally conquered by T.O.P. with the final score reading 5 to 0.

The Handsome Heavies really played a handsome game as they just managed to conquer the Whiz Kids with a score of 4 to 2. Another close, exciting game was seen between the ExLaxers A.C. and the Ten Turners as the ExLaxers nosed out a victory with a score of 4 to 2.

The most interesting game played in the lightweight division was between the Swans and the Hot Dogs, with a final score of 3 to 1 in favor of the Hot Dogs. The only other game played in the lightweight division was between the Golden Seals and the Hot Dogs; the game proved to be a one-sided affair as the Golden Seals won by a score of 5 to 0.

Only one game out of a total of eleven played represented the middleweight division. This one-sided match was held between the Cats and the Rumbogies with the Cats very easily winning by six points; it was a complete shutout.

Girls' Sportsettes

As Donna Peel and some girls were bowling last Thursday, Donna threw the ball so hard that she slipped and fell down on the alley. But once wasn't enough, she fell down again. Nice going, Donna.

The bulletin board outside the girls' gym office has been looking very unattractive due to the girls who mark designs and doodles on the bulletin that do not belong on them. So please do not sign your mark any place else but on the sheet assigned.

Say, girls, do you remember the little green box in the gym office? Well, if you don't, you are supposed to fill it up with news of some sort for this column. Lately, there hasn't been anything at all. So how about filling it up again. It will be appreciated.

GAA's annual banquet is to be held May 27 at 6:30 o'clock in the cafeteria. Committees were appointed and are working hard to make it a success but it can't be a success unless we have a large attendance. So, come on girls, sign up on the bulletin board right away.

“Fuzzy” Amstutz took on Mr. Snider in a game of ping-pong in an attempt to beat him. Well, she did too, the score being 21-14.

Do You Know How, When, Where You Can Drive That Car

It is indeed a rare student who can at all times hold his mental balance while learning to drive a car. By the rules of Indiana law, a youth, upon reaching the age of sixteen, can legally drive, if a licensed driver is in the car with him. And here is the hitch.

One of the most natural places for a student to learn to drive is on the way to school. Quite often fathers (or mothers) oblige their sons or daughters by driving them to school. On that eventful day when our young prospective driver secures his permit, the steering wheel is turned over to him. Here are a few of the experiences encountered in that first drive to school.

When the driver comes to his first stop street, he very diligently comes to a complete stop and waits for a car approaching three blocks away.

“You had plenty of time; why didn't you turn out there?” queries the old man.

“Well—I—ah—thought I'd better wait for that car,” says the learning driver.

“My goodness, he was three blocks away. There's such a thing as being over-cautious, you know.”

At the next corner, in a situation almost identical to the foregoing one, the driver takes advantage of this advice and shoots out into the street, to the detriment both of the tires and Dad's composure.

“Don't let me see you do that again until you know more about driving,” he gloweringly warns.

“But I thought—But you said—But I—But—Well—

“No back talk, you just aren't experienced enough to dash out in front of a car like that. You haven't driven enough to judge speed and distance accurately. Now next time, etc., etc.”

And so it goes, ‘round and ‘round in a vicious circle. There is only one time when it ceases. That is when the young driver gets his conditional license and is legally qualified to drive by himself!

Geneva Martin's Senior 1's won the upperclassman GAA baseball tournament by winning all five of their games. Betty Hargan's Junior 1's and Betty MacKay's Sophomore 3's tied for second place. They won four games apiece.

Teams whom seniors defeated were the Junior 1's, Sophomore 4's, Sophomore 3's, Sophomore 1's, and Sophomore 2's.

Hi-Y'ers Arrange Election Of Heads

Nominations For Best Boy, Girl Citizens Award Are Chosen; List Is Submitted To Faculty

Election of officers will be held at the Hi-Y meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the YMCA. This meeting will also be the final business meeting of the club to settle all finances.

Nominations for next year's officers were made at the meeting of Hi-Y last Thursday, May 15. The nominations were: Pete Holzworth and Roger McVay, president; Dick Wilson, Leslie Baumgartner, and Jim Holzwarth, vice-president; Dick Dreyer and John Heffelfinger, secretary; Bill McNulty, Dan Auer, and Bill Dreyer, treasurer; and Keith Coverdale and Sam Johnson, sergeant-at-arms.

Nominations for the Best Girl and Boy Citizens' awards that are sponsored by Hi-Y, were made. Three boys' and three girls' names were submitted to the faculty who will make the selection. The three boy nominees were Bob Hines, Bob Young, and Dick Theye; the girls were Rebecca Abbott, Marjorie Sheldon, and Marjorie McMahon.

Dave Azar and Bud Heberston were appointed as additional members of the potluck committee in charge of the potluck to be held next week. Dave Azar gave a financial and pencil report. Dick Brouwer gave a pennant report. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Gloria Hardendorf's Heart Beats Wildly For GAA And Dick

GAA spotlights are turned on Gloria Hardendorf, popular sophomore, this week. Gloria, although only a sophomore, is well on her way toward earning her letter.

She was born in Fort Wayne, September 6, 1925. She attended the James H. Smart School before entering South Side in 1939.

Gloria is an enthusiastic hiker and skater. Her skill in volleyball and basketball was shown this year when her team made fine showings in both of those tournaments. She has served as student leader for two years. She rates tennis and basketball as her favorite sports. When it comes to ping-pong, well, she's good in that too, but she gives up too easily.

In regard to the future, she plans to be a stenographer. Her romantic interests lean toward a certain Dick Allmandinger.

Gloria's favorite movie is “The Hound of Baskerville,” and her favorite book is “The Circular Staircase.” Ronald Reagan and Priscilla Lane rate tops with her in the movie world.

Her favorite nickname is “Mulligan,” although she has many others. Spaghetti and mashed potatoes are her favorite foods, although she likes to eat all things. Mr. Maurice Cook is her favorite teacher, while her favorite subject is bookkeeping.

Her biggest thrill came when she took her first ride on a roller coaster. In her spare time she collects stamps as a hobby. Besides being a very active member of GAA, Gloria belongs to the Service Club.

Golfers Win Two Matches; To Play At Franklin, State

Divoteers Play In State Meet At Indianapolis

Coach Friddle, Team Go To Franklin Match; Defeat Bengals, Fighting Irish

Coach Burl Friddle and his Archer golfers will travel south this week-end for two very important meets.

On Friday, the local mashie wielders will leave for Franklin, where they will meet the Franklin high school team on Friday afternoon.

Saturday morning, the Green divot diggers are scheduled to tee off at the Speedway Course in Indianapolis in the state golf tournament.

Bob Robinson, Tom Hall, Bob Young, and Al Schaaf will carry the Kelley colors onto the green at Franklin and Indianapolis.

Last week-end the Archers won two meets. On Thursday night, the Friddlemen whipped Central by an 8-to-4 count.

Bob Robinson played Ken Buchanan and carded a 78, Tom Hall met Red Buchanan and hit a 78.

Bob Young took 83 blows to down Bill Pearson, and Jim Straley took 97 blows in playing Bill Taylor. The match was played at the Municipal course in Foster Park.

Playing on the sporting Brookwood layout the next evening, the Green swingers downed a good Central Athletic quartet by a 6½-to-5½ score.

Tom Hall paced the locals with 80 blows, while Al Schaaf took 83 swings, Bob Young 85, and Bob Robinson 92.

The Irish players had previously won a match from the locals, but the Archers gave their downtown mashie rivals a thorough drubbing last week.

Mural Markers

More games were played in the Intramural Softball League last week than in any week so far. The heavyweight division had the most games played with eight, the middleweight division had one, and the lightweight division had two games.

In the heavyweight division, the Ex-Laxers A. C. shutout the Musketeers by the score of 7 to 0. The following boys scored for the Ex-Laxers: Knoll, Ruckle, Haines, Gildea, McClure, and Hall.

There was one other shutout in the heavyweight division. It was between the Easy Aces and the Gumbogeies. The Easy Aces won 8 to 0. Six boys scored for the Easy Aces. They were Wissler, Werling, Cliben, Minscer, Hambrick and Turner.

In the game between the Ex-Laxers B. C. and the TOP, the TOP came out on top by a score of 14 to 3. Dan-necker, Wells, and Straley were the boys who scored for the B. C., while the following boys scored for the TOP: Meyers, McLain, Zuber, Underwood, Ginger, Geise, Reynolds, and Reidtort.

Another none-too-close game was between the Ex-Laxers A. C. and the Ten Tonners, but this time the Ex-Laxers were victorious by a score of 12 to 2. Everyone on the Ex-Laxers team scored except Strawbridge, while Domer and Bishop were the only members of the Ten Tonners able to score. In the game between the Whiz Kids and the Handsome Heavies the Heavies were victorious by a score of 10 to 2. Only Shever and Schlose were able to score for the Whiz Kids while the following boys scored for the Handsome Heavies: Schehorn, Lakey, Murphy, Gilbert, and Spiker.

The only close game was between Hoobirds and the Lemons; in fact, the final score was 6 to 6. If you want to know who won, you will have to ask Lincoln, because they flipped a coin for the game and the Lemons won.

The extreme in scoring probably was in the game between the Ten Stooges and the Ex-Laxers B. C. The score was 10 to 3. All the boys scored for the Ex-Laxers. They were Feist-korn, Moeller, Wuttke, Wells, Hines, and Dannecker. Only Scott and For-bing were able to score for the Ten Stooges.

The only other game in the heavy-weight division was between the Hot-tentots and the Swoses. Lichtenberg, Fishing, Mast, Reher, Sheldon, Drummond, Schernberg, and Trier scored for the Swoses. Oppenlander, Kite, Kigar, and Hockemeyer scored for the Hottentots.

There was only one game played in the middleweight division. The Cats shut out the Rhumboogies, 10 to 0. Hegerfelt was the only Cat unable to score.

The last games played in the light-weight division ended with very lopsided scores. The Golden Seals defeated the Hot Dogs by the score of 12 to 1. Stone saved the game from becoming a shutout by scoring in the second. All the members of the Golden Seals team scored.

The other game was between the Swans and the Hot Dogs. The Hot Dogs won by a score of 11 to 4. The following boys scored for the Hot Dogs: Stamets, Vanderford, Nollers, Brown, Zollinger, Wade, Mitchell, and Shannon. Only Morton, Welborn, Long, and Imler scored for the Swans.

Eight Archers Place

Sectional Winners Await State Meet

South Side's state meet entrants, left to right, are: Front row—Ralph Shimer, in the 880; Chuck Close, in the shotput; Dick Kilpatrick, in the high jump. Back row—Bill Bond, in the half-mile relay; Arthur Parry, in the 220 and half-mile relay; Coach George Collyer; Rudy Wuttke, in the broad jump and half-mile relay; and Dal Zuber, in the pole vault.

Kellys Break Two Records In Sectionals

Archers Score Second Place In Meet At North Field; Close, Feistkorn Star

Coach George Collyer's tracksters again made a fine showing last week-end in the sectional meet at North Side. North Side's favored Red runners were the first place winners by virtue of recording 56 points, but our Archers were a close second with 46 points. South Siders copped six first places, as did the Nulfmens. Roger Neighborgall of Garrett won the 100-yard dash for the only other first place award.

Two Archers set new sectional records. Big Chuck Close tossed the shot 49 feet 10½ inches to set a new mark in the shot put; Gus Feistkorn turned in a record time of 1:57.9 in covering the half-mile distance. Ashley Hawk, North Side's fine freshman sprinter, and Jim Worman of South Side finished next to Gus. All three of these boys finished under the former record of 2:00.7 set by Mourning of Central in 1936.

Archer athletes made a clean sweep of the field events. Close won the shot, Rudy Wuttke retained his broad jumping laurels, and Dick Kilpatrick matched jumps with Tom Brown of North Side to tie for first in the high jump.

In addition to Feistkorn, Art Parry was the only other South Sider to win a place in a track event. Art placed a close second to Bob Cowan of North Side in the 220-yard dash finals. South Side's mile relay crew fell back in the second lap of their race with the northern millers and never again regained the lead. Shimer, Bond, Wuttke, and Parry combined their speedy efforts to give the Collyermen a first place in the half-mile relay.

Here is a complete summary of the sectional meet:

100-Yard Dash—Neighborgall (G), first; Sitko (C), second; Parry (SS), third. Time—10.1.

220-Yard Dash—Cowan (NS), first; Parry (SS), second; Neighborgall (G), third. Time—22.8.

440-Yard Dash—Neighborgall (G), first; Cowan (NS), second; R. Sebald (SS), third. Time—50.6.

880-Yard Run—Feistkorn (SS), first; Hawk (NS), second; Worman (SS), third. Time—1:57.9.

Mile Run—Hawk (NS), first; Pri-bogle (H), second; Herber (NS), third. Time—4:28.9.

High Hurdles—Bojinoff (NS), first; Longardner (NS), second; Overmire (H), third. Time—16.1.

Low Hurdles—Bojinoff (NS), first; Frazer (NS), second; Symon (G), third. Time—23.4.

Broad Jump—Wuttke (SS), first; Sitko (C), second; Gray (C), third. Distance—21-1½.

High Jump—Brown (NS) and Kilpatrick (SS), tied for first; Stebing (A), Overmire (H), Douglass (NS), tied for third. Height—6½.

Shot Put—Close (SS), first; Short (NS), second; Lattimore (C), third. Distance—49 feet 10½ inches.

Pole Vault—Zuber (SS), first; Lockwood (B), second; Lew (C) and Hall (G), tied for third. Height—11.

Mile Relay—North Side (Saylor, Snook, Hinga, Cowan), first; South

Track Tremors

By Bob Young.

With the state meet but two days away, I have uncovered some interesting track statistics in which most Archer track fans should take an interest. I've taken the winner of each of the thirteen sectional events and compared his time to that of the holder of the state record. First of all let's take a look at the Archer winners:

Big Chuck Close, South Side's shotput hope, tossed the 12-pound weight 49 feet 10½ inches. Don Elser holds the state record, having tossed the shot some 52 feet 11½ inches.

Rudy Wuttke broadjumped 21 feet 1½ inches in the sectional. Don Scott of Gary Froebel set the broad-jumping mark in 1932 by leaping 23 feet ¾ inch.

Dick Kilpatrick, junior high jumper, sailed over the bamboo bar at 6 feet ½ inch in the meet last Saturday. The state record mark is 6 feet 4 inches. Dal Zuber pole vaulted 11 feet last week-end; the state record holder, Farmer of Gary Froebel, set a vault record of 12 feet 10 inches in 1935.

Of all the Archer state finalists, Gus Feistkorn appears to have the best chance of garnering a first place and a possible state mark. Dick Fruth of Hammond High sprinted the 880-yard distance in 1:57.8 minutes in 1933. Gus' equaled this all-time state final mark in his sectional win last Saturday. If Gus can increase his wind and drive, it looks as if old man record is in for another beating.

Hammond High's great half-mile relay crew of 1939 set a new mark of 1:31.4 seconds. South Side's half-mile quartet, composed of Bill Bond, Rudy Wuttke, Art Parry, and Chick Shimer paced the distance in 1:32.5 seconds in the meet last week.

With good conditions prevailing next Saturday, it seems that South Siders should be able to record or come close to several new state marks. At any rate—here's hoping.

Golf prediction: Who are you picking for the state high school golf title? Yes, you bet. I'm picking Elmhurst. Led by Freddie Link and Henry Yoven, the Trojans look like certain bets to cop the state mashie crown. Link carded a 70 and Yoven a 76 against the Archers last Monday. Many of the leading professionals will settle for either of those figures. Elmhurst has the goods, and only a "red hot" quartet will have any chance of edging the Allen County swingers.

Hall Of Fame

Two fine athletes, who graduated from South Side in 1938 and were members of the State Championship squad, are Jim Roth and John Hines. Both are members of the Alabama basketball team now and are both juniors.

John Hines, who was captain of the championship squad and also president of the Lettermen's Club, was in almost every sport offered at South Side. In his sophomore year Johnny was a member of the varsity basketball team. During the junior year, he was in almost everything. He was on the varsity golf and basketball team and also was quarterback on the football team that won the city championship.

In 1938 he was the captain of the basketball squad that won the State Championship title. He also was on the golf and track team. In addition to this, John was a fine student. He was a member of the National Honor Society and received an algebra award on Recognition Day.

James Roth is another member of the Archer Hall of Fame that couldn't be left out. As you know, Jim was on our State Championship squad. In addition to this, he was secretary of the Lettermen's Club. Jim was also the president of the Inter-Club Congress twice. He was a member of the football, basketball, and track team in his senior year. Jim was not only good in sports but also in school work; for, like John, he was a member of the National Honor Society.

And so you see both of these boys, who had almost identical athletic and scholastic records, are continuing this similarity in Alabama University by both being members of the basketball squad in only their third year at that school.

Remaining Teams In IM Meet Listed

6 Squads In Heavyweight Group, 3 In Middleweight; Golden Seals Lightweight Champs

Now that the intramural softball season is soon, if the weather clears, to be history, here is a list of the eliminated teams thus far. These teams were eliminated by the double loss method, that is: A team must lose two games before it is dropped from competition. This is a favorable system because a team that has tough luck in one game still has a chance for the championship.

The teams in the heavyweight division are as follows: Bucs, Handsome Heavier, Whiz Kids, Hottentots, Hoop-birds, and The Ten Stooges.

Teams in the middleweight division: Gum Drops, Rhumboogies, and Detroit Tigers. In the lightweight section are the Swans and Hot Dogs, with the Golden Seals, champions of this division.

600 Turn Out For Operetta Friday Evening

Production Is Huge Success; Participants, Mr. Lester Hostettler Deserve Praise

Approximately six hundred persons attended "Chonita", the first operetta to be presented for several years by the music department of South Side, last Friday night in the school gymnasium.

The chorus comprised of about 120 students and the cast, composed of Emelyn Rimmel, Bob Jamieson, Lois Craig, Charles Close, John Myers, Wilma Lagemann, James Bunner, and John Olcott, sang the haunting strains of Franz Liszt accompanied by an orchestra of about twenty people. Helen Ninde read a prologue to the operetta.

Piano accompanists included Bernita Eggers, Elaine Hirschy, Wilma Lagemann, Jacqueline McCoy, Doris Radcliffe, and Jack Ruhl.

Beautiful lighting effects were controlled by Electrician Ben Harris. Others on the staff assisting Mr. Lester Hostettler were as follows: Business managers, Robert Allen and Elizabeth Kelson; publicity, Carol Whittier, Joan Dodge, and Joyce Cleaver; stage guides, Elaine Polman, Lorraine Berning, Frances Weir, and Betty Jo Jones; stage hands, Max Chandler, Wayne Brown, Edward Wade, and John Blair; prompter, Dorothy Snaveley; and make-up, Dorothy Snaveley, Bettilu Stein, Gloria Staley, Wanda Ramey, Joan Cox, and Violet Reiter.

Boys who served as ushers were Robert Brooks, Richard Sommers, Gale Muller, Bob Guion, Don Aldrich, Ted Haberkorn, and Larry Phipps.

Much credit for the success of the operetta is due to the co-operation and assistance rendered by Mr. Jack Wainwright, Miss Lucy Osborne, Miss Margery Suter, Miss Blanche Hutto, Miss Erma Dochterman, Mr. Ora M. Davis, Miss Gretchen Smith, and Miss Alice Dean.

Three dances were presented by a group of twelve girls from the chorus and several members of the Dance Club. Colorful, elaborate scenery was used in both the gaudy gypsy camp and the rich Budapest mansion. Margaret Brower and Miss Hutto did the fine work on the settings and stage decorations.

Glorious Gloria Is Gifted, Glamorous, Go-Getter Graduate

The slogan, "Wonderful things come in small packages", finds proof in our petite, adorable Ivy Queen of 1941. Her dark ringlets reach barely to the five foot mark, and it is only the steadies of steady males who do not turn as she sweeps by. Who?—Likable, personable Gloria Werkman.

Artistic of temperament, Gloria won a year's scholarship to the Fort Wayne Art School while still at Harrison Hill. Her other grade school activities consisted of helping to publish The Beacon and being active in plays and pageants.

Math-Science, Social Science, Art Club, Times, 1500, and Totem have occupied her time outside of school, and she has served as president of her home room. Ripe olives top her list of food favorites, and her pet peeve is having to put up her hair. Barbara Stanwyck and Clark Gable rate first on her cinema list.

She loves perfumes and lipstick and has a large collection to prove it. A real equestrienne is Gloria for she adores an early morning canter. Swimming rates first in her long list of hobbies. Whoever said, "Brains and beauty don't mix," never knew this peppy little senior, for she's majored in math and loved it. Sciences of all sorts intrigue her, and she has never lost her knack for art.

She'll never forget the time that she tripped while going up the stairs at the Senior Funfest. Incidentally, she and Artie Hoffman keep the postmen between Notre Dame and Fort Wayne on the run. Gloria expects to take a liberal arts course at Vanderbilt and continue in some sort of government work. Whatever you do, Gloria, we know that you will have what it takes to succeed!

Parent-Teacher Group Installs New Officers

New officers of the P-TA elected in March were installed at the meeting held Wednesday morning, May 14, at 9:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The new officers for next year are Mrs. George A. Grunwald, president; Mrs. J. C. Carman, first vice-president; Mr. M. Cook, second vice-president; Mrs. Fred Wilson, secretary; and Mrs. Ed. Bauer, treasurer.

Mrs. A. K. Rimmel, the retiring president, gave a talk at the meeting for the new officers.

Mrs. Lloyd Sanford was appointed chairman of the committee of the junior mothers who are to pin the roses on the seniors at graduation.

Miss Margery Suter Has Civic Drama Part

Miss Margery Suter, drama instructor at South Side, is playing the part of the ranch woman in the Civic Theater production of "The Women." Miss Suter plays her character part remarkably well.

Forty women take part in the production which is divided into eleven scenes. The play, a comedy, is very modern and is one of the most-talked-about plays of the year.

This production is included on the membership card.

Win High Journalism Honors

Rose-Etha Brazy And Kenneth Breimeier

Six South Siders won honors Saturday at the Butler University Journalism Field Day at Indianapolis. Rose-Etha Brazy and Kenneth Breimeier won first places. Rose-Etha won first place in the advertising copy writing contest for which entries were submitted ahead of time. Kenneth won in copy reading and John Gumpfer won in sports writing in contests on Butler campus.

Bob Young placed third with his sports story, Joel Salon placed third in the photography division, and Louis Hallenstein won third in the editorial division in contests in which entries were sent in.

These winners were announced by Professor Burchard, Director of the contest, at the conclusion of the day's program.

These students from South Side who attended are John Gumpfer, Becky Abbott, Jane Klinefelter, Ruth Hageman, Franklin Neff, Tom Yates, Tompsie Hall, Kenneth Breimeier, Bill McNulty, and Marilyn McGuire.

Totems Expected To Be Out June 4

Yearbooks Went To Press Last Monday; Only 78 More Are Available For Full Payment

Delivery of The Totem is expected about June 4, it was announced today by John Bonsib, editor. The book went to press last Monday.

So far 997 Totems have been paid for in full, and 123 more have been partly paid for. The next 78 to pay all they owe will receive their Totem.

Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser, stated, "It is a lovely book, the school is well represented, and I think the people are going to like it."

"Everyone should pay for his Totem in full or he may not get one," said Joel Salon, business manager.

Meterites Will Stage Final Meeting Tuesday

Officers for the past year are president, Bob Hines; vice-president, Ralph Shimer; and secretary - treasurer, Charles Feistkorn.

Girl Reserves Initiate Sixteen Girls Into Club

Sixteen girls were initiated into USA Club in a candlelight service last Thursday in the Greeley Room. The Girl Reserve code was explained by the members during the initiation.

A quiz game was played with the initiates on one team and the old members on the other. The initiates won by one point.

Seniors:
Word from the office was received that caps and gowns will be here Thursday, June 5. They will also be distributed on that date from Room 102.

The seniors will wear them all day June 6 for Recognition Day. Pictures of the senior class will be taken after the recognition services.

Many SS Students March To Work Not To War Each Day

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching. Where, to war? No, to work. Many students here at South Side have jobs outside of school. Earlier in the year we told about a few students employed outside of school, we feel that those who were not mentioned the last time should be recognized this time for their hard labor.

That Casanova of South Side, Dick Fishering, has at last settled down to earn a little cash. But, wouldn't you know it! He found himself a sitting-room job. He now works at a large Fort Wayne factory as a timekeeper. I hope all the employees get their full salaries with Dick working as time keeper.

Then there are many lads who work in various drugstores. Notable among these are Mike Beall, Barrie Tremper, Bob Dalman, and Frank Duwalt. Duwalt, besides working in a drugstore, holds a position at Howards Camera Shop, and does heavy housework for several of his neighbors.

Many South Siders are gainfully employed at the News-Sentinel. Jack Cranfill carries bundles of papers to the delivery trucks, Bob York loads the delivery trucks with papers, Dick Dosch receives the papers off the press, and John Warner also carries bundles of papers to the delivery trucks.

Then there is the unbelievable. A girl, Mary Alice Duntun, works in her father's grocery store. I'll bet she has a lot of customers! Junior Davenport also works in a grocery store, but, unfortunately for him, not in the same one that Mary Alice works in.

Fred Schwiher, the V man of South Side, works at Wolf and Dessauer. You'll have to ask him what he does. I haven't got time. I gotta see a man about a job, of being a valet for Yehudi.

Exams Will Be Given Today In Mathematics

Competitive examinations will be held for all mathematics pupils to determine who will be given certificates for Recognition Day. Today in Room 146 these examinations will be in four different mathematic branches. They are algebra, geometry, college algebra, and trigonometry.

The Junior Math Club will also give recognition to the student who maintains the highest average during his freshman and sophomore years. His name will be engraved on the cup, sponsored by Junior Math Club.

Library President Is Kathryn Guild

Five Others Chosen During Last Meeting Tuesday; Juniors Entertain Senior Members

Officers for next year were chosen at Library Club's final meeting of this semester, last Tuesday. They are as follows: President, Kathryn Guild; vice-president, Carol Trenary; secretary, Marjorie Wigbel; Inter-Club Congress, Jeanet Whetsel; point-recorder, Earl Sweeney; and sergeant-at-arms, Hilda Leininger.

Retiring officers include president, Cliff Matson; vice-president, Ellen Harry; secretary, Sam Bacon; point-recorder, Lois Gumpfer; Inter-Club Congress, Betty Koehler; and sergeant-at-arms, Earl Sweeney.

The meeting was planned by the juniors in honor of the seniors. Several speeches were made, and a class of 1941 prophecy was given by Jeanet Whetsel. Each senior was presented a gift from the junior staff.

The seniors gave Miss Emma Shoup, Library adviser, a brown purse in appreciation of her work.

Ellen Harry heads the program committee; assisting her are Rosemary Ziegler, Eileen Franke, Naomi Koopman, Carolyn Snoke, Ruth Werkman, Ruth Hageman, Rosa Lee Hall, Violet Reiter, Mary Ellen Barrett, Carol Whittner and Dorothy Jaggers.

Bob Newhardt Is So-Sci President

Other Officers For Next Year
Are Joan Cox, Keith Lakey,
Marjorie McNabb, Don Knorr

Bob Newhardt was elected president of Social Science for the coming semester at a picnic held at Foster Park last week.

Other officers are Joan Cox, vice-president and secretary - treasurer, Marjorie McNabb. Keith Lakey will be Inter-Club Congress representative and Don Knorr, sergeant-at-arms.

About thirty members of Social Science and several faculty members were present at the picnic. Wieners, buns, popcorn, and coke furnished the evening's meal.

This semester's roster of officers include Dick Theye, president; Eva Jean Wylie, vice-president; Ruth Dauner, secretary-treasurer; Marnie Dyer, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Bob Newhardt, sergeant-at-arms.

Writer Characterizes Types Of Students--Arrilla, Parrot

By Betty MacKay

The student body of South Side is composed of about thirteen types, for the majority of those enrolled can be classified under one or more of these types.

There is really no one outstanding group, but one that is quite prominent is that of the butterflies. The lovely little lassies who trip (and fall) gaily over the school in high heels, and who cover their faces with dark, "glamorous" make-up are in this type not because they enjoy French, but class. They like French class best, because Johnny He-Man is in there, and besides, Miss Olcott is SO cute! This group is mostly girls, but it does include those effeminate males who just love dancing and whose primary interests are girls and clothes.

In direct contrast to them we have the gorilla type—big, burly he-men and girls, builtlike Charles Atlas. I personally would prefer not to meet any of them in a dark alley. To them athletics is the main thing in life—and they want to make it the chief interest in everyone else's life. Occasionally we find a male specimen who is the happy medium between these first two types, but in that case he is surrounded by beves of beautiful girls, who worship the ground he walks on.

But, coming around to the more studious type, we find a large

In Unanimous Poll Pupils Think Totem Is Best On Market

As the time quickly draws near for the 1941 Totem to be distributed among subscribers, speculation grows as to what the Totem will be like. In order to get some idea of what the Totem will be like, several Totem workers were asked what their opinion of it is.

Joel Salon: With John Bonsib, editor, the 1941 Totem should be the best ever.

Jim Brooks: Plenty good!

Marge Sheldon: It has more pictures and more everything than ever and all in all, I think it will be a wonderful book.

Mary Lybrook: I think it's a darn good book, and they'll have to step some to beat it next year.

Jean Weil: Excellent publication.

Bob Druhot: Best one out. Ask Bonsib.

Bob Young: It should be good.

Kay Kuntz: It's wonderful. Best yet.

Jeanne Smith: I think Joel Salon and John Bonsib have done a very good job.

Charlene McAtee: Best Totem this year.

Delores Daniels: I haven't seen it, but from the amount of work and the efficient staff it ought to be bigger and better than ever.

Barbara Cross: From what I hear its supposed to be the best Totem yet.

Recognition Day Scheduled June 6

Outstanding Students Of Year Will Be Honored In Various Fields; Committee Is Given

South Side's annual Recognition Day will be held June 6, and students who are outstanding in various fields of work are to be honored.

Different fields in which recognition is given are as follows: Scholarship, perfect attendance, best citizenship, four year honor roll, National Honor Society, English, Library, mathematics, Social Science, Latin, French, German, industrial arts, journalism, athletics, Rifle Club and public speaking.

The committee in charge is Miss Elizabeth Demaree, chairman; Mr. Jake McClure, Mr. Russel Furst, and Mr. E. S. Gould.

Extension Offers Scholarships
Indiana University Extension offers two scholarships for our school for next year. Several seniors have already made applications, but if there are more who wish to do so the applicants should see Mr. R. Nelson Snider.

number of hounds—those students who will argue for hours with their English teacher over a grade of ninety-eight.

"But, Miss B—, 'to school' is definitely an infinitive, and you had no right to take off two points!" Strangely enough, they're almost invariably wrong.

In comparison with the hounds, we have the wolves. They answer every question the teacher asks, regardless of who is called upon, but seldom answer correctly. It is really a pleasure to those present to see a wolf get the reprimand of a teacher.

Then there are our little friends, the rabbits. Unless they are seated alphabetically, this type has their own little briar bush in the back row—far from the terrifying pedagogy. But if one does get in the front row, he suffers untold horrors and agonies every time the teacher so much as glances at him.

Very similar to the rabbits are the mice. In class—particularly math class—the mice never fail to open their recitation with "I don't think

Lois Craig, 11B, Will Be Head Of Latin Club

Other Next Semester Officers Will Be John Olcott,
Ellen Motz, Otis Russell

Lois Craig will serve as president of Latin Club next year, it was decided in the election held at the last meeting, May 22, in Room 138. Other officers elected are vice-president, John Olcott; secretary-treasurer, Ellen Motz; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Otis Russell.

Dorothy Gildea, retiring president, appointed a committee composed of Keith Lakey, Harry Kelsey, and Mary Harry to investigate an installation ritual for new members.

Latin Club will have a combined picnic with German and French Clubs. Committees appointed for the picnic are as follows: Program, Keith Lakey and John Olcott; food, Ionajean Tracht and Marjorie Wigbel; and clean-up, Bob Zimmer and Otis Russell.

Following the theme, "The Development of the Harp", the program was as follows: The Myths of the first lyre, Marsyas and Apollo, and the punishment of Midas, Carol Whittner; lyre and cithara, Joyce Cleaver; demonstration of the modern harp, June Flaig; story from Vergil's Aeneid, Violet Reiter; song of Iopas read in Latin, June Flaig; song of Iopas sung in English, Joyce Cleaver, soprano, and Carol Whittner, alto, with June Flaig, harpist; farewell to graduating seniors, Joan Cox; and response, Hilda Schubert.

Refreshments were in charge of Nancy Geake, Kate Cox, Mary Harry, and Jeanette Moore.

Retiring officers are Dorothy Gildea, president; Ellen Harry, vice-president; Lois Craig, secretary-treasurer; Norman Fortness, Inter-Club Congress representative. Other candidates for next semester's officers were Carol Whittner, Keith Lakey, Patricia Haruff, and Dorothy Snavely. June Flaig, Hilda Schubert, and Laura Grazier comprised the nominating committee.

So-Si-Y Head Is Ilo Hirshman, 12B

Other Officers Chosen Are Joan Druhot, Bernetta Eggers, T.
Draper And Annabelle Harrod

Ilo Hirshman was elected president of So-Si-Y at the last meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the Greeley Room. She succeeds Gertrude Merkel.

Other officers newly elected are Joan Druhot, Bernetta Eggers, Thelma Draper, and Annabelle Harrod. They will hold the offices of vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and Inter-Club Congress representative, respectively.

Minor offices as chairman of service, social, music, membership, and publicity have not been chosen.

Returning officers are Marjorie Voltz, vice-president; Ilene Franke, secretary; Betty Nichols, treasurer; and Romayne Rediger, Inter-Club Congress representative; minor positions were filled by Marguerite Calkins, service chairman; Elaine Boerger, music chairman; Marjorie Gerdig, social chairman; and Louisa Haug, publicity chairman.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, gave a talk on "Wise Choices". Miss Elizabeth Dinsdale, secretary at the YWCA, spoke on membership of the YWCA clubs. Each graduating senior girl was presented with a free membership card to the YWCA Senior Clubs which is good for one year.

Under the leadership of Bernadine Bender, a skit was given illustrating the standards and ideals of Girl Reserves.

Refreshments were served.

Band Features Solos, Dances

Miss Catherine Goetz, Dr.
Grant Connell Participate
In Music Assembly

Miss Catherine Goetz, pianist from Columbus, Ohio, and Dr. Grant Connell, guest conductor also from Columbus, were the main features at the last music assembly held Tuesday morning.

Both artists are well known for their ability. Miss Goetz has given several concerts in different cities. She has played with college and university bands. Dr. Connell is president of Capital College of Music and Oratory in Columbus.

The program contained a piano selection by Miss Goetz. She played "Repertoire," by Bennett, with band accompaniment, directed by Dr. Connell. The South Side band under the direction of Dr. Connell, played "Barber of Seville," by Rossini, and "Knightsbridge March," by Coates.

Student soloists were James Van Buskirk and Calvin Singer. James, cornetist, played "From the Shores of the Mighty Pacific," by Clarke. "Grand Russian Fantasia," by Levy, was played by Calvin, a cornetist.

Mr. Jack Wainwright, Archer music director, directed the band in several numbers. They are as follows: "Valse Triste," by Sibelius; "Dedication," by Frankisier; "Phedre," by Massenet; "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America," by Berlin.

A dance team from Elkhart, Jean Wagner and George Jackson, presented a dance while the band played "A Beautiful Lady in Blue," by Coates. The two have been dancing together for several years and have performed in many large cities.

Mr. Roland Van Arsdale, a very famous impersonator and friend visiting Mr. Wainwright, consented to give some of his impersonations.

Archer Girls Named To Go To 'Girls' State'

Jeanet Whetsel and Valette Siebold were among approximately 150 girls of Indiana who were chosen to go to "Girls State." They will go to Indianapolis on June 24 and stay for a week. A state will be set up with city and state officials. Valette plans to run for governor and Jeanet Whetsel will run for mayor. This state is being sponsored by the American Legion Post 47.

Do You Know Who Occupies Room 66? This Gives Answer

When students know more about the lives of teachers, outside of school associations, they have a better understanding of them and somehow feel more like a friend. It is partly for that purpose that from time to time, our paper has published the life history of various faculty members.

This week we turn the spotlight on Room 66. As we enter this room we meet a middle-aged woman with a pleasant smile and beautiful gray hair. This woman, as we all know, is Miss Beulah Rinehart. She was born on a farm near West Lakes, Rome City, Indiana, and walked two miles to her school at Rome City.

Later, she moved with her parents to a farm near Kendallville. She drove her horse "Maud" to school when the weather was too bad for her bicycle. She was graduated from the Kendallville High School and prepared for the teaching profession at the Indiana State Normal School at Terre Haute.

A week after her graduation from high school she sold her bicycle which was a relief, since road 6 was not paved as it is today. After a period of teaching in various grade schools at Elkhart, Indiana, she took her Ph.B. degree in the University of Chicago.

Following this, she taught in a private

South Side 'He-Men' Demand Personality 'Oomph' In Females

"Woo! Woo!" cries one boy. "Now there is a classy chassis," ejaculates his companion, referring to a girl passing by, "and she really has a swell personality," adds a third boy. These and many other traits go to make up what South Side boys call the perfect girl. We wish we could have everybody's opinion on this, but, as there would be room for nothing else in the paper, we can't. However, here are the ones we did get in answer to the question, "What is the trait you admire most about a girl?"

Dick Sellers: A good personality.

Fred Smith: 2 1/2% personality; 2 1/2% intelligence; 95% oomph!

Bob Kortum: I admire everything about girls.

Earl Cheevers: A good personality. Gene Richert: Her hair.

Squeeb Hines: Her figure.

Ralph Werling: Personality.

John Mast: Plenty of spunk.

Bill Fishering: Just so her name is Mary Louise.

Bob Smith: Eyes.

Bill Smith: Ditto.

Now for the feminine view of the perfect "he-man." They answered the question, "What is the trait you admire in a man?" Most of the answers stated that they admire nothing about a boy, but you notice that these don't stay at home on Friday and Saturday.

Alma Smith: I like curly hair.

Marilyn Smith: I don't know of anything.

Patty Schnurr: Nothing.

Anna Roth: None!

Janet Rea: There's nothing to admire about a boy.

LaVonne Taylor: Nothing.

Lois Voght: The color of his eyes.

College Cadet Battalion Plans Military Review

Archer students are invited to attend Concordia College's Cadet battalion presentation, their annual military demonstration Sunday, June 1, at the Concordia College gymnasium at 2 o'clock, and Wednesday, June 4, at 8 p. m. Prices are fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children on June 1, and fifty cents for all on June 4.

Reservations for seats can be made by calling A-7462 on or after May 27.

Students In Play

Louisa Haugk and Richard Gallmeyer portrayed the leading roles in a play, May 28 at St. Paul's Lutheran School. The play was called "Pity the Princess." Each have been active in the Walther League which presented the play.

Then, feeling a need to be nearer her parents, she entered the public school by teaching two years at Central High School, Fort Wayne, and one year at the Fort Wayne Normal School. As this one year was the last year of the Fort Wayne Normal School, she came to South Side High School, which had just been built.

Her parents came to live with her in a home in Fort Wayne, and since their deaths she is still living in the home at 205 McKinnie Avenue. She finds her home and yard all the liability she needs. She finds that her purchase of one penny plant each year is the nearest thing she has to a hobby.

Since her graduation from the University of Chicago, she has done post-graduate work at both the University of North Carolina and Columbia University, during summer vacations.

Plans for the Baccalaureate services for the Seniors will be made this week when Dr. Charles M. Houser will come out to discuss it with Mr. Snider.

The time for commencement has been set as June 11 at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. W. P. Dearing will be the speaker.

1941 Totem Distribution Is June 4, 5

Books To Be Handed Out To Senior Home Rooms First;
Embossed Ones In 170, 16

1075 Yearbooks To Be Delivered

John Bonsib Is Editor; Joel
Salon, Lois Likins, Lois
Gumpper Are Major Staff

Delivery of the new 1941 Totem is scheduled for June 4, it has been announced by John Bonsib, Totem editor, and Joel Salon, business manager.

Senior books will be given out in the home rooms. Those who have their names embossed on the cover will receive their books after school in Room 170, and those without names after school on June 5.

Several tables will be placed in the room and each student will get his book in alphabetical order. All people should enter the north door and go out the south-west door of 170.

Exactly 1075 Totems will be distributed. During the last week of school the pictures which were used in the 1941 Totem will be on sale. Prices vary according to the size of the pictures desired.

Within Two Weeks Some Will Become Much Too Weak!

Because there are only two full weeks of school left this semester, students will soon be plunged head over heels into tests and exams. The days will be few and far between when there will not be at least one test. What do you plan to do about it? Are you going to get all hot and bothered; or are you, with a philosophical calm, going to keep your equilibrium through all the bustle of a school year's end? Will you raise a tremendous cry, advertising to the world that you don't think you will do well on your exams; or will you profitably employ your last few days formulating in your mind those facts you already know?

When you stop to think about it, those students who work themselves to a fever pitch at semester's end are wasteful and uneconomical. They spend five months, five days a week, four or five hours a day, absorbing an education. Then in the last few days they hopelessly twist, distort, and forget their new learning by fretting and worrying over the outcome of tests. Wouldn't it be foolish for someone to work for several months, carefully saving his earnings, and then jeopardize them by running helter-skelter through the streets, flinging away his money as he runs?

It's too late to spend time attempting to learn those things which should have been learned weeks ago. Any good student will tell you that cramming helps but little. In spite of this very obvious fact, there are still those who insist upon skipping lightly through their subjects, working themselves to a nervous state at the end of the year, and then feverishly cramming the night before each test. However, we don't mean to discuss the fault of not working ALL semester long. There's no use crying over spilt milk; what should have been learned by mid-semester can't be learned in June. But those few things which have been learned can be firmly fixed by a calm attitude of how well one can do and will rather than how well one should do and won't.

Suddenly We Find The Times Off Our Hands, Time On 'Em

Again the close of a school year draws nigh. Once again Times workers are checking out their last assignments. In fact, next week's issue, disregarding the senior issue which comes out the last week of school, will be the very last one of this school year. The Times has had another highly successful year, winning honor after honor, including the recent highest Pacemaker Award.

The Times wishes to extend its hearty thanks to every subscriber member of the student body for his loyal support throughout the year. New circulation records were set this past semester, and Archers have shown more interest in their paper than ever before. Our plea at the beginning of the semester was, "More subscriptions! More subscriptions!" It would be sheer ingratitude on our part if, now that they have so heartily answered our plea, we didn't extend fitting thanks to our readers, subscribers, and contributors.

There's no getting around the fact that The Times means more to Archers than many school papers to their subscribers. For example, a certain Indianapolis school with an enrollment of six thousand, three times our own, has a circulation of only 1400 as compared with our 1200. We're tremendously proud of our numerous honors; and we're tremendously proud of the fact that, volume for volume, we print nearly fifty per cent more during the school year than does any other school paper in the United States. But we're even more proud of the fact that our student body is SOLIDLY BEHIND its paper!

Just because the lawns are now in a more developed stage is no reason for you to abuse them any more than you did when the grass seed was first put out.

Plan now to attend the Senior Dance. Make this last event of the season all that it should be from the standpoint of attendance.

If for final grades you would pine, pay your library fine.

Do you possess as much foresight as the crop of next year's football players?

We hope you enjoy the 1941 Totem as much as you have enjoyed this year's Times.

And don't get as bored with vacation this summer as you did with school last winter!

At Last Alene Loeser Comes To All The Things To Come

Future Facts

I was thinking one day of things to come, And I'm hoping to you they don't seem dumb. What the future has in store we do not know, Or to what countries or cities we may go.

Senators, mayors, and perhaps a president, too, Might be in classes at South Side with you. And when they are known and have much fame, You'll say, "At South Side she was a smart dame."

Perhaps some will be dancers or on WPA; Some, I know, would like to be a second Viv Leigh. So in this column I will give you a look, Into future predictions from my little black book.

Irking Imagination

Please let your imagination drift with mine, And I am sure you will find it most sublime. This may happen sooner or later, I suppose; But neither Major Bowser nor anyone knows.

To travel to New York is so exciting; With the new hostess, Juanita Drews, it's inviting. A certain Richard Bailhe constantly stares her way - Until the conductor, Roy Heavner, says Dick must pay.

On to New York, and I can hardly wait To see Bill Dreyer take tickets at the gate. Beside him is Elaine Polman for support; These are new lovebirds, goes the report.

To the famous places I'll take you now. To see the dance artist who is a wow. Imagine my surprise to see Barbara Cross, Who still is throwing Dick Dosch for a loss.

The master of ceremonies is Homer Mertz; With ziggy Bay Meyer he likes to flirt. In this same show a "sword swoller" is seen, Who used to be called Harges, Gene.

Times do change and so do people - Funny to see Phyllis Wefel on a flag pole. I hear for Gene Reichert she is searching; From Janis Tremper the latter should quit lurching.

At the Cotton Club Phipps' band is the rage; His singer's picture is on every movie page. This little gal known as Rosie Brazy, Is driving many fellows crazy.

After seeing all this, my trip is soon ended; If your name is not here, don't be offended.

Read About All The Capers Of A Boy Delivering Papers

By Bill Bone

With the warm days of summer rolling around, many boys are turning their thoughts to jobs. One of the best ways of making money (if you can take it) is delivering papers. I do not mean to discourage anyone by this article, but I do mean to give the facts that I have picked up from my experiences with this matter. Any resemblance to persons living or dead which appear in this story are purely coincidental. Enough of this introduction; let's get on to the real plot.

It was a hot, a VERY HOT day in July. I cannot put too much emphasis on the word "hot". Incidentally, this is the first objection to a paper route. I was lying peacefully in a tub of cold water when the alarm clock went off. Rather, I should say, my mother called me.

"It's three o'clock!" she shouted. "Damn it anyway," I growled. "Just as soon as I get in the tub, it's time to deliver those papers! I suppose they will have thirty pages. Oh well, I might as well get it over with—I'll bet Kent won't be there to help me!"

After much effort, I finally got to the corner where the truck leaves my papers. In a few minutes the truck tore by, and I was lying on the sidewalk with one hundred papers on top of me. I picked myself up and my bundle and loaded it on my bike. After removing myself to the shade of a large tree, I started the task of folding the things. By 4 o'clock I was ready to start on my route. There is nothing so invigorating as carrying 100 papers for a mile in heat of a July afternoon.

Just when I thought my job was about accomplished, one of the papers went astray and swam (or flew) through a window.

"You little fool!" screamed Mrs. Blubberwhale as she dashed out of the house.

"I'm awfully sorry," I stammered.

"I'll expect you to have that window replaced by this evening or I shall report you—it may rain tonight!"

After squaring myself with Mrs. Blubberwhale, I continued on my way.

"Ah, at last—only three more houses," I gasped. But, upon reaching into my bag, I found only two papers. However, luck was with me that day for Joe Blow, the boy who has the route next to me, had an extra paper. I finally staggered home, only to have my mother remind me that it was time to collect.

You'll Soon Tote 'Em On Your Totem

"Here—plant your 'John Hancock'!" "But where?" "Oh, somewhere on that page!" "But—there's no room!" "Then sign by your picture!" "I haven't got a picture!" "Well, sign it somewhere—I simply HAVE to have your name in my Totem!"

It's the old familiar June-time line—everyone just has to have everyone else's autograph in his Totem. No doubt this custom originated with seniors who wanted little remembrances of their high school pals. It is only natural that they should want something more personal than a yearbook picture.

But, of course, seniors weren't the only ones to take up the idea. It has spread to all the classes, and it's a strange Totem that isn't literally peppered with signatures. In fact, the business has become so widespread that many students have autographs of students they do not even know. Everyone knows how it is—a Totem quite often strays off in a crowd of Archers and eventually returns to its owner with strange names in it. This practice is very common.

There are two distinct schools of thought concerning the signing of Totems. In the first place, there are those who want names signed only on the back page. The Totem staffs, anticipating the autograph rush, have set aside a blank page every year expressly for signatures. The students who don't want autographs—long ones and short ones and distinctive ones—splattered all over the pages of their nice new Totems, usually require the signers to write their names (and whatever remarks they wish) on the back page alone. In the end, however, they usually break down and conform to the other school of thought, that of signing on off by pictures. The chief reason for this breakdown is that the Totem isn't so new anymore (and there isn't any more room on the back page).

In the matter of the autographs themselves, some people prefer to write only their names; while others scribble down a little ditty, poem, or remark. Of course, the desirability of the latter practice depends entirely upon the nature of the little remark. There are always those students who delight in spoiling many a Totem page with a few not-so-nice lines. (Thank goodness they are rather few and far between!) Most remarks are very appropriate and complimentary. On the other hand, many of the best people in school write only their names. The simplest idea is often the best.

But seriously, no matter how it's done, signing Totems is a great custom. Time-honored and time-worn, it surely will be as immensely popular this year as it ever was. (Incidentally, you're getting a Totem this year, aren't you?)

Mr. George Collier (history teacher): Each student should read one weekly news magazine as a minimum and possibly one monthly magazine which comments on national and international affairs. Some of the historical movies are very educational. As far as radio is concerned, about fifty per cent of the speeches by supposedly outstanding people would be very much worth the listening time for the average high school student. The student must try to reason for himself what to believe of the radio speeches. So many speakers don't talk more deeply or more completely than the average student can think for himself.

Mr. Lester Hostetler (director of choral music): A student should try to study dancing at one time or another. He should try playing in the band or orchestra if he has any talent whatsoever; if he is very capable, he may rent a horn. I would advise him to go to the civic concerts, where much vocal and instrumental talent is presented. I think, too, that he should hear modern music; he needs a balanced diet in music as well as in anything else. He should go to musical shows. When celebrities come to Fort Wayne, he should make it a point to see them. To broaden his experience, he should sing in choirs and be in operettas.

Miss Mary Crowe (history teacher): Students should read as regularly as possible and as much as they have time for. They should use a variety of material. They might listen to different news commentators. They ought to take advantage of opportunities to hear good speakers. When in groups, they should listen more than they talk and, so far as possible, try to find out how the opinions they hear are gotten and on what they are based—personal experience or gossip.

Miss Amanda Hemmer (English teacher): I think students should keep informed on current events. They might read as much as possible, and they should spend more time than most pupils usually spend in the library.

Educategories

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy", is a very true saying. But even we students sometimes tire of just playing during our leisure time. Of course we very seldom want to actually get down to work during our spare hours, but sometimes we are ambitious enough to attempt to gain more knowledge and culture.

The following teachers gave these answers when asked the question, "What can the average student do outside of class, from the standpoint of the subject which you teach, to increase his culture?"

Mr. George Collier (history teacher): Each student should read one weekly news magazine as a minimum and possibly one monthly magazine which comments on national and international affairs. The Means and Ways

Commencement

Of Our Important Days

There may be 410 besides you who will be assembled to receive the same honor, but you feel as if you have accomplished the greatest task of them all; there may be hundreds of thousands over the entire nation taking the same step, but you think only of the great turning point that is affecting your life... For you are a senior and it is only a short time until commencement nigh.

When you climb beamingly to the heights of the speaker's platform to receive your diploma, you can be sure that you will always be proud of that piece of paper—a piece of paper that 4,997 others have depended on in previous years! Yes, this many people have marched in a body to be graduated from South Side High School. Let's go back through the years to see just how commencement exercises have been conducted.

1923! It is 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of the last week of school. There's lots of excitement in the air, for South Side is about to see its first class graduated. Everyone is congregated in the gym to see eighty seniors receive their diplomas. In 1924 there were 109 graduates; in 1925 the number increased to 165; in 1926, 178; in 1927, 190; in 1928, 183; in 1929, 222; in 1930, 190; in 1931, 273; in 1932, 316; in 1933, 325; in 1934, 326. All these commencements were held at 2:30 o'clock in the gymnasium. They each lasted about an hour and a half.

But in 1935 a new idea was put into effect. A joint commencement in which the graduating classes of South Side, North Side, and Central participated, was held in the North Side athletic field in the afternoon. About 407 South Siders received diplomas.

In 1936 the need for comfort triumphed over tradition and, for the first time, the commencement exercises were held in the evening. They began promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The number of students in this class had increased to 413.

In 1937 about 367 students graduated; in 1938, 394; in 1939, 423; and in 1940 the largest class of them all—427!

In charge of this great occasion is the principal of the high school, Mr. Snider has skillfully managed fourteen commencement exercises at South Side. Aiding him are the sponsors of the senior class, Miss Dorothy Magley, and Mr. Paul Siddell.

An address from a guest speaker and the presentation of diplomas usually constitute the main part of the ninety-minute program. In 1931, however, this custom was broken and a special program was presented. South Side was on trial. An interesting investigation was conducted by a number of parents; and the school was defended by several graduates, who set about to prove that South Side was meeting the demands of the seven principles of education. In 1936 the commencement program consisted of a round table discussion in which Mr. Merle Abbott, Mr. Benjamin Null, and three students participated. They spoke on the subject, "Secondary education and Mr. Voorhees."

A remarkable feature about graduation is the fact that, although there has never been a rehearsal of the marching and seating, not once has one student got into the wrong seat. The graduates have always received their diplomas in the correct order.

Read Here To See If Your Name Has A Double Meaning

Following are some questions which may be answered by the last names of South Side students. See if you can guess the names without looking at the list of answers below the questions.

1. What is the longing that most of the draftees have for?
2. If one doesn't want a sweetheart, what does one want?
3. What is it that adds so much to a summer night?
4. What is the dream of every fisherman?
5. If one doesn't make a flat or a natural, what does one make?
6. What animal usually does a juggling act in a circus or on the stage?
7. What sort of scene is the nicest to view?
8. "I drew it" is an incorrect usage of English. What should one say?
9. Which teeth are most bothersome?
10. If you are not very far from an object, then how are you to it?
11. If you are not a coffee man, then what are you?
12. The big clay case asked the little clay vase, "What were you born of?" What did the little vase say?
  1. Holmes.
  2. Budde.
  3. Moon.
  4. Fish.
  5. Sharp.
  6. Seals.
  7. A Mary Site.
  8. Dru-hot.
  9. Moeller.
  10. Close.

  12. "It was Claibourne!"

Studying Is No Bore By The Lake Shore

Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, has an area of about seventy-five acres and is located on the shore of Lake Michigan, two miles from the northern limits of the city of Chicago. The schools housed here are the college of liberal arts; the graduate school; the schools of commerce, education, journalism, and speech; and the technological institute, whose main building is under construction. Scott Hall serves as a center for the social life and organizational activities of students. The buildings of Garrett Biblical Institute, which is affiliated with the university, are situated on the campus; and those of Seabury-Western Theological Seminary are near. Most of the libraries are housed in the center of the campus within the Charles Deering Library. Along with these larger buildings the Patten Gymnasium, the Speech Building, the Willard Hall for Commerce, the Ward Memorial Building, and Harris Hall should be mentioned for their architectural beauty. For the convenience of the students, the university has a special beach for swimming and water sports.

The student-directed enterprises at Northwestern are numerous and varied. There are four publications, which are the Daily Northwestern; the Syllabus, year book; the Purple Parrot, a humorous magazine; and the Student Directory. All students may try out for parts in the numerous productions of the University Theater. Organized around special interests such as the French, Spanish, and German Clubs; a Women's Athletic Association; and the band, chorus, and choir organizations.

Leaving Seniors Say Their Good-Bye's With Opinions To Revise Archer Faults

These seniors, in offering solutions to school problems penned the following articles for Miss Beulah Rinehart's English 8 class.

A Homeroom Problem

By Jane Hoopingarner

Our problem in homeroom 44 is persuading the members to take part in programs. A week ago, my homeroom teacher appointed two other students and me to be on the program committee. After we had decided what kind of a program we were going to have, we began to ask our classmates to take a part in it.

The first one we asked refused because he was afraid to stand up in front of the class. The second person refused because he didn't like the program we were arranging. The third one refused because she didn't have time to practice. When we had asked everyone in the class, we had two pupils who were willing to help us.

These two people could not take all of the parts. This problem needs to be remedied.

I think the solution to it is punishment. The members of our class like to study during the homeroom period; so, if they would be deprived of this privilege, they would finally be more interested in programs. If our homeroom teacher would talk to us each day the entire period and insist upon our attention, a program once or twice a week would be appreciated.

I am sure that our teacher would permit us to either study or visit among ourselves the other days of the week. I believe if he would do this, we would have better cooperation in the future.

A Fifth Period Problem

By Mildred Hanke

The noise and general disorder which exists in the halls of South Side High School during the fifth period certainly gives a very unfavorable impression to visitors who happen to enter the school at that time. Dr. G. L. Williamson, a prominent physician from Chicago, had been asked to give a talk at an assembly to be held at South Side. The assembly was to begin at 1:30 p. m., and Dr. Williamson arrived at the school about 1 p. m.

This was during the fifth period and was just about the time the noise was at its highest point. The doctor and his companion went to the office, where they were told that Mr. Snider would be back in a few moments. After seating themselves in the principal's office to wait for him, Dr. Williamson and his friend began to discuss the confusion which they had observed in the halls as they entered the building. Just as Mr. Snider entered the office, Dr. Williamson said that he was really disappointed in the student body of South Side and that he imagined the assembly would be a restless one.

Mr. Snider could not help but hear the doctor, and he began explaining that he hoped to have the problem cleared up very soon. However, he could see that, though the doctor was sorry his remarks had been overheard, he was set in his impression of the school and explaining was not going them "time conscious".

Another would be to keep all those people who arrive late in one room set aside for this purpose until the home room period is over, and then have them go and make the necessary adjustments with their teachers.

Lastly, a rigid eighth period rule might be enforced to punish repeated offenders. I consider the first method the best, however, for "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

The Times Enjoys An Interesting Visit At Congress Session

The Times was present recently at a meeting of the Inter-Club Congress. This club could easily be called the most important club in South Side.

The meetings consist of business only; there is never any planned program because it is a service club. After the meeting is called to order by the president, Rudolph Wuttke, the secretary, Maxine Sterling, and the treasurer, Norman Fortness, make their reports. The committee chairmen make their reports after the officers. Next is the roll call. New matters of business are brought up by the president and are discussed and voted on by the members. Then committees are appointed for various projects. At some meetings individual assignments are made for carrying out plans for Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets and for locker clean-up.

Most members, having been elected to the Congress, stay in for the entire year at the request of the sponsors of the club, in order to maintain continuity of policy and action.

Vice-president of Inter-Club Congress is Emelyn Remmel; and the club sponsors are Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. A. Verne Flint, and Mr. Joseph Bex.

Archers! Time To Go Biking; Know Your Bicycle Rules

Do you know what to do and what not to do while riding your bicycle? Many students who ride bicycles do not know all the laws which pertain to them. Riding another person on the handlebars, clinging to vehicles, riding in a group, and carrying articles in hands are all violations of the state bicycle laws. Riding without an audible signal or without a light are also violations.

Here is a complete list of all the Indiana State Bicycle Laws and the "Don'ts" for bicycle riders:

Effect Of Regulations
Sec. 88. Effect of Regulations. (a) It is a misdemeanor for any person to do any act forbidden or fail to perform any act required in this act or by any officer engaged in the lawful discharge of his official duties.

(b) The parent of any child and the guardian of any ward shall not authorize or knowingly permit any such child or ward to violate any of the provisions of this act.

(c) These regulations applicable to bicycles shall apply whenever a bicycle is operated upon any highway or upon any path set aside for the exclusive use of bicycles, subject to those exceptions stated herein.

Laws Applicable
Sec. 89. Traffic Laws Apply to Persons Riding Bicycles. Every person riding a bicycle upon a roadway shall be subject to the provisions of this act applicable to the driver of a vehicle, except as to special regulations of this article, and except as to those provisions of this act which by their nature can have no application.

Bicycles—Riding
Sec. 90. Riding on Bicycles. (a) A person propelling a bicycle shall not ride other than upon the permanent and regular seat attached thereto, nor carry any other person upon such bicycle otherwise than upon a firmly attached and regular seat thereon, nor shall any person ride upon a bicycle otherwise than as above stated.

(b) No bicycle shall be used to carry more persons at one time than the number for which it is designed and equipped.

Sec. 91. Clinging to Vehicles. Any person upon any bicycle, coaster, roller skates or toy vehicle shall not attach the same or himself to any street car or vehicle upon a roadway.

Bicycles (Continued)
Sec. 92. Riding in a Group. Persons riding bicycles upon a roadway shall not ride more than two abreast except on paths or parts of roadways set aside for the exclusive use of bicycles.

Bicycles (Continued)
Sec. 93. Carrying Articles. No person riding a bicycle shall carry any package, bundle, or article which prevents the rider from keeping both hands upon the handle bars.

Bicycles (Continued)
Sec. 94. Audible Signal. No person shall ride a bicycle unless it is equipped with a bell or other device capable of giving a signal audible for a distance of at least one hundred feet, except that no bicycle shall be equipped with, nor shall any person

Need Employment? NYA Supplies Work To Idle Graduates

Are you in need of employment? If so the National Youth Administration may be the answer to your problem. This administration supplies part-time work for unemployed young people who are no longer attending school and are between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five.

The kind of work or service varies in different communities, but it is real work that produces goods on a production basis for public agencies. The various kinds of work offered are as follows: Repairing automobiles, making sheet metal ventilator hoods, turning machine parts, repairing radios, making garments by power-driven machine or by hand, construction of small buildings, and building roads, conduits, foot bridges and bus shelters. There is work also in typing, stenography, photography, silk-screen and drafting. Most NYA workers live at home and work in their local communities.

Miss K. O'Dowd, NYA personnel worker announces that, "The purpose of the NYA is to give work to young people in need of employment. Such work is designed to make them more employable. It is not a school; it is a job. Whenever possible, however, related instruction is provided by the school to help with your work experience on NYA."

Miss O'Dowd further states, "The NYA does not turn out finished craftsmen, but it gives you a chance to know what different kinds of work are like and whether you can do them well. It gets you beyond the stage of being a 'green hand'. It makes you a worker, not a beginner. The NYA is not a career, but a stepping stone."

Any person interested in work with the NYA may, any week day between 8:30 and 4:30 o'clock or on Saturday, report at the NYA office, located at 1700 N. Harrison Street, Fort Wayne, to make an application.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

The following students of Miss Pocock have written the best safety essays: Harvey Cocks, period 2, English 4; Austin Gardner, period 3, English 3; Carolyn Fackler, period 4, English 5; Pat Racht, period 6, English 4; Kathleen Neith, period 7, English 7.

Elsie Korte of Home Room 30 recently conducted a quiz on a pamphlet, "Smash Hits."

Marge Sheldon, Joel Salom, Josephine Frosh, and James Hurst, sociology students of Mr. Peirce, gave reports on their visit to the State School.

Miss Demaree's English 2 class are making projects in connection with American poetry.

Baseball tests were given to the girls' gym classes recently.

Wayne Kern is refinishing Mr. Smuts' desk in Room 43 the fourth period.

The following students of Miss Peck's English 2, period 4 class have completed their themes for this semester: Herman Blanks, Willodean Cotton, Tommy Elliot, Arlene Goudy, Robert Grosjean, Isabel Johnson, Dorothy Krohn, Luke Majorki, Mary Pierson, Naomi White, and Mary Ellen Nusbbaum.

Girls' dance classes are working on their scrapbooks.

Fritz Kahl talked to members of Home Room 30 recently on civil engineering as a vocation.

Miss Demaree's English 6 class handed in their original essays.

On a class test, covering the cases of pronouns and the number of verbs given by Mr. Cook to his English 2 classes, the following made the highest scores: period 3, Mildred Babcock, Lois Ann Heuer, and Gloria Miller; and period 4, Warren Lotz, Alfred Horstmeier, and Alleda Stults.

Joan Cartwright and Betty Dice made the highest grades on a test over seeds and fruits in Mr. Yoder's Botany 1 class, period 5.

Bill Knoll, Dal Zuber and Arthur Howard, who have completed their regular class work, are refinishing a filing cabinet in Mr. Smuts' period 7 metal class.

Thoughts Of Sleep, Lake Enter Minds Of Weary Students

Can you imagine basking in the sun on a sandy beach with a soft breeze blowing on your well-tanned back? Then about every fifteen minutes, running gracefully out into the cool aqua? "Ah, how impossible, incredible, and preposterous," say many. But, it isn't! Do you realize there are only seven more days, four hours, twenty-three minutes, and forty-nine seconds until this will come true?

So here are a few answers to the question, "What do you believe is the ideal summer vacation?"

Gene Reichart: To go to the lake.

Warren Cook: A moonlight night and a canoe.

Jack Green: Time! Money! Women! "Ab" Senseney: Date Druhot.

Lawrence Bacon: No work.

Ron Christofferson: No homework!

Ralph Sebald: Work during day, play at night.

Dick Morton: Canada for two months.

"George" Fishing: Sleep, play golf.

Rex Koogle: Loaf.

Jeanne Rider: Go out of town.

Marianne Hagemann: Go to Florida.

Carole Overman: Sleep.

Julia Kaser: Play golf and tennis.

Nigel Brown: Lake Wawasee.

Ann Welborn: Plenty of sleep and no work.

Maurine Leas: Spent at the lake.

Jane Chenoweth: Swimming, playing tennis, and sleeping.

Evelyn Arnold: Sleep, eat, play and no work.

Marilyn Bullerman: Swimming and tennis.

Model Plane Hobby Is Indeed Intriguing To Cliff Gunn, 12A

Building model airplanes is a very fascinating hobby according to Cliff Gunn, 12A. Cliff started this interesting pastime about four years ago. The first plane that he ever put together was a small glider made of balsam wood which was pushed into the air by hand.

A little later on, Cliff constructed larger planes with about a two foot wing span which were usually modeled after some actual airplane. These planes are run by power afforded by rubber bands.

The next type of airplane which he built was a still larger plane which contained a motor with 1/2 horse power. This plane can have anywhere from five to fourteen foot wing span; the motor in the plane supplies the force with which to run it. The planes with a five foot wing span usually have a smaller motor with about 1-5 horse power.

Cliff is now working on a new type of plane which ought to prove a very interesting discovery. This one has a twenty-four inch wing span, and is modeled after a racing plane similar to the ones which are entered in the races in Cleveland. The trade name for this creation is a G-Line flying plane. This plane flies around in a circle, clockwise, on the end of a string. This string which his about fifty feet long is attached to a pole similar to a reel used in fishing. It takes two people to run this plane efficiently. One person has to start the motor and give it a push, while another holds the stick. The plans then goes up into the air about twenty feet after which the one holding the pole has complete control of the plane.

Cliff now has in his possession three planes, one of which is a small scale model that he entered in a contest held by the Main Auto and Supply Company. With this plane he won third place and a prize, which was a new model plane similar to the one he entered in the contest. Cliff doesn't keep the many planes he builds; but, instead, usually gives them away.

South Side Gunners Rank Fourteenth In National Meet

South Riflers Compete With 300 Squads

Joe Bekius, Edmund Bauer, Dick Theye, John Meyers, Dick Hornberger Shoot

South Side's ace rifle quintet again came through in championship style last week by placing fourteenth in the national junior rifle meet.

Over three hundred teams were entered in the event, and a place among the low twenty-five is considered a great honor.

In early postal matches this year the Archer gunners ranked seventeenth. A steady improvement under the guidance of Mr. Maurice Cook accounted for the high ranking of the locals in the final standings.

Each of the teams entered in the national junior meet was sent a set of regulation targets. Over three hundred teams shot in the meet, with each of the entrants mailing the "shot" targets back to the national headquarters on a specified date.

Only one team in the nation recorded a perfect score of 1,000 hits, while the Cookmen were only seventeen shots off the pace with a 983-point total.

Joseph Bekius, Edmund Bauer, Dick Theye, Dick Hornberger and John Myers were the members of the high ranking South Side quintet.

Here are the scores of the Archer gunners:

Joe Bekius	99-100	199
Dick Hornberger	98-100	198
John Myers	97-100	197
Ed Lauer	97-99	196
Dick Theye	94-99	193

Conditioning Is Vital To Become Athlete, Says Ace Trackster

By Lester Oppenlander

Conditioning is a vital necessity to a good trackster. A good diet, plenty of sleep, and good exercise are the basis of good condition.

The diet of a trackster, like the diet of any healthy man, should be varied and balanced. However, because of the amount and type of exercise, he must refrain from some foods that are perfectly all right for the ordinary man's diet. For example, the track man should eat little, if any, greasy foods. He should eat very little pie, cake, or other sweets. Sugar candy isn't good for him, but the fellow with the sweet tooth can indulge in chocolate foods which a track man should eat in abundance. Fruits and vegetables are of utmost importance to his diet. Orange juice is one of his best foods. His stomach must necessarily be in good condition if his body in general is to be in tip-top shape. But on the whole, his diet is about like that of the man who is not an athlete.

On the day when he has a meet, the trackster's diet must be more closely watched. He should never overeat, and especially on the day of a meet. Greasy foods are absolutely out on meet days. Even milk, one of man's best foods, should either not be drunk at all, or drunk in exceptional moderation. A track man should drink but little water before entering a race, too. Orange juice is about the only thing he doesn't have to be careful about. On meet days it is the predominant food in a very scanty diet.

After eating, sleeping naturally comes into my mind. I think it quite unnecessary to state that the athlete needs plenty of sleep. Everyone knows that sleep is a great builder; and with the strenuous exercise he indulges in daily, he needs even more sleep than the unathletic man. It is necessary, I think, that his sleeping hours be regular. Habits that are regular seem to do everyone more good.

The third fundamental of good condition is exercise. I suppose some coaches differ slightly in their training methods. However, I am familiar with Mr. Collyer's method of training only.

It is a method which, if followed closely, would get any normal boy in reasonably good condition within a few weeks. It is necessary that the first week is not strenuous. The track aspirant starts each night by trotting about a mile, and then works out with the medicine ball. Then he probably does some limbering up exercises. He tries to touch his toes; he does push-ups and trunk-twisters; he bicycles; and he tries to do the splits. (By push-ups I mean an exercise in which the athlete lies on his stomach, and raises his stiff body onto his hands and toes. This operation is repeated until the trackster thinks he has had enough.) (The trunk-twister exercise is a simple one. The athlete stands with legs about eighteen inches apart, with hands on hips, and revolves the upper part of his body.) I don't believe the other exercises need any explanation. After the trackster has thus had his workout, he takes a quick shower and is through for the day.

This same schedule is intensified as the trackster develops; however, in fundamentals it remains about the same. The only real difference is, that after a short time on these generalities at conditioning, the track man specializes in some event and intensifies in the field.

Mashie Swingers Tenth In State Meet

South Side's golf team also competed in a state meet last week. The divot diggers posted a team total of 249 for a tenth place among fifty-three teams entered in the state meet. Individual scores were Bob Robinson, 89; Al Schaaf, 88; Tom Hall, 87, and Bob Young, 84. The team members pictured above are first row, Al Schaaf and Bob Young; back row, Bob Robinson, Coach Burl Friddle, and Tom Hall.

Champion teams will come and go but it will take a superb team to equal the intramural heavyweight softball champions. Last Monday the TOP battled it out with the Ex-Losers AC and the TOP vanquished its foe by the score of 11 to 5.

Both the Ex-Losers and the TOP had a tough road to travel to earn the right to play in the championship game. The TOP defeated the following teams: Archers, Swosers, Ex-Losers BC, Ex-Losers AC, and again the Archers. The AC defeated the following: Ten Stooges, Ten Sunners, Musketeers and the Ex-Losers BC. As you have probably noticed, the AC was defeated once by the TOP, but did not fade into oblivion, because the contest was a double elimination type.

The following are the batting averages for the members of the TOP before the championship game on Monday:

Werkman, .212 out of nine times at bat; McClain, .545 out of eleven; Zuber, .750 out of twelve; Meyers, .363 out of eleven; Brower, .333 out of nine; Underwood, .500 out of twelve; Giese, .285 out of seven; Ginger, .400 out of ten; Nolf, .750 out of four; Reithdorf, .500 out of two; and Reynolds, .500 out of eight times at bat.

As you can see, Wolf and Zuber have the highest batting average; however, since Zuber batted eight times more than Wolf he takes the scoring honors for the TOP. The average batting average for the TOP is .464.

The BA for the members of the Ex-Losers team are as follows: Knoll, .583 out of twelve trips to the plate; Ruckle, .615 out of thirteen; Haines, .625 out of eight; Gildea, .818 out of eleven; McClure, .428 out of seven; Salmon, .500 out of nine; Gettys, .000 out of eight; Strawbridge, .644 out of nine; Hall, .333 out of nine; Miller, .250 out of four. Bob Gildea had the best batting average for both teams. He got nine hits out of eleven times at bat.

The average BA for the Ex-Losers is .483, which is eighteen thousandths better than that of TOP's.

In the final game of the heavyweight division between the TOP and the Ex-Losers AC, the members of the TOP got the following hits: Werkman, three singles; McClain, two singles and a double; Zuber, one single; Giese, single and a double; Brower, single and a double; Underwood, single and a walk; Reithdorf, a walk; Wolf, two doubles; and Ginger, failed to get a hit.

For the Ex-Losers the following got hits: Haines, single and a homer; Gildea, a single; McClure, two singles and a walk; Strawbridge, a homer and a walk; Gettys, a single; Hall, a triple; Dalman, a homer; and Ruckle, failed to hit.

Werkman, McClain, Underwood, Giese, Brower, Meyers, Reithdorf, and Wolf scored for the TOP. Haines, McClure, Strawbridge, Hall and Salmon scored for the AC. Altogether, in the heavyweight division there were fourteen teams entered and twenty-five games played. All the teams lost two games except the TOP which won all their games except one which it tied.

The middleweight division had four teams entered and six games were played. The Easy Aces defeated the Cats in the final game by the score of 6 to 4.

Three teams were entered in the lightweight division and there were four games played. The championship game was a rout with Golden Seals defeating the Hotdogs by the score of 12 to 1.

In view of the fine ability of many of the heavyweight division players, it would be hard to pick an All-Star team; however, Mr. Briner said the intramural department has endeavored to pick fairly an All-Star heavyweight team. Here it is: Catcher, McClain, batting average, .454 out of eleven times at bat; pitcher, Ginger, average, .400 out of ten; first base, Almondinger, average, 1.000 out of three; second base, Brower, average, .333 out of nine; short stop, Vetter, average, .333 out of six; third base, Reher, average, .777 out of nine; left fielder, Wuttke, average, .333 out of three; center field, Giese, average, .285 out of seven; roving center, Elliot, average, .300 out of ten; right fielder, Bob Gildea, batting average, .818 out of eleven times at bat.

Bobby Gildea again had the best batting average. McClain, Ginger, Brower, and Giese hail from the TOP; Vetter and Wuttke from the Ex-Losers BC; Bob Gildea from the AC; Tom Reher from the Swosers; and Almondinger from the Archers. The batting average for the active team is .512, which is a fine average.

The intramural softball season is thus concluded. Twenty-one teams entered and three were champions. It was one of the most interesting softball seasons there ever was at South Side and to you members of the eighteen teams that were defeated do not feel discouraged, but come back fighting next year. And so until next season when we'll meet again The Times intramural staff and Mr. Louis Biner say: "Better luck, next time."

YWCA Sponsors Summer Program

High School Girls Are Offered Swimming, Tennis, Dancing Every Thursday In Summer

Swimming, tennis, dancing, singing, and picnicking may be enjoyed by any high school girl every Thursday for six weeks at the YWCA. The registration fee for this complete program is 50 cents.

The program will start June 26 at 10 o'clock. The girls may bring their lunches for picnics to be held in the dining room. Ping pong and table games will be offered in the dining room after the meeting.

Girls interested in hobbies and craft work will have certain periods of the day set aside for their work. The last day, July 31, will be devoted to having guests and will be a gay finale for everyone. All girls interested in this six weeks' program are urged to register early at the YWCA.

Second Flying Course To Start Next Monday

Fort Wayne's second preparatory flying course for young men with a high school education who wish to become Air Corps flying cadets will start Monday, June 2.

Preliminary plans for the course were made last Friday morning during a conference with Captain Clarence F. Cornish, who is acting as the co-ordination representative of Colonel H. C. Kress Muhlenberg, air officer of the Fifth Corps Area. Representatives of the WPA Adult Education Division will give the instructions.

Applications for the course may be made at the office of Sergeant Charlie W. Mahoney, Room 320 in the Federal Building. Young men wishing to enroll must be between the ages of twenty and twenty-six, single, physically fit, and must have no dependents.

Tennis Games Are Scheduled For Completion

Three More Varsity Matches Have Been Arranged; Results Of Others Revealed

Three more varsity tennis games have been scheduled by Mr. Stanley Post, in addition to the games already arranged. They are Marion, May 29, at Swinney Park; Concordia, June 4; and North Side, June 5. A game already arranged that has not been played is with Central, June 2.

Several matches have already been played. These are a loss, a tie, and a win for the Archer tennis team.

The first game was with Concordia at Concordia on May 20. In the first pair of singles, Kerkman (SS), was defeated the first set, 4 to 6, but he came back to defeat Barth 6 to 0, 6 to 3. The second singles game was won by Schumacher, 6 to 0, 6 to 1, when he defeated Schieferstein (SS). Dalman (SS), was defeated 6 to 4, 6 to 3, by Kaumeyer. Foelker Beat Gilbert (SS), 7 to 5, 6 to 2, although Gilbert had been victorious in the first set, 5 to 7. Heffelfinger (SS), lost to Kohlmeier, but he won the last two sets, 6 to 4, 6 to 0.

In the first group of doubles, Werkman-Schieferstein (SS), won the first set, 8 to 6, but lost the remaining two, 6 to 2, 6 to 2, to Barth-Schumacher. Dalman-Gilbert (SS), defeated Kaumeyer-Foelker, 8 to 6, 6 to 0.

On the following day, May 21, the South Side team met Central Catholic at Weissner Park. The singles results are: Kerkman (SS), defeated Hartman (CC), 6 to 0, 6 to 1; Dalman won his first set, 6 to 3, but lost to Kearney (CC), by scores of 6 to 3, 7 to 5; Gilbert (SS), was victorious over Phillip (CC), 6 to 2, 6 to 0, losing one set, 2 to 6; Heffelfinger (SS), lost to Gildea (CC), 6 to 3, 8 to 6; Nahrwald (SS), lost by scores of 6 to 0, 6 to 4, to Sosenhiemer (CC).

In doubles, Werkman-Heffelfinger (SS), defeated Hartman-Gildea (CC), 6 to 4, 6 to 2. In the Dalman-Gilbert (SS) versus Kearney-Phillips match, the game was called because of rain at the score 4 to 4.

North Side was defeated by the Archer tennis team, 7 to 2. In the singles matches, Bobilya (NS) lost 6 to 2, 6 to 1 to Werkman (SS); Schieferstein (SS), was beaten by Trier (NS), 8 to 6, 6 to 3; Dalman won, 6 to 1, 6 to 1, over Williamson; Gilbert (SS), was victorious over Wyneken, 6 to 3, 6 to 3; Vetter (SS), was beaten, 6 to 4, 6 to 0, by Lord (NS); Hensch (SS), beat Wolfe, 6 to 2, 6 to 2.

Werkman-Schieferstein (SS), gained a 6 to 1, 6 to 1 victory from Bobilya-Frie (NS), in the first doubles match. The results of the second match are: Wyneken-Lord (NS) were defeated by Dalman-Gilbert (SS), 7 to 5, 6 to 2. Vetter-Hensch (SS), won over Williamson-Wolf, 7 to 5, 6 to 2.

Other games have been played, but the results are still unknown.

Hall Of Fame

Jim Dern

By Bud Gardner

A name deeply engraved in the Archer Hall of Fame is that of James R. Dern. He was not only a great football player while at South Side, but also a great student. He is now continuing his grand record in one of the finest schools in the country, Yale University.

While at South Side, Jim was outstanding in many things. Probably his foremost accomplishments were being named the Salutatorian of the class of '37, and earning membership in National Honor Society. He was the treasurer of Math-Science Club, vice-president of the Social Science Club, and president of the senior class.

Jim was on the 1937 football team that won the City Championship as guard. We all know this, but few of us knew that he was the captain of that team and also captain of the All-City team, which is truly a great honor.

But that wasn't enough for Jim, for he went on and was the only member of South Side's squad to be placed on the All-State squad. The only other South Side that ever was on an All-State team is Don Powell.

In addition to this, Jim was the lead-off man for the half-mile track team. Another honor awarded him was that he was named on the National Athletic Honor Society.

On Recognition Day Jim was awarded the three Citizenship Awards. They were for character, leadership, and scholarship, given by the Kiwanis Club, Hi-Y, and the DAR.

After graduating from South Side in 1937, he was admitted to Yale University and in his freshman year was on the championship freshman football team. For the following three years, he was right guard on the varsity football team and won three letters.

James was elected permanent head of the Yale University Class of 1941.

Archer Trackmen Capture Second Place At State Meet

Gus Feistkorn Brings Honors To Archers

Cindermen Win 2 Events; D. Kilpatrick Took Second, C. Close Placed Third

For the first time in the history of our school, the South Side trackmen have captured a second place in the state track meet. Only North Side's powerful squad was good enough to beat the Green. The locals accumulated 21 points via firsts in the half-mile run and half-mile relay and by annexing places in the high jump and shot put.

Gus Feistkorn was responsible for the Archers' first place points in the half-mile, as he sprinted the 880 yards in 2:02.1 seconds. Reiss of Evansville Reitz and Kimball of Anderson were the only close contenders to Feistkorn in his win. While Gus was capturing his state laurels, Coach Collyer's crack half-mile relay team was performing with similar success elsewhere on the Tech track.

Running the half-mile in 1:33.8 seconds, Chick Shimer, Bill Bond, Rudy Wuttke, and Art Parry captured their relay event. Washington of East Chicago and Ben Davis finished close behind the local quartet.

Big Chuck Close placed third in the shot put and Dick Kilpatrick earned a second place medal in the high jump. Tom Brown of North Side, Kilpatrick's chief threat in sectional competition, did not even place among the first eight jumpers.

Others from the Fort Wayne sectional who made a good showing at Indianapolis were Redskins Bob Cowan, Mike Bojinoff, and Ashley Hawk, and Garrett's Roger Neighborgall.

Coach George Collyer and his boys are to be highly praised for their fine work this year. Not only did our tracksters make a good showing in regular meets, but they went even farther in bringing home a hard-earned second place in the state track meet. To all of the South Side athletes who trained and performed so efficiently this year, the Times sports staff expresses its highest commendations.

IM Cinder Match Results Are Listed

B. Wissler Takes First Place; Tom Rehner Comes In Second; Many Other Boys Place High

In first place in the intramural track meet was Wissler with seventeen points. He was awarded these for taking first places in the broad jump (17 feet, 10 inches), the high jump (5 feet), and the hurdles (15.6 seconds). He also tied for second in the pole vault.

Tom Rehner, a freshman, was second in points with thirteen. He topped all contestants in the 100-yard dash (12.2 seconds) and the 220 (27.2 seconds), and placed second in the broad jump. Voorhees took third in the meet, capturing two firsts and a second. He was awarded twelve points. Voorhees placed first in the shot put and the 880 and was second in the 100-yard dash.

Other high placers were Underwood with eleven points, Lichtenberg with eight, Verwiere, seven and one-half, and Elliott, seven. These boys had five points each: Knorr, Kast, Garrison, Knoll, Gumpfer, McClain, and Beal.

This report, however, is not final, as none of the relay points were recorded as they have not as yet been compiled by Mr. Louis Briner, intramural director.

GAA'ers Play Ball On Wildcat Team

Bob Inn Wildcats, a group of baseball-minded girls of the city are beginning another very successful season. The girls are under the leadership of Harold Griener.

Last year they won the City Park League tournament. They also participated in a tournament which was held at Municipal Beach in the latter part of August.

The members of this team are Betty Eisenacher, Geneva Martin, Betty Thiele, Marian Faux, Phyllis Amstutz, Duck Spore, Julia Kaser, Irene Meyer, Kate Voderau, Barbara Platt, Kate Sanders and Betty Murphy. All of these girls go to South Side, or have graduated from South Side, with the exception of Betty Murphy.

Their uniforms consist of white shorts with a green stripe down the side, a white tee shirt with Bob Inn Wildcats stamped in green letters across the front, and green caps. They have no particular days on which they practice, but they practice as often as the weather permits.

Thus far this season they have not played in any games, but they hope to get their games under way very soon. They're out to win another City Park League tournament and to annex the city championship title.

Boys Receive Letters

Four boys received Intra Mural letters recently. Letters are given by the I. M. sports department when an athlete earns one hundred twenty points. Those boys who received letters are Ralph Werling, a sophomore, Dick Kilpatrick, a junior, Dick Morton, a sophomore, and Bob Zerlung, a junior.

Tennis Victors In IM Tourney Are Revealed

Dick Vande Bunt, Ed Habig, Ralph Werling Are Winners Of Three Divisions

Ed Habig, Ralph Werling, and Dick VandeBunt have been declared the champions in the three divisions of the intramural tennis tourney. Werling also defeated Habig, 6 sets to 3, Vande Bunt, 6 to 1, to become undisputed champ. of the tourney.

In the lightweight division, Gross defeated Stamets, 6-4; Shannon whitewashed Stark, 6-0; Kast walloped Eichenauer, 6-1; Fortress beat Geiser, 6-4; Coverdale out-hit Rogers, 6-0; and Habig defeated Budde by a 6-to-1 count.

In the second round, Gross beat Shannon, 6-1; Kast was beaten 6-2 by Fortress; Habig won by forfeit over Coverdale; while Kranst drew a bye. In the third round Gross won a good battle from Fortress, 8-6; and Habig massacred Kranst, 6-0; Habig beating Gross by a score of 6-3, took the championship.

The middleweights were few in number. Werling defeated Sailer, 6-4, and Lotz drew a bye. Werling beat Lotz 6-4 to take this division.

In the first round of the heavy division, Uebelhoer walloped Jones 6-0; Bruns was beaten by Timme, 6-1; and Vande Bunt won a good battle from Zehrung, 7-5. Jones plowed Timme under, 6-0; Vande Bunt got a bye. In the finale, Vande Bunt beat Jones, 6-3, to take the championship of the division.

Grades Participate In Field Program

Annual Field Event Is Held In Stadium, Included Exhibition Events, Track, Mass Drills

One thousand seventh and eighth grade boys and girls of the public grade schools took part in the annual field day at 7:30 p. m. last Thursday in South Side's stadium.

The program included track and exhibition events, a mass drill, and a special exhibition number by each school.

Harmar school runners won the whole affair with 17 points. Harrison Hill placed second with 14 points and James H. Smart placed third with 8 points. Adams school with 6 points won fourth place. Hoagland and Forest Park tied for fifth place with 4 points each. Franklin placed seventh, Washington eighth, and Jefferson, ninth, with 3, 2, and 1 points respectively.

Pupils from Forest Park gave an exhibition of square dancing and Harrison Hill boys and girls gave living pictures. Washington demonstrated American folk dances, "Skip To My Lou" and "Yankee Doodle."

South Side's band under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, accompanied the exhibition and played several concert selections.

GAA'er Alice Dolin's Favorite Sports Are Basketball, Softball

Alice Dolin, of GAA fame, holds the GAA spotlight this week. Alice is a 10B and one of GAA's most energetic members.

She was born in Fort Wayne on December 19, 1925. She entered South Side in January, 1940, and she immediately entered GAA.

Her favorite book is "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Her favorite movie is "Knut Rockne," proving her sports enthusiasm. James Cagney and Myrna Loy are her nominees for the perfect screen couple. Her favorite foods are fried chicken and mashed potatoes.

Alice says that her favorite sports are basketball and softball. She was honored by being the captain of volleyball, basketball, and baseball teams, which all won the titles in their respective classes.

Alice's pet peeve is boys who wear bow ties, and her most embarrassing moment occurred when she got her dates mixed, when she was in the first grade, and she was the only one in school with a Halloween costume on at a party.

Her favorite subject is physical education and when asked who her favorite teacher is, she replied, "I won't say until after grades come out." In her spare time she collects stamps.

Alice is a student leader, and she works in the girls' athletic office in her free period. Although only a 10B, she has already made a name for herself in GAA circles. Her total points in GAA are 8755 up to date. Besides belonging to GAA, she is a member of Service Club. She is in the commercial course, and her ambition is to become a secretary.

Kelly Golfmen Rate First Ten At Indianapolis

Competing With 53 Of Best Teams In State Archers Place With 249 Points

While Coach Collyer and his track boys were gathering their laurels on the Tech track at Indianapolis last week-end, the South Side golfers were busy swinging their mashies over the tough Speedway golf course. This marked the first entry of a local quartet in the state golf meet for a good many years. While Richmond and Elmhurst monopolized the low scores, the Archer golfers played consistently to finish among the first ten teams.

Richmond's quartet won the meet with a team total of 222, while Elmhurst carded 226 for second and South Side recorded 249 for tenth position. With 53 of the state's best teams entered, a place among the first ten teams is considered a worthy accomplishment for any quartet.

Bob Young enjoyed rounds of 43 and 41 to pace the locals with an 84 stroke total. Bob had little difficulty in hitting his wood and iron shots, but two penalties for balls in hazardous creeks and lightning-fast greens kept Young's total in the 80's. Tom Hall played his usually steady game, but he was a bit higher than usual in listing rounds of 43 and 44 for an 87. Tom's putter and approach iron caused him the greatest grief.

Al Schaaf recorded rounds of 47 and 41 for an 88. Schaaf had all sorts of trouble on the front nine, but he putted brilliantly on the back nine to make up for his high total going out. Bob Robinson toured the nines in 45 and 44 to post a final total of 89. Bob also found the cement-like greens to his disfavor. None of the local swingers were bothered by a strong cross-wind which swept across the Speedway, but the Archers did find plenty of moaning each time a sand trap came into sight. For the Indianapolis layout was well-trapped with some of the sand pits exceeding six feet in depth.

High School Girls May Attend Camp

YWCA Camp At Winona Lake To Be Open To Older Girls For Two Weeks, July 19-August 2

Camp Yarnelle will offer many educational and recreational opportunities this summer to high school girls. This camp is sponsored by the YWCA. It is located on a high knoll on the western shore of Lake Winona.

The Girl Reserves of high schools can go there from June 28-July 5, and high school camp is for the weeks July 19-26, and July 26 to August 2.

The day's occupation includes tennis, badminton, archery, baseball, trips, boating, swimming, dancing, family council, creative moods, such as modeling, painting, sketching, photography, camp craft, crafts, dramatics, and music.

The counselors will be former Girl Reserves or campers who want to come back to camp again, and one girl is from a foreign country. They are chosen for their understanding of and experience with high school girls.

Girls' Sportsettes

Since bowling has been accepted as a sport in GAA, many girls have been enthusiastic about it. A few that have been bowling regularly are Marilyn Bullerman, Sally Ogden, Donna Peel, and Janice Fruth.

All gym classes are now playing baseball for the rest of the school term.

GAA's track meet is over and baseball will be resumed. It was a swell track meet, and many new records were made. Congratulations to the girls who made new records.

Joan "Gabby" Dodge, of all people, struck out in baseball last Thursday in gym. She gave the excuse that it was the weather.

Congratulations to the newly elected officers of GAA. Best wishes for their success in the coming year.

A new bowling game called duck pins has been started, and is becoming very popular with GAA members. The game is played with only five pins and a small ball. Emmaus Lutheran Hall seems to be the most popular place for playing this game.

Bouquets to Kathleen Neith for being high point girl of the GAA track meet.

Thanks loads to the officers of the past year for their help and co-operation with Miss Dean and Miss Smith and all the members of GAA. They are responsible for that wonderful Halloween Party, the super Spring Show, the successful Recognition Service, and the elegant banquet.

South Side GAA is well represented on the Bob-In baseball team. Here's hoping they win all their games.

Miss Smith and Miss Dean appreciate the help of the student leaders who have helped referee games in gym classes and GAA this year.

Since we have such nice weather now, more of the girls should be taking hikes. There are only a few days left, but time enough to get those extra points, so start working, girls.

Shatter Records In GAA Contest

Joan Dodge, Marjorie Pressler, Kathleen Neith Set Three New Scores At Track Meet

Three records were broken in the GAA track meet. In the potato toss, Joan Dodge made it in 17 6-10 seconds, the former being 17 7-10 seconds.

Kathleen Neith brought the record in the basketball throw up ten and 5-10 feet, the former record being seventy-five feet.

The high point winners of the track meet were Alice Dolin 12½ points, Kathleen Neith 12, Geneva Martin 10, Joan Dodge and Marjorie Pressler, each 9.

GAA'ers Earn Points In Ping Pong Tourney

Clarabelle Squires, first-place winner in the girls' ping pong tournament, receives 50 points; and Phyllis Amstutz, runner-up, 25 points. All persons who won their first games received 10 points. Those who get 10 points are Betty Kite, Laurel Bacon, Betty Kyvik, Betty Hargan, Kathleen Sanders, Irene Meyer, Patricia Rietrich, Sally Ogden, Jeanne Smith, Norma Russell, Betty Thiele, and Colleen McCarty.

Safety Essay Of Sophomore Is Published

Mary Cleland Writes Winning Article In Second Year Class; Theme Below

Last week the Times announced the winners of the safety essay contest and published the winning freshman essay written by Beverly Miller. This week's essay was written by the sophomore winner, Mary Cleland. Essays were judged by Lieutenant Dunifon and several teachers. The essay is below.

What We Think Can Be Done To Make Fort Wayne Safer

Fort Wayne has had many serious problems, but none has been so serious as accidents. There is only one approach to this problem, and that is by the co-operation of every citizen in our city.

Campaigning is the first step in solving this problem. Posters should be placed in schools, stores, public buildings, and even in homes. Handbills should be passed around to every home, a safety sign should be placed on every billboard, statistics of accidents should be emphasized in order to make people realize the seriousness of them.

In most schools safety is taught in the home room. This is a good plan, but not enough time is spent on the course. If it were made a required subject, every pupil would be highly informed on safety. Before school, safety should be taught in the home to children from infancy.

Reckless drivers are usually fined if caught, although they are only partially the cause of accidents. If fines were collected, perhaps fifty cents or a dollar from careless pedestrians, regularly called jaywalkers, accidents would be reduced immensely.

Since a great percentage of reckless drivers are of high school age, a course in driving should be given in high school. The value of stop signs, red lights, slow signs should be taught and also the value of having a good reputation as a careful driver.

If these proposals were carried out, Fort Wayne would be the safest city in the country.

Wo-Ho-Ma's Tea Staged Thursday

Corsages Are Given To Mothers; Helen Dicke, Head Of Club, Presents Address Of Welcome

Wo-Ho-Ma Club's Mother-Daughter Tea was held Thursday in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. Corsages were given to the mothers as they entered. "A Song of Welcome" was sung by the Wo-Ho-Ma girls and accompanied by Virginia Shorter on the piano.

Helen Dicke, president of the club, gave an address of welcome and the girls then introduced their mothers.

Others who participated in the program were Betty Lou Hancock, who gave a dramatic reading on "Home", Marie Lebamoff played a violin solo accompanied by Virginia Shorter on the piano. "There Are Styles" was sung and acted by Helen Long, Pearl Baldwin, and Lois Bonebrake.

A style show which was in charge of Miss Rehorth was featured. Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor, was the guest speaker who spoke on "Pictures for Our Homes".

Miss Helen Bean, Miss Crissie Mott, Miss Lucy Mellen, Miss Erma Dochterman, and Miss Martha Pittenger were guests.

Punch, candy, and cookies were served. The committees were as follows: Reception, Doris Ontario and Alice Martz; flower, Elsie Korte; refreshment, Ruth Gregory, clean-up, Helen Long, chairman, Doris Ontario, Clara Long, Nancy Rosencranz, Joyce Archbold and Anna Marie Roth.

Girls who served were as follows: Wahilla Spore, Helen Long, Lisea Kaiser, and Pauline Kaiser.

The officers all assisted with the tea. They are Helen Dicke, president; Lisea Kaiser, vice-president; Clara Long, secretary; Betty Kite, treasurer; and Helen Long, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Math-Scientists To Picnic June 6

Frolic Will Be Held At Small Pavilion. 4:30 To 6:30 P. M.; Food List Is Posted In 80

Math-Science Club's annual picnic, June 6, will be held at Foster Park in the small pavilion from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock.

All members wishing to attend this annual outing should sign in Miss George Anna Hodgson's Room 80, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, for food they wish to bring or sign to bring 20 cents. They are asked to sign before June 5.

Committees and members planning the picnic are the regular officers appointed to serve for this semester.

Newly-elected officers who will be installed next fall are John Gumpfer, president; Carol Trenary, vice-president; Lavon Cartwright, secretary; and Paul Johnson, treasurer. Other officers will be appointed next fall.

Retiring officers are Martin Germand, president; Betty Koehler, vice-president; Janet Holtmeyer, secretary; Ralph Sebald, treasurer; Elaine Hirsch, publicity chairman; Ruth Dauner, refreshment chairman; and Eva Jean and Bob Wylie, co-chairmen for entertainment.

"Educational Hobbies" Is Theme Of Archer Writings Seen Below

Educational hobbies was the theme of an assignment given by Miss Mary Pocock to her freshman English classes. Below are compositions which were turned in by three students. The articles were penned by Helen Welbaum, Donald Weberus, and Gerry Mason.

Collecting Copies Of Famous Paintings

Collecting copies of famous paintings is educational. One may study the painters by looking up their biographies. There is ample material in books and any encyclopedia on the subject. One may study the paintings by first classifying the art into two divisions, classical and modern. Then one must study the colors and the different emotions they give one. Some make one feel gloomy or happy, while others express warm or cold feeling.

Collecting copies of famous paintings is also difficult. Paintings are not easy to find. One must search for them. I have spent many hours looking through old books and magazines. After the paintings have been found, they should be sorted by putting all the paintings of one painter together. Then the classical art may be separated from the modern art.

Although collecting copies of famous paintings is difficult, it is also enjoyable. I delight in looking through my collection and reading biographies of painters during my leisure hours. If my friends enjoy art, I like to show them the paintings. Often we have many interesting discussions about the lives of the painters.

—Helen Welbaum

Model Railroad

Model railroading is educational. I built, lettered and painted locomotives and cars. I learned the names of different parts of a locomotive. Some of these are the cylinder assembly, boiler, main rods, eccentric cranks, smokebox, and valve gear. I learned how to lay track. It was necessary to put the rails parallel and an exact distance apart. By placing the two rails even one thirty-second of an inch closer together than they should be, I could cause a disastrous wreck. The rails must be spiked down to miniature ties to be kept in place. I began to know how and when to use tools. I used the soldering iron quite often in the construction of locomotives. Cars can be put together by using glue, a hammer and nails, and paint.

Model railroading is also enjoyable. It is interesting to construct miniature locomotives and cars. After they are finished, I like to watch them sail around the track. I have my pals come over to see my layout. We spend hours running the trains and taking still and motion pictures of them.

Although it is educational and enjoyable, model railroading is a costly hobby. An average locomotive in HO gauge costs thirty dollars in kit form. These kits have to be constructed entirely by me, and the finished model is only two inches tall. Passenger and freight cars are expensive too for their size.

—Donald Weberus

Midget Racer Building

Midget Racer Building is educational. Using machinery gives one a knowledge of its proper care. It helps one to learn the use of machine tools, such as lathes and drill presses. The parts of a racing car must be studied. Knowing these helps one to understand the job of making and assembling the parts of a midget racer. The three main parts of a racing car are motor, wheels and body structure. The motor is usually large and powerful. The wheels are constructed of best metals and alloys, to aid in the locomotion of the racing car. The body structure consists of a great mass of braces, wires and strong cross bars made of reasonably light materials. These ideas have been suggested by many outstanding midget racer builders.

Not only is it educational but it is also enjoyable. It is fun to study the assembling of parts. The frame work should be assembled first. Next, the wheels and axles must be fastened to the framework. The parts that form the body outline should be put on the framework. It is enjoyable to study these parts if one is interested in racer building. After this the hood should be covered with metal, wood or some other covering. The motor should then be put on the car. The study of gof plans is very enjoyable. The signs and symbols on the plans of a midget racer are very interesting and if one knows the meaning of these, they are very enjoyable.

However, the building of midget racers is difficult. Finding material is hard work. The wood for the body must be selected carefully and be made of hard wood. The metal used in the covering the hood and in the rest of the racer must be selected galvanized iron, steel, and cast iron. The wheels must be very carefully picked out. They should have the best roller or ball bearing obtainable. The tires should be lug base so they will not slip on the rims. One should be able to put the parts together properly. This is the most difficult step in the building of a midget racer. The assembling of the parts should be done by an experienced mechanic or by one who has assembled a midget car before.

—Gerry Mason

Archer Bob Hines Writes Information On Diesel Engines

A new field of mechanics that has been opened recently is the field of internal combustion machines. The leading engine of this type is the diesel engine. Scientists and mechanical engineers have worked on this engine for years and years to obtain its present form of perfection. The need for the diesel was started long ago in order to find an engine capable of low maintenance and great efficiency. The gasoline engine was only about sixty per cent efficient and had to burn an expensive grade of fuel, while the diesel gave exactly opposite results. Also the diesel uses a low type fuel oil that costs only about one-fourth the price of gasoline. The diesel fuel seemed to obtain its start in Illinois; and to this very time the biggest diesel manufacturers are in Peoria and Earthworm, Illinois. However, during recent years the companies have expanded and set up several branch concerns along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Description Of Engines

The engines are various and large in number, so I will tell you of just one of these engines. It is the V-type, sixteen-cylinder, diesel engine an engine that is being made at the present time for our national defense to power the speedy torpedo boats. This engine is similar in many ways to a gasoline engine, but varies in only one major thing, which is principle.

The first change is in the cylinders and pistons. The piston of the diesel engine has, besides the main piston, two auxiliary ones. This makes three pistons in each cylinder and, in that way, increases the compression. The three pistons are connected to the same connecting rod, and are placed one on top of the other. Then when the timing device says it's time for that piston to go to work, all three start upward at the same time. Thus by the time the lowest piston has reached the highest point for it, the others will be still higher and will have compressed the air in the cylinder to a tremendous pressure. As soon as this point is reached, the fuel injector shoots in just a certain amount of fuel oil. The injector must, in a case of this sort, have an even greater pressure than the air in the cylinder. The air, now compressed, is at a very high temperature, because all compressed gases produce heat; and as the oil is injected, the heat explodes the oil with such force that it drives the piston back down. This is repeated with all sixteen pistons, and timed so that no two pistons fire at exactly the same time, even when the engine is running at top speed. This timing is an exceedingly difficult piece of mechanics to understand.

Where Power Travels

The power, now that it has been generated, is directly traveling from the connecting rods to the crankshaft, where the rods are connected with floating bearings to allow them to slide around as the motor turns over. There are two connecting rods at each end of the crankshaft in the V-type motor. At the end of the crankshaft is a huge flywheel which is bolted to the drive shaft, letting the power go to the transmission. The flywheel is also connected with two cam shafts, one on each side of the motor, which have lugs on on along them at irregular intervals, so that no more than one lug is on top at the same time. These lugs, when they come to the top, push the intake and exhaust valves up and down; so that each cylinder gets the right amount of air at the right time. These shafts are also a part of the intricate timing system.

From the flywheel the power is taken through the transmission, where there are several sets of different sized gears. Here the speed of the motor can be changed from low to high as in any modern automobile. The power, after going through these gears, is transmitted to the drive shaft, which sends the power through several more sets of gears before it reaches the propeller in the rear of the boat.

Greatness Of Power

The power of this diesel is so great that it can propel a thirty-four ton torpedo boat at a speed of fifty to sixty miles per hour. That power, if put on one of our regular transport trucks, would carry a full load of lead, one of the heaviest metals, up and down the highest grades in any of our many mountain ranges. The power is so great that we cannot possibly imagine it, even if it is put in a comparison, such as I stated. Another point, I didn't mention in the above paragraphs, is that the diesel engine does not have spark plugs; and it is exploded only by the extreme heat produced when the air is brought under pressure. This means that all diesel engines must have an auxiliary motor, which will run to heat up the diesel for starting purposes. This is accomplished by a small gasoline engine that is started first. The exhaust of the gasoline engine is run through the exhaust of the diesel, thus warming it to the point where it will fire by itself. Many of the trucks today have a modified diesel engine, and it is predicted that some day in the future, the cars will also have them. The deciding factor in this case is that the diesels can run longer on a cheaper fuel and still at the same time produce more power than a gasoline engine.

Students Call Every Home On Campaign

Eighty-One Archers Organized For Safest City Contest, Ask Cooperation

In order to carry the safety campaign into every home in Fort Wayne, the students of South Side have organized into telephone committees to call every number in the telephone book and give them this message: "This is student (tells name) of South Side High School. I am calling to inform you that Fort Wayne is enrolled in a Safest City Contest, and is competing against the cities of Evansville, Gary and South Bend. The object of this contest is to bring about a reduction of traffic fatalities within each of these cities."

"We are suggesting that you please discuss this traffic safety contest with other members of your family, offering to each other the thought of exercising caution when walking or while driving a car."

"This contest will be in effect until the end of June, this year. Thank you."

Students who volunteered for the telephone committee are as follows: Rex Kooze, Robert Owens, Betty Imbler, Peggy Kaiser, Phyllis Jackson, Phyllis Hines, Isabel Johnson, Marjorie VanCuren, Audrey Smith, Jean Phelps, Eleanor Pell, Margaret Grossman, Lois Hener, Barbara Hughes, Marjory Hopkins, Esther Schueler, Marilyn Sappington, Pearl Baldwin, Edith Barber.

Light, Nature, Birds, Romance Are Symbols Of Early Spring

Salve, Dulce Ver

The word spring brings joy and gladness to the ears of all who hear it. For spring is symbolic of light, flowers, happiness, and love. Many poets have written poems about spring, for spring inspires everyone; but not all of us have the ability to express these sentiments so beautifully.

In spring, many of us realize and appreciate the beauties of nature, because we have been without them for so long. The robin's song is one of the first signs of spring. Then, after a couple of warm days, the grass begins to turn green and new shoots of flowers cautiously poke their heads through the soft warm sod. Then, as the sun encourages them, they become more courageous and come out more and more. Soon we see bright yellow daffodils blinking in the sunlight, and nodding and talking to all passers-by. If one looks in a cool shaded spot, one can find the shy violets, very modest in their royal robes. The trees, so long barren and naked, now burst forth in a new wardrobe of green. They invite the birds to nest in their boughs. Everything seems to speak of warmth, light, and happiness.

Thoughts Of Europe

And then the thoughtful person cannot help but think of the countries beyond the sea. The bright sunshine is hid by the exploding bombs and smoke from fires. Here and there a bright flower may courageously struggle to grow; and if hardy enough, it may survive. But the people have no time to care for the flowers, for they are busy all day, either killing each other or making weapons to kill each other. Only when we think of these things are we sad and then we think and utter a prayer in our hearts that mankind may find love and not hatred in his soul for his brothers. We thank God that we have freedom and a democracy, that we are not in war, and that we can enjoy God's gifts in the spring.

Dagwood, Spring Alike

The coming of spring is in many ways like Dagwood's getting up in the morning. After the rest of winter, there are perhaps in early March a few days which are warm, bright, and sunny; then in a few days it is bitter cold again. After a good night's sleep, when Dagwood hears the alarm clock ringing, he gets out of bed, turns off the alarm, and crawls back into bed again to doze awhile. After a few cold days, spring seems to come all at once, very much as a surprise. Dagwood, likewise, jumps out of bed in a grand rush after being called by Blondie. The early March winds and the havoc they play can be compared to the swishing of Dagwood as he gets ready for work in the morning. Then follows summer, and the corresponding day's work of Dagwood.

It has often been said that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to love. We need not look very far for evidence of the truth of this statement, for on every hand we can see couples strolling about with complacent looks upon their faces. And then the classrooms show signs of spring by the far away look of a boy and a prodigious sigh of a girl. The teachers might as well give up then and there, for the rest of their teaching will be in vain. Then also in spring-time, there is an increase in activities—dances, parties, and general good times.

Spring Is Short

After all, spring is short, so why not enjoy it? Do not be an old grouch and say there are many things more worthwhile than spring. Perhaps there are other worthwhile things, but where are you after all, if these things do not bring happiness. And what could bring more happiness than getting out on nature's velvet carpet, basking in the warm golden light, and studying flowers, whose colors and designs no man could ever produce? Sara Van Alstyne Allen believes this, and she expresses herself in such a beautiful way that I would like to leave you with this poem by her.

Spring Is A Boy

Spring is a laughing boy who has the gift of joy.
He knows his time is brief, and so he shapes each hour
To hold the sun and rain. He sends the eastern wind
To break the shield of cold. He calls the western wind
To wake the silent stream. He leaves upon the grass
The first pale shower of dandelion gold
To welcome April in.

He is the winter's dream and autumn's memory.
He is the hope that lies deep-hidden in the tree.

Gloria Werkman Is 1941 Ivy Queen

Senior Beauty Crowned Monday In Outdoor Ceremony; Post Grads, 12A's, B's In March

Gloria Werkman was crowned Ivy Queen of the 1941 senior class Monday, instead of May 23 as previously planned. The queen was attended by Lola Rodriguez, Marjory Sheldon, LaVerne Greiner, and Maurine Leas.

James McClure, president of the senior class, crowned the queen; Robert Young, class orator, presented the ivy, and Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools, gave the acceptance speech. Post graduates, 12A's, 12B's, and teachers of their home rooms attended the ceremony.

The program began with the procession from the gymnasium, out the front door around Calhoun and Gumpfer Streets to the east side of the building. Following the band, queen and her attendants, were Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. C. A. Bex, Mr. A. Verne Flint, the senior advisers of schools, gave the acceptance speech. Post graduates, 12A's, 12B's, and teachers of their home rooms attended the ceremony.

The entire class sang the Alma Mater song. Senior girls' quintet, composed of Gloria Staley, Emalyn Remmel, Helen Savage, Ruth Dauner, and Wilma Lagemann sang a selection entitled, "In May".

Planting of the ivy was done by Rudolph Wutke, Ed Bauer, and Dick Theye, Inter-Club Congress representatives.

Civics Class Inspects State School Thursday

Miss Pauline VanGorder, her seventh period civics class, Becky Abbott, and Edmund Bauer visited the Fort Wayne State School last Thursday. The group went by bus.

First the group visited the shops. Here they saw tables and ornaments of all kinds being made. They also watched the cobbling of shoes. The printing press next attracted the group. The interesting thing about it is that the boy who sets the type is able neither to read or write.

One feature that was particularly noticeable was the cleanliness of the girls' dormitory. Other things that attracted the attention of the group were the beauty shop, the hospital, the kitchen, and the ball parks. The weaving of linen towels and the making of bedspreads and rugs also was interesting.

Graduates Are Given Honors At Indiana U.

Leona Menze, '38, sophomore at Indiana University, has been named associate campus editor of the Indiana Daily Student for the fall semester of 1941-42.

Jack Kelly, South Side grad, and B. S. grad of Indiana, has accepted an assistantship in chemistry at Ohio State University.

Ruth S. Berning, Archer grad, and an Indiana A. B. graduate, has taken a position as laboratory technician at Creighton University, Omaha.

Jeanne Smith Heads Times Senior Issue

Papers Are Distributed Free To All Parents, Students At Commencement Time

At Commencement, June 11, the Senior Issue of The Times will be distributed free to all students and parents.

Jeanne Smith will be the general manager for this issue. Managing editor will be Mary Lybrook and news editor Marge Sheldon. Karl Eberly will be the feature editor. Janet Holtmeyer and Hilda Schubert will be copy editors.

The editorial page editor will be Louis Hallenstein. Bob Young will be boys' sports editor, Mary Alice Dunten, girls' sports editor. Wayne Becktol will have charge of intramural sports, and Bob Robinson will be the make-up editor.

Business manager will be Martha Jane Krauskopf and circulation manager, Becky Abbott. Elaine Hirsch will be the advertising manager.

Assistant copy editors and proofreaders are Mildred Hanke, and Lois and Faye Gumpfer. Bernadine Bender and Mary Alice Dunten will be girls' sports writers.

Editorial writers are Becky Abbott, Marge Sheldon, Jeanne Weil, and Elaine Hirsch. Feature writers will be Mary Alice Dunten, Jeanne Weil, Dick Green, and Karl Eberly.

Reporters for this issue will be Elaine Hirsch, Eileen Hormann, Louisa Haugk, Jo Frosh, Laura Grazier, Eileen Kiessling, Becky Abbott, Virginia Hill, Faye and Lois Gumpfer, and Bob Robinson.

Gloria Staley, Hilda Schubert, Eileen Kiessling, and Elaine Hirsch will be advertising solicitors. The staff photographer will be Joel Salon. Miss Rowena Harvey is the faculty adviser.

Have You Ever Seen An Atom? Well--Here's How They Differ

By Sarah Jane Makey

One way atoms differ is in respect to their planetary electrons. An atom is like our solar system in some respects. In an atom, there are a nucleus and from one to ninety-two planetary electrons; in our solar system, there are a sun and nine planets. In an atom, the nucleus attracts the planetary electrons with its opposite charge; in our solar system, the planets are attracted to the sun by gravity. In an atom, the electrons spin on their axes because of the attractive effect of its nucleus and the repellent effect of the other planetary electrons; in our solar system, the planets rotate on their axes because of the unequal attractions in different directions of the sun, other stars, and other planets.

But an atom is also different than our solar system in some respects. In an atom, the planetary electrons repel each other; in our solar system, the planets exert attractive forces on each other. In an atom, the nucleus is made up of protons and electrons, which form atoms of hydrogen, helium, or possibly atoms of other kinds; in our solar system, the sun is a mass of a single kind of matter. In most atoms, the nuclei are perfectly opaque and are perfect reflectors of light and heat; in our solar system, the sun gives off light and heat of combustion. In an atom, the planetary electrons have about 1845 times the mass of their nucleus; in our solar system, the sun is many times the size of all its planets put together.

Electrons, which are parts of the former, are infinitely small negatively charged particles that travel in fixed orbits around a positively charged particle, which is predominantly proton, just as Earth, Venus, and Jupiter revolve in definite orbits about the sun, which is their nucleus. Electrons are hearts that one atom may take from, give to, or share with another atom. Electrons are labels which, when put on nuclei, tell by their number the kind of element they are a part of.

One way these labels differ in different atoms is in respect to their number in relation to the number of unneutralized protons in the nucleus. One class of atoms, considering this relationship, is atoms with only one valence. A hydrogen atom has one planetary electron, which neutralizes the one proton in the nucleus. An atom of nickel has twenty-eight planetary electrons, which neutralize the twenty-eight free protons in its nucleus. A normal atom of iron has twenty-six planetary electrons, which neutralize the same number of protons in its nucleus. An actinium atom has eighty-nine planetary electrons. An aluminum atom has thirteen planetary electrons. An antimony atom has fifty-one planetary electrons. An argon atom has eighteen planetary electrons. An arsenic atom has thirty-three planetary electrons. A barium atom has fifty-six planetary electrons. A beryllium atom has four planetary electrons. A bismuth atom has eighty-three planetary electrons. A boron atom has five planetary electrons. A bromine atom has thirty-five planetary electrons. A cadmium atom has forty-eight planetary electrons. A calcium atom has twenty planetary electrons. A carbon atom has six planetary electrons. A cerium atom has fifty-eight planetary electrons. A cesium atom has fifty-five planetary electrons. A chlorine atom has seventeen planetary electrons. A chromium atom has twenty-four planetary electrons. A cobalt atom has twenty-

Frosh, Soph Home Ec Classes Make Meals

To wind up their semester's work in Home Economics, the 9A and 10A cooking classes have been having teas and lunches.

Some of the classes have had teas and four 10A classes have had buffet lunches.
The fourth period class had their lunch Wednesday, preparing ham loaf, frozen peas, lime fruit salad, hot rolls, and frozen lemon pie.

The sixth period class had their lunch Tuesday. Their menu consisted of assorted cold meats, potato salad, green beans, assorted relishes, hot rolls, and homemade strawberry ice cream.

Trials Will Be Held In Speaking Classes

Mock trials will be held in all public speaking classes the last few days of school. Mrs. Rieke stated that it would be something to break the monotony of final exams. A committee has been chosen in each class to select the plot and assign a part to each member of the class.

Times Breaks Record

This year's Times subscribers broke a record by having all subscription money paid by May 22. This date is three weeks earlier than usual.

Students Take Math Exams

Winners Of Geometry, Algebra 2, 3 Tests Will Be Recognized On June 6

Mathematics students took examinations for Recognition Day recently. The Algebra 2 and 3 tests were given in Room 188 and the geometry tests in Room 146. Trigonometry tests were given Monday. Winners will be announced on Recognition Day.

Algebra 2 students who took the test are John Christoff, June Dewood, Marilyn Damer, Rosemary Bird, Carl Scherlenger, Walter Gordon, John Hitzeman, Betty Curless, Betty Lou Funk, Joan Trautman, Gerald Lahrman, Jack Ruhl, Marilyn Denecke, and Carolyn Packler.

Patricia McMahon, Joan Steinbarger, Margaret Roth, Adeline Cortis, Doris Lantz, Rosemary Plummer, Helen Welbaum, Anna Lee Bearinger, Betty Mae Hall, Marcella Reinking, and Donna Mouglin, are more.

Martha Harry, Sally Muller, Marilyn Cairns, Marilyn Ream, Martha Davenport, Stanley Trier, Walter Turner, Richard Englebrecht, Victor Moellering, Phil Lichtenberg, Phyllis Bumke, Aileen Betts, Ken Lauer, and Albert Kranz are others.

Algebra 3 students are Clara Mackey, Dorothy Jagers, Lucy Smith, Clifford Springer, Roger McVay, William Thomson, Robert Newhard, John Lomont, Ellen Harry, Margaret Heine, Jim Bumke, Mary Anne Florence, Gladys Foellinger, Ruth Werkman, Richard Fowler, and Dick Brandt.

Geometry 2 students who took the test are Joseph Barbieri, James Winkelblisch, Ed Tieman, Marshall Buchman, Lawrence Bacon, Fritz Kahl, Victor Kaufman, Bob Miller, Bill Brandt, Jeanne Seidel, and Philip Allen.

Kaufman Is Best Speller In County

South Side 10A Wins Contest Held Among Champions During Years Of 1939, '40, '41

Victor Kaufman, 10B, is the Allen County champion speller. Victor won the county spelling contest in 1939, sponsored by the Morris Plan Bank at WGL Radio Station. For this he got his name engraved on a silver cup and received $30.00 in cash.

He was then in the eighth grade at Hogg School, Aboite Township. Since Victor then entered South Side, he was unable to participate in the 1940 and 1941 contests.

This year the radio station had a "spell off" contest of the '39, '40 and '41 county and city champions.

Victor won this contest, thus becoming permanent possessor of the beautiful silver cup with his name engraved on it as the 1939 county winner.

A third way the nuclei of atoms differ is in respect to their activity. The nuclei of hydrogen atoms tend to synthesize to form helium atoms. These atoms synthesize with hydrogen atoms, other helium atoms, or combinations of hydrogen and helium atom to form more complete atoms. The nuclei of radioactive elements break up; and particles fly off as alpha particles, which are helium atoms which have lost two planetary electrons; panama rays, which are rays similar to x-rays; and beta particles, which are simply electrons.

A third respect in which atoms differ is their weight. One class of atoms according to weight are normal atoms, which have fixed weights. Hydrogen is the standard. Chlorine weighs 35.457 times as much as hydrogen. Gold weighs 197.2 grams per liter. Molybdenum weighs 96.0 grams per liter. The weight of neodymium is 144.227 grams per liter. Neon weighs 20.183 grams per liter. A molecule of nickel weighs 58.69 grams per liter. A molecule of nitrogen weighs 14.008 grams per liter. The weight of a molecule of osmium is 190.8. A molecule of oxygen weighs 16.000 per liter. A molecule of palladium weighs 106.7. A molecule of phosphorus weighs 31.022 grams per liter. The weight of a molecule of platinum is 195.23. A molecule of potassium weighs 39.10 grams per liter. The weight of a molecule of praseodymium is 140.92. A molecule of radium weighs 225.07 grams per liter. The weight of radon is 222.00 grams per liter. A molecule of rhodium weighs 186.21 grams per liter. A molecule of rhodium weighs 102.91 grams per liter. A molecule of rubidium weighs 85.44 grams per liter. The weight of a molecule of scandium in grams per liter is 45.10.

A second class of atoms according to weight is isotopes, which are atoms not having the same weight as a normal atom but having the same properties. Promine isotopes weigh seventy-nine and eighty-one times as much as hydrogen. Magnesium isotopes weigh twenty-four, twenty-five, and twenty-six times as much as hydrogen. Chlorine isotopes weigh thirty-five and thirty-seven times as much as hydrogen.

A third class of atoms according to weight is radioactive elements. They gradually lose weight by throwing off particles. Potonium is the lightest and most simple radioactive element. Uranium is the heaviest and most complicated of all elements.

Promising Vocations...Dentistry

By Bill McNulty

Once upon a time, in years long past, dentistry was considered merely a sideline, along with a myriad of other little duties of a barber. In fact, even the practice of medicine was included in the repertoire of a "barber's" abilities. But, along with the times, the profession of dentistry has vastly changed since that day. Dentistry is now considered an honored profession, and a dentist takes his place beside lawyers and physicians. For this reason, among others, dentistry now presents itself as a promising vocation to the high school graduate.

Of course the requirements for entrance into this profession have changed according to the attendant honor. In the olden days, in fact as recent as a century ago, practically anyone who had enough strength to twist out a tooth and who was a good enough bluffer to give the impression that he really DID know something about the business, could hang out his shingle as a qualified dentist. Today things are different. A high school graduate must take a two year pre-dental course, and then he must spend four years in a dental college. After he has received a diploma from this college he is allowed to practice. One of the main drawbacks to the dental profession is the difficulty in getting started. Equipment requires an initial outlay of around one thousand dollars, and overhead expenses are high. As a rule, incomes in the first few years of practice are quite low, but a very substantial income may be derived from a practice well-established over a period of years.

The outlook in the field of dentistry is most promising, for the field is definitely not over-crowded. As a matter of fact, there are fewer graduates from dental schools today than forty year ago. There is no getting around the fact that it is a tough life. Nearly half of all that enter dental school either never finish or fail in practice. The work demands a steady nerve and great endurance. But the rewards are golden, and the future looks very bright for dentistry.

NCA Puts Ban Upon Entrance In Nt'l Meets

Educational Group Forbid Students Traveling To Interstate Tournaments

South Side High School students will not be permitted, in the future, to participate in any district, state, interstate, or regional contest involving more than two schools without the approval of the Indiana state committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

This committee must approve all music, commercial, speech, or other contests and tournaments before any Archer pupil may enter it.

The Indiana High School Athletic Association is still the authority for athletic contests and tournaments. The Indiana Secondary School Principals' Association has been accepted as the committee to approve the other contests.

In the past, several groups of Archers have been permitted to enter contests in which they have traveled to numerous cities throughout the country.

This new ruling will affect the speech department, which has entered students in national contests in previous years, for the Indiana committee has met and voted against national contests. As yet no action has been taken on state contests.

Journalism national contests probably will not be affected as the papers are mailed in.

In order to have all activities of the high schools contribute most effectively to the education programs, this ruling was passed in Chicago at the meeting of the North Central Association, which is composed of twenty states in this part of the country.

YWCA Blanks Distributed

For all girls who are interested, the YWCA is furnishing free swimming lessons. Blanks to be filled by the students and parents were distributed during home room last Monday morning. These blanks were to be returned Wednesday morning to the home room.

Archer Articles Published

Two South Siders, Phil Hannon and Victor Moeller, wrote articles which appeared on Youth's Passing Show Page in the News-Sentinel recently. Phil's story is about the drudgery of writing a thousand word essay. The satisfaction of the young craftsmen on completion of a telephone stand is revealed by Victor in his article.

Lester Oppenlander Tells That His Dog Is Very Remarkable

By Lester Oppenlander

I have a dog. He is not worth a cent to anyone else, but I wouldn't sell him for anything. He's just a half-breed or something like that. He is a mixture of about a dozen different breeds. For instance, he has long ears like a hound's; and he howls exactly like Baskerville's curse. His jaws are likened to the broad, short bulldog's. They're a mite bit longer though. His body is shaped like an overgrown fox terrier's, but it is colored like a police dog's. On top of all that, I'm not sure that he is entirely dog; for he has a long, black tail similar to a rat's; and he runs like a truck-horse. But contrary to your present picture of him, he is a handsome, healthy, intelligent dog.

He is a good dog, but he is getting rather lazy. He is five years old and is slowing down. Now, in his middle age, he'd rather just eat and sleep and howl. He never had too much excitement in his life, and he would have done all right without that which he did have. His uneventful life started under a porch. There, he and ten brothers and sisters were brought into the world by a petite fox terrier. Eight of the pups were black; two, brown; and one, white. My dog was one of the brown ones. Since these pups were half-breeds, their owner was glad to get rid of them. Well, I had my choice; and this little, fat, brown one appealed to me. I chose him almost without hesitation.

The only really important events in his life up to now were accidents. He has been hit by cars three times. Once a leg was fractured.
But in contrast with these death-defying episodes, he has lived, on the whole, an easy-going, uneventful life. He believes in the slogan:
"Early to bed, and early to rise,
With naps in between, on the heater he lies."

However, lazy as he seems, he's smart and willing to learn. He knows how to shake hands and sit up. He can jump through a hoop, but his better judgment warns him against it. Also, he can open a screen from either side. (A little knob is on the outside. He uses the knob just as we use the handle in opening the screen. The knob was my sister's labor-saving idea. He need only push to open the screen from the inside.) His two other accomplishments are bringing the paper in off the porch and carrying his own dog food home from the store. He certainly disapproved the idea that "You can't teach an old dog new tricks" by learning the last two tricks after he was well past four years of age. He is truly a smart dog.

Other than his intelligence he has some more distinguishing characteristics. He has character traits similar to a human's. He is easy to get along with; he makes human friends very rapidly. And with most dogs he is not quarrelsome. The only dog he really dislikes is his brother, Pal. Whenever they meet, they fight. My dog is also a loud-mouth and a torment. He loves to bark. He doesn't worry anyone any more, though; they just ignore him. As for teasing, he loves it, too. He likes to play ball, but getting the ball from him is like catching a greased pig. He likes to see how close he can get to me with the ball without my catching him. I usually give up in disgust after unsuccessfully wearing myself out. Another trait of his is his excitability. He goes "hog-wild" when someone imitates a cat. He runs around like a chicken with its head cut off. Yet he is an obedient dog. If any of the family commands, he obeys promptly. He is very intelligent. He seems to understand English perfectly. He has will-power along with his obedience. If I emphatically tell him not to chase a cat which he sees, he holds back and behaves himself. He is, however, very impatient. When he wants outside, he really wants outside. He scratches and whines, louder and louder, until someone opens the door. If these were all of his traits, he would be outstanding; but he has more.

For instance, he is psychic. He has appointed himself mother's protector. All the time she is at home, he is with her. He is under her feet, or on them, all of the time. When she has a dizzy spell or some other ailment, he seems to know it right away. He whines and crawls all over her then. This usually brings her back to normal. Even if it happens not to be near her when a spell comes on, he hastens to her. Instinct seems to tell him something is wrong, and he tries his best to help her out. My dog, Leo, is truly remarkable in many respects.

Archers Win Extemp Firsts

Bob Safer, Bob Young Take City Contest At Rotary Club; School To Keep Cup

Bob Young and Bob Safer tied for first place in the City Extemp Contest last Monday at the Rotary Club. Bob Young's subject was "Are Subversive Activities Undermining American Democracy?", and Safer's was "Should the Draft Age be Changed to 18 to 31?" Their names will be engraved on the Extemp Trophy, which South Side will keep for another year.

Delores Putt from Central High School won second place. The other contestants were Margaret Ann Fellows and Charles Perrine from North Side and Paul Prill from Central.

Judges for the contest were Mr. Robert Koerber, Jr., Mr. Ralph Burry, Mr. John McKay, Mr. Allan McMahon and Mr. Joe Tucker, Jr.

The subjects were not announced ahead of time, and there was no preparation before the day of the contest. The contestants had one hour to prepare their speeches; they consisted of a five minute constructive speech and a three minute rebuttal.

This is the second year that South Side has had the cup; Tom Galmeyer won it last year.

For instance, he is psychic. He has appointed himself mother's protector. All the time she is at home, he is with her. He is under her feet, or on them, all of the time. When she has a dizzy spell or some other ailment, he seems to know it right away. He whines and crawls all over her then. This usually brings her back to normal. Even if it happens not to be near her when a spell comes on, he hastens to her. Instinct seems to tell him something is wrong, and he tries his best to help her out. My dog, Leo, is truly remarkable in many respects.

Marionettes To Meet
An important meeting of the Marionette Club will be held Thursday, May 29. Every member is asked to attend.

“IT IS FOR US, THE LIVING”

The banners we so proudly wave on Memorial Day are tributes to those whose sacrifices have made them possible. It is for us, the living, to see the symbolism of those flags and to see that the traditions in which they have been raised do not perish from our Earth. It is for us, the living, to take inventory on Memorial Day and to renew our pledge to the noble dead—to maintain and enhance the ideals for which they suffered. It is for us, the living, to do all in our power that their sacrifices may not have been in vain—to insist that this be a better, nobler, more peaceful world as a result of those whose memory we serve today.

Archers Dream About Vacations

Some Long Trips Planned To New York, Wisconsin, Chicago, Elsewhere; Others Stay

Many students have planned elaborate vacations for the summer months, while others intend to relax at home.

Ruth Gold will go to New York the last week in June, for an indefinite stay. Mary Jane Wallace is going to be quite the travelling girl this summer. She is planning to go to New York, Chicago, Wisconsin, and all points west.

Mary Ann Duemling will leave June 17 for Camp Minniwanka, way up on Lake Michigan. Lake Gage will be the scene of Kathryn Scholmer's vacation.

Barbara and Maurine Leas are spending the summer at their cottage on Crooked Lake, as is Don Knorr.

The two Druhots, Bob and Carolyn, vacation at Lake Wawasee, along with Chuck and Betty Helen Harrison, Joan Brubaker, and Bob Welty. Mary Conroy will be at Lake George part of the summer.

Wo-Ho-Ma Plans Picnic For Today

Meeting Will Be In Foster Park At 4:30 o'Clock; Club Will Hold Nomination Of Officers

Wo-Ho-Ma's meeting will be in the form of a picnic in Foster Park at 4:30 o'clock. Nominations of officers will be held. Each girl is to bring her own table service and sandwiches.

The nominating committee consists of Katharine Bultemier and Laura Nahrwald. The committee in charge of the picnic is Norma Russell (chairman), Aileen Betts, and June Daily. Girls are to meet in Room 38 after school to go down to the park in a group.

Junior Math Clubbers Produce Play, "If"

"If," a mathematical play, was presented to the members of the Junior Math Club Tuesday in Room 138. The members who took part in the play were Elinor Muntzinger, Bob Miller, Aileen Betts, Adeline Carts, and Arnold Kolbocker. Those in charge of the meeting were Joyce Bricker, Phyllis Bromer, and Dolores Moore. Plans were discussed for the program of next semester. Refreshments were served.

All Totem Pictures Go On Sale Today

Totem pictures will be on sale today in the Totem office. They may be purchased tomorrow and next week also.

By Unanimous Vote Kelleyville Decides Totem Is Best Yet

Exquisite! Super! Swell! As you can see it is the unanimous opinion of Archer students that the South Side Totem of 1941 is simply wonderful. However, some of the boys feel there should have been more sports. Here are the opinions of some of the students of Kelleyville.

Mary Lybrook: I think it is a wonderful book. I can't see how the kids next year can beat it.

Gene Reichert: It's okay, but it should have more sports.

Jim Woman: It's really swell.

Ruth Hageman: It's the best yet.

Gus Feistkorn: It's swell, but it needs more sports.

Eileen Betts: Swell!

Jim Brooks: It exceeds all other Totems. Orchids to Br. Bonsib.

Carol Whittier: I love it.

Miss Magley: It's exquisite!

Emalyn Remmel: I think it's super.

Wayne Bechtol: Frankly, I think it's the best yet.

Peg Harrod: I think it is the best we have ever had.

Club Arranges Annual Locker Event June 10

Inter-Club Congress Underclassmen Have Charge Of Clean-Up Next Tuesday

Tuesday morning, June 10, the annual locker clean-up will be held. Locker clean-up is under the auspices of the Inter-Club Congress, Mr. A. Verne Flint, Miss Emma Keifer, and Mr. C. A. Rex. Underclassmen Congress members have complete charge of the clean-up.

Representatives will wear identification tags, which they will secure from Miss Keifer. Congress members and their positions for clean-up are as follows: northwest hall, Elmer Kahl; northeast hall, Lucy Smith and Rosemary Zeigler; center hall, Jack McNeary and Norman Fortness; south-east hall, Tom Goodwin; south hall, Ellen Briggs and Jean Fisher; boys' Locker Room, John Gumpner and Keith Lakey; girls' Locker Room, Jean Kearns and Audrey Longsworth; west hall, upstairs, Tom Wilson; south hall, upstairs, and girls' Locker Room, east incline, Opal Springer; south hall, upstairs, Garnette Beatty and Helen Long.

Home room period will be lengthened. The order by which students will go to lockers is as follows: Students whose last names are from A to G, go from 8:20 to 8:27 o'clock; students' names from H to M from 8:29 to 8:35 o'clock; students' names from O to Z from 8:37 to 8:43 o'clock. Home room period will end at 8:45, and first period will begin at 8:50 o'clock.

Attendance will be checked in home rooms so there will be no loitering in the halls. Students are asked to put all waste paper in the receptacles which will be put around the building for their use. Seniors are asked to clean their lockers before leaving school.

Teachers Have Plans, Too

Rest, Travel Compose Vacation Schemes

Vacation will find many teachers visiting in places besides Fort Wayne. Among the cities and states to be visited are New York City, New England states, Texas, Indianapolis, and New Mexico. Some of our pedagogues will further their education and give us the benefit of the knowledge they will acquire during the summer months next fall. Others, like most of the students, will stay in town and rest and work. But here in the teachers own words are the answers to the question, "What will you do this summer?"

Miss Elizabeth Kelley: I am going to spend my summer traveling in the South and East.

Mr. E. S. Gould: My wife and I are going to visit my family in southern Michigan, and we are also going to northern Michigan. I plan to work in my rose garden, too.

Mr. Russell L. Furst: I guess I'll stay at home and do some kind of work.

Miss Mabel Fortney: I am going to sleep and rest.

Mr. Herman Makey: I will visit my wife in southern Indiana.

Mr. Ernest Walker: I plan to spend my vacation at home, gardening.

Mrs. Grace Welty: My vacation will probably be spent at home and at Booneville, Indiana with my mother.

Mr. W. Wilson: Oh, probably I'll spend it at home, that is, with the exception of the last part of June and the first part of July, which I shall spend at the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia.

Two Archer Artists Earn Scholarships

Margaret Brower And Dick Green Are Recipients Of Stipends By Art School

Margaret Brower, 12A, and Dick Green, 12A, were awarded full time tuition scholarships by the Fort Wayne Art School for the 1941-42 school year. Both scholarships amount to $150.

Margaret is taking art 7 and 8 from Miss Blanche Hutto this semester. She has been an art student in Room 61 for four years. She was awarded a Saturday morning scholarship for all of 1940-41 by the Fort Wayne Art School, where she has studied for two years. Margaret experiments in all fields of art, but her particular interests are life and figure drawing in charcoal, water colors, and oil.

She received two honorable mention awards at the National Scholastic Art Exhibition on water color landscape at South Bend this spring. Margaret also was awarded honorable mention in the American Legion Poppy Day Poster Contest.

Margaret is very capable and has contributed to every activity of the 1940-41 year in which the Art Department has helped. She designed and painted all the sets for the South Side operetta and the decorations for the GAA Spring Show. She helped with decorations for the Stamp Club dance, the National Honor Society banquet. At the beginning of this term, Margaret made a big mural for the Art Room.

She plans to be an art teacher, and from Fort Wayne Art School she will go to a teachers' college.

Dick is taking art 6, having studied art for three years in Miss Erma Docherman's classes. When he was a junior B in 1939 and when he was a senior B in 1940, Dick received Saturday morning scholarships to the Fort Wayne Art School. Dick is a very capable art student in many phases. His chief interests are in commercial illustration.

He has attracted attention in men's fashions and in water color composition. Dick applies his art skill in many craft projects. For several years he has developed a business, making and selling miniature furniture, wooden jewelry, and table decorations.

In South Side, Dick has helped clubs and individual teachers with programs, invitations, and decorations, giving many hours of his time. Miss Docherman said "I was very happy to recommend Dick to the Fort Wayne Art School and I think another talented boy has found his field. Because of his talent and love for the work, I predict success for Dick."

Both Margaret and Dick have also been given a year's subscription to the American Artist Magazine, as awards for the two most outstanding students in the Art Department.

Last Grade Period Finished Tomorrow

Last grading period for this semester will end tomorrow, and final grades will be issued June 11. These grades will be letter grades.

Seniors will receive their grades tomorrow.

Committee Of Safety Gives Thanks, Toast To Program Aids

The Safety Committee wishes to thank and propose a toast to the teachers, the home room safety committees, The Times, and the service club workers for their interest and co-operation in helping to put the safety program across this year. So when you leave these "portals" soon Here's to a summer that's full o' fun, From the first ray of dawn 'till the day is done.

Here's to you all in work or in play, Stop, look, and listen, recall the safe way.

Here's to the happiest fourth of July, With all of your fingers and both of your eyes.

Here's to swimming, but with a hunch, Be sure it is an hour after your lunch.

Here's to driving a racy new car, They also have graves wherever you are.

Here's to skating, cycling, and walking, Remember to look while laughing and talking.

Here's to safety, wherever you are, And thrills and fun though you travel far.

Recall "good advice" from this "house of learning." And to us in the fall, you'll be returning.

SAFETY COMMITTEE.

Robert Guion Pens Winning Safety Essay

Writes Best Essay In Junior Class; Themes Judged On Content, Not Composition

Robert Guion, junior A, wrote the winning essay in the safety contest in the junior class.

Lieutenant Custer Dunifon, safety commissioner, picked a winner from each section. Essays were judged on content rather than composition. The lieutenant especially liked those which were evidently products of family discussion.

The junior essay, written by Robert Guion, appears below.

What We Think Can Be Done To Make Three Ways Safer

The three big traffic factors are to a great extent represented separately by the members of my family. Our family discussion of the safety question, therefore, centered about these factors.

My mother, a typical pedestrian, presents her views first. She stresses that everyone should obey the rule to stop, look and listen. Then pedestrians should stop the practice of stepping into traffic at corners and jay-walking. In other words they should cross streets only at corners and stay on the sidewalk.

My father advises the motorists. Drivers should apply brakes slowly and in time, thus eliminating danger from unwise pedestrians and motorists ahead and cars behind. Second, precise hand signals should be made; and third, motorists should be prepared for any emergency.

Archers To Sway In Indian Paradise At Senior Dance

Make Dance Plans

Miss Dorothy Magley

Mr. Paul Sidell

Keith Lakey Voted Stamp Club Head

Other Officers Elected Include Alvin Haley, Rosemary Spore, Albert Kranz, Dick Lockhart

Keith Lakey was elected president of Stamp Club at their regular program meeting May 21, in the Greeley Room.

Other officers elected are Alvin Haley, vice-president; Rosemary Spore, secretary; Albert Kranz, treasurer; and Dick Lockhart, point recorder. The sergeant-at-arms will be elected, and the Inter-Club Congress representative will be appointed next semester.

Maxine Case extended an invitation to the club to have a pot-luck at her house, June 4. The members accepted the invitation and committees were appointed for this event.

The program committee for this meeting consisted of Keith Lakey, chairman, Robert Howey, Ray Kast, Alvin Haley, Wayne Graff, Dick Starnets, and Jim Steiner.

Camenean Group Honors Seniors

Services Are Held At McMillan Park Tuesday, May 29; Each Girl Is Awarded Gift Trophy

Senior members of Camenean Club were guests of honor at the last meeting for this semester held Tuesday, May 29, at McMillan Park. Each girl was presented a gift by the Misses Mary and Edith Crowe.

Every member received a gift in the treasure hunt, conducted at the picnic. A game of songs was played in which each girl had to match slips of paper of the same color and then sing the song indicated.

An installation of the new officers was held in which the old officers explained their duty and turned it over to the newly-elected ones.

The old officers were Wilma Lagemann, president; Reba Coppock, vice-president; Laura Nahrwald, secretary; Arlene Reincke, treasurer; and Louisa Haugk, Inter-Club Congress representative.

The new officers are Margaret Agler, president; Lois Bonebrake, vice-president; Jeanette Zahn, secretary; Marjorie Haller, treasurer; and Alice Klenke, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Books Sold, Returned, Tuesday And Wednesday

The buying of used books will take place Tuesday, June 10, in the main hall at the front entrance. The returning of rental books will be taken care of through the home rooms on June 10 and 11.

Senior Advisers, Mr. P. Sidell, Miss D. Magley, Ask Pupils To Sign For Work

Paul Dannecker Is To Furnish Music

Tickets Will Be $1, Couple; Home Room Teachers Are Invited To Attend Affair

June 10 will see South Side's gym transformed into an Indian Paradise when the senior class presents "Minnetonka Twilight" from 8:30 to 11:30. Paul Dannecker's orchestra will present jingling melodies for the dance, for which the admission is a dollar a couple.

Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, senior class advisers, have aided the class officers in planning this annual Senior Commencement Dance. Jim McClure, class president, is general chairman of the affair.

All who wish to help with decorating are urged to sign immediately in Miss Magley's room. Most of the work will be done this Saturday. Any senior is welcome to help and should be there promptly at 8 o'clock.

All senior home room teachers have been invited as guests. Other special guests are Mr. and Mrs. Snider, parents of the class officers, and the sophomore, junior and senior advisers of the graduating group.

Black, white, and flame will be the predominating colors for the dance. Programs will be given to all who attend the gala affair.

Marnee Dyer is in charge of decorations and Kathryn Beckman, Rosella Foutz, Charlene McAtee, Dolores Daniels, Lester Oppenlander, Dick Green, Don Parkinson, Ed Meyer, and Don Meyer are assisting her.

June Flaig will direct activities in the lounge with the help of Fred Cleary and Ralph and Richard Siebold.

Rudy Wuttke, Bill Siebold, Don and Ed Meyer are in charge of the ceiling decorations. Becky Abbett has invited the chaperones. Publicity is being handled by Marge Sheldon.

Marilyn Ream Is Meterite Prexy

Wanda Hover, Carolyn Druhot, Kathryn Scholmer Are Other Officers For Next Semester

Marilyn Ream has been elected president of Meterite Club for next semester. Wanda Hover was elected vice-president and Carolyn Druhot was elected secretary. The new treasurer is Kathryn Scholmer.

Other members who were nominated for president are Virginia Coil and Patty Rhodes. Those nominated for vice-president are Beverly Miller and Ruth Barnett. Alice Johnson and Charlene Colicho were the nominees for secretary. Janet Rea and Carolyn Fackler were nominated for treasurer. Glessna Oppenlander was chairman of the nominating committee.

Meterite Club is going to hold a picnic at Foster Park, June 10, at 5 o'clock. Awards for the 10A girls having 2120 points will be presented at the picnic. Members are to sign in Room 60.

Phyllis Bumke secured the permit to use the pavilion. Chairman of the food committee is Jean Fisher, and members of her committee are Glessna Oppenlander and Wanda Baney. Joyce Dicke is the chairman of the clean-up committee, and her committee is Charlene Colicho, Wanda Hover, Beverly Miller, Alice Johnson, and Margery Miller.

Doris Lantz Is Elected Prexy Of USA Group

Doris Lantz was elected president of USA Club for next semester at the meeting last Thursday in the Greeley Room. Others elected are Grace Rendleman, vice-president; Patty Hocker, secretary; Phyllis Crabill, treasurer; and Rosemary Bird, Inter-Club Congress representative. Other cabinet members will be appointed by the president.

Other candidates for officers were Martha Dirmeyer, Doris Pape, Carolyn Fackler, Jean Fackler, and Phyllis Buckmaster.

Ann Haller Is Elected Head Of Marionettes

At a recent meeting of the Marionette Club in Miss Hutto's Room 61 officers were elected. Ann Haller was re-elected president for next term; vice-president is Ray Fish; secretary, Sirleyn Smith, and treasurer, Bob Ziegler. Ann Haller presided over the meeting.

At the last meeting which was held May 29, it was announced there would be no more gatherings this term.

In Our Farewell We Wish For All Grads A Brilliant Welfare

Even to the most ignorant of all ignorant, there can be no doubt that Senior Day is hard upon us. Even if it weren't for the fact that Ivy Day, the senior play, and other graduate festivities have recently occurred in quick succession, the beaming happy faces that seniors are wearing about the halls would indicate that something was afoot. And to be sure, graduation day is less than a week away. In a few short days, a full fourth of the student body will leave, never to return as students again. So every year it behooves the underclassmen, freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, to make some fitting farewell gesture to the graduating seniors. Assuming the voice of these classes, it is our privilege to extend the fondest of farewells and the best of good wishes to those who are leaving.

We know that it has been a long four-year grind, seniors; but it has really been far too short. There have been good moments and bad; there have been successes and failures, but they are all over now. Let it never be said that a finer class than the class of '41 ever graduated from South Side High School. There have been senior classes and there will be senior classes, but few will ever equal and none will ever surpass this present one. All Archerdom realizes this, and it's with mingled rejoicing and regret that we're bidding you farewell.

The school won't seem the same next year without the same seniors in the drivers' seats of various organizations about school. South Side will have to grow a new crop of leaders to take the place of those who have left. Of course, we'll do it, but no sooner will they become experienced than they in turn shall be graduated. But we are secure in this notion—that the present graduating seniors are becoming leaders in greater things than those in high school life. They will be taking bigger, better, and more responsible positions in colleges and in business.

Farewell, seniors, and the best of luck in whatever you do!

Emancipations, Hibernations, Plus Dissipations—Vacations!

Oh! Pop Time has rolled back another twelve months, and another three months vacation stretches before us—three full months, no matter how short they may seem, of glorious summer, packed with fun and frolic AND good old fashioned hard work.

As a rule, boys and girls of high school age don't think it much of a problem to outline a profitable program for the summer months. There always seems to be many things to be done—swimming, boating, tennis, a little job here and there. In fact those three months seem but a drop in the bucket to the time that could be used for all those vacation pleasures thought up on a hot spring day in an English class. There just seem so tremendously many things to do; it would appear that never could there be an ill-spent moment.

But have you noticed how much time is wasted during vacation—time that instead of being profitable leisure, is wasteful loss. Not many stop to think of this—of the many summer projects that fall through because of lack of energy, vim, vigor, and vitality to put them over. What an enormous number of hours must be spent every summer by students who moan, "I haven't anything to do!" Of course, we aren't advocating that students adopt a rush-up program for the summer. The primary purpose of vacation is to rest young minds and bodies for the coming school year. But a slower tempo of doing things doesn't necessarily entail waste of time. Spending a peaceful afternoon fishing or on a long drive through the country isn't lost time. "Killing time" and loafing on street corners is pure out-and-out loss, physical and financial.

The ideal way to spend a vacation is to get a job, engage in hobbies, athletics, or go to one of our many lakes if possible. The best summer program is a mixture of work and play. This procedure brings far more enjoyment, and best prepares students for another nine months grind of absorbing an education.

Wonder just what we'll all feel like next year when we come back with titles of higher rank. You know—this year's freshman, next year's sophomores, etc.

Don't forget to get your locker refunds—or is that something which nobody forgets?

We hope you have enjoyed this year's Times and Totem as much as we have enjoyed putting them out for you.

The Summer Times

Summer Vacation
When school doth close, vacation doth begin;
And what I am going to do is not a sin.
No school books or studies will enter my brain;
No academic work with me will be seen.

Recreation will be uppermost in my work;
And from other hard things I will shrink.
Swimming and golf are swell indeed,
Although in either, I don't succeed.

I blister, it is true; but it is worthwhile,
For tans, I know, are always in style.
Who cares if one is blistered for a week?
For getting dark is really a treat.

Of course, I'll wear shorts, a great deal,
And then all over so cool I'll feel.
Some say they are immoral; I don't understand.
(Even though in them one resembles Sally Rand.)

I'll see all the movies here in town,
And write all the jokes so I may be a clown.
Seriously, I shall spend the vacation as I please
On most anything that doesn't require fees.

Events
The end of our year brings much to light—
Wasn't Ivy Day a beautiful sight?
Gloria Werkman was such a cute queen;
And, as orator, Bob Young did gleam.

The Senior Dance is also coming soon,
When all will dance under a full moon.
This is always remembered by all of the class
As an event enjoyed by all the mass.

Then there is Recognition Day, when gowns are worn;
And those long-wanted hats our heads now adorn.
Jeanie Weil looks so cute in hers;
But we'll be roasting, thinking we're in furs.

Soon graduation day will arrive for us,
And we hope it will come with no more fuss.
We are sad and happy at the same time,
And, what we'd like to say could never rhyme.

We'll miss South Side in our future years,
And memories will always shine through fears,
We hope you miss our class as we'll miss you
Now that at South Side our years are through.

Practical Applications of Feasible Facts

Have you ever struggled through hours of Latin, wondering why you were doing it? Have you decided that life is cruel because your course of studies demands that you take geometry? You probably understand the ways in which industrial arts class is a help to you, but you cannot comprehend why you must labor over two semesters of science or public speaking. In order that you may see the matter in a less prejudiced light, some of our teachers of these subjects here try to convince you just how practical these subjects really are.

Mr. Elma S. Gould: Botany is one of the most practical subjects taught in high school. It can be applied in a great many ways. For instance, agriculture is the foundational occupation of the human race, and botany is a requirement for scientific agriculture. There are also many valuable hobbies based on botany.

Mr. Francis Fay: Students of Latin find themselves more aware of the correct usage of English grammar. Their vocabulary is benefited greatly by a study of Latin, for so many of the words in our language have their origin in the Latin tongue. A university professor recently made a study of newly coined words and technical terms, finding that nearly all were derived from either Latin or Greek. He reached the conclusion that if this continues, English will be based almost entirely on Latin or Greek. The study of Latin also acquaints students with the civilizations of early Greece and Rome, which have had a great influence on our own culture and are still showing their effects.

Miss Dorothy Rieke: Public speaking overcomes nervousness. It gives self-confidence to the individual. It is an important factor in the future of the student; for no matter what kind of vocation he follows, he must always be able to meet the public, and speak before groups of people.

Miss Georgianna Hodgson: For some people mathematics will be their "bread and butter" of life. To those who will not use it in their vocations, it will help to appreciate other fields. Our whole modern world is based upon mathematics. Architecture, science, and commerce are three great occupations that depend on mathematics. Geometry should help one to appreciate the repetition of its figures in nature.

If You Judge This, You'll Court Trouble

Above is pictured a mock trial judge, John Virta, a defendant, Carolyn McNabb, and a lawyer, Mary Carlo. All are members of Mrs. Rieke's public speaking classes.

"Where were you Saturday night?"

"So help me, I don't know. My girl thinks I was out with a dizzy blond, my attorney insists I was at home in bed and some big guy who keeps popping questions at me has decided that I was walking around a graveyard with a headless body in one hand and a bodiless head in the other."

No, ladies and gentlemen, the character above is not a hatchet murderer; he is simply the innocent victim of one of Mrs. Rieke's super-duper mock trials, trials that transform some of our very best people into vicious criminals, hard district attorneys, slick shysters, stern-faced judges, capital punishers, deadpan hangmen, "thoid degreeers", thugs, mugs, or what have you!

But, of course, these mock trials have their good points, too. For instance, justice always triumphs over all—well, almost all. Then, too, it is a known fact that some of our city's well-known attorneys first made their appeal to the jury under Mrs. Rieke's supervision—namely, Steven Pierson, Warren Baker, Winfield Moses, James Savage, and Richard Teeple.

Whole classes are involved in these mass mockeries. There are, of course, the stern-faced judges who grimly voice the fate of the accused, the more cheerful bailiffs who swear 'em in, the student attorneys for the prosecution who make 'em tell the youthful attorneys for the defense, (the guys with the handkerchief appeal, who really jerk the tears) and the wise (?) juries whose job it is to toss somebody behind the bars. (They usually land there themselves.) The witnesses are divided so that there is an equal number of boys and girls on both sides.

Last Year's Loves

Let's turn back the pages of time to see who was going with whom a year ago in the Archer kingdom. First we will consider "the steadies" of yesteryear. These include such notable personalities as Jeanne Smith and Jim Straley; John Bonisib and Charlene McAtee; Rosa Lee Hall and Ed Turner; Betty Stump and Aubrey Kellogg; and Roy Heavner and Joyce Cleave.

A little girl who was the middle person of a well-known trio was Alice Hall. She was the lass who had Karl Eberly and Safford McMyler at her very beck and call. On the other hand there are those love birds who have survived the cold winter and are still interested in each other. Going into the second round are those year and a half steadies Pat Sanford and Jim Winter, with "Peeb" Kettler and Margaret Ann Fellows running a close second. Dorothy Cooper and Dick Green are another couple who should be recommended for their steadfastness.

Twoosomes who attended last year's dances included Bud Lampton and Nancy Cherry, Bud Brooks and Marilyn Barnhill, Naomi Koopman and Don Knorr, Mary Burt and Larry Phipps, Mary Ann Florence and Johnny Galbreath, May Scheele and Max Neff. Outstanding couples at the Senior Symphony in Silver were "Tuddy" Kixmiller and Sam Bacon, Joy Ellen Stahl and Bob Young, and Lorraine Lord and Dick Muckly.

Graduaches, Blank Diplomas, Are All Part Of Grads Game

By Bill Biffer

Ah, me! The good old-fashioned days for this lad! Pop tells me that, when he graduated from high school, (I didn't ask him when) his class didn't wear caps and gowns. That must have been the life—all they had to wear were their Sunday suits and white shirts. Do you wonder why I say this? Well, I'll unfold my tale of woe to you; I have a few minutes before the graduation ceremony begins.

First of all, my troubles began over the fit of my cap. Of course you must understand that caps and gowns must be rented by us seniors. Lots of people called me "swell head", but I never bothered me much till now. I always rather felt I was being kidded until I tried to put on a mortar board cap. I wear a seven and seven-eighths, and the largest hat in stock was a seven and a half. Have you ever tried to don a lid that was three-eighths too small for you? It's comparable (or at least so it seems) to putting a ring on one's thumb. My only hope is that there is no strong wind today, because I simply will not force that tourniquet down on my head. It will just have to set.

Another question about which I would deeply appreciate enlightenment is, "Which side do I let the cap tassel hang on?" I've heard that before the ceremony, a senior wears the tassel on one side of his head and afterwards on the other side. But which side is which? I believe my home room teacher told the class the other day; but, as usual, I was asleep. If you have any trouble identifying me in the graduation procession, just look for the guy whose tassel hangs on the opposite side from everyone else's.

One of the other minor difficulties wrapped up in the wearing of the traditional cap and gown is placing the hat "at the correct angle". Personally, I'd rather wear the thing straight away; somehow, it looks more honest and straightforward. But no—one must place it just so, as to produce a "most picturesque attitude." As I was saying, the good old days—Oh, oh, there's my signal; I must leave now. Thank goodness it will soon be over—for another four years!

Wo, Man! Do Not Let A Woman Fool You—It's Woe, Man

By Bill Bone

Attention! This is for males ONLY. For years men, especially those who attend high school, have been trying to figure out women. This column is for your benefit, males. It exposes the high school girls in their true colors. First of all, girls are divided into four distinct groups. Of course these can be subdivided into a number of others, but I will not go into the deep psychology of this at present writing. I shall merely attempt to hit the high spots.

The first type to consider is the "periculous", or dangerous type. She is easily spotted by her South Side wiggle. This type is usually seen holding a cigarette in one hand and a tube of lipstick in the other. Don't get involved with one of these! (And above all, don't ever drop your guard or you are a sure loss!)

The second type is the "timidus", or shy type. Don't let the members of this gens fool you. The timidity is all put on. Damsels who belong to this class put on a sympathy act which you must look out for or else be doomed before you know it.

The third type is the "lenis", or smooth type. Girls who play up to the boys and give the old "I think you're wonderful" act can be only classified in this group. This "baby" is the most skillful of all, for a girl classified in the "lenis" clan can get her man "hooked" before he knows it. (And then she usually leaves him cold.)

The last variety belongs to the passionate category which can be found almost any place. This is the two-for-a-nickel type which is very common about South Side. Of course, as I have said before, I have only skimmed over the subject; but, if there is anything else that you would like to know, stop in at the Times room and ask for R. J. Druhot. He can tell you anything about the women!

How Many Of You Will Really Deserve Best Citizen Award?

By Ima Average Senior

I do not deserve the Best Citizen Award; do you? Maybe you think you do; but, if you would just analyze your actions, I don't think you would either.

When I was a freshman, I really acted like a freshman. I didn't even try to be a good citizen. I would throw paper on the floor. When someone dropped a book on the floor, I didn't stop to pick it up; if it happened to be where I was going to step, I stepped, book or no book.

When I became a sophomore, I began to act a little better. I would tell someone that they dropped something, but I never exerted myself to pick it up. I had passed the stage of throwing paper on the floor, but on the other hand I never picked any up.

By the time I became a junior I had begun to learn quite a bit about being a good citizen. I became very courteous to everyone and even occasionally stopped to pick up something for someone. I had even started to run errands for the teachers. (Willingly, I mean.)

Now I have reached my senior year and for a while I was hoping I would get the Best Citizen Award. But when I thought over my school years and asked myself what I had done to be a good citizen, I found that I had done nothing of real importance.

There is a saying which runs like this: "You can tell a senior quite a bit, you can tell a junior something, you can tell a sophomore a little bit, but you can't tell a freshman anything." I think this is a very true saying, particularly in my case. Now think it over—do you deserve the Best Citizen Award? Or were you like me?

ZODIACHES

By M. Sheldon

GEMINI crickets! Our star of the zodiac may not be twins, (as Gemini is portrayed) but she has enough personality for two! "Marney" Dyer is well-known around South Side as a loyal friend and an active "go-getter."

CRAB (Cancer): She dislikes CRABBY people and adores those with sunny dispositions. Among her other likes are radishes and cheese toasts. Bette Davis and Laurence Olivier are 'way up among her favorite stars, and perky hair bows of all sizes and descriptions meet with her approval. (Jumpers don't!)

BALANCE (Libra): She leads a well-balanced extra-curricular life. Her most recent activity has been working on the frills and furbelows of the Senior Dance. Social Science, Philo, Marionette Club, Inter-Club Congress, Booster Club, Times, Totem, Quill and Scroll, and the National Honor Society also find their way into the Totem after "Spagoozie's" name.

ARCHER (Sagittarius): A true Archer, "Marney" has devoted a great deal of time making posters, decorations, and generally directing art work for almost every activity and organization in school. An outstanding senior of artistic ability, she has drawn many Times cartoons.

TAURUS: It's "no bull" that this attractive, vivacious little post-grad will be successful in whatever line she chooses. At present, Lincoln Life claims most of her time, but she intends to continue her education next year.

Read A Long Story; If You Can't Weed It, Then Cut It Out

By Rundell

Grass—a mess of weeds, dandelions, and clover, all of which mean a pain in the neck for the unfortunate person who has to mow it. It seems that the abominable stuff grows faster and higher each week. In order to cut the grass it is necessary to procure a lawn mower. This is possible by searching through the basement. You can usually find one tucked away in some secluded corner. After hauling it out and oiling it up, you drag it up the stairs and into the yard. After reaching this point, there are several ways to continue so read closely!

First of all there is the diagonal or sloppy mower. This person is a very rare "bird" and practically kills himself to make his lawn look neat. I wouldn't advise one to imitate him, however. The second mower belongs to the energetic type. Those belonging to this group of mowers go over the same spot a half a dozen times and even go to the trouble to trim around the trees afterwards. Stay away from these mowers; they are a bad influence on one's character. A third type of grass ghost is the lazy or resourceful type. Members of this group usually mow a row and then rest awhile. If they are lucky and wait long enough, someone will happen along who is willing to finish the yard for half the price the original mower is receiving. This is very profitable if one can work it.

S-undress And Start Now To 'Fashionate'

By reading the fashion columns in several different newspapers and magazines, one is able to draw pretty sound conclusions as to what are the newest styles for summer. Most of these columns tell us that seersucker will be the best for sports wear. Golf, tennis, hiking, or any other sport in which you exert yourself a great deal crave this material. Chambrays and seersuckers are also excellent for afternoon bridges or an afternoon at the lake. Chiffons are "bests" for dress parties or Sundays. Chiffon is a cool, fresh, hard-to-wrinkle material. Chiffon dresses will be seen this summer in polka-dots and stripes.

Brown and white spectator pumps walk right out in front in the shoe parade. Again their smartness in color and style (plus comfort) have made them the most popular summer dress shoe. As for bathing suits, we find that the majority of them are two-piece or even three-piece outfits. The three-piece bathing suits are made of a water-proof material which looks very much like chambray. The three pieces of these suits consist of flared skirts.

Family twin styles are the most popular of the styles we find. Mother and all of her daughters, regardless of age, wear the twin dresses, play clothes, and slacks. Sport shoes are even found in the mother-daughter styles. If you're worried about what to wear to that spring formal, just buy yourself a few yards of any material, gather it into a big, full, crisp dirndl, and wear a popular peasant blouse with it. If you are a girl who cares more for dressy clothes, make yours in a chiffon silk or jersey. If you like your clothes sporty, use chambrays, seersuckers, or any sporty material.

A Grapevine Story Like This Is Sour

By Gloria Goo

Now don't be in a hurry to go away because I want to tell you of my experience when I was Ivy Queen back in 1924. Hm-m, I see you don't believe me. You won't find a record of it either because for some reason it was scratched from the records. You'll simply have to take my word for it.

The whole election was a fluke 'cause I ran "The Gang" in those days, and what I said went! Came May and guess who was elected Ivy Queen? I don't think you can guess so I'll have to tell you that it was I. Of course I was thrilled to tears over the honor, and my attendants (part of the Gas House Gang) were equally happy over the deal, 'er—I mean honor.

Ivy Day came, and the very fitting weather was a violent rainstorm. No to be daunted by this, I kept the date. (It was then or never.) All the girls had made their own dresses and in the hurry had forgotten the shrinkage that could be—and the shrinkage was! We started out in ankle length dresses and ended up in tennis skirts which were a few years ahead of time. Never a dull moment from the moment we started out until the time we passed in through the bars—er—doors of school!

The only thing they hadn't told us concerned the planting of the vine. When the time came, there was nothing to plant. So on my suggestion we planted two-pony Lou, the terror of the pedagogues. Lou heroically dedicated himself to the cause, and his last words, now written on the pages of history, were, "There's ants in this plant." So passed a great man of South Side.

After such excitement, no one could study; and, since class wasn't dismissed for the day, we all journeyed to the Greasy Spoon (that hot spot on the corner of Darrow and Calhoun). Here we planned the activities for the next seven days. (Until the proprietor insisted that we buy something). This being Monday and payday being Tuesday, we left immediately. The next few hours were spent in writing excuses for our absence from school and trying to think of what to do while we took the probable forthcoming eighth periods!

GAA'ers Earn Skating, Hiking Bowling Points

Girls Receiving Awards For Activities During School Year Announced Below

Girls who have gone skating, hiking, and bowling this semester and will receive points toward letters were announced in the gym office. Recipients of skating points are as follows: Connie Abbot, Miriam Abbot, Faye Alexander, Phyllis Amstutz, Helen Anderson, Evelyn Arnold, Maxine Asmus, Laurel Bacon, Pearl Baldwin, Miriam Baumgartner, Marcella Bazzinet, Anna Lee Bearinger.

Garneata Beatz, Bernadine Bender, Doris Birt, Dolores Bodenhorn, Lois Bonebraker, Marilyn Brackman, Doris Brown, Lois Bremer, Joyce Bricker, Alice Briggs, Betty Brubaker, Betty Brown, Marilyn Bullerman, Phyllis Bunker, Barbara Burt, Marguerite Calkins.

Others are Helen Lamp, Jane Chenoweth, Mary Ellen Clark, Maxine Clark, Jean Clark, Ruby Clausen, Phyllis Crabb, Barbara Crist, Betty Cutter, Margaret Dale, Mary Dayton, Joyce Dent, Kathryn Dinkle, Martha Dirmeyer, Dolly Disler, Joan Dodge, Ruth Ann Dale, Marilyn Dömer, Mary Alice Dunten.

More include Hedwig Kuch, Patty Hocker, Catherine Horn, Joan Hattar, Pat Jackson, Phyllis Jackson, Betty Kammeier, Betty Kite, Marjorie Krusie, Betty Kyvick, Wilma Kellogg, Clara Long, Helen Long, Betty Littlefield.

Helen Marschand, Geneva Martin, Alice Martz, Irene Meyers, Eva Jean Meyers, Gertrude Merkel, Janet Michael, Mary Mock, Mary Morgan, Kathryn Nickal, Sally Ogden, Doris Ontario, Mary Parker, Doris Pape, Maxine Passe, Donna Peel, Marjorie Pyle, Betty Porter and Elaine Pumphrey.

Bernadine Pressler, Marjorie Pressler, Barbara Renz, Ida May Rhodes, Marjorie Rohys, Virginia Rose, Anna Marie Roth, Nelda Runge, Norma Russell, Betty Kyvick, Kathleen Sanders, Pat Schnurr, Pauline Schoenher.

Joan Schultz, Eileen Schulien, JoAnn Schwartz, Virginia Simmons, Alice Snyder, JoAnn Spore, Rosemary Spore, Jeanne Stolz, Martha Smith, Clarabelle Squires, Carolyn Stalvey, Margaret Stolz, Harriet Swager, Betty Thiele, Betty Valentine, and Maxine Voltz complete the list.

The following girls have received points for bowling: Lois Bonebrake, Pearl Baldwin, Laurel Bacon, Bernadine Bender, Joan Schwartz, Joan Spore, Phyllis Amstutz, Helen Anderson, Betty Baker, Dolores Baden-horn, Marilyn Brackman, Marilyn Bullerman, Lois Bremer, Kathryn Dinkle, Mary Alice Dunten, Pat Ehle, Alice Fisher, Janice Truth, Ruth Gerding, Gloria Hardendorf, and Peggy Harrod.

Lois Hirschman, Margaret Kruse, Pat Jackson, Clara Long, Helen Long, Betty Mann, Janet Michael, Sally Ogden, Doris Ontario, Donna Peel, Jo Sue Phillips, Julia Pried, Phyllis Rekenberger, Eileen Rienking, Dorothy Rison, Norma Russel, Kathleen Sanders, Joan Schultz, Jeanne Smith, Joan Squires, Rose Stemen, Margaret Stultz, Maxine Voltz, Betty Walden, Rosanna Weston, Dolores Windbremer, Marilyn Wolf, and Kathryn Zaezel are others.

Hiking points were given to the following girls: Phyllis Amstutz, Miriam Abbot, Connie Abbot, Maxine Asmus, Marcella Bazzinet, Pearl Baldwin, Laurel Bacon, Anna Lu Bearinger, Bernadine Bender, Jacqueline Back, Marilyn Brackman.

Lois Bonebrake, Joyce Bruker, Doris Brown, Marilyn Bullerman, Martha Cash, Jean Clark, Ruby Clausen, Phyllis Crabb, Mary Dayton, Jean DeComp, Joyce Dent, and Martha Dirmeyer.

Other girls include Joan Dodge, Alice Dalen, Marilyn Dömer, Ruth Ann Doll, Carolyn Fisher, Peggy Faux, Janice Truth, Alice Fisher, Ruth Gerding, Arlene Goudy, Phyllis Graue, Nancy Griffiths, Betty Hargan, Martha Harader, Pat Harnish, Jeanne Hatch, Ilo Hirschman, Patricia Hocker, Dorothy Jackson.

Phyllis Jackson, Thelma Keith, Betty Kite, Evelyn Knapp, Betty Mackay, Helen Marschand, Alice Martz, Donna Maugin, Sally Ogden, Doris Ontario, Maxine Passe, Donna Peel, Doris Pape, Bernadine Pressler, Marjorie Pressler, Judy Kaisia, Phyllis Rekenberger, Clara Long.

Here Are 341 Who Must Be Full

To The Last Brain Atom From Reading Latin, French, And German Collateral

Three hundred sixteen Latin students, ten French, and fifteen German students read and reported on one or more books this semester. Among the most popular Latin books read are "Quo Vadis," "The Forgotten Daughter," "The Unwilling Vestal," "With Caesar's Legions," and "Famous Men of Rome." The most popular German book is "Germany on $50." The most read French books are "Aimee Villard" and "Red Caps and Lilies."

Here is a list of the students who read books and the books that they read:

Collateral in French
Betty Harrison, Aimee Villard; Carol N. Overman, Genevieve; Lavener Michelfelder, Little Sister; Eleanor Christ, Aimee Villard; Ione Tracht, Mehtable.

Bette Anne Bohn, The Girl in White Armor; John Christoff, "Sept-dun Coup"; Carol N. Overman, The Red Prior's Legacy; Peggy Lou Needham, Red Caps and Lilies; Eleanor Christ, Red Caps and Lilies.

Collateral in German
Claude Davenport, The Dove in the Eagle's Nest; Paul C. Post, Otto of the Silver Hand; LaVerne Greiner, Germany on $50; Richard Dratt, The Black Forest; Sam Bacon, Waif Maid; Kathleen Stanton, Lure of Vienna; Walter Timme, The Black Forest.

Ray Schultz, Germany on $50; Kathleen Stanton, A Wayfarer in Bavaria; Dan Auer, Germany on $50; Theda Tyndall, Elsbeth; Sam Bacon, Otto of the Silver Hand; Ray Vonderau, Waif Maid; Al Verweire, Germany on $50; Victor Moellering, The Black Forest.

Collateral in Latin
John Olcott, Andivius Hedulio; Pat Flosenzier, Unwilling Vestal; Joyce Bricker, Buried Cities; Carolyn Fackler, Slave of Catiline; John Virts, Altar of the Legions; Mary Bowiby, Quo Vadis.

Dorothy Snavey, Quo Vadis; Janet Holtmeyer, The Vergilian Afe; Bob Zimmer, Standard Bearer; Alice Sweet, Buried Cities; Mary Carlo, Quo Vadis; Dick Bailhe, Slave of Catiline; Patsy Haruff, Myths of Greece and Rome.

Ellen Motz, Slave of Catiline; Janice Tremper, Standard Bearer; Margaret Meyer, Story of the Roman People; Gerry Mason, Buried Cities; Stanley Trier, Standard Bearer; Katherine Kuntz, Quo Vadis; Gerry Mason, Slave of Catiline.

Ivan Truman, Vergil and Mis Meaning to the World; Tom Henry, Standard Bearer; Richard Englebrecht, Standard Bearer; Barbara Leas, With Caesar's Legions; June Flaig, Vergilian Age; Ilene Fordyce, Forgotten Daughter; Kathryn Scholer, The Conqueror.

Jacqueline Bock, Perilous Seat; John Mast, Standard eBarer; June DeWood, Unwilling Vestal; Mary Dunbar, A Friend of Caesar; Patricia McMahon, Slave of Catiline; Bill Smith, Ancient Rome; Jane Schafer, Perilous Seat; Joyce Bricker, Freedom and for Gaul.

Donna Mougin, Forgotten Daughter; Margaret Roth, Slave of Catiline; Rosemary Bird, Standard Bearer; Jack Rollins, Aeneid for Boys and Girls; Nancy Griffiths, Unwilling Vestal; Laxon Witmer, Buried Cities.

Maritime Service Provides Training
Government Offers Seven Months' Course For Citizens 18 To 23 Years Of Age

United States Maritime Service is offering a special course of training with pay to fit young men for coast guard work.

To be eligible for enrollment in the Maritime Service, an applicant must be an American citizen between eighteen and twenty-three years of age and be without physical defects rendering him unsuited for life at sea.

When the applicant enrolls, he must present acceptable proof of citizenship in the form of authentic birth certificate, certificate of naturalization, or a notarized affidavit from two reputable citizens who know that he is an American citizen. Those applicants who are under twenty-one must have the written consent of their parent or guardian on the form furnished for this purpose.

Enrollment in the Maritime Service is for seven months as an apprenticed seaman at $21 a month, with the necessary transportation, clothing, and living accommodations provided by the government. Enrollees will not be in a military status, but a high standard of discipline will be maintained.

This course will include three months at a training station and three months aboard a training trip. Enrollees will be assigned according to their preferences and to their aptitudes as determined by instructors to training for one of three departments aboard ship—deck, engineer, or steward.

Past Year's GAA Work Summarized

Girl Athletes Participate In Tennis, Basketball, Baseball, Other Sports

Parties, Banquets, Shows Sponsored

Party Arranged For Student Leaders, On Halloween; Give Spring Show

GAA tennis, hockey, speedball, basketball, volleyball, tumbling, baseball, track, parties, and banquets have been the activities that most of the girls in GAA have participated in this year of school.

The following is a summary of all the GAA activities, committees, and officers. Officers for this year of GAA are president, Geneva Martin; vice-president, Frances Nash; treasurer, Martha Cash; Inter-Club Congress representative, Maxine Sterling; manager of sports, Jo Ann Spore.

On Tuesday, October 1, the GAA had its annual student leaders' party. Baseball, basketball, and volleyball were played. In GAA's single tennis match for all of the classes, Jeanne Smith won the senior match, Betty Thiele was runner-up; Betty Hargan won the junior match, Vera Moser was runner-up; the sophomore champion was Marian Faux, and Jo Ann Spore was runner-up; Gloria Cador-ette was the freshman single tennis champion, Betty Kyvik was runner-up.

Hockey tournament winner for the year were Betty Hargan's Junior 1's. Other hockey captains were Jo Ann Spore, Julia Kaser, Martha Cash, Marian Faux, Pat Ehle, Geneva Martin, and Frances Nash.

Speedball tournament winners were Phyllis Jackson's Team 1 and Martha Dirmeyer's Team 4. The other speedball captains were Doris Pape and Patty Hocker.

Marian Faux, sophomore, won the school's girls' tennis tournament. She defeated Jeanne Smith, the runner-up.

On Friday, October 18, the GAA gave a Halloween Fete. The committee was as follows: program chairman for the party, Frances Nash; chairman of the menu committee, Maxine Sterling; decorations, Betty Thiele; sale of tickets, Jo Ann Spore and Harriet Swager; and prizes, Martha Cash.

Bernadine Pressler's Senior 2's were the winners of the upperclassman basketball tournament. The other basketball teams were Martha Cash's Sophomore 1's, Alice Fisher's Sophomore 2's, Peggy Faux's Sophomore 3's, Ilo Hirschman's Sophomore 4's, Joan Dodge's Sophomore 5's, Kate Sander's Sophomore 6's, Rose Stemen's Junior 1's, Betty Hargan's Junior 2's, Carolyn Stalter's Junior 3's, Vera Moser's Junior 4's, and Geneva Martin's Senior 1's.

The freshman basketball champion team was Mary Dayton's Team 6. Barbara Burt, Marilyn Brackman, Jean Clark, Phyllis Crabill, and Maxine Asmus were the captains of the other freshman basketball teams.

On December 12, the Girls' Athletic Association brought James McClure, the former ping-pong champion of the world, to give a performance to the entire school. Because there were 500 students present, Mr. McClure gave the GAA a ping-pong table, a net set, two official paddles, and three balls.

In the upperclassman volleyball tournament, Jo Ann Spore's Sophomore 3's were first place winners. The captains for the remaining upperclassman volleyball teams were Betty Hargan, Delores Bodenhorn, Ilo Hirschman, Maxine Volz, Judy Kaser, and Geneva Martin.

Freshmen volleyball tournament team winners were Catherine Horn's Freshman 3's. The other captains were Doris Pape, Maxine Asmus, Virginia Griffiths, Mary Dayton, and Phyllis Jackson.

The captains for tumbling were Kate Sanders, Mary Morgan, Wanda Hoyer, Jean Clark, Phyllis Jackson, Bernadine Pressler, Maxine Volz, Helen Anderson, and Carolyn Stalter. On March 21, the GAA presented its annual Spring Show. This year the theme was "Pan Americana." All dance and gym classes participated in it.

The table tennis tournament was captured by Clarabelle Squires. Jo Ann Spore and Kate Sanders won the badminton doubles tournament. The runners-up for the badminton doubles were Jeanne Smith and Geneva Martin.

The tournament winners for the upperclassman baseball tournament were Geneva Martin's Senior 1's. The other baseball captains were Margaret Dale, Martha Cash, Alice Fisher, Julia Kaser, Betty MacKay, Rose Stemen, and Betty Hargan.

The freshman baseball winners were Alice Dolin's Freshman 3's and Nancy Griffith's Freshman 4's. Marilyn Domer, Anna Maria Roth, Maxine Clark, and Phyllis Jackson were the remaining captains.

On April 3, the GAA had another student leader party. The committee in charge was: Games, Judy Kaser; menu, Bernadine Pressler; clean-up, Barbara Burt; tickets, Jo Ann Spore.

Results of the GAA track meet are as follows: 50-yard dash—Lenora Moyer; broad jump—Betty MacKay;

Archer Coaches Responsible For Athletic Success

Wayne Gift

George Collyer

Burl Friddle

Stanley Post

Pictured above are the four coaches who have been responsible for the fine showing of the Archer athletic teams this year. Burl Friddle turned out another fine basketball squad and also tutored a good golf quartet. Wayne Gift made his debut into the Green grid camp by bringing a rebirth in football spirit to both our athletes and fans.

George Collyer, popular and efficient track mentor, gave South Side a record-breaking second place in the state track meet.

Stanley Post has again coached our tennis team to many victories. These are the four men who have been responsible for another fine sporting year at South Side. The Times salutes these coaches for their consistently fine efforts.

Each year the nineteenth hole (Mr. Briner's office) is becoming more crowded by greater participation in intramural activities and also because of the greater number of sports.

This year in both the fall and the spring there were golf contests. Also there were both single and double eliminations in handball. Ping pong was held for the first time.

Mr. Louis Briner has posted an unofficial list of the intramural activities to be held during the 1941-42 season.

They are as follows: All boys participating in ping-pong, handball, and horseshoe are given two points for playing and two points for each match won; tag football, volleyball and softball players receive ten points for participation and five points for being a member of a winning team; both wrestling and boxing participants will receive ten points potato race—Joan Dodge; high jump—Kathleen Neith; baseball throw—Kathleen Neith; pitching—Pauline Schoenherr, Barbara Burt, Alice Dolin, and JoAnn Spore; basketball free throw—Alice Dolin; baskets for time—Alice Dolin; base-running—Marjorie Pressler; balancing beam—Bernadine Pressler; volleyball serve—Geneva Martin.

On May 27, the GAA had its annual banquet. The theme was "Camp GAA". Committees were: Decorations, Ilo Hirschman; tickets, Joan Spore and Kate Sanders; clean-up, Clarabelle Squires, Marjorie Pressler, and Frances Nash; program making, Martha Cash and Lenora Moyer; and entertainment, Betty Baker.

Martha Cash Elected Prexy Of GAA Girls

Other Officers Include I. Hirschman, B. Baker, A. Fisher, P. Faux, B. Burt

Martha Cash was announced president of GAA at the annual banquet held in the Greeley Room Tuesday evening, May 29 by Miss Gretchen Smith, adviser of GAA.

Other officers are Ilo Hirschman, vice-president; Betty Baker, secretary; Alice Fisher, treasurer; Peggy Faux, Inter-Club Congress representative; Barbara Burt, manager of sports.

After the banquet had been served, Betty Baker led the group in songs. Dora Jackson sang "My Sister and I", and "Lazy River". Margie Williams and Charlotte Baker entertained with several tap dances, and Bernita Eggers played "Perfidia" on the piano.

The theme of the banquet was carried out in yellow and brown in the ideal of Camp GAA. Geneva Martin, president, presided over the banquet. Marilyn Miller, colonel of North Side, told of the activities of their GAA. Betty Mathews, colonel of Central, told of some of Central's GAA experiences. Frances Nash, vice-president, gave the prophecy of the seniors.

Miss Martha Pittinger presented a talk on how helpful GAA is to high school girls. General Alice Dean made up lyrics containing GAAers' names and sang it to the tune of "There is a Tavern in the Town".

Commander-in-Chief Miss Gretchen Smith then told of the outstanding members of GAA. At the end of her speech she announced the officers for next year.

Archer 1940-41 Sport Activities Have Been Successful

Exceptional Record Set By Squads

Coaching Of Mentors W. Gift, B. Friddle, G. Collyer, S. Post Bring Success

Sportsters Capture Numerous Honors

1940-41 Varsity Sports Include Football, Tennis, Golf, Basketball, Track

South Side's fine athletic teams enjoyed another banner year during the seasons of 1940 and 1941. Although none of the squads were able to return state championships to our school, all of the varsity outfits made commendable records.

The football team enjoyed a rebirth in spirit under the reins of popular and efficient Wayne Gift. Burl Friddle again gave us a basketball quintet of which we could be justifiably proud, and he also coached the Archer golf team which performed above par this year.

George Collyer did a fine job in training our track boys to the runner-up post in the state meet. Stanley Post was again responsible for a potent tennis team.

In reviewing the action in all varsity sports, football has the first call as it is naturally the first fall sport. For the past three years the spirit of the football team and the enthusiasm for football of the Archer students had been growing less and less, so in the early fall of 1940, South Side football was given shot in the arm with the introduction of Wayne Gift as head coach.

Wayne is an ex-Purdue grid star, and he replaced William Moss who accepted a job at Shortleiff College. The Gifted Purdue ace had worked with his green recruits for only a few weeks when South Siders began to realize that they had a swell coach and an equally efficient team.

The Giftmen had little trouble in opening their season with a 7-to-0 win over a weak Bluffton Tiger squad. Then the Woodward Polar Bears stalked onto the Green terrain, but the Toledo gridders were given a 16-to-0 drubbing. After these two openers at home, the locals traveled to Garrett where they flagged the host Railroaders to a 32-to-0 stop.

Then came the Irishmen of Central Catholic, who fell before the Archer punters by a 22-to-6 count. North Side's state champion Redskins won a real heart-breaker from Coach Gift and his boys by a 19-to-6 score. South Siders were treated to a real touchdown parade the next weekend as Elwood fell before the Green, 33 to 7. Central downed our boys, 25 to 7, in the final tilt of the season.

The eleven boys who saw the most action during the grid campaign were linemen Bill Siebold, Russell Dixon, Chuck Underwood, Byron Gingher, Bob Birkenbuel, Ralph Vetter, and Jim Worman; and backs Jim Straley, Chick Shimer, Bob Englehart, and Chuck Close.

After the helmets and pads were safely tucked away, king basketball took over the local sports throne. This was the first year since 1938 that the Archers did not win the sectional crown, but nevertheless, the Friddlemen were tough enough to give all of their foes a hard battle.

The cagemen dropped their twelve tilts to Bluffton, Crawfordsville, Auburn, Muncie Burris, Central Catholic, Huntington, Kokomo, Huntington, Froebel of Gary, North Side, and Central—two. The Kellies won from Kendallville, Horace Mann, Hartford City, Elwood, Connersville, Jeffersonville, New Albany, and North Side. In the opening evening of play in the local sectional, the Friddlemen lost a sensational scoring duel to the red hot Tigers of Central by a 54-to-45 tally.

Captain Bob Hines, Gus Feistkorn, and Chuck Close combined with juniors Dal Zuber, Tom Brower, and Chick Shimer to see most of the action on the Green hardwood last winter. Others who played important reserve roles in the Archer cage cause were Billy Knoll, Doyle Shirk, Harry Hines, Jim Strawbridge, Bob Babbitt, and Gene Reichert.

Coach Collyer and his tracksters took over when the nets were cut down, and soon track was in full swing. The Kelly thinlies made a very fine showing at both the Kokomo Relays and at the Gary Indoor Carnival in addition to their splendid dual meet performances.

The cinder pounders gained a second place to the North Side trackmen in both the sectional and state meets.

THIS WAS THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF OUR SCHOOL THAT THE LOCAL TRACK TEAM HAS COME SO NEAR TO THE TOP IN STATE COMPETITION.

Outstanding performers during the season were the ever-dependable Sebold twins in the hurdles and relays, Gus Feistkorn in the half-mile trot, Chuck Close in the shot-put, Dick Kilpatrick in the high jump, Rudy Wuttke in the broad jump, Jim Worman and Bill Bond in the 220, Chick Shimer and Art Parry in the 440, Dal Zuber in the pole vault, Tom Deal, Dwight Davis, and Don Yant in the mile.

At different times during the campaign Art Parry, Bill Bond, Rudy Wuttke, Chick Shimer, Doc Dannecker, Ralph Sebold, Richard Sebold, Jim Morrison, Gus Feistkorn, Jim Worman, and Bill Miller participated in the relay events.

Coaches Friddle and Post also did a fine job with their golf and tennis teams. The golfers finished tenth out of 53 teams entered in the state meet at Indianapolis. Members of the divot digging quartet were Bob Robinson, Tom Hall, Al Schaaf, and Bob Young. The tennis team has played several matches to date and has done a creditable job on each occasion. The boys still have matches to be fought with Central, Concordia, and North Side. Members of the tennis team are Ward Gilbert, Harold Werkman, Dick Schieferstein, Bob Dalman, John Hefelfinger, Paul Hensch, Ralph Vetter, and Dick Nahrwald.

Girls' Sportsettes

GAA's breakfast will be held Thursday, June 12 at Foster Park. Tickets are fifteen cents and the deadline on ticket sales will be June 10. If tickets are not purchased by that time, plans will be made for only those who have paid. So come on, girls, sign up on the bulletin board right away.

Some new nicknames that have been heard around are "Torchy" Burt, "Porky" Horn, "Stinky" Morgan, and "Tubby" Morgan.

Thanks goes to all the committees who have worked hard to make GAA's banquet a great success and for showing everybody who attended a swell time.

A few of our GAA members are quite lucky about having vacations. One of them is Sally Ogden. Last Thursday she left for Colorado where she will visit Denver and Pike's Peak. Isn't she lucky, girls?

College To Give Summer Courses

Skadron School Offers Senior Graduates Courses In Typing And Speedscript Shorthand

Many students are planning to take advantage of the three valuable summer months to help prepare themselves for college or earlier entrance into a profession in business or government service.

Graduates realize that these are no ordinary times and that each young person owes it to himself to prepare to serve his nation's needs as soon as possible.

That is why many 1941 graduates are interested in the summer school courses offered by the Skadron College in shorthand and typing. Graduates who plan to attend college this fall know that shorthand and typing will be of inestimable value to them in taking notes, typing themes and helping to pay their way through school. Those who plan to enter business know that good office and government positions are plentiful for those who have stenographic ability and are taking advantage of the summer months to secure a head start and qualify three months sooner.

Of special interest to these graduates is the fact that they can now study Speedscript shorthand at the Skadron College and acquire shorthand skill in a much shorter time than was formerly required for older, more cumbersome systems of shorthand. For instance, the theory of Speedcraft is learned in nine weeks and many students are able to write sixty to eighty words a minute at the end of that time. The Skadron College summer course lasts for eleven weeks and summer students can thus learn enough shorthand and typing in that time to be useful to them in their college work. Others plan to enter business can continue their training in the fall in either day or evening classes and qualify for employment in a shorter time.

Day school classes in Speedscript shorthand and typing start Monday, June 16. Classes in shorthand are held five days a week from 10 o'clock to 2 o'clock and typing classes meet each day from two to three p. m. This leaves mornings and late afternoons free for part time jobs or recreation. Evening typing classes start Wednesday, June 18 and classes will be held each Wednesday evening from 7 to 8:30 o'clock.

Instruction in shorthand is by Mr. J. H. Skadron, president of the Skadron College who was an official court reporter in Fort Wayne for eleven years. Mr. Skadron writes and teaches three methods of shorthand, Speedscript, Gregg and Stenotypy, and is the only person in Fort Wayne who holds an award for taking technical dictation at two hundred words a minute and transcribing perfectly.

Many high school graduates have already enrolled for this summer course and as enrollment is limited it would be advisable for others interested to lay plans now to acquire this valuable training.

Archer Radio Play Places In Contest

Mixer Council Party At YWCA To Be Broadcast Over One Hundred Stations In Nation

Radio program, Mixer Council Party at the YWCA, which was presented as a feature of the Fort Wayne School of the Air was judged one of the four best in a national contest sponsored by the American Youth Council.

A record was made of the program, which will be rebroadcast after May 30 on several networks over one hundred stations throughout the country.

The Fort Wayne Youth Council, of which Dr. Werner W. Duemling was then president, submitted the program as one of the successful youth projects of this city. The contest was held in the belief that American communities wish to learn about activities developed by young people themselves as a contribution to better community life. The program describes a typical dance held weekly at the YWCA for the benefit of boys and girls just out of high school. Members of the American Youth Commission include Mr. Owen D. Young, Mr. Henry L. Harriman, Mr. Clarence A. Dykstra, Mrs. Dorothy Canell Fisher, and Mr. John W. Studebaker.

Members of the South Side Radio Players who participated in the program were: speaking parts by Pat Sanford, Bob Safer, Marjorie Sheldon, Bob Young, Dick Gallmeyer, Becky Abbott, Bud Lammont, Bob Robinson, Emalyn Remmel, Jim McClure, and Jean Weil; orchestra music by Bernita Eggers, pianist; Gilbert Baumgartner, drummer; Hilda Schubert, cello; and violins by Betty Elbersson, Elaine Boerger, Faye Gumper and Betty Nichols; script by Marjorie Sheldon; and clerical work by Helen Savage. The program was directed by Miss Gretchen Smith, director of the Fort Wayne School of the Air.

So-Si-Y Club Honors Senior Girls Tuesday

Service Club Potluck Staged At Foster Park

Helen Savage was general chairman for the annual Service Club picnic held last Wednesday at 5 o'clock in the stone pavilion at Foster Park. Other members serving on committees were Bob Wylie, chairman of general arrangements; Hilda Schubert, food chairman; and Elaine Hirschy, publicity chairman.

Janet Holtmeyer, Eileen Horman, and Bettlu Stein assisted in arrangements; Mr. A. Verne Flint's service workers were in charge of issuing of invitations.

Besides the potluck menu, Coca-Cola and ice cream were served to all members present.

Baseball and horseshoe were among the games played before the potluck supper.

Philo Breakfast To Be On Saturday Morning

Philo's annual breakfast will be held at the farm home of Mary Lybrook's aunt, Mrs. Chan Ray, Saturday morning. The place for the breakfast may be found by taking Road 24 west to the gravel road marked Scottwood and then turn right for about one-fourth of a mile. Transportation will be furnished. All planning to attend should be at the west entrance of the school at 8:30 o'clock.

All girls who intend to go are asked to sign up in Room 68 by Thursday evening. Seniors attending are requested to pay twenty-five cents, and the other members who go should pay fifteen cents.

Archer Senior Pens Thrilling Mystery, "The Key"

The Key

Brring! went the last bell, and the students of Middletown High rushed out of their classes 2,000 strong. Down the hall came Dick Nelson, the heart throb of all the senior girls. Coming toward him was Sharon Ruddy, an attractive senior girl with beautiful black curly hair.

"Hello, Dick."

"Hi, Sherry. Let's go over to Joe's."

"All right," she replied.

They crossed the street and went into Joe's, where they found an empty booth, which was very unusual at this time of day, and sat down.

"Two hamburgers, Joe," yelled Dick to the proprietor, who was a friend of all the students. Then he turned to Sherry. "Still going to the sport dance with me tonight, Sherry?" he asked half jokingly.

"No, I don't think so," she answered laughingly.

"Good! I'll be after you about eight. Mr. Harris promised to let us four see his collection of awards tonight before the dance starts." Just then Joe came up with the order.

"Mmmm, they certainly are good," remarked Dick with his mouth half full.

"Who did you mean when you said that Mr. Harris promised to show us four his collection?" his companion asked.

"Georgie and Cissy. Georgie is taking us over in the Flying Dutchman."

"The last time I rode in that old relic," she said as she got up to leave, "it broke down and I walked home."

"I'll be after you at eight," he assured her; and they both went home.

That night at eight, Sherry was waiting on her front porch; and soon the familiar rattle of Georgie's car came nearer and nearer.

"Hi, Duchess," invited Dick. "Get in."

Off they went—four youngsters out for fun. As they approached the door of the principal's office, Georgie began to give Cissy some instructions.

"Now remember, Cissy," said Georgie, "whatever you do, don't giggle at everything Mr. Harris says tonight. He likes dignified people like me."

"O. K.," agreed Cissy with a giggle. Dick knocked at the door, and Mr. Harris showed them in. He led them over to his desk, where he had all sorts of medals arranged in cases.

"I have them all ready for you to examine," he said and began explaining the significance of each one.

"What's this one for?" asked Cissy full of curiosity.

"That is my Phi Beta Kappa key. I'm especially proud of it. Oh, the music is starting. I'm afraid we shall have to finish this after the dancing is over."

So they all went to gymnasium, where the couples had already begun dancing. After the dance was over, the five of them returned to the office.

"You were just getting ready to explain about your Phi Beta Kappa key," said Sharon. "I've heard so much about it."

"Oh, yes, I have too," added Cissy enthusiastically.

"Well, I was rather fortunate to get it," he said, searching for the topic of the present discussion. "Did one of you pick it up to examine it and then misplace it? It isn't here."

They all looked at each other in amazement.

"I didn't even get a chance to see it," said Sharon.

Then a search began for the missing key. "It might have fallen off the desk into the waste basket," Dick said hopefully as he examined the contents of the waste basket. Georgie stood by him looking on, for Georgie was the helpless kind. Mr. Harris checked each of his awards in the case, but the Phi Beta Kappa key was not there. Finally, Georgie laughed; and the others looked at him, wondering what was so funny.

"Well, young man," said Mr. Harris sternly, "what is it?"

"Do you make mud pies in your spare time?"

"Georgie Bowser, this is not time for joking," the principal said impatiently.

"Oh, yes, you do," persisted Georgie as he produced a crumpled paper filled with mud. "It hasn't rained here for two weeks; so how did this mud get in the waste basket?"

"Wait a minute," said Dick, examining the paper. "The mud on this paper looks as if it had been scraped off someone's shoes. When did the janitor last empty this basket, Mr. Harris?"

"Why, only this afternoon. I'm going out to get Officer O'Brien," said the principal. "He'll get to the bottom of this." And Mr. Harris hurried out of the office door.

"Isn't this exciting?" asked Cissy. "We've got a mystery every bit as good as the ones in the movies. Why, I'll bet the thief got in through a secret panel in the wall or something!"

"Oh, you and your crazy ideas!" said Georgie reproachfully.

But Sherry did not think her ideas too fantastic, and she walked over to the wall by the fireplace and began to tap the walls. When she stooped down to test the floors, she noticed a little spot of gray powder on the floor in front of the fireplace. She ran some through her fingers and discovered it to be grainy.

Dick ran some through his fingers, examined it closely, and finally said, "It's granite grains."

"Now, what is made out of granite around here?" Cissy asked herself, trying to be helpful. "Oh, the fireplace, of course," she giggled.

"Look, Sherry, here is a place between these two blocks that is rough. Run your finger over it."

"Looks as if something had been scraped over it recently, doesn't it?" she remarked.

"Maybe this stone can be moved or something," said Cissy brightly, her imagination running away with her.

"There is a chance you might be right," said Dick, tugging at the block. Suddenly it moved slightly.

"Dick, look!" exclaimed Cissy, her eyes getting bigger every minute.

"Gee, she was right," said Georgie. "It did move!"

Dick pulled the block with all his strength until it had moved enough to enable him to crawl into the hole to see what was back of it. As he stuck his head into the hole, the others heard him exclaim, "Holy smoke, there's a little passage way just about four feet down. He drew in his head and asked the others if they wanted to explore it.

"Well, of course we do," said Sherry impatiently.

Dick went down first, Sherry and Cissy following. Poor Georgie was a bit too plump to get through the space with ease and he got stuck.

"Put your arms straight out in front of you, and I'll pull on your legs," ordered Dick.

Finally, all of Georgie came through the hole.

"Dick, do you have a flashlight?" asked Sherry. "It's terribly dark down here."

"I have," offered Georgie. "I always carry it around. I never know when the Flying Dutchman is going to break down."

Dick flashed the light on the floor; and, when he did, saw some footprints.

"What's wrong, Honey?" asked Cissy. "You're shaking like a leaf."

"Look!" pointed Sherry. "Footprints!"

"Jeepers!" exclaimed Georgie. "Whoever was upstairs must be down here."

"Oh gosh, Georgie," stammered Cissy, "I'm scared," offered Georgie, who was already hanging on to Sherry's coat belt.

Hanging on to one another, the little party ventured through the narrow, low-ceilinged passage, following the footprints. The single-line procession moved slowly and silently.

"O—Oh," said Dick as his light showed a door not far ahead.

"What's wrong?" asked Sherry quickly, for the passage was so small that the rest of the crowd could hardly see past Dick's head. The procession stopped dead in its tracks.

"There's a door up there a little farther," said Dick. "Do you want to go on?"

"Let's go home," suggested Cissy, hoping that the rest would agree.

"What time is it, Cissy?" asked Dick from the front of the line.

"How do I know when it's so dark down here that I can't even see my arm?"

"Each of you hold out your right arm and pass the light back to her," directed Dick.

The light was relayed back to Cissy, who reported that it was exactly two minutes until twelve.

"Midnight!" exclaimed Georgie with a gasp, "and here we are fifteen miles from nowhere."

"Let's go on," urged Sherry. "My back is nearly breaking from bending over. Maybe it will be higher back of that door."

So the light went from the end of the line back to Dick, who flashed it on the door. When he pushed the door open, a rat darted out, running in and out between their legs. The procession stood petrified. The girls screamed as loudly as they could when they felt it touch them as it went by. Even the boys admitted that they felt a little scared.

"I want to go home," wailed Cissy from the rear.

At the mention of home, Sherry asked doubtfully, "Dick, do you know your way back?"

"All we have to do is to turn around in place and let Cissy lead. The corridor is too narrow to change places."

"Who, me?" she asked, not yet fully recovered from her fright. "Oh, no. We'll go on, but I won't go back and have to lead the way."

"All right then," replied Dick, "we'll go on."

Sherry heaved a sigh and prepared herself for the worst. On through the tunnel they went for about forty feet.

"Dick," called Georgie, "all the time we've been exploring this tunnel, we've forgotten about the man that stole Mr. Harris' key."

"Oh, my goodness," trampled Sherry with renewed fright, "Maybe he's up ahead there ready to jump on us."

For once in her life, Cissy was too scared to say anything or even to giggle. Georgie went on, not saying anything; but all of them could hear his teeth chattering. Dick was frightened too, but he put on a brave front. Someone had to keep up the morale of the party, he thought.

"Stop, everybody!" cautioned Dick. "I think we've come to the end of the trail," said Dick. "I hear music ahead."

With the joy of getting out of the tunnel, Cissy found her tongue and her imagination.

"Oh, I think this is the basement of our criminal's hideout. He's probably playing music so he won't think of all his cr— Georgie!" she screamed. "He's got me!"

"Well, if it isn't a girl now!" exclaimed a voice behind her.

"Officer O'Brien!" gasped Cissy. "Are those youngsters all right?" asked the principal.

"I'm certainly glad to see you," replied Dick. "There is a hole up here; so I'm going to climb up. The rest of you follow me."

As they all climbed up through the opening, they found themselves in a basement.

"Where's that music coming from?" asked the officer.

"It sounds like the nickelodeon at Joe's," said Dick, "but of course that can't be."

"Be quiet now, folks," said the officer as the party went up four steps to a door from the basement.

He opened the door, and they found themselves in the kitchen of Joe's Hamburger Shoppe. Sherry looked at Joe's feet, and there was mud on his shoes.

"Oh, Joe, I never thought you would do anything like that," she said.

Joe glanced nervously at Officer

O'Brien. Then the policeman went up to Joe and laid his hand on his shoulder.

"Come on now, Joe," he suggested, "Tell us why you took that gadget."

"Sir," said Joe indignantly, "that gadget happens to be a Phi Beta Kappa key—something which means more to me than a great amount of money."

He said the last rather hesitantly because he knew that he had given himself entirely away. The two boys and the girls looked stunned. They could not imagine anyone as likeable as Joe stealing anything.

Joe sat down at a table and buried his head in his hands. Then he started to tell his story.

"When Harris and I were in college, for two years, we two were always struggling for top honors in practically every field of contest. His parents paid his way through college, but I worked my way through, that is, until my health broke. I had gone just two years when that happened; and, since I couldn't work, I had to quit. Well, Harris went on, finished with top honors, and got this key."

As he said this, he drew the key from an inner pocket and laid it on the table.

"I always did feel that, if I had only had the chance, I could boast of owning one, too. Well, after school this afternoon, I overheard Dick tell Sherry that Harris was going to show them his collection before the dance; and so I decided to come in later to see it. I didn't want to arouse any suspicions; so I decided to use the tunnel from my place to the school."

"How did you ever discover that awful place?" interrupted Dick.

"Well, son, one night when I was cleaning out my basement, I noticed that several boards in the floor were rotting away. I decided to repair the damage myself."

"When I tore up the old boards, I saw a drop of about four feet. I went down to see what was there, and I found that it was a tunnel. I followed it until it stopped."

"I used my imagination and started feeling about for a button or something else with which to open a door. While I was pushing, I moved a stone. I kept pushing it until I finally got through; I found myself in Harris' office. I put the stone back in place, went back to my shop, and never told anyone about my discovery."

"I went to the library to read about this section of the country. One book said that there were many tunnels in this location where slaves were taken from one place to another and shipped down the river during the Civil War. I also found out that, approximately where my shop is now, there was a general store; and, approximately where the school is now, was an old warehouse. So I came to the conclusion that slaves would go to this store, where they could escape through this tunnel to the river."

By this time, the company had become so interested in his story about the tunnel that they almost forgot why he was telling it. Then Officer O'Brien reminded him to go on and tell why he took this special key. There was a silence, and then he continued.

"Well, I went through the tunnel and got into his office. I saw all his medals in a case on the top of his desk. All I intended to do was to pick up the key and look at it; but, when I did that, I got that wild desire to keep it—that it belonged to me. I put it in my pocket and started for the hole in the fireplace. I saw that the mud on my shoes had made some tracks on the floor; so I cleaned off my shoes and threw the paper that I did it with into the basket. Then I came back to the shop. I intended to return it after the rush was over after the dance tonight, but I guess you discovered me before I had the chance."

The girls were on the verge of crying, and the boys looked very dejected to think that Joe had done this.

"O'Brien," said the principal, "I don't want to press charges against Joe. He didn't really steal anything."

"Well, good for you, Harris!" the officer said smiling. "I don't know what I would do without Joe to fix up my midnight lunches."

"Do you mean that I can still have my shop and won't have to go to jail?" asked Joe with tears streaming down his face.

The two girls rushed over to him and gave him a handkerchief.

"What can I ever do to thank you?" asked Joe gratefully.

"You can fix me up with one of your special hamburgers," said the officer. "I'm hungry."

"Same here," chorused the others.

"Six hamburgers on the house comin' up," called Joe as he donned his big white apron.—Helen Savage.

My First Day At High School

Great was my bewilderment my first day at South Side High. First, I knew I must go to the gymnasium, get my card, and hide it, for mine is a yellow card. Then to my home room! Wondering at first whether to go up or down, I decided to stand still and go where I was pushed. I went down. Oh excuse—well, of all the silly places to leave a pair of shoes, right in the hall in front of the elevator where everyone can trip over them! There is room one now, all I have to do is follow the numbers around to room ninety-two. I want to know what that bell was? Anyway I can get there quicker now because the halls are clearing. Sixty, seventy, eighty, ninety, ninety-two! There's another bell. I wonder what they are for? I think I'll ask that girl. Go to next class? Where? How? I certainly was a bewildered girl after my first day at high school.

Just A Dreamer's Cottage

The tall peaks of the mountains rested their snow-capped heads against the clear sky. At the bottom of this beautiful peak laid a small white cottage which was hidden in a thicket of tall trees. A twining ivy covered the archway, and smiling red roses twisted themselves freely around the slats of the white picketed fence. A creeping creeper wiggled its carefree way along while branching trees above hooked arms to provide a roof for its small dancing waves. The robins and bluejays sang cheerfully in their swaying branches and below the spring grasses formed a velvety carpet for their small webbed feet. Somewhere in a small hidden valley lies this dreamer's little white cottage.

—Ann Welborn

Our Mind

The human mind is very queer in that it is seldom pleased with the way things are now taking place. When the winter is cold and the wind blows strong and fierce, we wish for the wonderful warmth of the long summer days; but when the hot August days come at last, we wish again for the cold crispness in the air and the pep that it brings. The rich person becomes so tired of having everything he wants that he sometimes wishes he had to work for his bread and butter. Worrying about how he is going to meet all his expenses, the poor man wishes for the riches of the wealthy. It does not have to be such a big thing. Maybe it is only a woman wishing for a new dress or hat; but regardless of what it is, we are usually wishing for something that is the opposite of what we have.

An Unforgettable Dinner

There was never such a dinner as the one I had last Christmas Day. When the chicken was brought in on a long oblong platter, I could hardly restrain myself from plunging a finger into it. It was still moist and sizzling, and the rich, savory odor issuing from it made my mouth water. The outside was a dark, luxurious brown, and the lean meat fell from the bone at my touch. Although there was another food just as delicious, still my attention centered itself upon the chicken, but that was not all. There were some light, fluffy potatoes, swimming around in thick, brown gravy. In addition to this, I had some dark, wine-red cranberry sauce, and rich, creamy corn. The dessert was the climax to this perfect meal. This was juicy red cherry pie with smooth white vanilla ice cream to top it off. Yes, that was a meal, indeed, fit for the gods.

—Bill Smith

Our School Spirit

South Side needs more school spirit. At every game it seems as though bad sportsmanship is shown. The students allow themselves to boo at the referee's decisions, and also to boo when the other team is trying to make a foul shot. I think this is unnecessary and should be eliminated. Also part of the cheering section here at South Side does not even cooperate with the cheer leaders. Those boys are trying to lead our yells properly so they give our players more pep and make their spirit higher. Another bad point is the way the students leave the game when we are losing. This shows the other schools that we have not a very good spirit. At the end of the game everybody should stand and sing our school song, showing the players we appreciated their fine work, whether they have won or lost. If all these points are improved, and our spirit becomes much higher, I'm sure we will have better luck in winning games.

Airplanes For National Defense

Among the airplanes in the United States Army Air Corps are many interesting types. In the pursuit group there is one plane that is outstanding. It is the Republic YP-43, a low wing, all-metal monoplane with retractable landing gear. This plane is made to operate at high altitudes seldom reached by ordinary planes. The interceptor is a light, multi-gunned fighter that must be able to out-maneuver a modern bomber. Probably the most well known interceptor in our air force is the Bell P-39 or Airacobra. This unusual plane mounts a 1,000 horse-power Allison engine behind the pilot's seat, thus enabling the builders to mount a 37mm air cannon in the hollow nose. Also four machine-guns fire through the propeller arc. This type of plane is built for combat work against such planes as the North American B-25 Medium Bomber. It is an all-metal, mid-wing monoplane carrying its bomb load inside the fuselage. An interesting feature of this plane is its tail turret, familiar in many European planes. Who knows, someday these planes may defend America against an invading force.

First Impressions Of South Side

Stark bewilderment filled my eyes when I first caught a glimpse of the interior of South Side High School. The countless maze of rooms, inclines, and stairways nearly frightened me. The endless chain of traffic through the halls reminded me of a busy street on Saturday afternoon, or a county fair. The stomping of feet and the never-ending voices filled my ears, so that I couldn't tell whether I was coming or going. I was pushed around so that I felt as if I were an aspen leaf in a soft September breeze. Yes, yes! It seems as if it is going to be a very difficult job getting used to South Side!

Annual Period Of Recognition Will Be Friday

Outstanding Students During Semester To Be Honored; Rules Are Given

South Side's annual Recognition Day will be Friday afternoon at 1:10 o'clock in the gymnasium. Students who are outstanding in the various fields of work will be recognized.

Recognition will be given in scholarship, four-year honor roll, perfect attendance, best citizenship, National Honor Society, English, library, mathematics, Social Science, science, Latin, French, German, industrial arts, commercial department, art, journalism, athletics, Rifle Club, music, and public speaking.

Students who are called for recognition are to come to the floor immediately by any entrance except the west. After being recognized the pupil is to go to the west side where he will receive a white ribbon, then to one of the tables on the west side of the floor to sign his name in the large green book. The person should then take a seat on the floor.

If a student has received one ribbon and signed his name once, if recognized a second time, stands at his seat until all the names on the list are read.

Students who are regularly excused at the end of the sixth period should have a slip from his home room teacher. If he wishes to leave at the end of the short sixth period, he must present the slip to the teachers stationed at the outside doors.

Teachers who will be at the doors are Mr. Clyde Peirce, Mr. Ward Gilbert, Miss Gretchen Smith, Mr. Lloyd Whelan, Mr. Maurice Cook, Miss Lucy Osborne, Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. C. A. Bex, Mr. Estal Smuts, and Mr. Herman Makey.

Public Speaking

During my four years at South Side High School, I have found that one of the most interesting and valuable subjects that I have taken is public speaking. This art can be used to entertain, inform, and persuade. It would not be easy for everyone to become a polished orator, but any person with average intelligence can become a good public speaker. In our day and age it is important to know how to express one's own thoughts and opinions in a clear effective manner.

In order to become a good public speaker there are several fundamentals to be studied. The first is the understanding of people in general. The speaker must understand the audience before they can comprehend him. The second fundamental is the knowledge of books. By reading extensively one is furnished with facts, ideas, and all that is needed to illustrate a subject. The third fundamental is a ready choice of words. When giving a speech, one should use several new words. This practice enlarges the vocabulary, and thus helps one to speak freely without groping for words.

Choosing a subject is very important. The one selected must interest the speaker as well as the audience, or the speech cannot be very effective. It is a good plan to find out beforehand the main interests of the group so that the speech can be linked with it. This can be effectively accomplished in the introduction of the speech. By comparing their interests with the topic, the attention of the audience is caught. Many speakers begin their speeches by complimenting those present, by telling a story, or with a quotation. The beginning or introduction is very important because it either makes the audience eager to listen or decreases their interest.

The body of the speech should consist of a gradual development of the proposition set forth in the introduction. Again it is wise to compare topics which are familiar to the audience with your subject. In order to deliver the message so that it will be remembered one does not have to use a great many big words or flowery language, but the simpler way in which it is told the easier it will be for the audience to remember.

The conclusion of a speech should be just as well planned as the introduction or the body. If the speech has a poor ending, the tendency of the audience is to forget the part preceding. In the conclusion one should sum up all the chief arguments in the body of the speech, because the condensed form will refresh the minds of the audience on the main points stressed.

Impromptu speeches provide valuable training. In later life one may be suddenly called upon to say a few words in public, propose a toast, make an after dinner speech, or take part in a discussion. In these cases it is necessary to win the attention of the audience on the spur of the moment. This would be an easy task for those familiar with this type of speech making.

Speaking from notes is a common practice. This gives the speaker a ready guide of his arguments. If notes are used, they should be written clearly on cards. This prevents the speaker from being taken from his audience for too long a time. Notes written on a sheet of paper are a menace. If the speaker is a slight bit nervous, he will rattle the paper and detract the attention of the audience from his speech.

Gestures are necessary to help emphasize certain words. A movement of the hand or a facial expression will create more interest in the speech itself. Every gesture made should mean something definite. Superfluous ges-

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

The students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 7 class are individually choosing a fable from "La Fontaine" to memorize.

Ann Welborn, Mary Ellen Clark, Marjorie Peterson, and Betty Funk made A— on a test given by Miss Pocock on a group of twentieth century poems.

On a test over leaves in Mr. Yoder's Biology 1, period 1 class, Eric Baade made the highest score. Other high grades were made by Quentin Rupp, James Mincer, Dorothy Meyer, and Helen Holmes.

The five who made the highest score on the safety test given in Miss Mary Crowe's home room are Betty Hall, Paula Hartman, Marjorie Hannon, Martha Harader, and Bill Brutton.

Joan Cartwright, Jean Cyr, George Hahn, Jean Fisher, Peggy Lou Needham, and Richard Schemehorn made high grades on recent tests given by Miss Perkins to her French 3, period 1 class.

The officers elected at mid-semester in Miss Edith Crowe's home room are chairman, Bary Brown; assistant chairman, Joyce Beverforden, secretary, Doris Joyce; safety chairman, Jim Bolyard; and chairman of scholarship committee, Marilyn Borkenstein.

On a test over a group of early twentieth century poems in Miss Pocock's English 2 class, Carolyn Fackler made A+, and Jacqueline Bock, Richard Englebrecht, Kenneth Lauer, Lois Lenz, Gerry Mason, Sally Mueller, Helen Welbaum, Phyllis Jackson, John Mast, and Tom Rehner made A—.

Mr. McClure's U. S. History 2 class is now studying the peace negotiations, including the conferences and the war debt.

Wayne Paschal has recently entered Mr. Smuts' period 1 woodturning class.

Those students in Mr. Furst's Bookkeeping 2, period 4 class, who made a grade of 90 or above are Bonnie Heller, Betty Kite, Ed Skale, Mary Morningstar, Elsie Korte, Herman Turner, Joan Didier, Myla Sanders, Marcella

tures take away the attention of the audience from what one says. One should pay special attention to one's own gestures or those of others in conversation, and then adopt them to speeches. This makes gesturing more natural and leads to more variety.

Pauses are important and should be planned as carefully as the arrangement of words. A pause now and then gives the audience time to grasp the important ideas, and helps them follow the speaker's line of thought. When giving a speech, one must emphasize certain words. This may be done by many different ways. A marked change from the normal rate of speaking to a slower rate is one of the most effective. A fault of many speakers is that they talk in a monotone. The pitch of the voice should be changed once in awhile to keep the audience interested.

In order to have a successful speech there are several points to be taken under consideration. A speech should be planned well enough so that it isn't impromptu. In impromptu speeches one just takes up time without saying much of anything. Also when speaking one should not try to exhaust a topic. In this case the audience is usually exhausted before the speech is completed.

Last Tuesday Mr. Null took charge of our public speaking class. He said that the trouble with high school speakers in Fort Wayne is that they do not use their own ideas. He claims that the students use ideas from books they read instead of their own thoughts.

Schwartz, and Donald Yant.

The students of Miss Perkins' French 4, period 7 class, and those of her French 2, period 6 class have had comprehensive tests over the year's work. The student making the highest grade in each of the classes will be awarded a dictionary by the French Club.

Recently, Mr. Furst gave his Bookkeeping 2, period 3 class a bookkeeping test. Those students with a grade of 90 or above are Eileen Reinking, Marjorie Pressler, Jo Ann Spore, Ellen Wehr, Eleanor Christ, and Beverly Sprunger. Marjorie Ann Meyer made the only grade of 100.

Mr. McClure's government class is studying the work of the League of Nations and its membership.

Harvey Cocks, an English 4 student of Miss Pocock, made the highest grade on a test over "Ivanhoe".

On a recent bookkeeping test given by Mr. Furst to his Bookkeeping 2, period 7 class, the students who made a grade of 90 or above are Lucille Zion, Ernie Dent, Bonnie Junk, Miriam Baumgartner, Pat Davison, Gretchen Greenier, Betty Speckman, Thomas Wilson, Evelyn Henderson, Dan Rhodes, Dolores Majorki, Alice Martz, Virginia Sapp, Evelyn Arnold, and Harriet Swager.

Sally Muller and Helen Welbaum made an A and Carolyn Fackler made A— on an infinitive test given by Miss Pocock.

Mr. McClure's general history class is on the study of the Balkan countries.

On recent review tests by Miss Perkins to the students of her French 1, period 3 class, the following made high grades: Alida Eidner, Ann Haller, Patricia Underhill, Bob Welty, and Mary Louise Wilson.

The English 7 class of Miss Pocock is studying biographies of modern poets.

Mr. Bex's drawing 3 classes are drawing gear and gear teeth.

In a recent test given in Mr. Park's junior business classes, the following students had outstanding grades: Sam Gross, Beryl

An Anti-Noise Ordinance Should Be Passed In Fort Wayne

At the present time, motorists can blow their horns as loud and as long as they want to in most sections of Fort Wayne. This is a definite drawback in the progress of any city. There is no ordinance preventing unnecessary noise in Fort Wayne. In Indianapolis, an anti-noise law was recently passed. To prove that cars could travel in the city traffic without blowing their horns, a squad car traveled 2,100 miles without blowing its horn once. It is hard for the average motorist to drive without honking once in a while at a small unnecessary act of a pedestrian. If a law were passed prohibiting such noises, fewer people would be injured by rushing frantically when a horn is blown near them.

Other unnecessary noises such as horses shoes, delivery wagon bells, and loud city whistles can all be controlled if an anti-noise law were passed.—Pat Dietrich.

Torch Gives New Extemp Recognitions

Tom Wilson, Club President, Will Make Presentation Speech Tomorrow In Gym

To recognize and reward the best extemporaneous speaker each semester, Torch Club will present a permanent trophy to the school, Mr. Ernest Walker, club adviser, announced. The presentation speech will be made tomorrow during Recognition Day in the school gymnasium by Tom Wilson, club president.

Four names of previous winners will be already engraved on the trophy. They are those of Bob Safer, who won in 1938, '40, and '41, and took the former trophy; Tom Galmeyer in 1939 and '40; Bob Robinson in 1940, and Bob Young, also in 1940.

The trophy is identical to the McAlister speech award. It will have a silver stem on which the winner's name will be written. Torch Club extemporaneous award will be engraved on the donor's band.

The officers of the club are besides Tom: Dick Morton, vice-president; Ken Iba, secretary; Frank Neff, treasurer; and Bob Childers, sergeant-at-arms. Art Garrison also assisted in arrangements. The money was raised through the after-game checking service during the winter, sponsored by the Torch Club.

Memory's Best Dinner

There never was such a dinner as we had after the airplane race last Saturday. After a long day of watching the horizon for airplanes to return from a distant city, my appetite was keen. When I sat down to the table, antique glass and gleaming silver glistened a welcome to me. At each place a crystal goblet was filled with cool refreshing globes of many colors. The red of the watermelon, the orange of the canteloupe and the white of the honeydews blended together in a bed of fresh mint leaves. Soon after we had eaten our full of these delicious globes, a large platter with thick juicy steaks was set in the middle of the table. When the golden brown steak, some fresh green peas, and white potatoes in their skins were placed on my plate, my delight was complete. Never had I seen colors that blended so perfectly. I ate diligently of all. Near my plate was a delightfully red jello salad which melted as it touched my lips. When we had all eaten all of the food before us, a good old-fashioned apple pie was cut. As I think of that meal, I am reassured that it will take a very good meal to match this one that clings to my memory.

The American Way Of Life

The average American is constantly on the go. He spends his days giving orders, making and receiving telephone calls, dictating letters, and interviewing people. His meals at home are usually eaten in great haste so that he can leave as soon as possible for some place else. When not at home, his meals are taken with a party of people for whom he often cares very little. His evenings are spent at playing cards, dancing, attending the theater, or indulging in general revelry. He travels every now and then to some other city, and he spends some time almost every year at a well-populated resort. Most traveling is done at a high rate of speed in an automobile over beautiful highways lined with billboards. The average American has some particular thing to do every minute of the day. He is surrounded by a group of people everywhere he goes.

There are, however, a great many things this average American does not do. He doesn't take a day off to walk through the country. He doesn't eat a few calm meals alone or with one other person. It is very seldom that he sits down to read a good book. It is just as seldom that he willingly listens to good music. He doesn't care to spend evenings in conversation with one or two friends. There are a great many things in life that he is missing.

The sad thing about the situation is that the average American doesn't even realize that he is missing such great happiness and that he can have it by only reaching out for it. He doesn't love poetry, because he won't try to love it. The same is true for good music. The only beauties he sees in nature are those which he sees on guide-conducted tours. If he should spend an afternoon walking through the country, he would be considered eccentric by himself and others. He pictures evenings of conversation with a friend or two as things he should avoid. He is being duped by both his business and his gay life.

You may be the Lady

Or one of the Hood gang
That Robin stuff's great.

Or a female Lochinvar

But whatever you do,

The Day Of A South Sider

The following is the typical day of a South Side student from the time the alarm clock rings until the bell at the end of the seventh period rings. Many things always happen each at South Side.

D-i-i-ing, d-i-i-ing, d-i-i-ing. "Gee, guess I will sleep a little longer. Wonder why that thing rings so early... What?... Not 7:00... It is?... Wonder what can be the matter with my clock; it never rings any more... What? You couldn't have. I don't remember of shutting it off... Say, Mom, where are my mittens... and my scarf... Do I have to wear a scarf?"

And now the typical South Sider is tripping gaily off to school after meeting a friend. On the way to school they recall the happenings of the day before and talk about the day ahead of them. Now they enter South Side. They go to the locker room, and, if they are girls, fix up a bit. Then they wait for the bell to ring... Now it has rung and we see them going around the corner into the north hall. As one goes up the incline we hear the first one say, "I'll see you in study." Or if there is an assembly, "I'll see you in the gym; save seats, the regular place, you know."

Now home room period has passed, and we see them in the study hall. That period is passed in preparing the lessons that they should have prepared the night before, and sending notes between them. As the bell rings they hurriedly gather up their books and go to the second class. Let us follow the first one. Suppose she is a girl. The second period she has algebra. She thinks it a dry subject but is exceptionally brilliant in it. She very seldom prepares her lessons, and yet she gets the highest grades in her class... Again the bell rings, and she is slightly worried because the next subject is Latin. In this she is not so good. It is just the opposite from algebra, for she prepares her lessons and still can't get good grades... Br-i-i-ing, the end of another period. The fourth period she has chorus. Her voice is average. It is a second soprano, but it is better suited as a first soprano... Now comes the long wait for fifth period. The two girls meet at the lockers and go to lunch. After lunch they roam around the school and talk to their friends... Next is art; in this she is quite good and likes it very much... Di-i-ing. The last period, English. She likes literature and composition a little better than grammar. All in all she thought it a swell subject... The last bell, and a wonderful day at dear old South Side is ended.

—Mary Alice Kerns

Midnight Walk

It was a cold and dreary night in late November. The wind whistled a bleak welcome on its return from the north. A poor little bird ruffled up its feathers, a kitten's soft fur bristled, and a cottontail burrowed deeper into its hole. They were all striving to keep warm while the north wind played havoc with all nature. I glanced up into the sky and saw silhouetted against the full moon, a leafless tree with outstretched branches weaving fiercely in the strong wind. At first this sight frightened me, but in a moment it seemed rather pathetic. The tree seemed to me as a mother with outstretched arms praying that her children might be returned. Who knows, perhaps this prayer may be answered soon. As I walked through the night I was suddenly taken aback by a rustle right beside me. When I investigated this noise I found that the wind had been playing tricks on me. I walked on laughing at my fears, for it was only dry leaves being scattered by the aimless wind. Truly enough, it was a cold and dreary night; but that cold crisp air did my heart good. I will keep a warm spot in my heart for that midnight walk.

Seniors With Best Grades Are Revealed

Romayne Rediger Maintains 96.3 Average, Is Named Valedictorian Of Class

Principal Names
1941 Salutatorian

Ruth Dauner Makes 96, Is Second High; Four-Year Honor Roll Is Announced

Romayne Rediger, having an average of 96.3 per cent, and Ruth Dauner, having an average of 96, were announced as the valedictorian and salutatorian of the 1941 graduating class by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, several weeks ago.

Romayne is a member of National Honor Society, Philo, Latin, Inter-Club Congress, Christian, GAA, So-Si-Y, and is a past member of Meteorites and USA.

Ruth has been a member of Math-Science, Wranglers, Service, Orchestra, Trio, Latin, Totem, National Honor Society, and has acted as point recorder of Library, musical chairman of Philo, vice-president of Travel, and Social Science secretary-treasurer. She also won the Algebra contest as a freshman.

Exactly fifty-nine other seniors are on the 1941 four-year honor roll. To attain this honor, a student must maintain an average of 90 or above for at least three years. These seniors are Rebecca Abbott, Robert Allen, Sam Bacon, Edmund Bauer, John Bon-sib, Mary Bowly, Maxine Case, De-loreas Daniels, Frank DuWaldt, Mar-celle Driftmeyer, Betty Elberson, Evelyn Erickson, Richard Fishering, June Flaig, Richard Gallmeyer.

Harold Gerbers, Martin Gernand, Faye Gumpfer, Mildred Hanke, Virginia Hill, Robert Hines, Elaine Hirschy, Ellen Hohnhaus, Janet Holt-meyer, Eileen Hormann, Paul Keil, Marcelle Kimmell, Betty Jane Koeh-ler, and Katherine Kuntz are also in-cluded.

Others are Margaret Kutsch, Caro-line Lichtenberg, Helen Lisius, Carol Lyman, Clifford Matson, Charlene McAtee, Safford McMyler, Gertrude Merkel, Edward Meyers, Lester Openlander, Robert Robinson, Helen Savage, Albert Schaaf, Hilda Schub-ert, Fred Schwierr, Ralph Siebold, and Richard Siebold.

Concluding the roster of honor stu-dents are Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley, Elizabeth Stein, Violet Steinbauer, Dick Theye, Ivan Truman, Alice Vol-merding, Shirley White, Robert Wy-lie, and Robert Young.

Four people who have not been in South Side three years, but have maintained an average of 90 per cent or above while here are Joseph Bek-ius, Mary Lybrook, Ada Prange, and Lois Ringenberg.

Music Group Gives Three Presentations

Assemblies Follow General Themes Of Armistice Day, Patriotism, Christmas

Three music assemblies were held during the 1940-'41 school year under the direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright, band and orchestra director, and Mr. Lester Hostettler, choral instructor.

The first music assembly of the year was held on November 14 in the form of an Armistice Day assembly. Four patriotic numbers were played by the band after which a flag-raising ceremony was observed, while every one kept silence for one minute in memory of those soldiers who died in the World War.

Reverend F. H. Rupnow, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church, was the guest speaker and spoke on "Peace for Education." In conclusion, the chorus and student body sang "God Bless America," accompanied by the band.

The second assembly was the Christ-mas program at which the "Story of Christmas" was acted by underclass-men. The soloists of this pageant were Emalyn Remmel, Mary Whittern and Erleen Lee. A Christmas poem was read by Jim McClure and Helen Ninde accompanied at the piano by Elaine Hirschy. Glee Club, band and orchestra presented several Yuletide selections and the program was con-cluded with the chorus singing "Joy to the World."

The third and last assembly of the year was held on May 28. From Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, came Miss Catherine Goety, pianist, and Dr. Grant Connell, guest conductor, were the main features. Jean Wagner and George Jackson, a modern dance team from Elkhart, and Mr. Doland Van-Ardsale, well known impersonator, were variety numbers besides the many selections played by the band under direction of Mr. Jack Wain-wright. James Van Buskirk and Cal-vin Singer were student soloists.

Seniors Publish This Paper

Staff members of the Commencement Day Issue of The Times are all seniors. This paper is distributed free to all senior students and their parents and friends.

Jeanne Smith is general manager of this issue. Other editors on the staff are Mary Lybrook, managing editor; Marge Sheldon, news editor; Karl Eberly, feature editor; Janet Holtmeyer, Hilda Schubert, Lois and Faye Gumpfer, copy editors; and Louis Hallenstein, editorial page editor.

Other major positions, business manager and advertising manager, are held by Elaine Hirschy and Jim Brooks. Becky Abbott is circulation manager; Mary Alice Dunten, girls' sports editor; Wayne Bechtol, intra-mural sports editor; and Bob Robin-son, make-up editor.

Assistant copy editors and proof-readers are Peggy Harrod, Gloria Staley, Laura Graziar, and Lois and Faye Gumpfer. Bernadine Bender and Mary Alice Dunten are girls' sports writers.

Editorial writers are Becky Abbott, Marge Sheldon, Jeanne Weil, and Elaine Hirschy. Feature writers are Mary Alice Dunten, Jeanne Weil, Dick Green, Karl Eberly, Peggy Harrod, and Marian Seemeyer.

Reporters are Elaine Hirschy, Louisa Haugk, Jo Frosh, Laura Gra-ziaz, Eileen Kiessling, Becky Abbott, Virginia Hill, Faye and Lois Gump-per, and Bob Robinson.

Miss Rowena Harvey is the faculty adviser of this issue, as of all other school publications. Joel Salon is the staff photographer. Advertising so-licitors include Gloria Staley, Hilda Schubert, Eileen Kiessling, Louisa Haugk, and Elaine Hirschy.

Faculty Gives 1941 National Honor Society

Sixty-eight Seniors Receive Rewards For Character, Scholarship, Leadership

Exactly sixty-eight seniors were chosen as members of the National Honor Society this year. These stu-dents are selected on the basis of their outstanding character, scholar-ship, leadership, and service which they have shown during their four years in South Side.

New members of the January grad-uating class who attained member-ship to the Society are Marjorie Sheldon, Marjorie Dyer, Paul Keil, Kathryn Beckman, Clifford Matson, Evelyn Erickson, Rebecca Abbott, James Brooks, Donald Meyers, Ed-ward Meyers, Rosella Foutz, and Sad-ford McMyler.

The new members of the Honor So-ciety from the June graduating class are as follows: Robert Allen, Sam Bacon, Edmund Bauer, Joseph Bekius, John Bon-sib, Mary Bowly, Louise Buesking, Maxine Case, Ruth Dauner, Frank DuWaldt, June Flaig, Betty Elberson, Clarence Freeman, Martin Gernand, Faye Gumpfer, Mildred Hanke, Louisa Haugk.

Others are Ralph Herb, Virginia Hill, Robert Hines, Elaine Hirschy, Janet Holtmeyer, Marjorie Hopkins, Eileen Hormann, Elizabeth Kelsa, Betty Jane Kohler, Katherine Kuntz, Wilma Lagomann, Maurine Leas, Caroline Lichtenberg, Mary Lybrook, Sarah Jane Makey, Gertrude Merkel, Lester Openlander.

Included in the list are Bernadine Pressler, Romayne Rediger, Emalyn Remmel, Robert Robinson, Joel Salon, Helen Savage, Hilda Schubert, Ralph Sebold, Richard Sebold, Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley, Bettliu Stein, Violet Steinbauer, Dick Theye, Shirley White, Rudolf Wuttke, Eva Jean Wyllie, Robert Wyllie, and Robert Young.

Miss Mabel Thorne was chairman of the committee which selected the new members to the Honor Society. Others on this committee are Miss Elizabeth Kelley, Miss Pauline Van-Gorder, Mr. Elna S. Gould, and Mr. Earl Murch. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, and Mr. A. Verne Flint acted as the advisory committee. The alumni of the Society and faculty members tagged the new members.

To introduce the new members to the student body, an assembly was held when Rebecca Abbott, Ed Meyer, Don Meyer, Paul Keil, and Safford McMyler were the speakers. Miss Pauline VanGorder spoke for the fac-ulty. Each new member received a National Honor Society pin, as Mr. Snider called his name.

The thirteenth annual banquet of the National Honor Society was held

Senior Safety Scores

Sherley White, 12A, wrote the win-ning essay in the senior selection of safety essays, it was announced last week. Essays were sponsored by the Safety Council under Lieutenant Custer Dunifon, who chose the win-ning compositions from each class. Freshman, sophomore, and junior es-says have been published in previous issues.

Sherley's essay follows:

"In talking together, Mother and I decided that safety began in the home. We all tire of hearing about trouble-some throw rugs, toys laying on stairs, and exposed wires on electric light cords; but we don't realize that if we did something about these things the subject would soon be dropped. Our solution to this would be to send to every home monthly bulletins with suitable precautions for the month and season. True, some people would only throw them away; but if the Safety Council persisted, it would have the desired effect upon the people of Fort Wayne.

"On the other hand, Dad had some very definite ideas on the traffic situ-ation. He thought, as Mother did, that the police should enforce the laws and driving code which we have now. Bul-letins came up again with this point. He said that they could be sent to all drivers telling the traffic code, giving new speed limits and districts, and calling attention to the precautions that should be taken with regard to the weather conditions of the month.

"Other points were made in quick succession. One was to devise real driving tests for all persons seeking licenses. In this way poor drivers in all groups would be eliminated. Im-mediately Mother made some very definite points about young drivers. She asserted that their licenses should be revoked if they became too big for their breeches. On the same subject, it was thought that the law which states that no intoxicating liquor can be sold to anyone under twenty-one should be revised. Our family thinks that if these suggestions were carried out, Fort Wayne would be a safer place in which to live."

Three Archer Pupils Receive Art Honors

Margaret Brower, Dick Green and Ruth Cyr, graduating seniors, have been awarded art scholarships, it was announced last Thursday.

Margaret, a student of Miss Blanche Hutto, and Dick, whose teacher is Miss Erma Dochtermann, have both been awarded full-time scholarships at the Fort Wayne Art School. Ruth achieved a letter stating that she had been awarded a month credit in dress designing at the Meintzen Art School in Chicago.

Archers Extend Sympathy

The entire student body, and espe-cially the senior class and faculty, extend their deepest sympathy to Miss Dorothy Magley, English instructor, on the recent death of her mother.

It Is Happy Yet Sad Time When We Receive Diplomas

Tonight the senior class of South Side for 1941 graduated. What did those seniors think as they took their diplomas and threw the tassel on their cap from right to left?

That question probably popped into more minds than my own. In an ef-fort to throw a little constructive light on this subject I'll try to analyze from my own experience, what a graduating senior is thinking of.

Foremost is the idea that after four years here, my career in high school is over. On the surface, that may not seem to mean a whole lot, but when one really begins to think about it, this begins to loom in importance. The old acquaintances, buddies, and pals will go their ways while I go mine. But they'll never be forgotten.

Since graduation from high school closes that phase of my life, I must look to something new. Maybe I'll go on and attend Indiana University, and if so all that I have studied here will help me make a good record at this school. Maybe I will train for some specialized industry or profes-sion. At every step of the way, my past at South Side will be right be-hind me, reminding me of many things.

Or I may decide to stay in Fort Wayne and get a job at one of the plants which are now working on de-fense contracts. If this be the case, I may quite naturally expect one or more of my friends to be here with me. And in doing work in some fac-tory, or maybe an office, or some other place, I will be starting out on a life of my own, which may wind up when I have a wife and set of twins.

That is the most outstanding thing that forces itself into my mind as I graduate. This is a transformation experience. I am through with high school. I may start right out into a life which I may rightly call my own. On the other hand, I may postpone this action by continuing my educa-tion for a few more years at college. At any rate, graduation is a really important thing in the life of any high school student.

Journalists Set Scroll Honors

Twenty-six On Times, Totem Staffs Recognized For Consistency And Abilities

Exactly twenty-six Archer journal-ists were chosen for Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists it was an-nounced by Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser. This is the greatest honor attainable in publications work in South Side.

Name Members

The new members to this society from the January graduating class are Rebecca Abbott, James Brooks, Robert Brooks, Marjorie Dyer, Jo Frosh, Joel Salon, and Marjorie Sheldon.

Members from the June graduating class who attained membership are John Bon-sib, Richard Green, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Louis Hal-lenstein, Mildred Hanke, Louisa Haugk, Elaine Hirschy, Janet Holt-meyer, Eileen Kiessling, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Maurine Leas, Mary Lybrook, Emalyn Remmel, Robert Rob-inson, Hilda Schubert, Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley, and Robert Young.

Qualifications for membership in Quill and Scroll are that a student must be a senior, he must be in the upper third of his class scholastically, he must have rendered at least one year of outstanding work or several years of faithful work on The Times or Totem staffs, and he must be a consistently good worker.

Quill and Scroll Banquet was held May 15 at Miller's Cafeteria. After the dinner, the members enjoyed a theater party.

On May 26, the members of Quill and Scroll were awarded a gold Quill and Scroll pin and a certificate.

List Positions

New members of Quill and Scroll have held the following positions: Rebecca Abbott, Times general man-ager and circulation manager; John Bon-sib, former advertising manager for The Times, and Totem editor; James Brooks, freshman editor of Totem; Robert Brooks, senior man-ager of the Totem; and Marjorie Dyer, staff cartoonist; Jo Frosh, senior man-ager of The Totem.

Boy, Girl Receive Best Citizen Prize

Ruth Dauner, Bob Hines Win
D.A.R. Honors At Recognition Service Friday Afternoon

Awards for the best girl and boy citizens in this year's senior class were given by the DAR to Ruth Dauner and Bob Hines. These two were selected by a committee of faculty members because they most nearly satisfied the qualifications set up by the DAR.

The awards were given on the basis of dependability, service, patriotism and leadership over the four-year pe-riod during which these two were in South Side.

Ruth Dauner is now eligible for a free trip to Washington, D. C. Each year one girl in state is selected from those who have been given the citizen-ship award in various schools through-out the state, and is given this trip.

Ruth and Bob were chosen as be-ing the best citizens to be honored by the DAR before Christmas last fall, so that the DAR could proceed with plans to hold a competition for the trip to Washington.

Both those chosen are on the four-year honor roll and have also been elected to National Honor Society. Ruth is salutatorian of this year's graduating class. She has also been vice-president of Travel Club, music chairman of Philo, point recorder of Library Club, where she was awarded a pin, secretary-treasurer of Social Science, and was a member of Math-Science, Wranglers, Latin and Ser-vice clubs. She won an algebra con-test, was a member of the school or-chestra, and the South Side Trio.

What Are You Remembering About Your Last Four Years?

Reminiscing over four years of high school, the class of 1941 has chosen commencement, 1938 State Basketball Championship, and National Honor Society as the three most outstanding events of their high school careers.

Let's go back to that last week in March, 1938. As we were only fresh-men, we looked forward to the state meet with great expectation. Never before had South Side ever won state or had even been successful enough to reach the finals. At 8 o'clock P.M., all of us who were not at Indianapolis listened breathlessly to the radio as South Side and Hammond battled furiously for the state crown. When the final gun was sounded, we breath-ed a sigh of relief and then pinched ourselves to see if we were dreaming. Remember the parades, speeches, and then the banquet? The state basket-ball crown was indeed an honor for South Side, and we shall never forget it.

From the freshman year we jump to the senior year and find that the National Honor Society claims its

Commencement Exercises
To Begin At 8:30 O'clock;
No Seats Held After 8:20

Dr. W. P. Dearing To Give Address

Miss Dorothy Magley, Mr. R.
Nelson Snider, Mr. Paul
Sidell To Give Diplomas

Commencement exercises for the 409 graduating seniors will start to-night at 8:30 o'clock in the school gymnasium. It was announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, last week. No seats will be reserved after 8:20 o'clock.

The program for the exercises is as follows:

Band—"Phedra" by Massenet.

Processional—"Light" by Hoppin.

Presentation of Diplomas—Miss Dorothy Magley, Mr. Paul Sidell, Mr. R. Nelson Snider.

Recessional—"Noble" by Bach.

Dr. W. P. Dearing, commencement speaker, is the president of Oakland City College.

"Facing Today" was the subject of The Reverend Charles Houser at the 1941 Senior Baccalaureate services held at the Shrine Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock last Sunday evening. "The Old Testament Lesson" was given by Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools, while "The New Testament Lesson" was given by James McClure, senior class president. The Doxology was preceded by the Invocation. A baccalaureate prayer, as well as the benediction, was given by Dr. Houser.

"If With All Our Hearts" was the solo sung by Mr. Richard Holzworth and accompanied by Mr. Raymond Weaver, following the South Side Ves-per Choir's singing "God Is a Spirit" with Miss Wilma Lageman, accom-panist, and directed by Mr. Lester Hostettler, South Side choral director. "Dedication," "Just As I Am, Young Strong and Free" and "O, Beautiful for Spacious Skies" were played by the South Side orchestra under the di-rection of Mr. Jack W. Wainwright. The processional and the recessional were marched to "March Noble" and "The War March of the Priests."

Indiana Extension Offers Advantages

Fort Wayne Center Gives Same Courses As I. U.; Newly Decorated Hall Benefits Pupils

Indiana University offers many ad-vantages for further education at home. At this school, one can do two years of college work right in Fort Wayne.

These extension classes cost about one-third to one-fourth of the cost of an average college campus ex-pense. One can learn the college methods of instructions and study, and college courses and divisions of departments.

Indiana University Extension has just been newly decorated. A newly equipped library, theatre, and chem-istry laboratory was added. A stu-dent council, which sponsors regu-larly scheduled and varied social cal-endar with frequent dances, skating parties, and other entertainment, has been organized. Other groups con-sist of a theatre group and a maga-zine publication.

Summer extension classes began Monday, June 9.

Lead Seniors In Scholarship

Romayne Rediger

Ruth Dauner

Romayne Rediger and Ruth Dauner are the valedictorian and salutatorian of this year's graduating class. Romayne's average is 96.3 and Ruth's is 96.

About Our Speaker . . . .

He is president of Oakland College, Oakland City, Indiana, and widely known as a commencement speaker. He received his A.B. degree at Oakland City College in 1894; LL.D., Franklin College, 1921; and D.D., Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Chicago, 1930. He has been with Oakland City College since 1895, being dean eight years and president since 1903. He has been a member of the State Library and Historical Board since 1925, was president of Indiana State Teachers' Association, 1925-26, vice-president of State Schoolmen's Club, and vice-president of Indiana World Peace Conference. These are some of the facts we should know about our commencement speaker, William Prentice Dearing.

Our Post Tribute, Present Sensation, And Future Toast!

And now, so suddenly, after four long years, comes the parting of the ways! Tonight is realized an event that has always seemed so far off and dim—somehow vaguely closer this past year, (but still rather in the indefinite future). But now—this very night—the climax is reached. Four years of wishful waiting, of impatient longings, and of speculations about the future all are history tonight.

But somehow, the bottom has slipped a trifle out of the grand elation that we thought would be ours at the graduation ceremony. How happy we thought we would be! At last the world stretches before us; the toil and drudgery of school are over. No longer need we tramp about these halls! Never again need we "fudge" on an absence excuse or try to "worm" out of an eighth period! "Readin', writin', and 'rithmetic" are only memories.

Nevertheless that bottom has dropped a couple of notches, letting us down with a solid thud. Oh, of course, we're joyous about the whole thing; in fact for most of us it's the most momentary occasion so far in life. Just the same, though, it's a bit sad to think that school days are over. There will be many of us who will go to college, but college is far from similar to high school. There are no solicitous pedagogues in universities to lend that personal helping hand which is used so freely in high school.

It is often a custom at commencement time to run off a resume of the four years' activities as sort of a farewell note. We might follow suit, but after all it seems rather out of place. A senior issue, in a true sense should be partly a glance at the future rather than all a paraphrasing of the past. The very word itself, commencement, comes from a verb which means to begin, not to end.

The job we have in hand is to push that bottom right up where it belongs and face the future with a stiff upper lip. Surely, it's a great milestone that we're passing.

In other words, we're meaning to strike a note of foresight instead of retrospection. All through this issue there is a record of our four big years. It is only fitting that there be here a reminder of that unwritten history of the future which we seniors are sure to make.

Here Is A Timely Message From Our New Valedictorian

By Romaine Rediger

Today our government is doing everything in its power to protect every citizen's most cherished and highly prized possession, namely liberty. Out of the nineteen billion dollars to be expended for defense purposes over twelve billion dollars must be paid by the taxpayers of our nation. Out of the 16,404,000 youth of our nation the government plans to place 800,000 in training camps before July 1. The sum of about six billion dollars will be raised through the sale of high and low priced bonds and low priced stamps in an effort to reach everybody's pocketbook.

Since everybody will feel the terrific impact of this huge defense program now under way, each of us is interested in ways to preserve our liberty at the least possible expense. Everett once said, "Education is a better safeguard of liberty than a standing army. If we retrench the wages of the schoolmaster, we must raise those of the recruiting sergeant." Reading the best literature, listening to the finest music, and studying the world's classics in painting and sculpture tend to elevate the mind above the base horrors of war. By studying the futility of the past wars and the proposed plans for peace, the future leaders of our nation will be better able to avert war, the worst plague the world has ever seen.

Four Year Fantasia

1937-1938

Will you ever forget when we were freshmen? Shoes on the gym floor, rides on the "elevator" (which wasn't there), sympathetic looks from dignified seniors, AND Adjusting ourselves to school rules (especially the one of getting to classes ON time).

Being approached by every upperclassman in the building to join this or that club.

Getting acquainted with our new gym teacher, Miss Alice Dean.

Laying our eyes for the first time on those U and S cards.

Famous Jim Straley making history in football. Page boy hair styles (with bangs, mind you).

It was just a baby murmur that South Side was going to have an addition.

The Hines-Leas affair was the strongest thing growing. Our Freshman Parent's Tea was given (when we were discussed and rediscussed).

South Side was put on the air in the form of her representative Radio Players.

We just began to know the importance of a Central-Archer basketball game.

And perhaps the greatest event in our whole school life happened—South Side won the State Basketball Championship. Their final game was with Hammond; the score 34-32. (Whew!)

We were so young we even complained about being in school during hot weather.

Our idols of the hour were Bob Bolyard, Dale Hamilton, Jim Roth, and John Hines.

But all in all, our freshman year was very uneventful, kids—honestly!

1938-1939

Ah! We were then affectionately (?) known as "Sap-mores". But we were happy because Barbara Brower was dating Don Parkinson.

It pleased us to think there were students younger than us.

Dick Theye was making history with his rifle. June Flaig, Mildred Hanke, and Hilda Schubert were walking away with Latin honors.

We entertained with our first party, the Sophomore Party (Derby Day) and really felt like a part of South Side.

Every girl was longing for one of those new tweed suits.

We were all given strict orders not to try "sneaking under the tent" at the Senior Funfest.

Chuck Close was shaking the walls with his powerful soprano voice.

Seniors were people to bow to as they swished by in their caps and gowns.

Plans were really being made to remodel South Side. Rozella Foutz was dancing and playing for school clubs. (And making a big hit, we might say).

Miss Blanche Hutto joined our art department. This was also the year that Mr. Clyde Pierce and Mrs. Lucille Scott also came to South Side.

Dick Green was then longing for a smile from Mary Burt.

Our P.A. system was installed. Angora mitts were the things for feminine paws.

Bob Hines was elected president of the sophomore class. Joe Loos was raising (of all things) pigeons.

Fellas became bolder—sporting brilliant-colored socks, ties, et al.

Safford McMyler was turning all his charms on Alice Hall.

Everyone that could was "jitterbugging." Miss Elizabeth Kelley was still thrilled about her trip to South America.

We were just getting used to the strange odors that seeped from the chemistry lab.

We tried the system of rental books for the first time.

1939-1940

Jolly Juniors: Remember the September? It was so bloom'ing hot? Remember when My Reverie was the hit song of 2000 Archers?

We lived through another April Fool issue? (surprise). Roy Heavner was running away with all of Joyce Cleaver's attentions?

Violet Steinbauer won first in the second division of the State Latin contest?

Notched collars and nipped-in waist lines were very much the style?

Central beat us in football? Bob Safer tied with a prominent senior in an extemp contest and also went to the district Rotary contest at Huntington?

Students put on their best behaviors during the North Central Association of Principals meeting?

Bob Hines was again elected prexy of our class? Lola Rodriguez was going with Jess McBride?

Batiste blouses made their appearance and really went over in style?

Bob Hines was the idol of every basketball lover? (And that ain't all).

The famed Rhythm Rascals "chalked up" many successful dances?

South Side went to the State Finals in the basketball tournament? (Ah yes—dear Mitchell).

Emalyn Remmel was singing her lovely love songs to Clifford Matson? (She still is!)

Maytime Medley was the theme for our Junior Prom? And a really pretty one it was, too!

We were "kicking" because the seniors got out three days before we did?

Capes were making their sweeping debut into high school society?

We took back seats for the third year as the seniors remained in the limelight during their final activities? Jean Smith was leading her baseball sisters to victory?

Ed Kettler was getting hot in his cheer leading roll? Wayne Gift joined our faculty to produce bigger and better football teams?

Bud Lampton thumbed to Missouri? (Miss Who?) June Flaig won a scholarship to the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music?

Everyone was asking the annoying question, "Who is Yehudi?"

John Bonsib and Joel Salon lived on air while planning our '41 Totem? (Yes, children—that soon).

The five pairs of twins were still making it hard for the teachers?

The Junior One-Acts were presented? Dave Rea turned his smiles on "Peanuts" Ferguson. And that, dear students, is what we did in our third year in high school!

1940-1941

Then came our long-awaited senior year! This was the year when Jim McClure became our senior class president. Everyone was singing I'll Never Smile Again—(Some students never did).

Bob Young was going strong. We were so disappointed because school opened two weeks late.

Thirteen students were tagged for National Honor Society.

Crew cuts flourished thick and fast. Our school served as host to sectional and regional. The I.U. Band gave a fine concert.

Feistkorn, Hines, the Summit City All-Star team. Another "super" GAA show was given.

The Senior Funfest was the funniest ever. The Comedy of Errors was given as our Senior Play. The music department put over a grand Operetta.

Fifty-four spring graduates were tagged for National Honor Society.

From The Dean:

To the members of the Senior Class of South Side High School: I am happy to join with your many friends at South Side High School to wish you good fortune, good health and happiness. I have faith to believe that you will meet new situations in the right way. You will find it interesting to have new experiences, and to have opportunities to put into practice the knowledge and the training which you have gained from home, from school, and from church. In a large measure your success will depend upon your cheerfulness, your courage, and your spirit of fair play. I wish for you success and prosperity in your work and your play.

Martha M. Pittenger

Diploma Ditties

Few of us realize until it's too late That school is almost o'er. At last that date, ah, fateful date— High school students no more!

Come let us trip back to another year, When we were freshmen gay; Greener than green, but never fear, We've now survived the fray.

Many a shoe has been thrown in the gym; Of elevators, we've had our share. We've fallen for many a senior's whim, But never once did we care!

That was the year South Side took State; A beaming bunch were we. But we'll always love our "Alma Mater" In loss or victory.

Sophomores we, we strutted our stuff And to our party went. No longer quaking at teachers' gruff, We went on, senior-bent.

To banquet and prom, we juniors went, For they were surely tops! And many a thought did each brain dent. In our craniums beneath our mops.

A little more serious as days went by, We were active in many a club; To our studies we settled down with a sigh— At last, no longer a dub!

A few dropped out, a few came in;

But we strode on undaunted. Players in high school's exciting game, Of many feats we've vaunted.

As seniors we thought we understood The workings of a teacher's mind; But when we were sure we finally could, We were all wrong, we find.

We'll never forget our reception and dance Or our thrilling Ivy Day. Tag day, we recall, as if in a trance, And, too, the Senior Play.

We tried in vain to boost our grades And wished we'd studied more. And, if we could start as green young blades,

This time we'd stick to our chore. Of course, we can't all be Totem heads Or solo with the band; But we've figured it out with pencil leads— The activities are grand!

Not too many, but a few good ones To which we really belong; The lad who constantly each club shuns Will truly regret it e'er long.

As Confucius say, "Student talk too much!" And perhaps you join in his plea; But the four short years we've spent as such, Have been perfect, you will agree.

Nostradamus Couldn't Have Done Any Better Than This!

By Laura Grazier

I know that I'm no oracle, but I am going to try to predict what some of the graduating seniors of 1941 will be doing in 1951. . . .

I'm sure that our valedictorian, Romaine Rediger, will have been graduated from Muncie Ball State Teachers' College (with honors) and will be teaching.

Bonnie Yaeger will probably be the glamorous buyer at a local store.

There is only one thing that I can predict for Emalyn Remmel, and that is that she will be thrilling millions all over the world with her beautiful voice.

Margaret Brower will be making millions what with her illustrations for all the well-known magazines. Dick Green will be her business partner. (Dick, however, will still have his mind on Dorothy Cooper.)

Chuck Close will be happily married to Gloria Staley. Lois Campbell and Paul Wolford will be in this same class. Of course, Henry Ditton and Frances Nash will also be in the same boat.

Alice Hall will probably be running all over the world trying to get away from all of her admirers, the most famous of which will be orchestra leader, Bob Moses.

Gloria Werkman, who will reign as beauty queen at Vanderbilt, will still be pursued by almost every male who sees her.

Jean Weil will just have received a proposal from that Romeo of our class, Dick McIntosh.

Violet Steinbauer will be a Latin teacher and will be able to talk to people in that language.

Marge McMahon will be New York's most popular model with "Killer" Miller still tagging around after her.

June Flaig will be playing her harp in a concert orchestra.

Bob Moses will have an orchestra of his own and will be burning up a cross-country trek.

Joel Salon will still have hopes of some day being as great a doctor as his father.

Wayne Bechtol will be girding his courage to propose to M. J. Krauskopf.

Jeanne Smith will be "socking" a tennis ball across nets all over the country. She'll probably have a room full of cups.

Erleen Lee will be happily married —and raising a family.

Joe Bekius will be a dead-eye Annie Oakley.

Mary Anderson will be teaching home ec (and probably practicing what she's teaching.)

Ralph Herb will be managing director of a big movie corporation.

Ruth Dauner will be working summers for her degrees.

Betty Harrison will still be watching after her little brother, "Sonny" (while listening to her favorite operas.)

Bob Hines will be an electrical engineer for the new television company.

Bob Young will be Roosevelt's "right-hand man."

Louisa Haugk will be private secretary to the president of the Jamison Jumpers for Jumpy Jitterbugs Company. (Guess who.)

Mac MacKag will be contemplating trading his car. (Just contemplating, mind you.)

Jim Morrison will be touring the United States with an Olympic track team.

Caroline Lichtenberg will be in great demand to give humorous readings at women's clubs.

Betty Elberson will be the woman manager of a big Chicago dress firm. "Marnie" Dyer will be her advertising director.

Rozella Foutz will be thrilling audiences with her dance reviews.

Kolman Gross will be struggling through his law course at Harvard.

Paul Keil will be a Greek professor at Cornell.

Evelyn Erickson will be a housewife. (As Mr. Gilbert predicted.)

Don Meyer will be working in Chicago. (Guess why.)

Marilyn Wolf will be the "Toast of New York." The most faithful of her "Stage Door Johnnies" will still be Jim Hartman.

Lola Rodriguez will be named the glamour girl of 1951.

From The Principal:

The ease of life in the torrid zones has made foresight and planning for the future matters of small importance, while the more rigorous climate of the temperate zones has caused the development of aggressive, thoughtful peoples. I think the seniors of 1941 are going into a world comparable to the more unfavorable climatic sections of the world. Obstacles are many; the need for careful planning is greater than ever before; the trials of strength will be more strenuous. But, just as the temperate zones develop a more efficient and a better equipped race of people, so will the difficulties which are to be encountered in the world of today make for greater moral strength and civic consciousness.

Although the problems ahead of 1941 graduates are difficult, it is true that these young people are better trained and more fully conditioned to meet these problems than were former graduates. This training and conditioning should make the solution of present problems, great as they may be, as easy as was the solving of the problems which faced former generations.

It is the hope of South Side High School that each graduating senior will face the world confident in his strength, and eager to match that strength against the difficulties ahead. The sole justification for this institution lies in the measure of success which the graduate has in the world outside the institution's walls, and we are sure that success will be in proportion to your highest hopes, courage, and industry.

Seniors Salute Their Salutatorian As Most Likely To Succeed

Voted the girl most likely to succeed in the class of '41, Ruth Dauner really has plans for the future. Before those are divulged, let us say we sincerely hope Mr. Wilson's charts in government class, prophesying a longer life for the professional worker, and his plan where the birth rate is increased, skilled workers are decreased, and the teacher's pay increased, for Ruth's sake, proves to be a great success.

Yes, Ruth plans to be a teacher. Wouldn't life be wonderful with teachers such as Ruth?

Many characteristics help to make up this personality that has handed Ruth this title. Her cleverness is one of her most important assets. If the reader has had the privilege of hearing the secretary's report in Philo meetings, there can be no doubt as to the witness of those readings.

South Side students should also know of her interest and participation in music activities in the school. She is planning on always keeping music as her hobby.

Majoring in Social Science, Ruth now holds the position of secretary of the Social Science Club.

She intends to leave Fort Wayne soon after her graduation to go to Mount Carmel, Illinois to visit her parents. From here, she plans to further her education at North Central College, at Naperville, Illinois.

Congratulations, North Central. '41 grads, and the best of luck to you, Ruth.

The Class Of 1941 Gives Miss Abbott "Busy Becky" Title

"Hurry, hurry, hurry!" Hurry is what it takes to get all those things done that must be done. Speed plus ability is just what Becky Abbott has, and that is just why seniors think she is the busiest girl of our class, "1941."

During this last year of school, activities have kept Becky in all parts of the building here at South Side. Her activity in Library Club often kept her smiling from behind the library desk. Being circulation manager and general manager of The Times takes time and hard work, she found out. If one would really like to know, he can refer to Miss Abbott—she may be in the Times Room now.

Becky's natural leadership this year put her in the chair of President of Philo. Speaking of leads, she also carried the girls' lead in the 1941 senior dramatic production, "Comedy of Errors", in the part of Adriana.

It can be seen that rightly enough now Becky Abbott can be known as South Side's busiest senior girl with all her speed and ability for leadership.

Becky also has time for fun; she likes horse-back riding, tennis, and sports in general. She likes interschool competition games so much that during the sectional and regional tournaments, she found time to work on the Booster Club selling refreshments at the games.

"How does she do it?" one wonders. Don't you remember the saying, "If you want something done, ask a busy person to do it?"

"Caesar" McClure Voted Most Likely To Be Successful

Who is the boy most likely to succeed, you say? No doubt many boys will do the class of '41 honor in future years. The boy, however, who was voted the most likely to succeed above the rest, was James "Caesar" McClure, the smallest and mightiest of them all.

Excels In Speaking

Jim has brought home speech banners and trophies galore from all over this state and including Kentucky. When he was a freshman, he excelled in public speaking, winning the Freshman-Sophomore Speech Contest. In his junior year, he attained glory by winning third in the State Oratorical Declamation Contest at Purdue and receiving second-place honors in the Wranglers' Extemp Contest. For the last two years Jim has taken 'first place in Original Oratory.

This spring, he brought home second place in the state contest in Original Oratory. This victory entitled him to enter the national contest at Lexington, Kentucky. It was here that he held his own in Original Oratory with exceptional skill. He reached the fourth round of the contest all over the nation. The Oratorical Declamation Contest, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, was also won by Jim this year.

His other speech victories in 1941 include the Wranglers' Extemp Contest in which he tied for first place and the Oratorical Declamation Contest held in Wabash in which he also tied for first place.

Jim Holds High Offices

After reviewing all of Jim's victories, do you wonder why you chose him as the one most likely to succeed? In the last two years, Jim has also held several offices. In his junior year, he was chairman of the social council of the class. Of course, you know that for the last year he has efficiently filled the office as president of the senior class. Being an active and popular member of Wranglers Club, Jim was elected president of Wranglers last semester.

Jim has given up the idea of becoming a garbage collector and has seriously decided to take up veterinary training. He is destined to succeed in this, because everyone knows how fond he is of horses. He definitely proved this at Lexington, this spring.

When seeing Jim's record, it ought to be proof enough that he deserves the honor title of being the most likely to succeed;

Graduates Say That Orator Bob Young Is Busiest Senior Male

Seniors have spoken—Bob Young is hereby declared the busiest boy of the class of 1941. Speech contests all over the state have included the name of Bob Young a majority of times as a winner. The Archer golf team would be lost without him, and The Times couldn't come out each Thursday without Bob's sports columns, features, and banners. All in all, South Side's senior class would have many less honors in the big book without Bob as one of its members.

Works On Times

His first year was spent in concentration upon his studies and his work on the Times staff as boys' sports writer. By the time he was a second-year man in Kellyville, he was a member of 1500 Club, which goes to show you that he really worked in the journalism department. He was still devoting his time to The Times, having not yet started garnering victories in speech.

Then came the junior year of our busiest senior. He made a triumphant entrance into speech circles by holding the position of Wranglers treasurer. That year, Bob entered the State Extemp contest at DePauw and tied for first place with Jim Murphy in Wranglers Extemp.

And now for his senior and busiest year. He made a triumphant entrance into speech circles by holding the position of Wranglers treasurer. That year, Bob entered the State Extemp contest at DePauw and tied for first place with Jim Murphy in Wranglers Extemp.

And now for his senior and busiest year. He made a triumphant entrance into speech circles by holding the position of Wranglers treasurer. That year, Bob entered the State Extemp contest at DePauw and tied for first place with Jim Murphy in Wranglers Extemp.

"Art" took second place in an original oratory contest in anuary. Radio work then caught his eye, and he was named a finalist at the radio station. The second semester added another duty to keep him busy—that of Wrangler's president. The championship in the South Side Extemp contest was then added to his laurels.

More Speech Honors

Still talking his way through contests, Bob went over to North Side in the invitational meet and captured the highest place in original oratory. The list of entrants in the DePauw meet included Bob's name this year, and there he reached the finals in the Extemp. He won first place in the second round of extemp at Wabash invitational meet. His last speech victory came when he tied for first place with Bob Safer in the city extemp contest.

Bob has served as boss of The Tournament News during the last year, has won membership in the Quill and Scroll, and handled the intramural section of the Totem. His scholastic ability gained him a place on the National Honor Society, and his record as a fine speaker secured him the honor of being Ivy Day orator. All in all, it can only mean that Bob Young is truly the busiest boy of the senior class.

What To Do After Graduation Is Query Facing All Seniors!

That ever-annoying question of what to do after graduation is confronting all Seniors. In fact, it's one of the most important decisions each has to make. It should be pondered and hashed over until you're very satisfied with your future plans. When asked in the senior poll what they would plan to do after their important step—namely, commencement—the majority of the seniors said they were planning to work. Jobs at the G.E., Lincoln Life Insurance Company, W. & D.'s and other business concerns will be readily sought by high school graduates.

Others will be looking forward to more schooling next fall. Michigan, Indiana, Purdue, and DePauw are some of the Universities which will welcome '41 alumni to their campuses (and very lucky they'll be, too).

Not just jobs, but white-collar jobs will be in demand by this year's crop of graduates. Office work seems to be a coveted occupation. And employers will be very fortunate to get some of our typing demons.

Still other seniors decided they don't even care to do office work. If they can just sit and watch the world go by, they'll be sublimely happy.

Favorite Senior Subjects Are Chemistry(!), English, Typing

All of us are probably prejudiced toward or show more favoritism for one particular subject during our high school career. Maybe it's because we manage to secure our best grades in that subject, maybe it's the teacher, or maybe it's just that that particular subject is interesting and needs no further merit.

Chemistry has been chosen by a number of seniors as their favorite subject. The chemistry teacher, Mr. W. O. Gilbert probably has a great deal to do about the choice of this subject. Everyone can enjoy his good or putrid jokes and vice versa. Then, besides tinkering around in the laboratory with unknown salts and peculiar looking chemical implements, there is the mystery about this subject which would intrigue almost anyone. Some people believe that chemistry is difficult, but putting together all the knowledge one gains and all the enjoyment one can receive in working with experiments, chemistry can truly be dubbed as "a little bit of all right."

Art Is Chosen
Art has been classified as an enjoyable subject by some of our students. Without the Art Department here at South Side we could not advertise the coming attractions and outstanding events well. The Christmas wrapping paper made by the students of art has been outstanding and colorful, and they have thoroughly enjoyed making such fine wrapping paper.

But certainly interest in art can be accredited to more than that. In the art course one can learn the attractive color schemes and the modern designs which could probably furnish a basis for further use. Work done by one's own efforts is appreciated more by the individual and the subject of art thus becomes better liked by that student. Sometimes a profession, such as a commercial artist could be suggested to a person who has a doubt as to the future career if he shows talent along that line.

Typing Is Popular
Another outstanding subject, according to the choice of the seniors, is the commercial subject, typing. Besides the regular routine of business students taking this subject a number of college preparatory students are doing the same. Typing can be useful everywhere—in school, in college, and in the business world. Since most of us must find jobs and since typing is a qualification for many positions, we can fill those positions.

What's This?—Last Will And Testament Of Our Senior Class

If we were to dig deep into the legal files of the nation in about one hundred years, we would probably find a series of papers marked simply, "Last will and testament of the South Side High School class of '41." A glimpse into some of these would reveal the following information:

Paul Keil bequeaths to the school one 1941 automobile to be used by the institution to bring to school residents of Wildwood Park, Belmont, Rural Route 3 and Wayne Trace.

Ruth Ann Archer gives her one and only name to South Side as a lasting memorial.

Howard Blood allots to the coming generation one reserved seat on the South Side Grill. This seat is good only during the noon rush hour and the period known as the "eighths."

Romayne Rediger gives away the secret of "the seven keys to the right answer." This material is to be wrapped up in brain matter and delivered to any needy person.

Ernie Vogel gives away the extra few minutes of his last swimming record. This is to give the rest of the aqua fans a chance.

Mildred Hankee wills her supply of club pins to be used for national defense. Extra metal, you know.

Ralph Herb donates time over our loud speaker to the famous swing bands of the nation. Ralph feels that the offer of another year's radio contract is not as appealing as the prospect of graduation.

Jane Nathan gladly donates her picture to a certain draftee, number H-2580. (Telephone number, if you really want to know.)

Maxine Sterling gives a bag of pop corn to the student who does the most for—Maxine, of course.

Dick Theye donates a free Rotary lunch to any one wishing to get out of his sixth period class.

Louisa Haugk gives away her cap and gown. Says Louisa, "I have a cap. I have a gown."

Joe Beckus gives to Miss Van Gorder a civics paper due several years ago.

Jean Weil bequeaths a series of about ten Times stories which could not be used in this issue because of lack of space.

Alice Sweet donates her "lipsticky" coke glass to all those devoted to the art of sociability.

Janet Anderson gives away her front seat in all the classes where the seating is according to alphabetical order.

This is another subject in which we use our hands. We like to feel the touch of the keyboard and to see ourselves make progress. So besides helping to furnish us with a job we can use our skill and experience for our own personal use to save time and energy.

Math Is Named
We must be mathematically inclined, for part of our seniors have picked mathematics as their favorite subject. If the majority of that number were boys they probably were thinking of the future. All kinds of engineering and other occupations require the study of math as a prerequisite. Mathematics is also the base for the scientific and business world. Pythagorean theories and other such terms tax the mind and develop deep-seated thinking. General information received from studying this subject can be of further use, and it is interesting to know the "whys and wherefores of this and that."

English Is Super
English can rightfully be called a super subject; for what could we do without any grammar study in high school. We would probably write with run-on sentences, and little punctuation. The study of this subject also keeps us informed on the contemporaries of our writers and their writings. It is interesting to compare the first-known writings with old modern compositions and to see how the morals, speech, and customs of that age have influenced literature of the following ages.

"In spring a young man's fancy turns"—why yes, that comes from Tennyson's "Locksley Hall."

Quotations will become more interesting and will be recognized easily by us when we hear them in later life. And then home-reading books encourage us to read other books and to spend our time by worthwhile reading.

Thus we can see that "readin' (English), writin' (typing and art), and 'rithmetic (chemistry and mathematics), are still the favorite subjects of students.

Compare Our Hopes With Those Had By Other Ages' Grads

We seniors have much to look forward to, but have you ever stopped to think just what the prospects of the future were to the graduates of other ages?

The young cave-man senior had to decide upon the question of whether he would use his education to follow the respectable occupation of manufacturing axes or follow a life in a Sinclair dinosaur factory.

Sir Senior of the Middle Ages was forced to fight a duel in order to graduate and get a diploma. He would choose several teachers to be his loved ones and then set out to defend their honor. In the end he was either killed or he received a straight "A" report card.

If you would have been in Rome several hundred years ago, you might have seen several thousand seniors arrayed in tams and togas. (How did the tams get in here?) Their hopes were centered about a future of eating olives in the Grilla or attending "The Boys from Syracuse" or "The Great Dictator" or other motion pictures shown on the Rome Axis.

The Renaissance graduate dreamed of a future in oils. Yes, the oils common to painting. It seems that about all one could do in those days was paint. Fingernails, toenails and canvas tents—if they were painted—were considered works of art.

The graduate of the Gay Nineties was so busy going from the East Side to the West Side in search of a bike for two that he could not take time out to consider his future vocation.

Did you ever go out on a blind date? The last time I went out on one she had a seeing-eye dog with her.

Read What Mother Has To Say About Son's Graduation

By Mrs K. C. Eberly
Four hundred and nine American boys and girls, shoulder to shoulder, marching on Commencement day out of South Side High School, into America itself.

The very tall, broad boy, who such a few years ago was such a frail lad, is one of these eager young people shooting at the stars. How confident they are, aiming at the top, most of them knowing what they want. More education if possible, because most of them realize that high school has not fitted them to earn a living, it has only pointed the way by giving them poise and the knowledge necessary to live and work with people and preparation for more study.

Most of these clear-eyed young people love their homes and consider their parents the greatest influence in their lives, next their teachers have been their guiding star. This was the thought I had when I saw the tall young man who calls me mother in his gown and cap (which is a little small). Have I helped prepare him for what he has to face in the kind of world he is entering? These last four years have been so happy, sheltered and interesting and now with a prayer in my heart I can only say, "They are young, life is good, let them live."

Marjorie Sheldon Is Chosen Best Citizen In '41 Questionnaire

Everything she does is a success and a step in making South Side a better school. Certainly anyone who fits that description is a best citizen. This year, the seniors chose Marge Sheldon to hold that title and rightly so. It's hard to find another such well-known girl in school as "Shelley". Her tireless efforts in all her extra-curricular activities has made her worthy of the name her classmates have given her.

She has proved her leadership by serving as president of 1500 and French Clubs. She put South Side on the map in journalism again during her reign as general manager, bringing a Pacemaker award to The Times. She has assisted in making all the social affairs of the senior class successful through her cooperation and willingness as member of the social council. The senior play couldn't have gotten along without her since she played the leading role so well.

Her other clubs in which she has maintained active membership are SPC, Wranglers, Math-Science, Social Science, Philo, Three E's, Meterites, and Radio Players. Her very special skill and contribution to South Side has been shown in typing and journalism, as she has won both typing awards and places in Quill and Scroll writing contests.

Scholastic ability of the highest rating goes with good citizenship, and Marge has this. In January she was voted a member of the National Honor Society and also became a member of Quill and Scroll.

Proving that beauty comes with brains, Marge was elected one of the five most beautiful girls of the senior class for Ivy Day celebration and ceremony.

As material and evident proof of her civic-mindedness, she sports several pins, including a library, French, and gold-jeweled Times pin.

Just To Relive All Those High School Days Once More!

What are the things you would do over again if high school days could be relived? Such was the question which the seniors answered in various ways. We seniors appear to have been pretty well satisfied with what we have done for the past four years.

Most of us would belong to the same clubs again. Probably one of the best reason would be because we enjoyed the other members and the faculty adviser. Remembering the club's purpose, the good times, and the interesting club programs would also influence us to join the same clubs. Clubs such as Rifle, Math-Science, Social Science, GAA, Philo, Wranglers, Hi-Y, So-Si-Y, French, and Latin will long be remembered.

As for subjects, we would take the same ones over again. Naturally those seniors who plan to attend college would take college preparatory subjects. So those who desire business training would take the commercial course. We would probably take the same subjects over again, because we have found that they give us what we want in our course of education.

Most of the students seemed satisfied with everything they did for that is just what many have decided. Also, the majority have stated that they would study as much as they have for the past four years. All in all, we seem to be of one opinion—if we were to relive our four years here we would do practically the same things over again.

Four Seniors Get College Awards

Safford McMyler, Faye Gumpfer, Paul Keil, Romayne Rediger Receive Valuable Stipends

Safford McMyler, Faye Gumpfer, Paul Keil, and Romayne Rediger, South Side seniors have been awarded scholarships to various colleges for the 1941 fall semester.

The scholarship awarded to Safford is offered by Purdue University of Lafayette, Indiana. This award cancels a $30 fee for the first semester. The scholarship is automatically renewed if the recipient maintains an average of 4.5 points.

Paye also received her scholarship from Purdue University. Unlike Safford's award, her scholarship is not renewable but instead exempts her from the $60 fee of the entire freshman year at the school.

The scholarship which is held by Paul to Oberlin College provides for payment of $150 tuition fees. This award will also be renewed in the event the recipient's maintenance of a designated average.

Romayne's scholarship, which was a county award offered by Ball State Teachers College at Muncie, pays all tuition fees for the first semester at the school. Her scholarship may also be renewed.

Last Days' Entries In Diary Will Revive Events In Future

By Marjorie Sheldon
Thursday, June 5:
Dear Diary: Hooray! They're finally here! Our caps and gowns are beautiful! We stood in a very dignified (we're graduating seniors, now) line for hours—we lost all track of time! —and finally were rewarded with the precious box containing our gray graduating garments.

Then to try them on! My cap perched precariously on top of my cranium; I strutted sedately to a mirror for my first glimpse! Oh, me, they must have mixed my cap up with Jeanne Weil's! Maybe I could wear it upside down—or have brainy Bob Wylie stretch it for me.
Friday, June 6:

Dear Diary: I don't know what I've been swallowing all morning, but a lump seems to rise in my throat constantly when I see all the grads a la cap and gown. The teachers were all wonderful—Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Null led singing in their classes. (I'm almost certain that was a tear I saw roll down the cheek of a certain rugged football hero.)

Last minute directions were given in Room 114 before we made our dramatic entrance into a respectful gym for Recognition Service. Really thrilling! Watched the dispersion of the awards to all those who've proved their capability in all lines. I could not help thinking how much more fortunate we are than our grandparents—or our parents! We don't have to be able to spell down a school or be able to recite the Constitution from memory to be recognized.

We sweltered in the fiery heat of the stadium while the little fellow behind the swivel camera made us watch the birds. The inevitable Mr. Snider and camera were of course among those present.

Fred Sharp Rates As Woman Hater Of Senior Group

Let us introduce to you the great farmer—Fred Sharp. He did very well with his chores on a farm in Aboite Township No. 8, and now has been handed the title of the "Woman Hater" in the class of '41. You're welcome, Fred, no extra charge.

Fred attended Hogg School during his grade school years, but now he walks very dignified as a senior through the portals of dear South Side High, where he is liked by all—even the girls.

Fred wants to be a railroad engineer and he wants to go clear out in Iowa to get on an interurban line. Are those girls out there better or something? Well, according to Fred, he just don't care for girls, but we just wonder. Aren't there some Archer girls out of the few hundred you care for, Fred?

If he cannot get on the railroad, he intends to enter short courses out in Iowa to become a scientific farmer.

He claims he has half ownership in a train in Highwood, Illinois, which goes seventy miles per hour. Now we in South Side graduating class expect to get a ride on that train, Fred, so you name the date, and we'll be sure to be there.

How About 1942?

Indiana University through its Fort Wayne division has been offering College Freshman and Sophomore courses for years to high school graduates.

Day and evening classes are held at the University Extension Building, 1120 South Barr Street, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The cost is about one-fourth of that of the average college campus.

You can be at home, thus making the break between high school and college less severe.

Classes are smaller and more individual attention is given.

These credits are transferable to major institutions of higher learning throughout the country.

Courses are offered in the following:

Business	Teacher training
Medicine	Laboratory Technician
Government service	Law
Dentistry	Nurses training
Engineering	Home economics
Science	B.S. in Chemistry
Etc.	Etc.

Summer classes begin June 9, 1941. Next year's classes begin September 15, 1941.

Write to Indiana University Extension, 1120 South Barr Street, Fort Wayne, Indiana, for a complete catalogue of information.

Outstanding Senior Girl Athletes

Congratulations are in order to all those GAA'ers who are graduating and have earned over 2,000 points since their freshman year in GAA. This year nine girls have exceeded this mark. High-point girl this year is Jeanne Smith. Jeanne has broken all the previous records by many a point. She is the first high-point girl to earn over 3,000 points, having 3,147 points since she entered South Side. Jeanne not only broke the high point record, but she also had the honor of being the first girl to hold the GAA presidency in her junior year.

Bernadine Pressler

Bernadine Pressler is another girl who has earned over 2,000 and almost 3,000 points in her GAA career. Beany has been everything from office girl to chairman of many clean-up committees. Her good will and pleasing smile make her one of the best-liked girls in GAA. She has held the beam-walking record for the last three years. Beany has been one of the most loyal girls in BAA; she has participated in and helped direct every Spring Show since her freshman year.

Geneva Martin

Our present president, Geneva Martin is another of the two-thousand pointers. Geneva is really the best girl athlete in South Side. She pitches the fastest of all the softballs and is the most accurate of all the best shots in basketball. In the summer, she plays softball for the Bob Inn Girls' softball team. Besides being this year's president, Geneva has also held the offices of Inter-club Congress representative and secretary for GAA.

Frances Nash is known as the red-headed peppercorn of GAA. Her fiery hair seems to make her just play all the harder when she plays hockey or basketball. Fran is also well over the two thousand mark. She has been office girl during her study period and is now the retiring vice-president of GAA. Her nightmare at the banquet had everyone rolling in the aisles except the ones in the night-mare, and even they had to laugh at it.

Marguerite Calkins Our short but sweet biographies would not be complete without a mention of "Big Stoop", Marguerite Calkins. Marguerite is the long end of GAA. Every once in a while, someone will mention her mighty record of twenty-four baskets in one basketball game.

Girls' Sportsettes

As we look back upon the last four years, we can be extremely proud of this year's graduating seniors, for they have been outstanding in the field of sports. So congratulations to all graduating GAA'ers and although we will miss you very much, we wish you the best of luck.

We can always be proud of the Jeanne Smith tennis record. She has been singles champion of her class for four years and in her freshman and sophomore year she was champ of all classes. Last year Jeanne brought more glory to South Side by, not only winning the girls' city championship, but also capturing the women's doubles crown. Jeanne is outstanding in every sport she has entered and one of the many stars the senior class has.

Do you remember the year Nibs Martin broke the baseball throw record by throwing the ball one hundred and sixty-five feet? That same year she made thirty-two baskets in one minute to capture the baskets for time record.

We shall never forget Marguerite Calkins, once called "Big Stoop" by her friends. Calky made a record that probably never will be broken when she made twenty-two baskets in one basketball game.

We can seldom talk about our tallest member without thinking of our shortest one, Beanie Pressler. For three years Beanie has been the holder of the balance beam record. Beanie also is one of the expert tumblers whom you see at every Spring Show.

Bouquets are also to be handed out to the two Brower sisters, Barbara and Margaret. Both have been exceedingly loyal to GAA all their four years.

Remember when Frances Nash received her nickname of "Poodles"? She never has been able to live that down. Even though "Poodles" has been on the wrong end of many jokes, she has really shown the ability to take it.

Janet "Hog Caller" Michel is another one of the tease-takers in GAA. But she really makes up for lack of athletic ability by entering earnestly into every game in which she participates. GAA will be lost without Mike to take all the teasing that happens to come her way.

Mural Reviews

By Wayne Bechtol

To the graduating senior boys your reporter dedicates this last column in this last issue of The Times. Ever since 1928, when the Intramural Department was founded by Mr. Louis Briner, intramural sports have played an important part in the lives of all boys in South Side interested in sports.

The number of boys participating in intramural sports in 1938 totaled 608, while last year the number was well over 1,500.

Turning back the calendar, we find that in the fall of 1937 the initial event of the intramural season was cross-country, exceeding even tag ball in popularity.

Dale Hamilton won the golf tournament, and Kenneth Colis won the cross-country lightweight championship. Some of the boys who entered in the various events are Max Stobaugh, Wayne Ludwig, Clifford Matson, Harold Martin, Dick McIntosh, Dave Lowe, Jack Hornberger, Gene Cassidy, Melvin O'Brien, Russell Crumrine, Eugene Stair, Martin Ankenbruck, Bob Bolyard, Lawrence Heiny, Ed Meyer, Don Meyer and Bryce Augsburg.

In the winter and spring of 1937 as South Side went to state, intramural basketball was by far the most popular sport of the year, and, incidentally, Dallas Zuber and Tom Brower were the high point men in basketball.

Intramural tumbling took the spotlight in spring sports and Paul Dammier graduated from intramural tennis to the varsity tennis team.

In the fall of '38 and '39 Brower and Zuber were still the favorites in intramural basketball and Lefty Werkman came up in the field of tennis. Paul Dammier was reported to have brought his team through to win the softball title crown. Mr. Briner introduced a New Deal in order that all boys who wished to do so might participate in any event desired.

During the season of '40 and '41, the tennis tournament was finished in the gymnasium on account of bad weather. Basketball was the most popular sport of the year and Bob Robinson was the center of attraction in intramural golf. Exactly 137 boys were entered in intramural softball and Paul Dammier had earned two intramural titles.

Perhaps these names are familiar to you seniors and no doubt it brings back those happy days when you were just an underclassman. One name you all know and admire is Mr. Louis Briner, who made those days possible. With these memories we wish the underclassmen good luck and a lot of good times.

Elaine Hirschy Given Scholarship In Music

Elaine Hirschy has been announced as the recipient of the State Solo Contest scholarship in piano in the School of Music at Indiana University for the year 1941-42. This award amounts to $50.50 and is being awarded to the three winners of gold medals in the piano event of the State Solo Contests held in April at the School of Music.

A special Merit Scholarship with a value of $50 has also been included in Elaine's award.

Chuck's Prize

Kenworthy Trophy

Chuck Close, South Side's mighty shot-put artist, star football and basketball player, won the Kenworthy Trophy at Recognition Services Friday.

Chuck Close Wins Kenworthy Trophy

Winner Of Award Must Be Outstanding In Basketball, Football, And Track Activities

Chuck Close, outstanding athlete in basketball, football and track, was chosen by the athletic department of South Side as the boy worthy of the Kenworthy trophy. This trophy is presented each year on Recognition Day to the boy who is the best all-around athlete of South Side. Herb Kenworthy, well known proprietor of the South Side Grill, is the sponsor of this trophy.

Chuck is outstanding on the track team, having broken the previous shot put record. He was forward on this year's basketball team and served as powerful full back on the football team. At the state track meet, Chuck placed third in the shot put event.

For this trophy, a student must be active in all three sports, he must have set records or be outstanding in certain events, and he must show good sportsmanship. LeRoy Cook, '40, won this trophy for the three previous years.

Club Recognizes Honor Marksmen

Rifle Group Honors E. Bauer, R. Hornberger, Joe Bekius, D. Theye, Dick Brintzenhove

On Recognition Day, Rifle Club awarded five prominent seniors with merits for their marksmanship. Those who were honored are Edmund Bauer, Richard Hornberger, Dick Theye, Joe Bekius, and Dick Brintzenhove.

Ed was recognized for his marksmanship in county match shooting, bi-weekly meets, member match shooting, school championship, for meeting the government qualifications of sharpshooter, and for winning his second letter.

Richard received his fourth letter and was recognized for his shooting in county match competition for two years, and for bi-weekly competition.

Dick gained merit awards for marksmanship in county match competition for two years, bi-weekly shooting, for meeting government qualifications as sharpshooter, and for winning his third letter.

Joe was recognized as expert, county match competition, bi-weekly competition, and for second letter.

Dick received awards for marksmanship award, county match shooting, bi-weekly competition, and first letter.

Mural Markers

By Wayne Bechtol

Intramural sports are becoming more and more popular among the athletes of South Side year by year. This year twenty-eight intramural letters were awarded to boys who had earned exactly one hundred twenty-five points. Among these twenty boys are five seniors: Don Meyer, Ed Meyer, Ken Wulliman, Frank DuWaldt, and Rudolph Wuttke.

The following are boys who are eligible to belong to the Intramural Lettermen's Club: Tom Brower, John Gumpfer, Tom Hall, Dal Zuber, Bill Wolf, Wayne Ludwig, Algiene Boese, Richard Trotter, and Loren Springer.

GAA Donates Gift

Twenty-one beach balls were donated to the Pixley Child Welfare Home by South Side's Girls' Athletic Association. These balls were used in the beach scene of the GAA annual spring show.

I've never heard a purple cow. I never hope to see one. But I can tell you anyhow, I'd rather see than be one.

Sports Memories

By Bob Young

Memory Corner—So many things have happened on the Archer athletic scene this year that I hardly know where to start, but here goes — I'll never forget the great reception which Wayne Gift was given here. The likable ex-Purdue ace is really a fine fellow, and the football boys will tell us he is a prince of a coach. Few men in our athletic history have ever made such a hit with South Siders. All of the senior football boys look back on the North Side game as the "once in a lifetime" battle. The Gift-men were a great team that night, and they unquestionably matched or bettered every effort of the state grid champs. But Old Man Fate stepped in that night—a fumbled ball and a wayward pass were in the offing—and the courageous Green cleaners had lost. Senior Bill Siebold especially impressed us by his great work at right end. We had a good basketball team this year. Don't let any one argue differently. North Side, Central, and C. C. had good seasons which over-eclipsed ours in wins. But Burl Friddle had the scrappiest team. Captain Bob Hines, who missed the state title train on two successive years by heart-breaking losses to Ossian and Mitchell, wanted to win this year. So did Gus, Chuck, Doyle, and the rest. The Green Archers were just not the equal of the hot crews of 1939 and 1940. Our boys had plenty of ability, but on more than one occasion the basket at which the Archers were shooting seemed to have a lid on it. I'll never forget the fine center play of Bob Hines. It's a pleasure to watch that kind of a player. But what we lose, Purdue gains. Respected Gussie Feistkorn played good ball, too. Gus' greatest evening was against North Side. He was really hot that night. Gus is also going to wear the Boilermaker colors. Big Chuck Close left an everlasting imprint of his play on my mind. He wasn't afraid to get in there and play his heart out. But too often Chuck was waived from the floor for using too much brawn in his drive. George Collyer has always been a good coach, but this year he really let us in on it. Senior Gus Feistkorn really picked 'em up and laid 'em down, what with the sectional record and the state title in the 880-yard run in his possession. I doubt if a South Side track squad has ever boasted of a finer duo of relay quartets. Seniors Parry, Morrison, Sebold, Miller, Dannecker, and Feistkorn saw action at times during the cinder season on one of the baton battalions. I should like to pay my final sports regards to the senior athletes who did such a commendable job on our tennis team. Dick Nahrwald, Max Stobaugh, and Ralph Vetter were the boys who are to be graduated who dodged the raindrops these past spring afternoons to chase the tennis ball about the court. My most cherished memory of my golfing days: James "Little Caesar" McClure, who boasts of being something of a Sam Snead, played with me on a nearly practice round this spring. Jim was on the long par five, first hole in three. He was barely one good putt away from the cup. But Caesar took not one, two, or three—but five putts. Al Schaaf, another member of our foursome, and I got quite a kick out of Jim. Just to tone us down, Al four putted and I three putted. Boy, that was a tough green!

Final Tributes: To you, Coaches Burl Friddle, George Collyer, Stanley Post, Wayne Gift, and Louis Briner, I say—we appreciate your work, and may it continue for years to come. No other school in the state can boast of such a fine coaching staff. We the seniors realize that these men have given us that extra something which rounds out a full high school life. We have had plenty of thrills during our four years: a state basketball title in 1938, other potential teams in '39 and '40 which stumbled before Ossian and Mitchell, a sectional champion track crew in 1939, and a great track squad which placed second in the state this year.

We couldn't ask for more! I'll never forget the fine coaches, athletes, and fans I have met at South Side. As a famous poet put it, "The moving finger writes, and having written, moves on"—and so this columnist has written his finale. So long!

South Side's Senior Sets

Seeing double is very common this year among the senior classes what with five sets of twins in the gradu-ating group of 1941. Not only is the fact that they are twins out-stand-ing, but the proof we have that they are popular, school-spirited, and honor students of South Side also adds to their credit.

The Gumpfers—Faye and Lois—These two girls are unidentifiable to the majority of people. Their records in South Side are of the best and in-clude high scholastic achievement, participation in many extra-curricu-lar activities, and active service work.

Both are members of the National Honor Society and Four Year Honor Roll. Faye is an important member of the school orchestra. Both have earned letters in GAA and have taken active part in Social Science, Math-Science, Library, Totem, Times, Wranglers, and 1500 Club, having earned their gold-jeweled pins and membership in the Quill and Scroll.

The Brooks—Bob and Jim—These two boys are the actors of the senior class having carried leads in the senior play. Besides this acting ability they possess, they have made names for themselves in Math-Science, So-cial Science, Wranglers, Times, and Totem work. Each was made a member of Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, and Four-Year Honor Roll this semester.

The Meyers—Don and Ed—Here are the speakers of the class of 1941. These twins are also active in intra-mural activities having earned letters in that club. These seniors carried leads along with the Brooks in the senior play very excellently. Ed re-cently participated in the national speech meet in Kentucky. Don and Ed are members of National Honor Society.

The Sebalds—Ralph and Richard—Mention track and you're sure to hear these twins' names mentioned since that is their very special attribute. Other organizations taking their time are the Math-Science and Social Sci-ence. They are members of National Honor Society and Four Year Honor Roll.

The Wylies—Robert and Eva Jean—This is the only set of mixed twins in the class. Library work seems to be their specialty besides, Social Sci-ence, Math-Science for Bob and the same for Eva Jean plus GAA, Ser-vice, and Lettergirls for Eva Jean. Both are members of the National Honor Society.

Five Pupils Place
In Latin Contests

J. Flaig, B. Eggers, L. Craig,
V. Steinbauer, E. Harry Are Archers In State-Wide Meet

Five Archers placed in the finals of the eighteenth annual Indiana High School State Latin Contest held in the Alumni Hall at Indiana University on Friday, April 18.

Violet Steinbauer, 12A, placed first in the Senior Division in Vergil; Lois Craig, 11A, captured first place in the second division in Caesar, and win-ning second in the Senior Division in Vergil was June Flaig, 12A, Bernita Eggers won the second in the Cicero Division, and Ellen Harry tied for third place in the same group, with Myrtle Schneller of Gary.

Violet Steinbauer has been present-ed with a scholarship to Indiana Uni-versity as a result of winning first place in the Senior Division. The winners were announced at a banquet and were awarded gold med-als. Speakers on the program were Dean S. E. Stout, professor of Latin at Indiana University; Miss Josephine Lee, teacher of Latin at Shortridge High School of Indianapolis; Profes-sor Lillian Boy Berry, co-author of the Second Year Latin text book, and professor at Indiana University; and Mrs. Adela Bittner, director of Indi-ana University Extension and awarder of medals and recognitions.

In 1939 Violet captured first place in the Caesar Division and June was state champion in the Freshman Divi-sion in 1938.

Eighty-nine students entered the state contest, and twelve schools were represented by those who participated in the contest.

Those who took the test of the Freshman Division but did not place are Martha Davenport and Donna Jean Mongin.

Make A Four-Year
Date At Ohio State

Ohio State University is situated within the corporate limits of the city of Columbus, Ohio. For conveni-ence, the departments of administra-tion of the university are grouped into individual colleges. Ohio State comprises ten colleges and a graduate school. These colleges offer the same subjects that are presented in all col-leges.

The school of agriculture at Ohio State is an especially fine one and affords advantages to all those spec-ializing in professions related to farming. The course in optometry affords a thorough training in theo-retical and practical optics and the application of optical principles. This university also gives splendid courses in medicine, dentistry, and engineer-ing.

An applicant for Ohio State must be a graduate of a high school, or he must pass entrance examinations in high school subjects. Fifteen units of high school work must be com-pleted by every student wishing ad-mission.

The clubs and organizations at Ohio State closely resemble those which are established in the other colleges mentioned previously in these articles. The university also has many departmental clubs and other organizations designed for future farmers and home economists.

Other Awards Are Given

South Side's annual Recognition Day was held last Friday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock in the school's gym-nasium. Students arranging from freshmen to seniors were recognized for their outstanding ability.

The Hi-Y special citizen award went to Becky Abbett and Robert Hines. A special extemporaneous award was given to Bob Safer, who is the only person in South Side ever to receive three letters. Mary Bowiby was given the award offered by Philo for special services rendered.

German Club awards went to Sam Bacon and Elinor Muntzinger; French department awarded dictionaries to Rosemary Plummer and Clarence Freeman. Martha Thomas and Frank DuWaldt were given special awards in science. The commerce department made special awards to Iphylis Muel-ler, Edmund Bauer, Eileen Kiessling, Eileen Hormann, and Mary Lybrook. Carolyn Fackler, Howard Snider, Clara Makey and Paul Kiel, freshman, soph-omore, junior and senior, respectively, were honored in the field of social science.

Other special awards went to Sher-ley White for the Voorhees award. Miss Gretchen Smith awarded the Daughters of the American Revolu-tion award to Ruth Dauner and Bob Hines. Bill Goodwin was given the Hi-Y award; Jeanne Smith was award-ed the plaque to be placed in the gym office for high-point girl for four years. Dr. King sportsmanship tro-phy was given to Bob Hines.

A new award, made by Daniel Foun-dation, was awarded to Ruth Danner and Dick Theye.

She blushed and dimpled. And he laughed and laughed.
"Just as I thought," he said. "You look like a chipmunk."

Seniors Name Their Favorite
Extra-Curricular Organizations

Clubs galore are the favorites of all the seniors. A total of nine clubs were chosen by the seniors for favorite extra-curricular activities. It is interesting to note that each club has something different to offer to each of its members.

First in choice of clubs came So-Si-Y, GAA and Wranglers. So-Si-Y is classed first by many girls, because the club has both a social and relig-i-ous purpose. The fine get-togethers furnish lots of entertainment and fun for the members. At each meeting a religious service is given. GAA claim-ed a large number of senior girls. For purely recreation and enjoyment, GAA furnishes this for every mem-ber. Then along with the playing of games, one may earn points for num-erals and letters. The greatest en-joyment from GAA comes in the as-sociation with many girls and from the promotion of good sportsmanship. Next, for speech enthusiasts, Wan-glers ranks tops. Many have used this club as an opportunity to forward their experiences in public speaking. Also, from the standpoint of the members, the speeches are education-al and interesting.

Rifle Club Rated Second
Rifle Club is ranked as the second favorite club. Here both boys and girls can increase their skill with the rifle. Perhaps this club is a favorite because it promotes accuracy and good judgment. For culture and general information Camean is the third choice of clubs. Interesting themes are chosen each semester for the club. At each meet-ing an interesting program based on the theme is planned. After each planned meeting, games are played furnishing fun and fellowship for each member.

The music department claims fourth choice in the opinion of the seniors. The Glee Club, band and orchestra furnish an opportunity for all inter-ested to promote their musical knowl-edge and experience. Practicing at least four times each week increases the students' ability and produces an enthusiasm to accomplish a musical talent. The Glee Club teaches each member the fundamentals of vocal singing.

Others Rated
Math Science, Philo and Service rank fifth with the seniors. For in-teresting science and mathematics meetings Math-Science is tops. Pic-tures, speakers and demonstrations are found on the program throughout the year.

After each monthly program, games and refreshments are enjoyed by the members. Philo is another club which enables the girls to receive an English and literature background. Programs include information on authors, music, contests and book reviews. In Ser-vice Club we have had a chance to give our service to the school in many fields. Library, teachers' work, office work and visual education work all furnish opportunities for service work-ers. For fun, religious activities, sports, speech, accuracy in shooting, culture, music, math, science, Eng-lish literature and service, these clubs have held our interests for four years.

In Memoriam . . .
Students Offer Remembrances

In gratitude for all the help and guidance they have received, some of the graduating senior home rooms have presented small remembrances to their home room teachers.

Members of Home Room 44 gave a clock to Mr. C. A. Bex. The commit-tee in charge was Marjorie Hover, June Hoopingarner and Lois Holz-worth.

Home Room 79 presented Miss Helen Bean with a bottle of cologne as a remembrance from the students.

Mr. Louis Briner received a clock from the members of Home Room 102. Lola Rodriguez was in charge of pre-senting the gift.

Leah Schwartz, Martha Thomas and Joan Reichert composed the commit-tee for Home Room 98, which bought Miss Alice Dean an electric clock.

Mr. Albert Heine received a gift from his Home Room 91. Dolores Daniels and Charles Feistkorn made up the committee.

A make-up kit was given to Miss Georgiana Hodgson by her Home Room 80. The committee was com-posed of Harold Gerbers, LaVern Greiner and Martin Genard.

Mr. Jake McClure was presented a satchel by his Home Room 70. Betty Harrison and Louisa Haugk were the committee in charge.

Home Room 56 selected Joyce Cleaver to present Miss Gertrude Oppelt with an Eisenberg pen.

Mr. Parks' Home Room gave him a key-chain as a remembrance from the students. Bill Siebold was in charge of obtaining the gift.

A sterling bird pin was given to Miss Pauline VanGorder from her former senior Home Room 64. The committee in charge was Dorothy Al-len and Bernadine Bender.

Mr. Lundy Welborn received a traveling bag from his former Home Room 94. Charlene McAtee headed the group in charge of getting and presenting the gift.

Violinist, Pianists
Place In Contest

Participants Are Alice Light, Marilyn Sondles, Elaine Hirschy, And Janice Sprunger

Elaine Hirschy, Marilyn Sondles, Alice Light and Janice Sprunger placed in the finals of the state high school solo music contest, held this year at Indiana University on April 19.

Elaine Hirschy, 12A, won gold medal honors in the piano division by winning first place in the first divi-sion. Marilyn Sondles, 12A, won first division rating along with four other piano contestants.

South Side's other music contest-ants, Alice Light, violinist, and Janice Sprunger, pianist, received second divi-sion rating in their respective con-test divisions. It was announced at a special gathering after the perform-ance by Mrs. Adela Bittner, director of I. U. Extension division.

These four musicians won the right to compete in the state finals through winning the district contest, held on March 15, at the Indiana University Extension Center. These winners com-peted with other district winners from Bloomington, Indianapolis, Evansville and East Chicago districts.

Other participants in the district contest included Emalyn Rimmel and Mary Whittner, vocalists; Jack Ruhl, pianist; Charlotte DuWan, vocalist; Dorothy Koornjohn, pianist, and Ber-dine Lochner and LaVon Wittmer, pianists.

Yearbook Theme Is "Sailing Through South Side"; Totem Goes To 900 South Side Pupils

The 1941 Totem was passed out June 2 by a new method of home room delivery. This system allowed nine hundred people to get their books in about twenty minutes, thus avoiding the usual rush.

The theme of "Sailing Through South Side" was chosen and the book is acclaimed by all to be the best South Side has ever seen. The features of the book were a lithographed section, leather cover, and many extra snap pages.

The major Totem staff is as follows: editor, John Bonsib; business manager, Joel Salom; circulation managers, Lois Likins and Lois Gumpfer; co-circulation activities editors, Charlene McAtee and Delores Daniels; senior editor, Elaine Hirsch; junior editor, Janet Holtmeyer; assistant junior editor, Gloria Staley; sophomore editor, Hilda Schubert; assistant sophomore editor, Mildred Hanke; freshman editor, Jim Brooks; assistant freshman editor, Gloria Werkman; faculty editor, Marjorie Sheldon; copy editor, Mary Lybrook; boys' sports editor, Sam Bacon; girls' sports editor, Jeanne Smith; intramural sports editor, Bob Young; and Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser.

Takes More Honors

Joan Bonsib

Joan Bonsib, former South Side High School graduate, is continuing to take honors. She graduated this past month from International College as one of ten honor students.

Miss Bonsib was a member of the National Honor Society at South Side, editor of the Totem, salutatorian of her class, and took a prominent part in various other activities. Before attending International, she spent two years at Indiana University. Miss Bonsib is to be married in the very near future.

South Sider Makes Good

Joyce McAlister

Miss Joyce McAlister, graduate of the 1940 class at South Side, has demonstrated her scholastic ability again by graduating from the Private Secretarial Department of International College as one of ten honor students. Miss McAlister made the four-year honor roll at South Side and was prominent in various other activities.

Faculty Gives 1941 National Honor

May 8 at the Plymouth Congregational Church. The theme of the affair was carried out in blue and gold, which are the colors of the society. Blue and gold National Honor emblems marked the individual places, and the programs were blue with a gold torch. Mr. Snider served as toastmaster.

Incoming members were welcomed by Donna Lou Foutz, a '39 graduate. Robert Hines gave "Processions", the acceptance speech.

Four characteristics of the society were brought out in the speeches by Safford McMyler, Edward Meyer, Maxine Case, and Sam Bacon. Safford gave a speech called "But One Lamp," emphasizing character; "The God of the Great Endeavor Gave Me a Torch To Bear" was the subject of Ed's talk; and Maxine spoke on "How Far That Little Candle Throws Its Beams." The final characteristic talk "I Lift My Lamp" was given by Sam Bacon.

A trio made up of South Side alumnae presented a musical before the banquet. The members of the trio are Ruth Baade, pianist; Mary Jo Briggs, violin; and Velma Connett, cello. Emalyn Rimmel sang "I Love Life," accompanied at the piano by Mildred Hanke.

The South Side quartet sang "Send Out Thy Light". The members of this quartet, Helen Savage, Gloria Staley, Ruth Dauner, and Wilma Lagemann, were accompanied by Elaine Hirsch at the piano, Betty Elbersen and Faye Gumpfer at the violins, Hilda Schubert at the cello, and June Flaig at the harp.

Silent slide pictures were shown, which introduced the new members of the National Honor Society to those present. Dick Theye explained the pictures as they were shown, while Ralph Herb and Clarence Freeman operated the slide machine.

Miss Thorne was chairman of the committee which had the pictures taken and was assisted by Edmund Bauer, Janet Holtmeyer, and Louisa Haug.

Special guests at the banquet included Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Northrop, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Croninger, Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Miss Martha Pittenger, dean; and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider.

To close the events of the Honor Society for the school year, a National Honor Society tea was held June 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Snider. Guests included the faculty committee, sponsors of the senior class, Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell; Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Northrop, and Mr. and Mrs. Croninger.

The end we fear.
For vacation we are glad;
For grades we are sad.

It's hard to be a farmer—I guess I ought to know. I've been trying to raise some chickens. But the miserable things won't grow. Folks around our house laugh and laugh. But would you think it much fun, if you planted a whole handful of feathers, And got not a chicken—not one?

Miss Dean: Why are you late?
Marge Sheldon: The bell rang before I got here.

Gloria Werkman Is 1941 Ivy Queen

Bob Young Orator; Attendants Are L. Greiner, M. Leas, M. Sheldon, And L. Rodriguez

May 26 marked the date of the crowning of Gloria Werkman as the Ivy Queen of 1941. The queen was attended by Lola Rodriguez, Marjorie Sheldon, Laverne Greiner, and Maurine Leas.

James McClure, president of the senior class, crowned the queen, and the ivy was presented by Robert Young, class orator. Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools, gave the acceptance speech. The ceremony was attended by post graduates, 12A's, 12B's, and teachers.

To begin the program, a procession started from the gymnasium, out the front door around Calhoun and Gumpfer Streets to the east side of the building. Following the band, the queen and her attendants were Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal; Miss Martha Pittenger, dean; Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. C. A. Bex; Mr. A. Verne Flint; the senior advisers, Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, and the class officers.

A senior girls' quintet, composed of Gloria Staley, Emalyn Rimmel, Helen Savage, Ruth Dauner, and Wilma Lagemann sang a selection entitled, "In May". The Alma Mater song was sung by all the seniors.

Inter-Club Congress representatives who planted the ivy are Rudolph Wuttke, Ed Bauer, and Dick Theye.

R.'s Abbott, Hines Hi-Y Best Citizens

Winners Chosen From List Submitted To Faculty Members; Both Prominent In Activities

Rebecca Abbott and Robert Hines were chosen as the winners of the Hi-Y Best Citizen Award at Recognition ceremonies last Friday. The award consists of having the recipients' names engraved on a plaque in the trophy case near the main office.

The members of the Hi-Y Club made a list of many students who were outstanding in character, scholarship, leadership, and service. This list was voted on by the members of the club, which is composed of juniors and seniors. Of this list, three boys and three girls were chosen for the final judgment.

The people chosen were submitted to a faculty committee for a final judgment, who are the ones who chose the final winners.

Rebecca, or "Becky" as she is called by her friends, has been quite active in extra-curricular activities, in addition to being a member of the four-year honor roll, National Honor Society, and Quill and Scroll. She was general manager of The Times, Philo and Meterite president, and a member of Wranglers, GAA, Inter-Club Congress, Student Leaders, Booster, Library, and French.

Robert, who also received the Dr. King Trophy, is a member of the National Honor Society and four-year honor roll. He was Letterman Club's president, winner of the Junior Math Cup, president of junior and sophomore class, and a participant in varsity track and basketball.

America Still Holds Many Opportunities For Us Americans

America, the land of opportunity, is a country that every citizen of this great and glorious land can be proud of. In 1776, 1812, the 1860's, 1898, and finally 1918, America has held her own. Yes, it is true, the people of this country should be proud of a government that offers them so much, protection, education, industry, and freedom. Freedom, that is the word that rang in the ears of the patriotic back in the days when Washington, Jefferson, Mad Anthony and others still roamed these hills. Those were the days that Betsy Ross made our flag. She sat in her sewing room and sewed thirteen five pointed stars on a blue field. The states for which those thirteen stars stood have grown into a mighty realm of opportunity, into a mighty realm that every citizen can be proud of. That flag of stars and stripes is ours, let us live for it whatever happens. May every drop of blood in us keep that vow.

—Bud Gardner

Webster would weep if he could see these definitions used by some of the students: Puncture, a hissing sound followed by profanity. Bass, very handy in baseball.

Scrapbooks Offer Pleasure, Benefits, To Aid Collector

Scrapbook collecting is an interesting hobby.

1. Opinions of people.
2. Why collect scrapbooks?
3. The kinds I collect.

Scrapbook collecting is an interesting hobby. According to some people collecting pictures, favors, poems, leaves, seeds, and napkins are just a waste of time and much needed energy. I disagree wholeheartedly! To my knowledge, collecting different articles are not only educational, but of great value for reference. Some time a friend may ask for reference from some party, play, or story that took place in the past year, thus, the one who has such a collection in scrap book form will have the answer. I have a scrapbook that contains information on seeds and leaves. Any time my sister needs information on such things, I have it. Other scrapbooks I have contain favors and napkins from parties. Last year I made a scrapbook that contained the basketball news, pictures, and scores from the tournament games. I plan to make many more such scrapbooks this year.

35 Of Seniors Earn Service Club Awards

Eleven Win Gold Pins, Shape Of "S"; Six, Silver; Fifteen, Bronze In Assembly

Exactly thirty-five senior members of Service Club were awarded bronze, silver, and gold pins in the shape of an "S" and special awards at an annual service recognition held April 29. Marjorie Hopkins, Louise Buesking, and Gertrude Merkel received special awards. Gertrude had 955 points; Louise Buesking, 968 points; and Marjorie, 999 points. They received gold pins along with a special certificate.

To earn a gold award one must have acquired 600 hours of service. Joy Degitz, Elaine Hirsch, Evelyn Erickson, Betty Porter, Bernadine Pressler, Mary Brandyberry, Jean Thomas, Miriam Roebel, Crystal Valentine, Shirley White, and Clarence Freeman won this award.

Having served the required 450 hours for a silver pin, the honored members meriting this award were Betty Thiele, Rosanna Weston, Alice Volmerding, Betty Lapp, Helene Lisius, and Kenneth Vollman.

In order to receive a bronze medal, a worker had to serve 300 hours of service. Those receiving this award were Claude Davenport, Louisa Haug, Ralph Herb, Clifford Hess, Marilyn Miller, Betty Elbersen, Eileen Hornmann, Miriam Jackson, Jeanne Smith, Jean Sheets, Joan Squires, Maxine Sterling, Evelyn Thomas, Marguerite Calkins, and Max Stobaugh.

A musical program under the direction of Mr. Lester Hostetler was presented. Elaine Hirsch gave a piano solo. The Girls' Glee Club accompanied by Wilma Lagemann sang several songs. Mary Whitner, soloist, sang, "I Would Be True," accompanied by Elaine Hirsch.

Dick Theye, Charlene McAtee, Delores Daniels, and Bill Siebold were the student speakers for the service. Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Archer principal, presented the awards.
